The local camp of Sons of Veterans, accompanied by the fife and drum corps, went to Kittery on Thursday evening to a supper on invitation of Mr. John P. Hayes, a member of the camp who recently took to himself a wife, and whom the corps serenaded one evening last week.

The Young People's Association of the North parish held their first sociable for the season on Wednesday evening of this week, in the parlors of the chapel on Middle street, and the attendance of young people was greater than at any previous sociable since the association was started. The prospect is that there will be much interest taken in the society this season. The association now has about sixty members, a number of new ones having joined Wednesday evening.

The show of fall and winter millinery at Mrs. Tebbetts' establisment on Market street is very handsome, and is highly appreciated by the ladies of this city.

The schooner Eva May, the first netter to arrive this season, came in on Thursday with a good fare of large cod, which was sold to Daniel Clark at Commercial wharf. The schooner Flora Temple also arrived on Thursday with 8000 lbs. of pollock of unusually large size, caught on Jaffrey's, which were purchased by Ed. Jameson.

Since September, 1885, twenty-six vessels belonging to the Gloucester district, and valued at $164,000, have been lost. The loss of life has been 104, leaving twenty-two widows and fifty fatherless children.

The schooner George L. Smith, 84.28 tons register, built in Gloucester in 1884, and owned there, sailed Aug. 14th on a halibut voyage to the Grand banks. She called at this port and baited, and was seen on Brown's bank Aug. 21st. The next day a terrible gale swept over the banks, and as nothing has since been heard from her, she is supposed to have gone down with her crew of fourteen men.

At South Berwick, at two o'clock in the morning on the 19th inst., a house and barn owned by C. D. Durgin were destroyed by fire. The house was unoccupied, and in course of repair. The loss was small; fire probably incendiary.

A Saco despatch of the 20th inst. says "the cider poisoning case has created a great deal of discussion, and everybody declares that an investigation should be made and the blame attributed to whom it belongs. Undertaker O'Connor of Biddeford, who sold the empty cask which once contained embalming fluid, claims he didn't know it was among the number sold. Frank Wilds, who sold the cider, says the word 'Poison' was covered by a tag and he did not see it."

The largest and best line of Ladies' and Children's Cloaks to be found in the city is claimed to be at Lewis E. Staples, 7 Market St.

A woman, supposed to be Hattie Davis, alias Seaman, and her brother, who were wanted for obtaining goods by false pretences, have been arrested at Pittsfield, Mass. The woman proved to be a sister of the one wanted, the mistake being made by the officers in arresting on a photograph. The woman's plan was to go to a country town, get some young man to fall in love with her, quietly announce an engagement, and urge a speedy marriage. She would work up a big list of wedding presents, and get her victim to lay out considerable on clothing for her, and then skip out with the whole just before the day appointed for the ceremony. She successfully worked the game at New Lebanon, N. Y., and Winsted, Conn.

tion, the writing being done in "long-hand." Mr. Selby, the clerk of this office, was the successful one, he having written 1,750 words in the hour. This is the fastest on record in this office, and the man with his type-writing machine who can write 3,000 words during the same period has the decided advantage. Besides, he does not become tired so quickly, but can continue at the work for a long time. The man who writes from 1,500 to 1,700 words an hour by "long-hand" can only do so for that one hour, when he is obliged to stop for a rest.—George Haid in Globe-Democrat.

But few heads make a handsome profile. Why? Because to make a good profile a man must have a prominent or projecting chin. A straight or aquiline nose is essential in taking a good picture. The majority of men take better side face than full. When the full face of a man is taken it doesn't bring out the lineaments so well. Of all people, women are the hardest to photograph. Babies and young children are sometimes difficult to take, but they are nothing compared to some women. They will, in the first place, take half an hour or more to primp and make themselves pretty. Next they will insist on making their own pose, which usually is not adaptable to photographing. Taken in all, women are troublesome, but they are the photographer's best customers. If the public would but know it, they would get better pictures did they leave the matter of posing in the hands of the photographer.—Photographer in Brooklyn Eagle.

Goethe's House in Frankfort.

Goethe's house in Frankfort is now visited by all tourists who pass through this city. Among the recent additions to the curiosities stored in it is a Punch and Judy box which used to amuse the poet as a child. Another addition is the manuscript of an essay on art, and a copy of the first edition of "Hermann and Dorothea," presented by Goethe to his family.—Chicago Times.

Iron-Front Buildings.

The iron-front buildings of Charleston, S. C., resisted the earthquake much better than those of stone. It is a rare occurrence to find a fracture in a wall which rests upon iron beams and uprights.

Our Rapid Transitory Existence,

Brief as it is at the longest, is liable to be materially curtailed by our own indiscretions. The dyspeptic eat what they should not, the bilious drink coffee in excess, and the rheumatic, neuralgic and consumptive sit in draughts, get wet feet and remain in damp clothes, and then wonder when ill how they became so. To persons with a tendency to neuralgia, we recommend a daily use of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, and always a wineglassful after unavoidable exposure in damp or otherwise inclement weather. Efficient protection is afforded by this pleasant safeguard, which diffuses a genial glow through the system, invigorates and tones it, and promotes nerve tranquility. Fever and ague, billousness, constipation, dyspepsia and renal disorder, are among the maladies which it remedies and prevents.

The breath of a chronic catarrh patient is often so offensive that he cannot go into society and he becomes an object of disgust. After a time ulceration sets in, the spongy bones are attacked, and frequently, entirely destroyed. A constant source of discomfort is the dripping of the purulent secretions into the throat sometimes producing inveterate bronchitis, which in its turn has been the exciting cause of pulmonary disease. The brilliant results which have attended its use for years past properly designate Ely's Cream Balm as by far the best, if not the only real cure for hay fever, rose cold and catarrh.

does not refer possible purchasers to his victims. The Athlophoros Co. gladly refers sufferers from rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica, nervous or sick headache, kidney and liver complaints to those who have been cured of these diseases by Athlophoros, and will furnish names and addresses of many such persons to those desiring them. Athlophoros is the only remedy for these diseases that can stand such a test.

Hinsdale, N. H., May 18, 1886.

Of all medicines that claim to cure rheumatism there is only one that will or can do it and that one is Athlophoros. I have for years been troubled with muscular rheumatism, at times so severe as to keep me in bed for 14 or 15 weeks at a time, taking all kinds of medicine, none of which would give me more than temporary relief. The last time I was down I commenced to use Athlophoros; the first bottle got me out of bed in quick order. I was then able to get around on crutches, a second bottle I am happy to say laid away the crutches, and I shall never need them again, for in case I should ever be troubled again with rheumatism I can get a cure in Athlophoros. NORMAN HOWE.

Amesbury, Mass., March 3, 1886.

After suffering with inflammatory rheumatism for six years, and having tried everything with no result, I was one day induced to try Athlophoros; it was a last resort; in three hours after the first dose there was such a change for the better, that my friends were surprised; in all I took two bottles, and to-day I am hale and hearty, no sign of rheumatism about me. With such a simple and effective cure, the day must soon come when that dread disease will be a thing of the past.

NO MORE BLACK EYES.

A Pittsburg Doctor Finds a Way to Conceal the Traces of a Blow.

"I have treated," said the doctor, "as many as twenty-five persons recently for this distressing affliction. All of them were anxious, of course, to get rid of the signs of the conflict, and in one or two cases it was of vital importance that the blackness of the bruise should be obliterated at once. That set me to thinking, and as I possessed a liking for painting in oils I called in my knowledge in that line to aid me. Now, I'll show you practically what, as a result, my treatment is."

Then the doctor brought out a little wooden box full of oil-color tubes. Out of scores of tubes he selected four. They contained silver white, burnt umber, Naples yellow, and vermillion. From each tube he squeezed out a little paint upon the back of his left hand.

"I find," he said, "that the back of my hand is the best palet I can have for this work. Every hand has, especially when it is partially sunburnt, a number of distinct tones of color, and I find they assist me in forming my tints for laying on the bruised portion of the face of my patient."

First he took, as he proceeded to demonstrate his process, a little from the dab of burnt umber and spread it over a two-inch section of his hand. This, he said, was the ground he found it best to use. Upon this dark ground he laid a touch of vermillion, then a little white and finally a mere suggestion of yellow. A deliciously soft feminine flesh tint was the result after he had combined the colors with his fore-finger. With a little more of the burnt umber he made the complexion of the flesh assume a ripe brunette tinge, and then with the admixture of some of the white paint reversed it to a light blonde.

"I can, with these four simple colors," he said, "catch the exact shade of any face. I have tried it often enough now to be sure."

There was, however, a certain unnatural gloss over the painted flesh which the reporter noticed. This, the doctor stated, could be removed by lightly sprinkling over the surface powdered magnesia and then removing it gently with a brush.

And this is the process which has saved many a man from the disgrace of a black eye before his friends and relations. It may be added that the doctor who has achieved this triumph of mind over matter has found that ordinary oil paints are preferable for this particular use to the grease paints which are commonly used by actors in their make-up for the stage.

It would appear possible that so desirable a device had at least one drawback, and the doctor was asked if the painting of a blackened eye in the way described was not likely to retard nature's healing process. The doctor replied: "My experience has been that the tinting of the flesh with lead paints really assists nature. I have found that the eyes which I have painted have recovered faster than those I have not. The lead certainly does no harm. Another curious fact is that not every person can paint an eye satisfactorily. I have shown a patient exactly what paints to use and in what proportion they were to be mixed, but he has only succeeded in making himself look like an Indian with his war paint on. I think that the person who does the painting should be, in a modest way, an artist who knows how to produce a flesh tint. The burnt umber, I have discovered, makes the best groundwork upon which to produce the lighter effects afterward.

"There are little depressions often enough in the skin of the face, and these I can imitate by dabbing the coat of paint with a dry brush. If there are prominent veins under the patient's eyes, a little blue laid on on delicately in fine lines will bring them out satisfactorily. I have encountered all sorts of complexions, but never one yet that baffled me. My friends may rely upon me to help them conceal their battle marks—and I'll paint them only for love, too—but the world at large must go about with its eyes blackened until doctors in general learn how to paint."
—Pittsburg Dispatch.

The Crater of Popocatapelt.

But the chief object of interest on the top of Popocatapelt is the crater. Imagine the interior of a mountain literally blown out by an explosion, to the depth of 600 or 800 feet, leaving a narrow rim perpendicular on its inside surface. This would be no exaggerated picture of the real appearance of the crater. I stood and looked over the dizzy brink in mute astonishment. A vast cavity, unsuspected from the outside, sank away at my feet, rock ribbed, ragged and torn, along its precipitous sides. Out of orifices in its deep and dismal bottom rose jets and streamers of steam, puffing and blowing in the dead air.

Having no object at hand by which to gauge the size, I was greatly deceived as to the magnitude of this cavity in the mountain's bowels. I supposed it measured perhaps 500 feet across, but a friend subsequently told me that a ball from his rifle did not reach the opposite wall, as indicated by no displacement of stones. It is fully a mile in diameter, and a workman who had wrought in the crater extracting sulphur, told me that the fumeros, or vents of steam, instead of being a foot in diameter as they appeared to be, measured from twelve to eighteen feet. The vapor pouring out of these

I am glad to tell you that since using Athlophoros I am free from rheumatism than I have been in twenty years. A lady near me, who could not turn in bed for two years., has found relief from it. Rev. Mrs. A. Heath, Castleton, Vt.

A gang of Italians employed in laying pipes in the streets at Exeter, on Wednesday morning of this week struck for an advance of wages from $1.25 to $1.50 per pay, and the reduction of a day's work to ten hours. Their demands were not granted, and a fresh gang from New York took their places.

Hood's Sarsaparilla has cured thousands of cases of rheumatism. This is abundant reason for belief that it will cure you. Try it.

It is a curious preparation for possible troubles in Utah to assign Lieut. Young, a grandson of Brigham Young, to duty at Fort Douglas, near Salt Lake City. The appointment was not recommended by his colonel, and, as there were many other officers to select from, there seems room for the inference that the influence of Mormon attorneys at Washington secured the appointment.

Don't Like It.

The Boston Pilot, edited by the brilliant poet and patriot soldier John Boyle O'Reilley, an outspoken democrat, has an article in its last issue regarding the treatment of the American fishing vessel Marion Grimes.

This vessel in a heavy gale of wind sought shelter in a Nova Scotia bay. She anchored in the mouth of the bay, eight miles from the nearest custom house, several hours after the custom house had closed; and after remaining at anchor a few hours, without having had any communication with the shore, she started to go to sea again, four hours before the custom house, eight miles away, would open. There is not even a pretence on the part of the Canadians that the vessel was infringing or proposing to infringe upon any of the absurd claims recently put forth by that government, and which would long ago have been abandoned or modified were an American running our state department, instead of British Minister West; but she was intercepted by the Canadian cruiser Terror, and carried into Shelburne, N. S. and was fined $800 for not reporting at the custom house, and for disobeying the orders of Quigley, master of the Terror. Half this fine was however remitted, so that the schooner was in reality only charged $400 for four hours' shelter in a gale of wind.

The captain of the American vessel while in Shelburne had the temerity to hoist the American flag, which was at once hauled down in the most insulting manner by the Canadian skipper; and for this the Yankee captain had to pay $8!

The Pilot says that there was consternation at the Dominion government when the news of this affair reached that place, and that the ministry proposed to censure the Canadian officer and disavow his action, when a telegram was received from Secretary Bayard saying that he "deprecated" the conduct of the captain of the Gloucester fishing vessel, who, it was added, "probably kept his flag flying in order to make trouble!" This sort of thing makes the patriotic and brilliant Irish-American editor very indignant, as it should every real American who is not the victim of Anglomania, and leads him to say:

Rightly or wrongly, the impression prevails that if James G. Blaine occupied the position of Secretary Bayard or a higher one, these outrages would quickly cease or never occur. Every insult given by Canada to our flag, every outrage upon our citizens tamely endured by that nerveless official, counts as thousands of votes against the democratic party in this section of the country in 1888.

Mr. Bayard cares nothing about 1888; what he wants is an endorsement of his policy in November, 1886—the votes of the fishermen, and others interested in the fisheries, for the democratic candidates for Congress from the districts in which the fishing industry is one of importance. Every vote thrown by a Piscataqua fisherman for Luther F. McKinney for Congress next month, will count one for the endorsement and approval of Bayard's fishery policy—free ingress of Canadian fish to our markets, the unrebuked insulting of our flag by the Canadians, and all the rest of it. It remains to be seen whether their devotion to the so-called democratic administration is stronger than their patriotism and their self-interest.

Death of Joseph B. Clark.

Hon. Joseph B. Clark of Manchester hung himself in the barn attached to his residence about ten o'clock Friday forenoon, with a driving rein. He was one of the most prominent men of the city and state, and his mind was probably unsettled by business cares.

He was born in Gilford in 1823, was graduated from Brown university in 1848, and was admitted to the bar at Concord in 1853. He was mayor of Manchester in 1867, and held other municipal offices; was county solicitor ten years; served in the 11th New Hampshire regiment during the war, was wounded at the battle of the Wilderness, and was a captain when discharged. He was interested in the Manchester horse railroad, the People's Fire Ins. Co., and in banks. He leaves a son and daughter.

He was a prominent candidate for the republican nomination in the congressional district, but delined in favor of Hon. Martin A. Haynes.

Saved the Freight, Anyway.

A despatch of the 21st inst. from Newport, R. I., says the violations of the law by officers of the United States ships Saratoga and Portsmouth turn out, as the investigation by the custom house authorities proceeds, to be greater than was at first supposed. It is now believed that the customs authorities have got a pretty full list of all the wines, spirits, gloves, laces, fans, etc., which have been imported in direct violation of the law. The value amounts to thousands of dollars, the duty being no less than $7,000. One article of war states that no person connected with the navy shall import in a government vessel, under any pretence whatever, any article liable to duty. One officer has already admitted, it is said, that wines, etc., upon which duty to the extent of $175 has been levied, are for a friend of his residing in New York. In this way there will be an avoidance of paying freight on about 200 cases and barrels of wine, besides other merchandise.

Mrs. John Kershaw, of Sanford, has left the town in company with a young man named Frank Sherburn. She took with her the earnings of her husband in the Sanford mills for the week, but left behind her two infant children. Mrs. Kershaw is said to be known to the police of more than one city in both Maine and New Hampshire.

James W. Dennett of Saco, the young man whose death was recently caused by the criminal carelessness or reckless cupidity of some person—whoever was responsible for the using of a cask which had contained embalming fluid, to hold cider—was a member of the York County Wheelmen's club, and his death was the first which has occurred in the club since its formation.

Mr. Noah Emery of Kittery Point has taken the contract to put in the stone foundation of the new summer hotel at that place. The new hotel is to be similar in its architecture and features to the Garrison house at York, with such improvements and alterations as experience has shown to be advisable.

The house of Mr. Charles Call of Kittery Point was burned about midnight on the night of Oct. 21st. It is said the inmates had a narrow escape for their lives.

Rheumatism

It is an established fact that Hood's Sarsaparilla has proven an invaluable remedy in many severe cases of rheumatism, effecting remarkable cures by its powerful action in correcting the acidity of the blood, which is the cause of the disease, and purifying and enriching the vital fluid.

It is certainly fair to assume that what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for others it will do for you. Therefore, if you suffer the pains and aches of rheumatism, give this potent remedy a fair trial.

A Positive Cure.

"I was troubled very much with rheumatism in my hips, ankles, and wrists. I could hardly walk, and was confined to my bed a good deal of the time. Being recommended to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, I took four bottles and am perfectly well. I cheerfully recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla as one of the best blood purifiers in the world." W. F. WOOD, Bloomington, Ill.

For Twenty Years

I have been afflicted with rheumatism. Before 1883 I found no relief, but grew worse. I then began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and it did me more good than all the other medicine I ever had." H. T. BALCOM, Shirley, Mass.

"I suffered from what the doctors called muscular rheumatism. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and am entirely cured." J. V. A. PROMPHOOT, letter carrier, Chicago, Ill.

We shall be glad to send, free of charge, to all who may desire, a book containing many additional statements of cures by

in time. Kidney diseases may be prevented by purifying, renewing, and invigorating the blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. When, through debility, the action of the kidneys is perverted, these organs rob the blood of its needed constituent, albumen, which is passed off in the urine, while worn out matter, which they should carry off from the blood, is allowed to remain. By the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the kidneys are restored to proper action, and Albuminuria, or

Bright's Disease

is prevented. Ayer's Sarsaparilla also prevents inflammation of the kidneys, and other disorders of these organs. Mrs. Jas. W. Weld, Forest Hill st., Jamaica Plain, Mass., writes: "I have had a complication of diseases, but my greatest trouble has been with my kidneys. Four bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla made me feel like a new person; as well and strong as ever." W. M. McDonald, 40 Summer st., Boston, Mass., had been troubled for years with Kidney Complaint. By the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, he not only the disease from assuming a fatal form, but was restored to perfect health. John McLellan, cor. NOTICE TO DOG OWNERS.

The attention of dog owners is called to the following extracts from the General Laws and City Ordinances:

GENERAL LAWS OF NEW HAMPSHIRE, CHAP. 115.

SECT. 7. No person shall be liable by law for killing any dog which shall be found not having around his neck a collar of brass, tin, or leather, with the name of the owner carved or engraved thereon.

SECT. 8. Any town may make by-laws for licensing, regulating, or restraining dogs as they shall deem expedient, and may affix penalties for the violation thereof not exceeding five dollars; and the sum to be paid for a license shall not be less than two dollars on male dogs and five dollars on female dogs.

CITY ORDINANCE, CHAP. 16.

SEC. 1. No dog shall be permitted to go at large or loose in this city until the owner or keeper of such dog, or the head of the family, or the keeper of the house or place where such dog is kept or harbored, shall have procured from the city marshal a license for such dog.

SEC. 2. The city marshal shall grant a license to any citizen for his dog on the payment of two dollars for a male dog, and five dollars for a female dog, which license shall expire on the first day of July annually.

SEC. 4. The person named in each license so granted shall cause his name and the number of the license to be distinctly marked on a collar which shall be constantly kept about the neck of the dog so licensed, and no dog shall be considered as licensed unless this requisition shall be complied with.

SEC. 5. It shall be the duty of the city marshal to cause all dogs to be killed which shall be found at large or loose within the city without a collar marked as required in section 4, and cause all dogs so killed to be buried, and any person may lawfully kill any dog found within the limits of this city going at large contrary to the provisions of this chapter.

SEC. 6. In case any dog not licensed shall be provided with a collar marked as required in this ordinance, the owner or keeper thereof or the head of the family or keeper of the house or place where such dog is kept or harbored, shall upon conviction thereof be fined five dollars.

Notice is hereby given that the law will be strictly enforced.

MEMORIAL RESOLUTIONS.

At a regular meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Public Library, held Oct. 21st, 1886, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That in the death of Mrs. Anna B. Wilson, the Public Library of this city has met with an irreparable loss;

Resolved, That we recognize in her one of the first to advocate the establishment of a public library in this city, and one of its most earnest and efficient supporters, having served as a Trustee ever since its institution, in which capacity she spared in its behalf neither time, thought, nor personal exertion;

Resolved, That the members of the Board of Trustees feel that they have lost in her a most esteemed and valued fellow-laborer and counselor;

Resolved, That we extend to her family our earnest sympathy in their bereavement, and a copy of these resolutions be sent to them by the secretary.

Elias Frink of Newington vs. John Smith of North Hampton, action to recover $145, balance claimed to be due on a quantity of hay sold, was commenced at 2:30 P. M. Frink for plff.; Page for deft.

MUSIC HALL.

"Si Perkins" is a genuine American play. Under the care of Mr. Jones, it has been carried through many cities with financial success, and bids fair to continue doing so, for it has great merits, both of construction of plot and good acting. The audience on Friday night bestowed well deserved applause on most of the scenes. Si Perkins was cleverly (because naturally) played by Mr. Jones. He has got the ability and the go to bring out the shrewdness of the irrepressible agent of the threshing machine, to make you understand that "it must sell." There need be no mistake about it; it must, and in the last act convulsed the house in the scene where he roused Anson Craig out of his invalid lethargy into quick movements, with those legs of his that had been so long useless. The house roared again, for without any vulgarity it was very funny. Beyond the title role, now being noticed, all the other parts were well sustained, notably the Zana, of Miss Montague, the Jonas and Anson Craig of Mr. Wm. Craig, and the Israel Budge of Harry Lloyd.—Butler Citizen.

At Music hall next Tuesday evening. Tickets at Goodrich's.

DOG LICENSES.

Attention is called to the "notice to dog owners" in our advertising columns. It is the intention of the city authorities to rigidly enforce the law of the state and the city ordinance in this regard, and all who own valuable dogs will do well to take heed.

The city workmen under Street Commissioner Marshall on Friday commenced the widening and straightening of Creek street, between the residences of Hon. John S. Treat and Hon. Frank Jones.

Mr. Charles W. Gurney, of Sacramento, Cal., called upon us Friday. Mr. Gurney has resided in California for thirty years, but like all other natives of Portsmouth, dearly loves to visit his boyhood's home.

The Portsmouth Brewing Co. intend building a wharf at their brewery.

The standing rigging for the new schooner Lizzie J. Call was hauled to the Freeman's point shipyard on Friday. The schooner is to be rigged on the stocks.

Miss Nellie E. Rand, one of our best teachers, has received an invitation to take charge of a school in Chicopee, Mass. We trust that if it is possible the Board of Instruction will retain Miss Rand in this city.

Mr. T. C. Meagher has at his studio on Congress street six arm chairs belonging to Mr. H. W. Green, which he has finished in ebony elaborately decorated with flowers in lemon gold. They are very handsome, and worth inspection.

Mr. Charles W. Badger, bookkeeper for the Portsmouth Machine Co., has removed from No. 67 State street to No. 2 Richards avenue.

There was quite an excitement on Water street Friday evening, when a damsel named Lizzie Murphy, not unfamiliar in our police court, and a man, both drunk, were making the night hideous with their drunken revelry until the arrival of Marshal Norton, who escorted the fair Miss Murphy to the police station. The sequel will probably appear in our police court report on Monday.

John F. Paul has been appointed dockmaster at the navy yard. He held the same position in 1861, and worked on the dock when it was in course of construction.

A handsome new revenue flag was hoisted on the custom house staff in this city last Thursday.

Mr. John W. Pickering, of the south end, the largest man in Portsmouth, has resigned his position on the navy yard, and will remove with his family to Waterbury, Conn., where his sons carry on a large business in making boxes.

The St. Mary's Benevolent society will give a dance in Franklin hall on the evening of Nov. 4th.

The steamer Mystic will make an extra trip across the river this evening, leaving Kittery at 9:15 o'clock, to accommodate persons attending the Christian conference there.

Daniel D. Waldron has been appointed ward clerk in place of Michael Canty, resigned, in ward three.

Rev. Luther F. McKinney, the democratic candidate for Congress from this district, will speak in Music hall on Wednesday evening of next week.

Rev. F. K. Chase of Dover will preach in the Middle street church to-morrow.

The Advent Conference of New Hampshire commenced its annual session on Wednesday of this week with the Advent society of this city, at the chapel on Hanover street, the session continuing through the week and on Sunday.

The subject of the discourse Sunday morning at the Universalist church will be "Election of Grace as seen to-day." There will be a lecture in the evening at 7:30 o'clock; subject, "The invisible God in visible nature. A proof that God exists." Come and consider the argument.

The following is announced as the organization of the proposed York Harbor & Beach railroad: E. B. Hammond, president; H. E. Evans, assistant to the president; J. P. Simpson, treasurer; J. C. Stewart, clerk; directors, E. B. Hammond, H. E. Evans, E. C. Marshall, J. P. Simpson, J. E. Staples, D. W. Junkins, John C. Stewart; engineer, Gorham Low. It is intended to locate and begin the grading at once.

The largest and best line of Ladies' and Children's Cloaks to be found in the city is claimed to be at Lewis E. Staples, 7 Market St.

holes is highly impregnated with sulphur, which is deposited on the rocks and in the soil, and becomes an inexhaustible supply of this mineral. The crane and rigging for lowering the workmen into this inferno still remains in place, but the rope having been unused for three years, no one cares to trust his weight upon it.

An awful silence now broods over this scene of emptiness and desolation, in striking contrast with the roar and turbulence which terrified the Spaniards, who attempted to ascend the volcano 350 years ago. At brief intervals a rock or boulder rolls thundering down the precipitous sides to the bottom, displacing other stones on its way, and one can not help wondering what must have been the original depth of the crater, which after 300 years of such accretions, still measures more than 600 feet. It was with a sigh of regret that we at last turned away from these most astonishing and stupendous remains of volcanic actions, and prepared to make our descent to lower earth.—Mexico Cor. Cleveland Leader.

Her Grief Assuaged.

A little New York girl, while spending the summer in the country, became very much attached to a pet chicken, which she wished to take home with her.

"That's impossible, Sadie," said her mother. "We wouldn't know what to do with it. If you don't want to leave it here, why not let Uncle James kill it, and we'll have it for supper?"

"Oh, mamma," sobbed the little girl, "can I have all the white meat?"—New York Sun.

Prevention of Consumption.

The extent to which consumption can be prevented in a community, if it is treated as a contagious disease, is shown by the experience of Naples, where for eighty years it was so treated, with precautions so rigid as to be inhumane, but with the result of practically stamping out the disease.—Chicago News.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey and Duffy's Formula.

For Malaria.

143 Catherine St., Elizabeth, N. J.
Sirs—My friends say I have been chronic malaria. I was completely run down: no appetite, skin yellow, constantly languor and weakness. I took your Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey and Duffy's Formula, and could not ask to feel better than I do. I gained 20 pounds the first week. D. R. HOWLAND.

110 Jackson St., Paterson, N. J.
Dear Sirs—As a result of using your Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey and Duffy's Formula I find that all the malarial feelings I had have been eradicated; my appetite has returned and a gradual increase in weight and strength has taken place. JOHN DUFFY.

46 Pine St., Elizabeth, N. J.
Gentlemen—I have found the greatest relief in the use of your Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey and Duffy's Formula in breaking up the chills and fever, with which I had been troubled for 12 years. I have been troubled also with my lungs and blood spitting, which has also been relieved. A. J. GLEASON.

322 York St., W. Phila., Pa.
Gentlemen—I had malarial fever, which was followed by typhoid and pneumonia. Physicians prescribed cod-liver oil, but did not improve. I got discouraged and procured your Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey and Duffy's Formula. They did me good at once. I was almost a skeleton, and would not have believed it possible to gain the weight I did in a short time. I cannot say too much in their favor. WM. LINDEMEYER.

Hagerstown, Md.
Gentlemen—I had been for years suffering with chills, and received no permanent relief in the hands of a physician. The ague at last brought on hemorrhage, but am pleased to say that as a result of using your Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey and Duffy's Formula, I am feeling better than I have in six years, and I regard its power in curing malaria as something wonderful. J. H. BOONE.

Anacostia, D. C.
Dear Sirs—I have been greatly benefited by the use of your Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. I have no symptoms now of malaria with which I was troubled a great deal. My stomach and liver are in splendid condition. F. L. ALLEN.

THE DUFFY MALT WHISKEY CO., BALTIMORE, MD.

☞ The Duffy's Formula is a specific disease, hold application, of the medicinal virtues and purity of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, and is recommended specifically for the treatment of Consumption, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Malaria, General Debility and all Wasting Diseases. In addition to the tonic effect of our whiskey, it furnishes unaspirated blood-forming material, whereby the Weight and Strength are increased. It is made in accordance with a specially prepared Formula, and consists principally of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, and Rice Imperial combined in liquid form, the nutritious elements of the beef being extracted without cooking or chemical changes by a new process, making it the most palatable and efficacious beef preparation ever made. It can be had of all dealers at ONE DOLLAR PER BOTTLE.

Great Lockout Threatened.

The Philadelphia Manufacturers' Association has issued an order which may close down nearly all the textile mills of that city and vicinity, and deprive not less than 75,000 operatives of employment. A notice has been posted up in all the mills owned by members of the association declaring that unless the striking employes of William O. Troth, Jr., & Co., in Frankford, return to work before Nov. 3d, a general lockout will ensue, to take effect on that date. This action, if carried out, will cause the stoppage of about $100,000 per day in wages. The trouble which has led up to this result originally began by the employes in Messrs. Troth's mills presenting to the firm a bill of grievances, involving several specific demands, among which were included an increase of wages representing about nine per cent, the discharge of the foreman, and the discharge also of several non-union hands to whom work had been given. Messrs. Troth refused to accede to their demands, whereupon all the union men were ordered to leave the mills.

The stock of the First National bank, of Portland, Me., has declined from 145 to 110 since Gould's defalcation.

Nowadays a frequent and painful disease, rheumatism, can be permanently cured by Salvation Oil. All druggists keep it. Price 25 cents.

Thirty employes are deprived of work by the incendiary fire which recently damaged the Francestown soapstone works at Nashua to the extent of $24,000.

The experience of years furnishes the most convincing evidence that thousands of lives are annually saved by the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It speedily cures all affections of the throat, bronchial tubes, and lungs.

One hundred employes of the Silver Plate Cutlery company, of Shelton, Conn., have struck because of the discharge of two men.

James Pyle's Pearline is acknowledged to be the best preparation in use for laundry purposes. It enables the washer to cleanse the clothes without wearing them out with rubbing or pounding.

Thomas O'Connell, of Orange, Mass., while walking on the railroad track near the depot in that place, was struck by an excursion train and instantly killed.

Catarrh

Is a very prevalent and exceedingly disagreeable disease, liable, if neglected, to develop into serious consumption. Being a constitutional disease, it requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, acting through the blood, reaches every part of the system, effecting a radical and permanent cure of catarrh in even its most severe forms. Made only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Farmer Doolittle, of Bethany, Conn., convicted of murder in the second degree for killing one of his employes, has been sentenced to state prison for life.

Thousands have testified to the efficacy of St. Jacobs Oil in curing rheumatism.

The United States ship Shenandoah, which returned from the China station to San Francisco, has made her last cruise. The board of survey has reported to the secretary of the navy that it will require over $130,000 to repair her, which is fully twenty-six per cent of what she could now be built for. The law limits repairs to twenty per cent of the cost of the vessel, so that the Shenandoah will be put in ordinary and probably be sold at public sale. She is a third rate screw of 2,100 tons displacement, and carries nine guns.

Opposition is what it wants. That will make it solid; we mean Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. It has entered the lists and come out far ahead. In the ranks of legitimate household remedies for the cure of coughs and colds, Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup stands first. Price 25 cents.

St. Vitus' Dance Cured.

Farmingdale, L. I., N. Y., Sept. 2, 1885.——I have been troubled for several years with an affection of the nerves which no doctor or no medicine could cure until I tried Brandreth's Pills. I would be taken with a violent pain in the middle of my spine, and my arms and legs would twitch violently. It acted something like St. Vitus' Dance, for I couldn't control my limbs. It would come and go once or twice a month, lasting about two or three days at a time. Finally, at the beginning of one of my attacks, I took five of Brandreth's Pills. As soon as they acted freely I found myself almost well. So I continued taking them for a mouth—one or two a night. It is now a year since I have had an attack, and I attribute my cure to Brandreth's Pills. FRANCES WOOD.

Our Rapid Transitory Existence,

Brief as it is at the longest, is liable to be materially curtailed by our own indiscretions. The dyspeptic eat what they should not, the bilious drink coffee in excess, and the rheumatic, neuralgic and consumptive sit in draughts, get wet feet and remain in damp clothes, and then wonder when ill how they became so. To persons with a tendency to neuralgia, we recommend a daily use of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, and always a wineglassful after unavoidable exposure in damp or otherwise inclement weather. Efficient protection is afforded by this pleasant safeguard, which diffuses a genial glow through the system, invigorates and tones it, and promotes nerve tranquility. Fever and ague, biliousness, constipation, dyspepsia and renal disorder, are among the maladies which it remedies and prevents.

Leonard Abbott has been appointed postmaster at North Limington, Me., and Elenora Kimball at Zylonite, Mass.

Sergeant Brainerd, who was Lieut. Greely's right-hand man during the terrible winter passed by the Lady Franklin bay exploring expedition at Cape Sabine, has been appointed a second lieutenant in the army.

WHY IS IT

That rheumatism and neuralgia are so prevalent? This question has not been satisfactorily answered, but it is certain that these diseases are not only the most painful but among the most common, and some member of nearly every family in the land is the victim of one of these dread tormentors. Ladies seem to be peculiarly liable to neuralgic attacks, which, in the form of neuralgic headache, pain in the back, or nervous pains are of constant occurrence. Not until the discovery of Athlophoros had any remedy been found for either rheumatism, neuralgia or nervous headache, and they were generally conceded to be incurable, but Athlophoros has been proved to be not only a certain cure for these diseases, in all their varied forms, but a safe remedy. If, in the use of Athlophoros, the bowels are kept freely open, its success is certain, and to aid this, Athlophoros Pills are recommended, which, while providing the necessary cathartic, will be found to be a valuable aid to the action of the medicine. Athlophoros is no experiment, it has been tested and has proved its wonderful efficacy.

The Athlophoros Pills were originally prepared as a remedy for use in connection with Athlophoros, for rheumatism and neuralgia and kindred complaints. Used in connection with that remedy, they are a certain cure for either of these very common and distressing diseases. They have also been found to be an invaluable remedy for any and all diseases arising from vitiated blood or general debility. They are especially valuable for nervous debility, blood poisoning, dyspepsia, distress after eating, headache, constipation, loss of appetite, and all stomach or liver troubles. For diseases of women they are invaluable. These pills are perfectly harmless and may be safely used by adults or children.

Testimonials of those who have been cured will be sent free on application.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist, the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

CRUELTY TO HINDU WIDOWS.

The Fast of Widowhood—Writhing in an Agony of Thirst and Hunger.

The most severely felt injunction of custom upon the widows is that of fasting for two days every month during the whole period of her widowhood, that is, till the last month of her life. The observance is called ekadasi, which is a Sanskrit word meaning "the eleventh," called from the fact that the widow abstains from all food on the eleventh day of each of the two fortnights into which the Hindu lunar month is divided. This ekadasi is a strict fast; nothing in the shape of liquid or solid can be touched by the widow; even a drop of water is forbidden to her for the whole of twenty-four hours on those two days of the month. There is no trace of this stringent rule anywhere in the Vedas or in the ancient literature of the Hindus. Manu enjoins a system of frequent abstinence, but nowhere in the Hindu books of old on laws and observances is it ordained that a Hindu widow must pass two days in every month without touching, even at the risk of her life, any food or water. It is an innovation of later date, as are a great many of the present customs and ceremonies observed by the natives of India.

Under the joint family system of the natives of India there are very few Hindu houses where either a widowed daughter or a daughter-in-law can not be found, and the sufferings of these young widows on their ekadasi days are simply beyond description. In the middle of the fasting day you will find the young widowed daughter writhing in agony of thirst and hunger, her aged mother sitting silently by her and shedding tears at the pangs of her bereaved child, who can not, for fear of shame and ridicule, even give vent to her feelings by the only way left to her—by weeping; her face is deadly pale through want of food, her eyes are bleared with racking pain, and her lips parched with terrible thirst. Perhaps she hears the noise of dropping water; she at once turns her eyes towards it, she looks hard at it, but she dares not utter a word. She longingly watches the course of the water as it reaches the courtyard; a dog passes by and drinks of it, but she cannot touch it. She draws away her eyes from it and mutters to herself: "O! what sin have we committed that God has made us widows even worse than dogs!" She casts a look of despair at her mother. But the mother is helpless. The ordinances of custom must be rigidly followed. Her heart breaks at the sight of her daughter's agonies, but the rules of Shastras can not be broken. They say that it is written in the Shastras that the widow who drinks water (not to speak of taking any food) and the person who gives her water on the day of ekadasi are both damned to eternal perdition. The timidly superstitious Hindu mother can not dare the risk of the perpetual condemnation of her soul to hell for the sake of alleviating the sufferings of her widowed daughter.

In many houses you will see an aged, invalid widow, lying prostrate on her fasting day, haggard and emaciated, her daughters sitting around her. It is the middle of Indian summer; everything is blazing with torrid heat. The poor widow can hardly get up through age and illness, and there on so scorching a day she goes through her fast without touching a particle of food or a drop of water. The daughters are trying their best to soothe and comfort her, but she lies almost in an insensible state. All at once her eyes open, she looks hard at one of her daughters and most beseechingly asks for a little water. They look at her helplessly and tell her: "Dear mother, to-day is ekadasi, water is forbidden." The wretched widow is in a state of delirium, she has lost her memory. Again and again she implores her daughters for a drop of water, saying: "I am dying, pray give me water." They can not bear this sight any more, they burst into tears—but they dare not grant their mother's prayer. They only try to comfort her by saying that directly the night passes away she shall have water. But, alas! The night may not pass away for the widow; perhaps she succumbs to her mortal thirst in a few hours, and thus dies a victim to the custom of man. —Devendran Das in Nineteenth Century.

Orators Searching for a Word.

Henry Clay never was at a loss for a word or "boggled" while speaking, but his drafts on the king's English were never dishonored. With Mr. Webster it was different, and he would often hesitate, and then rub his nose with the bent knuckle of his right thumb. Mr. Calhoun, when at a loss for a word, would give a petulant twist at his large, turned over shirt-collar, and then run his bony finger through his gray hair until it stood up like the hair on an electric toy. Mr. Benton would sink his voice and mumble something that no one could understand, and Gen. Cass would "aw! aw!" in the English style, passing his hand beneath the lower edge of his capacious white waistcoat. Mr. Webster was almost invariably "stuck" when he attempted to use a Latin quotation, and when Mr. Everett was in the senate he used invariably to appeal to him.—Ben: Perley Poore.

Siberia Drying Up.

Russian geographers report that numerous lakes in Siberia, chiefly in the Tobolsk and Tomsk provinces, are rapidly drying up, and villages now stand on spots covered by extensive sheets of water 100 years ago. Lake Tchebakly has shown the most remarkable change,

In mining districts where men have been burned or bruised by carelessness, Salvation Oil has been used to great advantage. It is now sold by all druggists at twenty-five cents a bottle.

Sixteen hundred geese belonging to a Boston firm were packed too closely in a freight car while being shipped from New York, and were smothered.

Wonderful

Old age was attained by Ann Wignell of Jamacia, who lived to be 145 years; by Joseph Rann, also of Jamaica, 140; by Elias Hoyle of England, 131, and William McKein of Virginia, United States, who was 130. Humanity will all reach these figures now that so pure and medicinal an article as the G. O. Taylor Bourbon and Rye Whiskey is bottled by C. H. Graves & Sons, Boston, and sold by every reliable grocer and druggist.

For sale by the bottle or case by John Leighton.

Terrible Affair.

The F. F. V.'s are in a state of mind. The Virginia State Fair was held in Richmond last week, and one of its incidents was a grand reception given by Gov. Lee and wife at the gubernatorial mansion, to which hundreds of prominent men and women were invited, among others the president and Mrs. Cleveland, and the wives of Secretaries Endicott, Vilas and Lamar. The ladies named did not appear, the president having to go it alone. The reason for this is said to be that Miss Winnie Davis, daughter of Jeff Davis, was announced to assist Mrs. Lee in doing the honors of the reception, and that this fact was made very conspicuous through allusions to the young lady in some of the southern papers as "the daughter of the confederacy." It is hinted that Dan. Lamont suggested to the president that it would not be wise for the wives of the president and cabinet officers to take part in such a reception, as the northern republicans would be able to make magnificent political capital out of it.

The Statue of Liberty Celebration.

The First and Second Brigades of the New York National Guard have been ordered out by Governor Hill to support the escort on the occasion of the Statue of Liberty celebration on Thursday, Oct. 28th. The uniformed battalion of the Seventh Regiment will also parade; they have also chartered the steamer Grand Republic, on which they will take their families and friends, and take position in the flotilla to view the fireworks and the lighting up of the statue. The land parade will start from Fifty-eighth street at nine o'clock in the forenoon. The naval parade is to start from opposite Fortieth street, North river, at noon, at the close of the land parade.

The U. S. S. Tennessee arrived in New York on the 23d, having on board 150 boys from the New Hampshire, who will help man the yards on the Jamestown. The French frigate Minerve has arrived, and three or four other French men-of-war will be there in time for the parade.

The French steamer La Bretagne, with M. Bartholdi and distinguished French visitors on board, is expected to arrive to-day, when the guests will be received with proper ceremonies.

Great Fire in Farmington, Me.

The thriving town of Farmington, in Franklin county, Me., was visited by a most disastrous fire on Friday night, thirty-three dwelling-houses, nineteen stores, three churches, two hotels, two newspaper offices, three lawyers' offices, two insurance offices, the county jail, the town house, the post-office, one savings bank, one art studio, a bakery, a plough factory, the municipal court room and a blacksmith shop being burned.

The fire department apparatus of the town consisted of one hand engine and a hook and ladder truck; they were well manned and did splendid work, but were entirely inefficient to stop the progress of the flames. A hand engine and company from Sandy River, eighteen miles away, rendered invaluable aid; and finally a steamer from Lewiston arrived, and largely assisted in saving what of the town now remains.

The total loss is estimated at $500,000, about half covered by insurance.

The pupils of the state normal school, 165 in number, are said to have worked nobly, not only preserving the school building but doing great good elsewhere; the young girls worked bravely, everywhere helping to clear houses of furniture and tendering all aid possible. Only a few pupils will lose their boarding places, perhaps one-quarter of them. Some have lost all they had, and will have to go home.

AROUND HOME.

It is suggested by the Portland Evening Express that, as the office of collector of internal revenue for the district of Maine has been removed from Portland to Ellsworth, 160 miles, and somewhat out of the way as a business locality, the collectorship "might be abolished and consolidated with the Portsmouth district, whose headquarters are in that city right on the line between Portland and Boston, fifty-one miles from the former, and very much nearer the majority of the business in Maine than Ellsworth. Three deputies, one at Portland, one at Augusta and one at Bangor, could it is contended do the work well, and report more readily at Portsmouth than at Ellsworth." The only objections to this plan seem to be that the collector here would have no additional salary and be obliged to work more intensely, and the Maine people would be unable to get to the office after customs hours, when the janitor of the public building unrelentingly closes the doors against all who may have public business to transact. As a measure of economy, however, we favor the "reform."

Messrs. E. F. Sise & Co. having removed the old fish-market from the foot of Deer street, the city should grade up its former site, and the approach to the new boat-landing, in good shape and with good material. The cost would not be large, but the improvement could be very great. There is a small "jog" in the dock there which should also receive attention. At present it is offensive to the eyes and the nostrils, in its filthiness; fifty loads or so of gravel would obviate this, besides improving the landing.

Mr. Flagg F. Grant has assumed the duties of steward of the Rockingham house, Mr. Hazeltine, steward for some time past, having resigned.

The wells in the vicinity of Gravelly Ridge have very generally given out, and water is being hauled long distances for culinary and drinking purposes, and cattle driven miles in some instances for water.

While Miss Ellen Sheehan of Dover was on a visit to friends in this city last Thursday, leaving her house locked up, it was broken into, and bills and silver amounting to nearly $300 stolen from a trunk.

Ed. Jameson of Commercial wharf on Saturday and Sunday received about 10,000 lbs. of fish, including a large proportion of fine haddock.

The acting secretary of the treasury has appointed Brackett Lewis as light-keeper at the Nubble, York, Me.; Thomas H. Orcutt at Wood island, near the entrance to Saco river; and Henry Day at Seguin, Me.

One of the sufferers by the fire of Friday night at Farmington, Me., was Prof. G. C. Purington, principal of the state normal school, who lost about $500 on household effects, with no insurance. Prof. Purington's wife was Miss Sarah Bailey, formerly first assistant teacher in the Portsmouth high school.

Geo. A. Hammond of Eliot has been awarded by the naval bureau of yards and docks a contract for timber, etc., to be furnished at the Kittery navy yard.

An old house near the store of S. B. Farnsworth, in Wells, which was burned on the night of the 14th inst., was built by the grandfather of the late Capt. Daniel Hatch of Kennebunk, and must have been over 100 years old.

Gen. Sheridan has been installed as commander-in-chief of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion, vice Gen. Hancock, deceased.

Mr. JOHN W. FURBUSH,

An Army Veteran,

who has probably suffered more than any man or woman in America to-day. Taken sick while in the Army, he has endured untold agonies since. Describing his first symptoms he said: "My head ached and my appetite was poor. I felt a faintness at the pit of the stomach, and a bad taste in my mouth, while my skin was sometimes hot and sometimes cold. I next felt pains in my back and around the lower portion of my body, and noticed a peculiar color and odor in the water I passed, which was scanty at one time and free at others. Sometimes it pained me to void it, and again it was almost impossible to do so at all. Finally I began to pass clear blood accompanied with the greatest strain and agony."

No less than 24 eminent physicians attended Mr. Furbush at various times, but not one of them could help him. He was near death's door. And yet he says: "I am alive and well to-day, wholly through the wonderful power of Hunt's Remedy, which took me from the verge of the grave."

This Great Remedy absolutely cures all Kidney, Liver and Urinary Diseases.

A despatch of the 23d from Halifax, N. Two other cabinet ministers spoke, and expressed themselves as desirous of obtaining a reciprocal treaty if it could be secured on favorable terms, but would make no extraordinary concessions to obtain it, and that negotiations must be opened by the United States."

Three Peculiarities

Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier and regulating medicine, is characterized by three peculiarities, namely:

1st: The combination of the various remedial agents used.

2d: The proportion in which the roots, herbs, barks, etc., are mixed.

3d: The process by which the active medicinal properties are secured.

The result is a medicine of unusual strength and curative power, which effects cures heretofore unequalled. These peculiarities belong exclusively to Hood's Sarsaparilla, and are in time. Kidney diseases may be prevented by purifying, renewing, and invigorating the blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. When, through debility, the action of the kidneys is perverted, these organs rob the blood of its needed constituent, albumen, which is passed off in the urine, while worn out matter, which they should carry off from the blood, is allowed to remain. By the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the kidneys are restored to proper action, and Albuminuria, or is prevented. Ayer's Sarsaparilla also prevents inflammation of the kidneys, and other disorders of these organs. Mrs. Jas. W. NOTICE TO DOG OWNERS.

The attention of dog owners is called to the following extracts from the General Laws and City Ordinances:

GENERAL LAWS OF NEW HAMPSHIRE, CHAP. 115.

SECT. 7. No person shall be liable by law for killing any dog which shall be found not having around his neck a collar of brass, tin, or leather, with the name of the owner carved or engraved thereon.

SECT. 8. Any town may make by-laws for licensing, regulating, or restraining dogs as they shall deem expedient, and may affix penalties for the violation thereof not exceeding five dollars; and the sum to be paid for a license shall not be less than two dollars on male dogs and five dollars on female dogs.

CITY ORDINANCES, CHAP. 16.

SEC. 1. No dog shall be permitted to go at large or loose in this city until the owner or keeper of such dog, or the head of the family, or the keeper of the house or place where such dog is kept or harbored, shall have procured from the city marshal a license for such dog.

SEC. 2. The city marshal shall grant a license to any citizen for his dog on the payment of two dollars for a male dog, and five dollars for a female dog, which license shall expire on the first day of July annually.

SEC. 4. The person named in each license so granted shall cause his name and the number of the license to be distinctly marked on a collar which shall be constantly kept about the neck of the dog so licensed; and no dog shall be considered as licensed unless this requisition shall be complied with.

SEC. 5. It shall be the duty of the city marshal to cause all dogs found which shall be found at large or loose within the city without a collar marked as required in section 4, and cause all dogs so killed to be buried, any person may lawfully kill any dog found within the limits of this city going at large contrary to the provisions of this chapter.

SEC. 6. In case any dog not licensed shall be provided with a collar marked as required in this ordinance, the owner or keeper thereof or the head of the family or keeper of the house or place where such dog is kept or harbored, shall upon conviction thereof be fined five dollars.

Notice is hereby given that the law will be strictly enforced.

REPUBLICAN CAUCUS.

The Republicans of Ward One are requested to meet at the ward room on Elm street, on Wednesday evening, Oct. 27th, at 7:30 o'clock, for the purpose of choosing candidates for representatives and ward officers, to be supported at the polls Nov. 2d. PER ORDER.

SUPREME COURT.

OCTOBER TERM, Clark J.

SATURDAY, 23d.—The suit of Frink against Smith was argued at the coming in of the court on Saturday morning. The question was whether the hay was bought by Smith, or taken by Smith to be sold on commission at Lynn. Verdict for defendant. Frink & Batchelder for pltff; Page for Smith.

Mabel Nickett of Plaistow was brought into court to answer to an indictment for cruelty to animals. She pleaded not guilty, and gave bonds.

One jury was excused for the session, the other being held until next week, in case any jury trials should come up.

The new docket will be called at 10:30 A. M. on Monday. There are 123 new entries.

POLICE COURT--BATCHELDER J.

SATURDAY, Oct. 23d.

Thomas Philbrook, for an assault on Henry Ham, a bar-keeper, was fined $5, costs $7.70; jail in default of payment. Another complaint against him, for assaulting Mrs. Walter S. Crafts, was dismissed.

Lizzie Murphy was complained of for drunkenness. She told the magistrate that was not her name; on his asking what her name was she failed to answer, and as he had on numerous previous occasions tried her for drunkenness under that name he thought it would do well enough this time, and fined her $3, with $5.76 costs. Brentwood, as usual.

MUSIC HALL.

The entertainment at the Chestnut St. Opera House last Saturday evening, "Si Perkins; or, The Girl I Left Behind Me," was the best of its kind that had been on the boards this season. Frank Jones, as Si Perkins, was immense, keeping the large audience in a roar of laughter. The music was excellent and it is a play well worth seeing.—Lancaster Republican.

At Music hall to-morrow evening. Tickets at Goodrich's; see advertisment.

MARITIME NOTES.

A despatch of Oct. 23d from Rockport says: "The schooner Eliza Ann, of York, Me., before reported ashore on Flat Ground ledge, floated at flood tide, immediately filled, became water-logged, was towed into Rockport by tug Cornelia, and will repair here."

The brick schooners Hattie Lewis, Clara B. Kennard, Lillie, Estella, Satellite and J. Chester Wood sailed from this port on Saturday with cargoes for Boston.

The Gloucester fishing schooner John W. Wonson sailed from that port Aug. 11th on a codfishing trip to Georges, and has not been heard from since. She is now given up for lost with her crew of ten men, who leave four widows and twelve fatherless children. Most of the crew belonged in Nova Scotia.

Mr. Stark Spinney last week shipped as a seaman on board the U. S. S. Yantic, at this navy yard. He is an experienced man-of-war's man, having served out several terms of enlistment.

The U. S. S. Yantic, which has been at this navy for some weeks undergoing repairs, in obedience to orders from the department left the yard on Saturday about two o'clock, backing into the stream under her own steam, and turning in good style. She is bound direct for New York to take part in the Bartholdi statue celebration.

THAT "IMPROVEMENT."

PORTSMOUTH, Oct. 23d.

Mr. Editor: During the past week our citizens have had their attention called through the daily papers to certain questionable improvements of the south pond. All sorts of rumors of this character were in circulation, but were not credited until the Times told the public, "officially," that they were well founded. It is information is correct then indeed it is time for our citizens to awake to the dangerous character of the "improvement," as well as the marring of the beauty of the pond. No one ever heard before of a plan to build a roadway across, but we have heard of a light pile foot-bridge to the park opposite. With no fear of being termed silly by any citizens for making up my mind as to the result, I will venture to say if the plan as set forth is carried out there will be a cess-pool of the first class on the upper side of the roadway, and as a proof of the correctness of my opinion– I would point to the present nuisance of Puddle dock, with an opening twenty-five feet wide directly into the swift-running tide of the river. Then again we recall the Brewster street nuisance, caused by just such an "improvement" as the one proposed—an earthern embankment with an opening for the water to flow in and out with the "swift" current of a mill-pond—we all remember the odors that came from it. Again, we recall another cess-pool originating in the same innocent way—the old Creek nuisance at the head of the north mill pond, bounded by a pile bridge at first and then by an embankment—and it cost the city over two thousand dollars to abate that nuisance; the big sewer through Deer street is the child of it, and an experienced engineer has left the outlet of that in still water, so that we still have with us a powerful reminder of the old Creek nuisance.

If there is a desire on the part of our city government to improve and beautify the section of the city near the south pond, let them continue the marginal road around the pond to the street leading from it by the old rope-walk; this was the original plan in starting that road, and it is thought it would not require much urging to induce the abuttors on the opposite shore and at the head of the pond to give the needed land for that purpose. It seems to me that before such a step as this one is taken it would have been as well to have ascertained the wish of the public in regard to it. Who has complained of these flats—now called a nuisance? I have made enquiries of the oldest residents in the neighborhood; they do not complain of any foul odors arising from them, nor do they approve of the so-called improvement. If the pond is a nuisance (which they do not admit, and they surely are the best judges,) they cannot see how damming it up will improve it; but they can see that it will sadly detract from the beauty of one of the most lovely sheets of water anywhere to be found. X ROADS.

Two large trees in the yard of the Hanover street schoolhouse were taken down on Saturday, in accordance with a vote of the board of mayor and aldermen at their late meeting.

The Portsmouth Electric Light Co. on Saturday received a new sixty-horse-power Ball automatic engine, which will be put in position this week, and is expected to be used in running the store circuit of incandesent lights on Saturday night. The engine now in use is of forty-horse-power, and the demand for lights having been much beyond what was anticipated, the lights have not been so steady as they will be when the new power is applied. The company having contracted to light the railroad station and the city building, another dynamo is to be at once added to the present plant.

Workmen of the Boston & Maine and Concord railroads were on Sunday engaged in putting under the railroad tracks the drain from the Portsmouth Shoe factory to the new intercepting sewer.

Officer Robert Stott on Sunday morning arrested a man calling himself Peter Blake, for the larceny of a Springfield watch from the vest pocket of one of the men employed at Silas Philbrick's stone and marble yard on Water street. The vest was hanging in the office of the stone yard (which is also used as the office of O. F. Philbrick & Co.'s coal wharf) at the time the watch was taken, and the stolen property was found in Blake's possession. Blake is a one-armed man, and has been selling lead pencils in this vicinity for some days past.

Wm. A. Cromwell, Esq. of South Berwick, deputy collector of internal revenue for the district of Maine, was in this city on Sunday.

The subject of the sermon at the Universalist church Sunday morning, was, "Election of grace in modern thought." Romans 9:5—"Even so then at this present time also there is a remnant according to the election of grace." Man is given an organization with certain abilities. There are certain opportunities within the limitations of his intelligence. He is laid out, or chosen, to fill a certain place. He is elected out of a multitude, to a work. The remainder of the multitude are elected to be his subjects, or his instruments, or his disciples. Every man is elected to a work. But a man can arbitrate, within his powers, as to what that work shall be.

The new greenhouses and grapery at Hon. Frank Jones' place at Gravelly Ridge are rapidly approaching completion; and nearly all the plants in the grounds which would suffer from freezing weather have been housed. The new building to contain the steam heating apparatus for all the other buildings is completed, and the boilers in place and in use; the apparatus is of Mr. Carmen's patent.

The approach to the boat-landing at the foot of Gates street would be greatly improved by being raised on with gravel and crushed stone. The surface should be brought up to be nearly on a level with the top of the stationary platform; otherwise it will be an awfully muddy hole when the frost leaves the ground next spring.

The largest and best line of Ladies' and Children's Cloaks to be found in the city is claimed to be at Lewis E. Staples, 7 Market St.

Lydia E. Pinkham

Suffering Womanhood.

Too much effort cannot be made to bring to the attention of suffering womanhood the great value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as a remedy for the diseases of woman. Such as one is the wife of General Barringer of Winston, N. C., and we quote from the General's letter as follows: "Dear Mrs. Pinkham: Please allow me to add my testimony to the most excellent medicinal qualities of your Vegetable Compound. Mrs Barringer was treated for several years for what the physicians called Leucorrhea and Prolapsus Uteri combined. I sent her to Richmond, Va., where she remained for six months under the treatment of an eminent Physician without any permanent benefit. She was induced to try your medicine and after a reasonable time commenced to improve and is now able to attend to her business and considers herself fully restored." (General Barringer is the proprietor of the American Hotel, Winston, N. C., and is widely known.—Ed.)

A Man's Thanks.

A well known business man of Wilmington, N. C., writes: "It is with pleasure, that I write to express to you my gratitude for the relief and benefit your Vegetable Compound has been to my Wife who has been troubled with ulceration. She has been under the treatment of the doctor for six years. Finally he said he could do nothing more for her, that she would die in 24 hours. Then I commenced using your Compound and now she can attend to her domestic affairs as well as she ever could." OCIII

The Civilization of Moscow.

Thomas Baily Aldrich, who has just returned from a three months' trip through the interior of Russia, says that the civilization of Moscow reminded him of some wild Indian chief who in his old age puts on a pair of epaulettes or a high hat. "It simply emphasizes savagery."—New York Sun.

A Hint for Occultists.

Writing from Darjeeling to Nature, the Hon. Ralph Abercrombie says: "Three cases have come under my personal observation in which brown-skinned natives, in very different parts of the world, blacken their faces to protect them from the intense light and heat." The examples he gives are those of the inhabitants of Morocco, as well as of others along the north of Africa, who blacken themselves around the eyes to avert opthalmia from the glare of hot sand. The natives of Fiji do the same and so do the natives of the Silkim hills, and it is only reasonable to suppose that a practice of such wide diffusion, and such striking similarity, is found useful, that is, protective in the places and under the conditions contemplated.

Origin of a Salt Mine.

In the eastern coast of the Caspian sea a curious phenomenon is in progress. Kara Bobhaz is an estuary nearly separate from the main body of the sea by a bank through which there is an inlet. The evaporation from this gulf is so great that a current continually sets in from the Caspian; and as there is no return current, the water of the gulf becomes more and more salifonous, and a deposit of salt is in course of formation. In time this gulf will be cut off from the Caspian, and will then be dried up and become an extensive salt-bed.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

The Basin of the Congo.

A famous French authority writes from nine years' experiences in French Congo that he has come to the conclusion that the west African territory and the basin of the Congo must be left to be developed by the original inhabitants and not be colonized by immigrants.—Boston Budget.

Catarrh

Is a very prevalent and exceedingly disagreeable disease, liable, if neglected, to develop into serious consumption. Being a constitutional disease, it requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, acting through the blood, reaches every part of the system, effecting a radical and permanent cure of catarrh in even its most severe forms. Made only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Would Like to Know His Authority.

Congressman Gallinger, chairman of the republican state committee, has written an open letter to Rev. J. R. Bartlett, secretary of the prohibition state central committe, in regard to a manifesto over Mr. Bartlett's signature, published in the Manchester Union and addressed to the republican leaders.

"In that document," writes Dr. Gallinger, "I find a charge to the effect that you have information from reliable sources that a conspiracy is being effected to attack the personal character of the nominees of the prohibition party in New Hampshire during the last days of the campaign by allegations of conduct and character inconsistent with the principles of the party, when too late to refute such allegations before the day of election. This you characterize as a dastardly plot, unworthy of men professing morality and integrity. If such a plot is in existence, I fully concur in your view of it. But you further charge that the republican state central committee propose to commit this dishonorable act. As the chairman of that committee, I deny the charge without any reservation whatever, and call upon you as a man professing morality and integrity, and especially as a minister of the Gospel, either to withdraw that charge or substantiate it by publishing the alleged information upon which it is based."

Dr. Gallinger goes on to say that while the republican state committee have not contemplated making any attack, such as is alleged, on the prohibition candidate for governor, Col. Joseph Wentworth, they are of the opinion that the statements are true that he was for many years a liquor seller in Sandwich in this state.

The mysterious origin of man has been partially disclosed by the Indianapolis Citizen, who found an infant in a tin-pail at the top of a tree. It is to be remembered there is nothing mysterious about Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup; a few doses will cure your cough and cold.

PRINCETON, N. J., Jan. 21, 1886.

I have found it imperative to have sure and simple remedies on hand in case of cuts, bruises, strains, sprains, colds, rheumatism, etc. Shortly after entering upon my profession, I discovered such a remedy in Allcock's Porous Plasters. I tried Benson's Capcine and other plasters, but found them too harsh and irritating. Allcock's Porous Plasters give almost instantaneous relief, and their strengthening power is remarkable. In cases of weak back put two plaster on the back, and in a short time you will be capable of quite severe exercises. In "sprint" and "distance" races and jumping, the muscles or tendons in the legs and feet sometimes weaken. This can invariably be relieved by cutting the plaster in narrow strips, so as to give free motion, and applying on muscles affected.

Our Rapid Transitory Existence,

Brief as it is at the longest, is liable to be materially curtailed by our own indiscretions. The dyspeptic eat what they should not, the bilious drink coffee in excess, and the rheumatic, neuralgic and consumptive sit in draughts, get wet feet and remain in damp clothes, and then wonder when ill how they became so. To persons with a tendency to neuralgia, we recommend a daily use of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, and always a wineglassful after unavoidable exposure in damp or otherwise inclement weather. Efficient protection is afforded by this pleasant safeguard, which diffuses a genial glow through the system, invigorates and tones it, and promotes nerve tranquility. Fever and ague, biliousness, constipation, dyspepsia and renal disorder, are among the maladies which it remedies and prevents.

WHY IS IT

That rheumatism and neuralgia are so prevalent? This question has not been satisfactorily answered, but it is certain that these diseases are not only the most painful but among the most common, and some member of nearly every family in the land is the victim of one of these dread tormentors. Ladies seem to be peculiarly liable to neuralgic attacks, which, in the form of neuralgic headache, pain in the back, or nervous pains are of constant occurrence. Not until the discovery of Athlophoros had any remedy been found for either rheumatism, neuralgia or nervous headache, and they were generally conceded to be incurable, but Athlophoros has been proved to be not only a certain cure for these diseases, in all their varied forms, but a safe remedy. If, in the use of Athlophoros, the bowels are kept freely open, its success is certain, and to aid this, Athlophoros Pills are recommended, which, while providing the necessary cathartic, will be found to be a valuable aid to the action of the medicine. Athlophoros is no experiment, it has been tested and has proved its wonderful efficacy.

The Athlophoros Pills were originally prepared as a remedy for use in connection with Athlophoros, for rheumatism and neuralgia and kindred complaints. Used in connection with that remedy, they are a certain cure for either of these very common and distressing diseases. They have also been found to be an invaluable remedy for any and all diseases arising from vitiated blood or general debility. They are especially valuable for nervous debility, blood poisoning, dyspepsia, distress after eating, headache, constipation, loss of appetite, and all stomach or liver troubles. For diseases of women they are invaluable. These pills are perfectly harmless and may be safely used by adults or children.

Testimonials of those who have been cured will be sent free on application.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist, the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

PEACE.

My heart rests, for the night is dark and still
My heart rests, for the moon is on the wane;
And 'gainst the shadowy window's lucent pane
The night-moth beats its wings and the fair trill
Of crickets sounds its soft, aerial strain.

My heart rests, for the silence of the night
Broods like an angel's pinion, and the air,
Fragrant with undulations, fond and rare
As from a holier sphere, bids care and care
Cease; for my soul lies hushed in tranquill prayer.

ASCENT OF MOUNT TACOMA.

A Plague of Yellowjackets, Musquitoes and Gnats—A Sleepless Torture.

On the following morning we were early in the saddle, and trouble began almost immediately. The woods were on fire around us, and we occasionally found ourselves hemmed in by flame and blinding smoke; smouldering trunks lay across the trail, and half-burned stumps left treacherous pitfalls in our way.

Nests of yellowjackets were met with every few hundred yards, their revengeful inmates swarming out upon us with relentless fury. The horses were stung to frenzy, and snorted, kicked, and finally stampeded in reckless madness, until brought to a standstill by a barrier of logs, where they crowded together, trembling with terror. Nor was this a temporary experience, but was repeated at intervals of ten minutes throughout the day. We were thus in constant danger of having our brains dashed out against the trees by the maddened breasts. The pack animals seemed to suffer most, and kicked off their packs with charming regularity about every hour.

By dint of a vigorous use of the ax in clearing the trail, we reached the Mishawl river, a distance of five miles, in four hours. Four hours more of vigorous work took us six miles further, to a small brook running into the Nisqually, and by nightfall we had traversed seventeen miles from Mishawl prairie, and gladly pitched our camp on a grassy bar of the main Nisqually.

We all needed rest and refreshing sleep, but were denied either, for no sooner had we unpacked our animals than we were assailed by myriads of small black gnats and ravenous mosquitoes. The gnats were simply irresistible; one could not breathe without inhaling them; they buried themselves in one's flesh, burning like so many coals of fire; they got into every article of food, without, however, improving its flavor; they swarmed in the tea in such quantities that it became a nauseating puree of gnat, and in fact made life quite unendurable; while the mosquitoes stung and poisoned every exposed portion of our bodies. We anointed ourselves with mud, buried our heads in our blankets, and tried to snatch a little sleep, but all to no purpose. The gnats crawled down our backs, filled our hair and ears, eyes and noses; and, in short, made us so utterly wretched that not one of us closed our eyes in slumber the whole night through. This was a poor preparation for the fatigues and hardships of the following day, but we were destined to suffer the same sleepless torture for some succeeding nights before escaping to the upper region of frost and snow.—George Bayley in Overland Monthly.

Wolves in England.

Ancient chroniclers state that King Edgar attempted to extirpate the wolves in England by commuting the punishments for certain offenses into the acceptance of a certain number of wolves' tongues from each criminal, and in Wales by converting the tax of gold and silver into an annual tribute of 300 wolves' heads. In subsequent times their destruction was promoted by certain rewards, and some lands were held on condition of destroying the wolves which infested the parts of the kingdom in which they were situated. In 1281 these animals troubled several of the English counties, but after that period our records make no mention of them. The last wolf known in Scotland was killed in 1680, and in Ireland one was killed in 1701.

The wolf in these islands was hunted by an animal known under various appellations as the Irish wolf dog, the Irish greyhound, the Highland deerhound, and the Scotch greyhound. There appears to be no doubt that all the dogs thus denominated were essentially of the same breed. Its original home is supposed to have been Ireland, whence, during the proud days of ancient Rome, it was frequently conveyed in iron cages to assists in the sports of the city on the Tiber.—Chambers' Journal.

Cutters in the Channel.

A veteran naval officer suggests that the relative merits of the sloop and cutter type will not be settled until one of our sloops conquers in English waters. He says the performances of cutters in the rough seas and thrashing winds of the British channel and narrow seas are really wonderful, and confirm him in the belief that they are the best rough weather boats he has ever seen in nearly forty years' service in all quarters of the globe.—Boston Transcript.

"IN THE COTTAGE BY THE SEA."

A few weeks since we published under the above heading a very readable article from the Suncook Journal. The issue of the 9th inst. of the same paper contains a continuation of this theme. Its length precludes the publication of the whole of it, but we think the following extracts are interesting:

One of the pleasantest places to be visited in Newcastle is the famous Hotel Wentworth. Standing on quite high ground, overlooking Little Harbor, it has a very fine sea view, second to none on the coast. Its facilities for boating and bathing, and usual round of seaside pleasures, are of the best, all going to make up a very popular summer home. A short distance from the hotel is the old Wentworth Mansion—built in 1750—with its council chambers, etc., unchanged, except having been stripped of most of the old furniture and ornaments. There were wont to assemble the wisdom and authority of the state, or colony, in its early history.

Across the river from Fort Cottage, in Kittery, are several other houses of historic interest: The "Pepperell House," built by the father of Sir William Pepperell in the year 1680, or thereabouts; the "Sparhawk House," built by Sir William Pepperell himself somewhere about 1760. This last is in a fine state of preservation, having been kept as it was originally made—the carved finish remains in the large stately rooms. This rich carving, fine panel work, the quaint figured paper on the walls, the ancient tiles in the fire places, in fact everything about it, speak of ancient grandeur and stately dignity. The "Cutts House" is also in excellent condition and of about the same age.

Newcastle village itself is a pleasant place in which to wander about, small though it is. Its houses, streets and lanes are so oddly situated and laid out that it is a real pleasure to walk about and note the peculiarities so characteristic of villages "down by the sea." The main street wanders uneasily along through the village, bordered on either side by the dwellings of its dwellers; ancient and modern architecture pleasantly intermingled, uniting past and present times and tastes; most of the houses have an air of cosy, home-like comfort, tempting even to the passer-by. Every now and then we come to a narrow, crooked lane leading off to some other lesser street, or to some house situated a little back from the rest, or else down to the water's edge, where are found more of the fishermen's cottages clustering near the boat landings, with a back-ground of lobster traps, nets, fishing tackle and in fact all the paraphernalia for capturing the scaly denizens of the deep. Off on the water may be seen the variously shaped, colored and sized boats, riding at their moorings, rising and falling with the tide and waves, tugging away at their anchors or the buoy to which they are fastened; seeming like restless steeds, anxious to be off; waiting only for the master's hand to loose them, when away they go over the rolling, tossing waters.

There is much about Newcastle that is interesting—much that reminds one of "story book" descriptions of such villages. The summer visitor finds the inhabitants ever kindly obliging in the use of boats, fishing tackle and their knowledge of the best fishing ground; always ready, at a very reasonable price, to take parties out sailing to any point of interest desired, and those who wish for fame as fishermen will find safe and cheerful pilots to where there is plenty of fun. Newcastle having once been visited will be re-visited with satisfaction and interest. Its inhabitants will be remembered for their genial kindness and obliging dispositions, fairness in dealings, and reasonable prices of all articles sold. It is easy of access from the railroad—a half-hour's ride in the barge, out across the bridges, or about the same time spent in riding on the little steamer, James Sampson, takes the visitor from Portsmouth to Newcastle. Either trip is very pleasant. The steamer runs so that several trips a day can be made between the two places, making it very convenient for those stopping at Fort Cottage, or any place in Newcastle.

Thus the jolly crowd of a dozen or more who landed at Fort Cottage, August 3d, found all these things, and they all bear willing testimony to the real pleasure of a month's sojourn in Fort Cottage, Newcastle.

Abram S. Hewitt, the democratic candidate for mayor of the city of New York, is a dyspeptic congressman who is constantly growling about something, and continues to run his head against every post that comes in his way, with perhaps the exception of the New York Post, which supports him, of course, against Mr. Roosevelt, the republican candidate. Mr. Hewitt, it will be remembered, declared that the "Morey letter" which the late Gen. J. A. Garfield pronounced a forgery was in Garfield's handwriting. When Gen. Garfield telegraphed that the letter was the work of some clumsy villain, Hewitt, who had pretended to have been a friend and admirer of Garfield while he served in Congress with him, insisted that the letter was in Garfield's writing, and has never since had the manliness to admit that he was deceived. He is altogether too obstinate a man to save the democratic factions in New York, and is put up for some inexplicable reason,—certainly not because the democracy want to see him elected. He is known as the son-in-law of the late Peter Cooper, though he is vain enough to assert that in ages to come Mr. Cooper will be remembered as the father-in-law of A. S. Hewitt (written with one S.)

The Rockingham County Temperance association will meet in the Congregational church at Candia on Thursday, Oct. 28th, opening at ten o'clock A. M. with a prayer and praise service. Basket collation at noon.

It is rumored that Mr William DeCourcey, the fashionable tailor, of this city, has purchased a summer residence at Pullet hill, North Kittery.

The contracts for grading for the York Harbor & Beach railroad are expected to be awarded on Monday next; there are only about 12,000 yards of material to be moved, and it is expected the grading will be completed before the snow comes. The "lower route," so called, is the one selected, crossing Spruce creek near the former estate of the late Wm. G. Parker of Kittery.

A large proportion of the wells in Kittery are reported to be dry.

Mr. George H. Seavey of Rye died on Sunday after a short illness, at the age of about forty-five years. He was a respected citizen of the town, and an industrious farmer. He was a member of St. John's Masonic Lodge and Piscataqua Lodge of Odd Fellows, of this city.

Persons contemplating putting in drains this fall will find a supply of the celebrated Akron salt-glazed drain pipe at No. 13 Green street, selling by Daniel Littlefield at a great reduction from former prices to make room for fresh consignments.

The New York daily newspapers due here on Saturday at half-past five o'clock P. M., did not arrive until Monday at ten A. M.

The burning of brick kilns at the up-river yards has been suspended for the present season. There is said to be a considerable stock on hand, which is being hurried off by the brick fleet before the closing of the upper river during the freezing weather.

"The close season is at hand," quoth the ancient mariner a few days since while fishing for crawm off the Crosswalls. "Hey? I thought the close season was off: look at all those lobster buoys," was the response by the nautical farmer. "You don't know anything. Now is the time to close the door, close the windows, put on more old clo's and sit close to the stove until spring."

When, through debility, the action of the kidneys is perverted, these organs rob the blood of its needed constituent, albumen, which is passed off in the urine, while worn out matter, which they should carry off from the blood, is allowed to remain. By the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the kidneys are restored to proper action, and Albuminuria, or

INVESTMENTS.

I am prepared to furnish the most desirable investments in County Bonds and Guaranteed Farm Mortgages, paying 6 and 7 per cent semi-annually. On Farm Mortgages, only from 25 to 33 per cent of the actual cash value of the property is loaned, and the title, location, quality of land and future prospects of the property are personally looked up. Farm Loans are, when negotiated by experienced and responsible parties, the most profitable security offered, especially for those having small sums to invest from time to time. The Loans I offer are First-Class in every respect. Principal and interest when due, paid here without expense to the holder.

I have these Loans in sums from $300 to $5,000.

NOTICE TO DOG OWNERS.

The attention of dog owners is called to the following extracts from the General Laws and City Ordinances:

GENERAL LAWS OF NEW HAMPSHIRE, CHAP. 115.

SECT. 7. No person shall be liable by law for killing any dog which shall be found not having upon it a neck a collar of brass, tin, or leather, with the name of the owner carved or engraved thereon.

SECT. 8. Any town may make by-laws for licensing, regulating, or restraining dogs as they shall deem expedient, and may affix penalties for the violation thereof not exceeding five dollars; and the sum to be paid for a license shall not be less than two dollars on male dogs and five dollars on female dogs.

CITY ORDINANCES, CHAP. 16.

SEC. 1. No dog shall be permitted to go at large or loose in this city until the owner or keeper of such dog, or the head of the family, or the keeper of the house or place where such dog is kept or harbored, shall have procured from the city marshal a license for such dog.

SEC. 2. The city marshal shall grant a license to any citizen for his dog on the payment of two dollars for a male dog, and five dollars for a female dog, which license shall expire on the first day of July annually.

SEC. 4. The person named in each license so granted shall cause his name and the number of the license to be distinctly marked on a collar which shall be constantly kept about the neck of the dog so licensed, and no dog shall be considered as licensed unless this requisition shall be complied with.

SEC. 5. It shall be the duty of the city marshal to cause all dogs to be killed which shall be found at large or loose within the city without a collar marked as required in section 4, and cause all dogs so killed to be buried, and any person may lawfully kill any dog found within the limits of this city going at large contrary to the provisions of this chapter.

SEC. 6. In case any dog not licensed shall be provided with a collar marked as required in this ordinance, the owner or keeper thereof or the head of the family or keeper of the house or place where such dog is kept or harbored, shall upon conviction thereof be fined five dollars.

Notice is hereby given that the law will be strictly enforced.

REPUBLICAN CAUCUSES.

The Republicans of Ward One are requested to meet at the ward room on Elm street, on Wednesday evening, Oct. 27th, at 7:30 o'clock, for the purpose of choosing candidates for representatives and ward officers, to be supported at the polls Nov. 2d. PER ORDER.

The Republicans of Ward Two are requested to meet at the Common Council rooms on Friday evening, Oct. 29th, at 7:30 o'clock, for the purpose of nominating candidates for representatives and ward officers to be supported at the polls Nov. 2d. PER ORDER.

NEW TIME TABLE.

The new time table of the Boston & Maine railroad went into effect on Sunday, Oct. 24th, and the arrangement of trains on the Eastern division can be found in our advertising columns. The 7:30 and 7:35 A. M. trains from this city for Boston are consolidated into one train, which starts at 7:15; the 8:25 train starts five minutes earlier, at 8:20; the 2:55 P. M., train starts five minutes later, at 3:00 o'clock. The 9:30 A. M. and 3:20 P. M. trains from Boston for this city are taken off, the other trains remaining as before.

One train only is kept on between this city and North Conway, leaving the latter place at 7:05 A. M., and this city at 10:00 A. M., daily.

The early morning train from Dover for this city leaves at 6:45 instead of 7:00 o'clock as before, and the former 1:20 and 4:30 P. M. trains now start at 2:00 and 4:25 respectively. There is no change in the number or starting time of trains from this city for Dover.

The 7:00 P. M. train from Boston makes but one stop on the run to this city, at Newburyport; and both that train and the 7:00 A. M. train leave the Eastern division at North Berwick on the run to Portland, and go over the Western division to Scarboro' Junction.

POLICE COURT--BATCHELDER J.

MONDAY, Oct. 25th.

Peter Blake, charged with larceny of a watch from Alfred L. Goodwin, was held in $300 to answer at the next term of the supreme court; in default of sureties he will remain in jail until that court sits in January.

SUPREME COURT.

OCTOBER TERM, Clark J.

MONDAY, 25th.—The new docket, comprising 123 new entries, was called at 10:30 A. M.

Three indicted persons were brought into court, arraigned, and disposed of as follows:

Patrick Cassidy, vagrant; plea, guilty; sentence, six months in jail.

James Keen, vagrant; same plea and sentence.

Johanna Fitzgerald, setting fire in Exeter; plea, nolo contendere; sentence, three years in the state industrial school.

Case State vs. Lulu J. Sargent of Plaistow, cruelty to children, was on trial in the afternoon. Eastman for prosecution; Page of Portsmouth, and Pearl of Haverhill, for the defence.

The children alleged to have been abused, six in number, were in court during the afternoon. Case unfinished at adjournment, and to be resumed on the coming in of the court Tuesday morning.

SUDDEN DEATH.

John F. Parks, a coal heaver living at No. 31 Gates street, went to bed about half-past seven o'clock Monday evening apparently in his usual health, and at ten minutes past eight o'clock his wife found him dead. The city physician was called, and considered his death the result of natural causes.

MUSIC HALL.

Frank Jones and Alice Montague, with a better company than they have ever brought here before, entertained a large audience at Hawes' opera house last evening. The comedy, "Si Perkins; or, the Girl I Left Behind Me," was hardly recognized, so great have been the improvements in the piece. The leading character of course is Jones in the title role, and he makes it immensely funny. The musical sketches were loudly encored.—Bridgeport Standard.

At Music hall to-night; tickets at Goodrich's.

DEMOCRATIC NOMINATIONS.

The democratic caucus in ward three was held Monday evening by adjournment, and nominations made as follows:

Representative, Timothy F. Cronin;
Moderator, Ira G. Eastman;
Ward Clerk, William J. Cogan;
Selectmen, James G. Locke, Harry J. Freeman, George A. Pendexter; Inspector of Checklists, Daniel J. Ayers.

OPEN WAR.

The salvation army, to the number of six, armed with two bugles, a concertina and one or two tambourines, on Monday evening about eight o'clock made an advance against the evil one on the Parade, but the enemy was strongly reenforced by a gang of hoodlums armed with cannon-crackers, who opened a brisk fire on the army. The latter however bravely held their ground until they were quite ready to leave it, and then retired in good order and with bugles sounding. The hoodlums revenged themselves for their defeat by firing another tremendous volley after the army had gone.

CHRISTIAN CONFERENCE.

The 54th annual session of the Rockingham Christian Conference was held with the 2d Christian church of Kittery on Friday and Saturday last. The conference was called to order by the president, Rev. L. W. Phillips of Rye, and after singing, there was reading of the scriptures by Rev. John A. Goss of Haverhill, Mass., and prayer by Rev. C. P. Smith of this city. The right hand of fellowship was extended to Rev. C. D. Hainer of Portsmouth and Rev. J. H. Richards of Manchester. The officers elected for the ensuing year are as follows: President, Rev. L. W. Phillips; vice president, Rev. Joel Wilson of Kittery; secretary, Rev. John A. Goss; treasurer, W. H. Cate of Manchester. The conference adjourned Saturday afternoon.

THE SOUTH POND "IMPROVEMENT."

Mr. Editor: I noticed in the Chronicle last week a brief item in regard to the rumor that a road was to be made across the south pond from the city yard to Langdon park, closing as follows: "If so, a beautiful cesspool will be established at the upper end of the pond." To this item the Times made a response, from which I make a few extracts:

A roadway or bridge across the pond has long been agitated by many citizens, and we must say that now the work has been commenced, we think these protests against it and complaints as to the result, before our citizens know what the proposed plan of the city authorities is, is very silly.

This reasoning is remarkable. Our citizens may see something being done of which they do not approve, and which they believe will prove a serious harm; but any complaint of or opposition thereto, until after the damage is done and there is no remedy, is "silly." The article continues:

The fears of some that a cesspool for filth may be formed above the roadway, are entirely groundless. The plan which has been adopted will improve rather than injure the drainage of the upper portion of the pond. The channel across the flats will be be left open to be a aned by a bridge of at least twenty feet, which channel will create at each rise and fall of the tide a swift running current, which will carry away much more filth at every ebb of the water than is now disposed of in a week.

The engineering ability displayed in this extract is not merely unique; it is astounding. That a channel twenty feet wide will admit more water one way and carry off more refuse the other, than a channel five hundred feet wide, is something new in hydraulics; as is also the notion that the best way to drain an alleged foul flat is to dam it up, not at the inlet of the foul matter, but at its exit. The Times says further:

This is not, however, the extent to which the improvement might be carried. The upper portion of the flats may be filled in at a later day by this same refuse or gravel, drained by sewers, from the main channel reaching out to all quarters of the flats, until a smooth level driveway is formed, or a broad park constructed. Would not the appearance of things be thereby greatly improved? We think so by a large majority, and it can be done as it is being done now almost without cost. We can hardly imagine a person so blind as to be unable to see the many advantages of the present plan.

The pond's flats are breeding places for all sorts of pestilence, and the sooner its area is decreased and its now sluggish currents confined to a narrower channel, the better it will be for citizens who reside in its vicinity, and the greater will be the value of their property.

As this statement appears to be semi-official, we may assume that the intentions of the city officials are correctly indicated—that they propose to reduce the area of the beautiful sheet of water by filling about a third of it with ashes, tin cans, etc. I confess myself so blind as to be unable to see the many advantages of that plan, and I believe a large majority of the citizens are equally dim-sighted.

But the pond-fillers will probably go ahead and fill it up, all the same.

VANDAL.

St. Nicholas for November opens with "A City of Old Homesteads," by Alice Wellington Rollins, with six illustrations. A very pleasant talk to the children about our grand old city and its many venerable mansions and traditions. The illustrations are fine, notably "The Old Sherburne House," on Daniel street, and "one of the oldest"—a view of the antiquated house on Northwest street. This number of this popular magazine commences a new volume and contains, if possible, more than the usual amount of delightful reading "for young folks."

The blacksmith shop in the construction department at the navy yard was obliged to shut down at noon on Monday for lack of water, and the men were not mustered after dinner.

The largest and best line of Ladies' and Children's Cloaks to be found in the city is claimed to be at Lewis E. Staples, 7 Market St.

Suffering Womanhood.

Too much effort cannot be made to bring to the attention of suffering womanhood the great value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as a remedy for the diseases of women. Such an one is the wife of General Barringer of Winston, N. C., and we quote from the General's letter as follows: "Dear Mrs. Pinkham: Please allow me to add my testimony to the most excellent medicinal qualities of your Vegetable Compound. Mrs. Barringer was troubled for several years for what the physicians called Leucorrhœa and Prolapsus Uteri combined. I sent her to Richmond, Va., where she remained for six months under the treatment of an eminent Physician without any permanent benefit. She was induced to try your medicine and after a reasonable time commenced to improve and is now able to attend to her business and considers herself fully relieved." (General Barringer is the proprietor of the American Hotel, Winston, N. C., and is widely known.—Ed.)

A Man's Thanks.

A well known business man of Wilmington, N. C., writes: "It is with pleasure, that I write to express to you my gratitude for the relief and benefit your Vegetable Compound has been to my Wife who has been troubled with ulceration. She has been under the treatment of the doctor for six years. Finally he said he could do nothing more for her, that she would die in 24 hours. Then I commenced using your Compound and now she can attend to her domestic affairs as well as she ever could." oc13

A Medical Journal's Distinction.

The Lancet makes a distinction between what it calls the use and abuse of tobacco. The man who can say, "I always know when I have smoked enough—if I go beyond the just limit I lose my power of prompt decision," is one, it suggests, who had better not smoke at all; but "a moderate use of tobacco soothes the senses, and leaves the mental faculties free from irritation, and ready for calmly-clear intellectual processes. When this is not the effect produced by smoking, the 'weed' had better be eschewed."—Chicago Times.

Earthquakes and Forest Trees.

While the subject of earthquakes is under discussion it might not be inappropriate to mention that one notable feature in connection with the New Madrid earthquake was its effect on forest trees. Gigantic oaks that, from their exterior, appeared to be solid, were discovered, upon being cut for saw-mill purposes, to be much impaired and injured internally, and as a rule presented rotten hearts or splintered bodies. This fact was noted, and has been commented upon but no solution ever given.—C. P. Ellerbe in Globe-Democrat.

Steel and Cast Iron.

A series of experiments recently made by a French metallurgist are stated to have proved that steel loses weight by rust about twice as rapidly as cast iron when exposed to moist air. Acidulated water was found to dissolve cast iron much more rapidly than steel. This would indicate that steel bridges are less affected by the acids contained in the smoke of locomotives than iron ones.—Boston Budget.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey and Duffy's Formula.

For Consumption.

DR. SOLOMON WEIL, Baltimore, Md. "In December last I was suddenly stricken at my Hotel with a severe hemorrhage, losing about one gallon of blood at the first attack and large quantities frequently thereafter. My case was considered hopeless from the start, and so certain were my friends that I would die that they actually arranged for my funeral. I was ordered by my physician to use cod-liver oil and whiskey. On advice, the whiskey I used was your famous Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. It is about time I discarded the oil, using only your whiskey. I feel that I owe my life to the saving qualities and purity of your whiskey."

S. LINN BIDELER, Dealer in Drugs, Books, Stationery, Mt. Pulaski, Illinois.

Gentlemen—Mrs. Jeff. Foster was at the point of death with what doctors called quick consumption. Relatives were called in to see her die. Some one recommended Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. My husband bought two bottles. She improved; he bought more, and in a short time she was up doing housework. I know, and it is conceded, that your remedy raised her from the dead.

S. LINN BIDELER.

60 M. ST., S. E. WASHINGTON, D. C.

Sirs—I had hemorrhages, and was examined by a physician, who thought my lungs only slightly congested. In August I had three more hemorrhages and lost a quart of blood. Another physician and I was in the last stages of consumption, and finally I quit work, giving up all hope. I obtained your Duffy's Pure Malt whiskey and took it in connection with your Duffy's Formula, and have gained health and strength rapidly and am almost completely restored. E. W. ROSWELL.

ROCHESTER, (N. Y.) HOME OF INDUSTRY, 280 S. St. Paul Street, Nov. 5, 1883.

It gives me great pleasure to recommend Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, which I have used with satisfaction for consumptives, in the last stages of that dread disease. Aside from its medicinal properties, it is very mild, the patient can retain it when all other stimulants fail. I recommend it to all.

☞ The Duffy's Formula is a special household application of the medicinal virtues and purity of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, and is intended more specifically for the treatment of Consumption, Pulmonary Infirmities, Malaria, General Debility and all Wasting Diseases. In addition to the tonic effect of our whiskey, it furnishes unequaled blood-forming material, whereby the Weight and Strength are increased. It is made in accordance with a specially prepared formula and consists principally of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey and fluid beef, combined in liquid form, the nutritious elements of the beef being extracted without cooking, or chemical changes by a new process, making it the most palatable and readily assimilated beef preparation now made. It can be had of all dealers at ONE DOLLAR PER BOTTLE.

The Blunders of the Barclays of Boston.

Some of the scions of nobility of Boston have very crude ideas of political privileges. A few of these noblesse affect to believe that it won't do to vote for Mr. Ames for governor, because he or his father or some of his relations once made shovels; and though they declare in the Somerset and other clubs, as they discuss the situation, that "it is deuced rough, you know, to vote with these fellows," yet "Andrews is in good society, and we must vote for him, of course!"

It is of no consequence to these descendants of the once solid men of Boston, that the question is involved as to whether the grog shops and the gambling dens shall be and remain a controlling power in the municipal government of the modern Athens. They cannot vote for Ames, because it is improper for them to recognize the right of labor to have a representative man placed in the gubernatorial chair. Andrew, they say, inherited a name from his father, and acquired property by marrying a rich lady of position. The range of these men is not beyond Beacon st., nor high enough even there to see that their votes against the republican candidate in the present campaign will be in direct opposition to all the good interests of Boston. In other words, they entirely lose sight of every issue involved, to gratify a foolish pride of personality instead of principles in politics.

Our Rapid Transitory Existence,

Brief as it is at the longest, is liable to be materially curtailed by our own indiscretions. The dyspeptic eat what they should not, the bilious drink coffee in excess, and the rheumatic, neuralgic and consumptive sit in draughts, get wet feet and remain in damp clothes, and then wonder when ill how they became so. To persons with a tendency to neuralgia, we recommend a daily use of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, and always a wineglassful after unavoidable exposure in damp or otherwise inclement weather. Efficient protection is afforded by this pleasant safeguard, which diffuses a genial glow through the system, invigorates and tones it, and promotes nerve tranquillity. Fever and ague, biliousness, constipation, dyspepsia and renal disorder, are among the maladies which it remedies and prevents.

The boiler of J. C. Fisher's saw mill at Reading, Pa., exploded Saturday night, wrecking the building and scattering destruction in every direction. Calvin S. Scheetz was scalded from head to foot, and thrown 175 feet. Three others were also badly hurt.

A fine constitution may be ruined by simple neglect. Many bodily ills result from habitual constipation. There is no medicine equal to Ayer's Pills for restoring the system to natural and healthy action.

During a row, Oct. 20th, at John McKeff's liquor saloon in Hopkinton, one John L. Sullivan was shot by McKeff with a revolver. Sullivan is in a dangerous condition. McKeff has been arrested.

WHY IS IT

That rheumatism and neuralgia are so prevalent? This question has not been satisfactorily answered, but it is certain that these diseases are not only the most painful but among the most common, and some member of nearly every family in the land is the victim of one of these dread tormentors. Ladies seem to be peculiarly liable to neuralgic attacks, which, in the form of neuralgic headache, pain in the back, or nervous pains are of constant occurrence. Not until the discovery of Athlophoros had any remedy been found for either rheumatism, neuralgia or nervous headache, and they were generally conceded to be incurable, but Athlophoros has been proved to be not only a certain cure for these diseases, in all their varied forms, but a safe remedy. If, in the use of Athlophoros, the bowels are kept freely open, its success is certain, and to aid this, Athlophoros Pills are recommended, which, while providing the necessary cathartic, will be found to be a valuable aid to the action of the medicine. Athlophoros is no experiment, it has been tested and has proved its wonderful efficacy.

The Athlophoros Pills were originally prepared as a remedy for use in connection with Athlophoros, for rheumatism and neuralgia and kindred complaints. Used in connection with that remedy, they are a certain cure for either of these very common and distressing diseases. They have also been found to be an invaluable remedy for any and all diseases arising from vitiated blood or general debility. They are especially valuable for nervous debility, blood poisoning, dyspepsia, distress after eating, headache, constipation, loss of appetite, and all stomach or liver troubles. For diseases of women they are invaluable. These pills are perfectly harmless and may be safely used by adults or children.

Testimonials of those who have been cured will be sent free on application.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist, the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

Medical Instinct of Animals.

Animals get rid of their parasites by using dust, mud clay, etc. Those suffering from fever restrict their diet, keep quiet, seek dark, airy places, drink water, and sometimes plunge into it. When a dog has lost its appetite it eats that species of grass known as dog's grass, which acts as an emetic and a purgative. Cats also eat grass. Sheep and cows, when ill, seek out certain herbs. An animal suffering from chronic rheumatism always keeps, as far as possible, in the sun. The warrior-ants have regular-organized ambulances.

Latreille cut the antennæ of the ant, and other ants came and covered the wounded part with a transparent fluid secreted in their mouths. If a chimpanzee is wounded it stops the bleeding by placing its hand on the wound or dressing it with leaves and grass. When an animal has a wounded leg or arm hanging on it completes the amputation by means of its teeth.

A dog on being stung on the muzzle by a viper was observed to plunge its head repeatedly for several days into running water. This animal eventually recovered. A sporting dog was run over by a carriage. During three weeks in winter it remained lying in a brook, where its food was taken to it. This animal recovered. A terrier hurt its right eye. It remained under a counter, avoiding light and heat, although it habitually kept close to the fire. It adopted a general treatment, rest and abstinence from food. The local treatment consisted in licking the upper surface of the paw, which it applied to the wounded eye; again licking the paw when it became dry. Animals suffering from traumatic fever treat themselves by the continued application of cold water, which M. Delaunay considers to be more certain than any of the other methods. In view of these interesting facts we are, he thinks, forced to admit that hygiene and therapeutics as produced by animals may, in the interest of psychology be studied with advantage. —New Orleans Picayune.

Good Qualities of the Oyster.

"It is all nonsense about a steady diet on oysters being injurious to the system," said a wealthy Thirty-fourth street physician to a reporter the other day. "Many persons think so, however. It may be that oysters do not produce the most pleasant results when cooked in a rich style and eaten just before going to bed. When taken with wine late at night, of course, if there is any bad effect the next day the oysters are blamed for it. Oysters have excellent medicinal qualities, are nutritious, and when plainly cooked or eaten raw are very wholesome, especially so in cases of indigestion. Oysters never produce indigestion, and that is something that can not be said of any other alimentary substance. During my experience I have found in several case where oysters have been taken daily they have done much toward curing the patient. Invalids have discovered in oysters the required aliment, besides being by far the most agreeable food to take. Raw oysters, too, are said to be very good for hoarseness, although I have never tested their merits on that point. It is my belief that the oyster is the most healthful article of food known to man."—New York Mail and Express.

The Virus of Glanders.

Glanders has become so prevalent and so destructive in Illinois that the state live-stock commission will probably hasten to avail itself of the results of the recent investigations of MM. Cadeac and Malet on the resistance of the virus of this disease to the destructive agency of atmospheric air and heat. In a general way it may be stated that these prove that the virus—like Koch's cholera germ —is rendered inert by thorough drying. Fragments of farcy buds from the lungs retain virulence in the central parts as long as twenty-four days, while the more external layers lose theirs at rates dependent on the facility with which they become desiccated in the atmosphere. An atmosphere saturated with moisture and at ordinary temperatures preserves the virulence of the morbid humors for very long periods of time—fifteen to thirty days. Boiling the virus for two minutes in water suffices to destroy its activity, but simply pouring boiling water on the morbid material does not destroy its virulence.—Chicago News.

Sam Houston's Abstinence Pledge.

Col. Elias Rector, of Arkansas, used to tell a good story about his riding some miles with Sam Houston, then on his way to Texas to take part in the war of Independence. Houston rode a pony, was dressed in a buckskin suit, and with his rifle stretched across his shoulder he looked every inch the hunter. He drank freely from a bottle. At length they arrived at the fork of the two trails, one of which led to Fort Smith, where Rector was going, and the other to Texas. Houston held up his bottle in the air, and was about proposing a parting drink, when young Rector checked him and said if Houston would not consider it impertinent in a young man he wished to make a request.

"What is it?" said Houston. "It is," replied Rector, "that you here pledge yourself never to take another drink of intoxicating liquors." "All right, my boy," said Houston, "I'll do it," and raising the bottle above his head he dashed it to the ground, wetting the ground, with its contents. "Now," said Rector, "as a slight gift in memory of me, I will give you my razor," it being the custom of the people in those days to carry

Why Not Vote For Their Rights Then?

A Gloucester correspondent of the Boston Globe writes that paper as follows:

Gloucester fishermen are by no means stinted in their bill of fare. A Grand Banker, which is likely to be absent some time, is victualled in the best possible manner. The best of flour is selected, meats that are pressed in Gloucester, and almost every luxury the market affords that can be kept at sea. It also has on board all kinds of canned goods, berries, peaches, etc. This is one very particular reason why Canadians prefer to ship in American fishing vessels. What a vast difference is there in the victualling of Canadian fishing craft! Not to mention how they "grub" their vessels in Canadian ports, it is enough to know the difference between American and Canadian vessels in our ports, for Canadian skippers when purchasing here take a low grade of flour and cheap meats; and when a Canadian once ships in an American schooner he never cares about changing his boarding-house. Now the fishermen upon our coasts seek protection at the hands of the government. The Canadians produce fish cheaper because they build cheaper, work cheaper and live cheaper. Is it reasonable to suppose that American fishermen want "free" fish to compete against? They do not, and they ask that their grievances be heard and their rights cared for.

And yet these fishermen, when they go to the polls next Tuesday, will many of them throw their ballots in favor of the democratic candidate for Congress—a vote that will be considered to be, and will be, an endorsement of the administration's policy of playing into the hands of the Canadians, and refusing to give our fishermen the protection of the law because they object to Canadian "free" fish.

Every vote thrown by a fishermen in support of a democratic candidate for Congress is a vote for free fish from the British provinces, and a vote in endorsement of Bayard's cowardly truckling to the insolence of Canada and her Bully Quigleys.

Mason W. Tappan.

Hon. Mason W. Tappan, attorney general of New Hampshire, who died on the night of the 24th inst. at his home at Bradford, in the seventieth year of his age, was stricken with apoplexy on the morning of Oct. 1st, and remained in a semi-unconscious condition up to his death. His father, Weare Tappan, was a prominent Sullivan county lawyer. He was a strong anti-slavery man, and his house was the rendezvous of the anti-slavery lecturers and the home of the fugitive slave. The boyhood of the son was spent at Bradford, and after receiving an academic education he studied law, entered upon the practice of his profession there, and soon became a leader of the bar. He served in the legislature and in Congress, and in both bodies was an influential member; and he was largely influential in the first election to the United States senate of John P. Hall, the first man who ever dared to denounce, on the floor of the senate, human slavery as a wrong. At the president's call for 75,000 volunteers for three months, in 1861, Colonel Tappan was one of the first men in the state to enlist, and he was commissioned by Governor Berry colonel of the First Regiment. He was, at a later period, elected colonel of the Sixteenth Regiment, but was not commissioned, refusing to accept on the ground that his appointment was unjust to deserving officers who had already served in the regiment. In 1876 he was appointed attorney-general of the state for five years by Governor Cheney, and was re-appointed in 1881, and again in 1886, holding the office ten years.

Capt. Frank F. Martin, keeper of Minot's ledge lighthouse, was capsized on the 24th inst. while attempting to go ashore, and clung to the bottom of his boat an hour and a half before being picked up by a fishing vessel.

A mob of Polish anarchists broke up a democratic mass meeting in Milwaukee, Wis., on the night of Oct. 24th. The ruffians were led by Aderman Rudzinski, previously a leader in so-called labor riots.

Eugene S. Taylor of Deerfield, Mass., who poisoned to death his two-years-old son by giving him candy sprinkled with strychnine, and then attempted to poison himself, has been sent to the Massachusetts state prison for life.

The striking journeymen in the employ of thirteen master plumbers in New York have returned to work on the employers' terms, after a strike of eight weeks. The majority of the strikers still hold out, but the collapse of the strike is hourly expected.

The famous old steamer Plymouth Rock was burned off Apple island, Boston harbor, last Sunday morning, for the iron, brass and copper in her hull.

Geronimo arrived at Pensacola, Florida, Oct. 25th, and is confined, with fourteen other warriors, at Fort Pickens, on Santa Rosa island, opposite Pensacola.

The railroads of Minneapolis have ceased to be seriously troubled by the strike, and switching is being done in nearly all the yards. Many of the old men have already been taken back, and it is understood that more will be reinstated at once. The strike was an absolute failure.

The Chicago anarchists are said to receive $1,500 weekly to assist in procuring a new trial for their condemned friends.

Mrs. Jenny Lind Orton was divorced from her husband at Atlanta, Ga., last week. The case was given to the jury in the evening, and before a report was made Mrs. Orton married another man, Jasper Weaver. The indictment for bigamy since found alleges that at the hour of the pretended marriage to Weaver the woman was still the lawful wife of Orton. It does seem that she was in something of a hurry, that's a fact.

A dispatch from New Iberia, La., says that during the storm of the 12th over 1,000 head of cattle were drowned.

"Buckskin Sam, the Indian doctor," well known throughout York county, was last week sentenced to five years in the Massachusetts penitentiary.

The Biddeford Journal says that several persons in that city have money deposited with the notorious Mrs. Howe of Boston. One woman has had on deposit $500, on which she has drawn in fifteen months $635 interest, and still holds the note for the principal of $500. The other parties have had sums varying from one to three hundred dollars on deposit for a longer or a shorter time. They all express the most unbounded confidence in Mrs. Howe and her financial methods, and consider her to be a well meaning though much abused woman.

Many complaints are made, and proven, that democratic office-holders are violating the president's civil service order. Well, what of it? That order was intended to coddle the mugwumps; not to hamper the democratic office-holders who wish to put in "fine work" for the good of the party.

Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Fairchild has decided that the Heptameron, a book found in every extensive library, is obscene, and not entitled to admission as an import through the mails. The matter will come up at the next cabinet meeting, and the president will examine the objectionable volume some evening when Mrs. Cleveland goes to the sewing circle.

One Dollar. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine of which this can be truly said; and it is an unanswerable argument as to the strength and positive economy of this great medicine. Hood's Sarsaparilla is made of roots, herbs, barks, etc., long and favorably known for their power in purifying the blood; and in combination, proportion, and process, Hood's Sarsaparilla is peculiar to itself.

Hood's Sarsaparilla cures scrofula, salt rheum, all humors, boils, pimples, general debility, dyspepsia, biliousness, sick headache, catarrh, rheumatism, kidney and liver complaints, and all affections caused by impure blood or low condition of the system. Try it.

"I was severely afflicted with scrofula, and for over a year had two running sores on my neck. I took five bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and consider myself entirely cured." C. E. LOVEJOY, Lowell, Mass.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla did me an immense amount of good. My whole system has been built up and strengthened, my digestion improved, and my head relieved of the bad feeling. I consider it the best medicine I have ever used, and should not know how to do without it." MARY L. PEELE, Salem, Mass.

in time. Kidney diseases may be prevented by purifying, renewing, and invigorating the blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. When, through debility, the action of the kidneys is perverted, these organs rob the blood of its needed constituent, albumen, which is passed off in the urine, while worn out matter, which they should carry off from the blood, is allowed to remain. By the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the kidneys are restored to proper action, and Albuminuria, or is prevented. Ayer's Sarsaparilla also prevents inflammation of the kidneys, and other disorders of these organs. Mrs. Jas. W. Weld, Forest Hill st., Jamaica Plain, Mass., writes: "I have had a complication of diseases, but my greatest trouble has been with my kidneys. Four bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla made me feel like a new person; as well and strong as ever." W. M. McDonald, 46 Summer st., Boston, Mass., had been troubled for years with Kidney Complaint. By the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, he not only

Check-List Notice.

THE Board of Inspectors of Check-Lists gives notice that they have posted copies of all the Check-Lists of the city in the corridor of the City Building. Also have posted a list of ward one at the Railroad Station, and a list of ward three at the store of John Mitchell on Islington street, and a list of ward four at the store of John J. Laskey on Pleasant street, for the inspection of the voters of the city.

They also give notice that they will be in session at the City Building on Wednesday the 20th day of October, on Wednesday the 27th day of October, and on Friday the 29th day of October, 1886, from 9 o'clock A. M. to 12 M., and from 2 to 5 P. M., on each of said days, for the purpose of revising and correcting the several lists of the voters. They will also be in session at the same place from 8 to 10 A. M., and from 1 to 3 P. M., on the day of election, for the purpose of furnishing certificates to any persons who so names may have been omitted, and who the board are satisfied have resided in the ward one year next preceding said election.

NOTICE TO DOG OWNERS.

The attention of dog owners is called to the following extracts from the General Laws and City Ordinances:

GENERAL LAWS OF NEW HAMPSHIRE, CHAP. 115.

SECT. 7. No person shall be liable by law for killing any dog which shall be found not having around his neck a collar of brass, tin, or leather, with the name of the owner carved or engraved thereon.

SECT. 8. Any town may make by-laws for licensing, regulating, or restraining dogs as they shall deem expedient, and may affix penalties for the violation thereof not exceeding five dollars; and the sum to be paid for a license shall not be less than two dollars on male dogs and five dollars on female dogs.

CITY ORDINANCE, CHAP. 16.

SEC. 1. No dog shall be permitted to go at large or loose in this city until the owner or keeper of such dog, or the head of the family, or the keeper of the house or place where such dog is kept or harbored, shall have procured from the city marshal a license for such dog.

SEC. 2. The city marshal shall grant a license to any citizen for his dog on the payment of two dollars for a male dog, and five dollars for a female dog, which license shall expire on the first day of July annually.

SEC. 4. The person named in each license so granted shall cause his name and the number of the license to be distinctly marked on a collar which shall be constantly kept about the neck of the dog so licensed, and no dog shall be considered as licensed unless this regulation shall be complied with.

SEC. 5. It shall be the duty of the city marshal to cause all dogs to be killed which shall be found at large or loose within the city without a collar marked as required in section 4, and cause all dogs so killed to be buried, and any person may lawfully kill any dog found within the limits of this city going at large contrary to the provisions of this chapter.

SEC. 6. In case any dog not licensed shall be provided with a collar marked as required in this ordinance, the owner or keeper thereof or the head of the family or keeper of the house or place where such dog is kept or harbored, shall upon conviction thereof be fined five dollars.

Notice is hereby given that the law will be strictly enforced.

TUESDAY, 26th.—In the case of Lulu J. Sargent of Haverhill, (continued case,) for neglect, amounting to cruelty, of six children at her "baby farm" in Plaistow, neglect and suffering were clearly shown by the testimony of the witnesses for the prosecution. She was acquitted, however, on the ground that it was not proved beyond doubt that she was legally responsible for the condition of the illegitimate children who were taken by her to board. She was accordingly discharged from custody, and the babies will be taken back to the farm. They will, however, be under the close surveillance of the watchful agents of the society for the prevention of cruelty to children.

RIVER PIRATES.

Mr. Paul of Eliot, a farmer living on the river bank, was annoyed last Sunday forenoon by the performances of three boys in a boat, who shot at three of his geese, killing one and wounding the other two, and then, having taken the dead goose into the boat, pulled away in the direction of Dover. Mr. Paul drove to Dover and informed City Marshal Fogerty of the affair, and a detail of policemen were sent down river to meet the young pirates, who when they saw the officers coming pulled ashore and abandoned their boat, leaving their gun and the dead goose in it; the piratical craft and its contents were taken possession of by the police. Mr. Paul, after learning the names of the boys, went back to Eliot and swore out warrants for their arrest, as it was in Eliot the offence was committed.

MUSIC HALL.

There was a large audience at Music hall on Tuesday evening to see the Frank Jones company play "Si Perkins; or, the girl I left behind me." The piece is very amusing, and was well received.

We think that the motto of Wheeler's Minstrels must be, "What is worth doing is worth doing well," for this company is certainly entitled to credit for giving the best minstrel performance it has been our pleasure to witness. Much was expected of them but they aquitted themselves admirably. We hope that Manager Ellis will give us as good attractions at the Opera house the coming season as we were given last evening.—Laconia Democrat.

MARITIME NOTES.

The tides were unusually high on Tuesday, and the currents correspondingly strong. As the schooner Lucy E. Friend was being berthed at the Concord railroad wharf by the tug Clara Bateman, in the forenoon, owing to the parting of lines between the schooner and wharf both vessels were carried against the Eastern railroad wharf at Noble's island, all three parties to the collision sustaining some injuries.

The gondola Electric Light, Capt. Nason, last week took a load of bricks to Thomas Hayward's summer residence at Newcastle for the building of a furnace. This week she has taken a load from Rowe's yard in Eliot to the navy yard.

Capt. Frank P. Coleman of the schooner Emily C. Dennison, engaged in carrying bricks from Saco to Boston, passed through this city Saturday, on his way to spend Sunday at his home in Newington. He expects to return permanently for the winter about the last of November.

The schooner Helen E. Russell, from Georgetown, D. C., for this port, with a cargo of coal for Dover, sprung a leak on the 24th inst. off Cape May, and arrived at New York on the 25th with her pumps going all the time to keep her free of water.

The brickers Clara B. Kennard, Lillie and J. Chester Wood, which left this port on Saturday, arrived at Boston on Sunday; and the Hattie Lewis, Satellite and Estella, which sailed the same day, arrived at Boston on Monday.

The United States tug Leyden, attached to this navy yard, sailed at ten o'clock Tuesday forenoon, having on board the crew of the U. S. S. Swatara, for transfer to the receiving-ship Wabash at the Charlestown yard. The drydock at this yard was on Tuesday being gotten in readiness for taking up the Swatara.

A survey of Little Harbor, as a preliminary to its improvement, was begun on Tuesday of this week. The survey, which is under the direction of Mr. Sautoff, will consist of soundings, to ascertain the depths of water over the area to be dredged, and to determine the nature of the bottom. From these a plan with specifications will be made, under which contracts can be called for, and the actual operations will be begun early next spring.

The schooner Laughing Waters, of Tremont, Me., was lying at Randall & Caswell's wharf on Tuesday, loading with apples in bulk, the skipper buying all that were brought to the wharf by the farmers from the neighboring towns.

American fishing vessels are securing good fares in Aspy bay, in spite of a Canadian cruiser.

RUNAWAY ACCIDENT.

On Tuesday afternoon as a Mr. Glancy and another man, said to belong in Hampton, were driving into town from York, the horse took fright near the tracks on Market street from the blowing off of steam from a shifting engine, threw the men out, and ran down Market and Pleasant streets to John J. Laskey's store, where he was stopped. The carriage was completely wrecked, but the horse was not injured. Mr. Glancy escaped without broken bones, but was quite severely bruised; the other man was unhurt. The men had been on a gunning expedition at York Nubble, and had their guns in the carriage.

Mr. Joshua L. Foster evidently does not relish being read out of the party by our neighbor of the Times. In fact Joshua goes gunning for the collector of the port in a two-column article loaded with the most Fosterian adjectives found in any well authenticated lexicon. We have often noted that when the editors of newspapers in the state which specially champion the cause of the administration undertake to discipline Foster, there is soon after something heard to drop, with a sound that convinces every one that those editors of the household of the faith would be far better off if they would only have gumption enough to let Joshua alone. But the temptation to go for the rebellious independent is too inviting to be always resisted in some quarters. There was an immense demand for Foster's Democrat on Tuesday.

It is stated that Robert Hall declines serving as a candidate on the democratic ticket of ward one. It is understood that his place will be filled by some less independent individual.

Mrs. Henry Works formerly, of Portsmouth and now of San Jose, California, is spending a few week with friends in this city. Mrs. Works, who is a lady of great energy and business qualifications, is general agent for "Mansfield's Capillaries" for the hair and toilet, which has a high reputation in that state.

The 33d annual meeting of the New Hampshire State Teachers' Association will be held in the city hall at Concord on Friday and Saturday, Nov. 5th and 6th. Miss Fannie A. Mathes of this city, and E. J. Goodwin of Nashua, are members of the board of counsellors of the association; and Miss Lizzie M. Flagg is a member of the committee of introduction. Tickets to Concord and return, for teachers and others desiring to attend the meeting, will be sold by the Concord railroad at two cents a mile, at the stations in this city and at Newmarket Junction.

The Dover Democrat earnestly advocates the providing of a better water supply in that city for fire extinguishing purposes. It says the city has a very good fire department and an electric fire alarm, but large sections of the city are beyond the reach of a full supply of water.

A Washington despatch of the 25th says "the president has appointed Frederick A. Barker of Keene as United States marshal for the district of New Hampshire, vice J. N. Patterson, resigned. The appointment was upon the recommendation of Frank Jones. James W. Fellows of New Hampshire was also appointed to inspect twenty miles of Northern Pacific railway track. This, too, was done at Jones' instance."

Mr. James T. Adams leaves for Washington, D. C., this morning with his family, to take up his permanent residence there. They propose stopping in New York to see the ceremonies attendant on the unveiling of Bartholdi's statue of Liberty Enlightening the World.

A man who was found insensible at the lower end of State street early Tuesday morning, and was cared for by residents of the locality, on regaining his senses said he had been robbed. Investigation showed that he was a travelling salesman for an establishment in another city, and was here on business for his firm; and that starting out to see the sights, he found his way into a den where he either got drunk or was drugged, and while helpless and stupefied was robbed of his money and a gold watch. An experienced commercial traveller should know better than to carry money and a gold watch when starting out on a big drunk.

The largest and best line of Ladies' and Children's Cloaks to be found in the city is claimed to be at Lewis E. Staples, 7 Market St.

EASTERN RAILROAD COMPANY.

To the Holders of Certificates of Indebtedness.

THE voting register of certificate holders is now making up at the office of the Eastern Railroad on Causeway Street, Boston, Mass. Holders already registered are not required to register anew. Any holder not already registered can register on presenting at said office of said Eastern Railroad Company to Edward Le-ley a written statement signed by himself of his name, address, and the denomination and numbers of the certificates held by him. If the company shall so require, the holder desiring to register shall also only verify his title thereto by producing said certificates of indebtedness, or filing with the Company, the written order of the person last registered as the holder, or in such other mode as may be prescribed by the laws of Massachusetts and the regulations of the Trustees.

The voting register will be closed at the close of business on the 15th day of November, A. D. 1886, between which time and the special meeting for the election of a trustee on the twenty-third day of November, A. D. 1886, no registration for the purpose of said special meeting will be made.

Per order of the Directors,
td FRANCIS I. AMORY, Clerk.

EASTERN RAILROAD COMPANY.

A SPECIAL meeting of the holders of Certificates of Indebtedness, issued under the act entitled "An Act for the relief of the Eastern Railroad Company and the securing of its debts and liabilities," passed April 29, 1876, will be held at the Meionaon, in Boston, Massachusetts, U. S. A., on the 23d day of November, 1886, at eleven o'clock A. M., for the purpose of electing a new Trustee under said act in place of William B. Bacon, who has resigned said trust.

To the Holders of Certificates of Indebtedness.

The Voting Register of Certificate holders is now making up at the office of the Company in Boston, Mass.

Persons desiring to have their names placed upon said Register in order to vote at the coming election must comply with the following regulation of the Trustees.

"Every holder of Certificates of Indebtedness who desires to have them registered in his name shall present to the Trustees at their office, No. 10 Tremont street, Boston, a written statement signed by him and giving his address and the denomination and number of every certificate of indebtedness claimed to be held by him, and shall, if required by said Trustees, verify this title by exhibiting such certificates and the written order of the last registered holder of the same, or other evidence of his title to the reasonable satisfaction of the Trustees; and said Trustees, if satisfied with his title, shall endorse their approval upon said written statement, and said certificate holder may thereupon be registered in conformity thereto. The approval of one of said Trustees shall be sufficient authority for such registration, and no registration after the 15th day of August, 1886, shall be valid without such approval, and no approval shall be granted after the time for closing the register."

The voting register will close at the close of business on the 15th day of November, between which time and the special meeting on the 23d day of November, 1886, no reg stration will be allowed.

Lydia E. Pinkham

Suffering Womanhood.

Too much effort cannot be made to bring to the attention of suffering womanhood the great value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as a remedy for the diseases of women. Such an one is the wife of General Barringer of Winston, N. C., and we quote from the General's letter as follows: "Dear Mrs. Pinkham: Please allow me to add my testimony to the most excellent medicinal qualities of your Vegetable Compound. Mrs Barringer was treated for several years for what the physicians called Leucorrhea and Prolapsus Uteri combined. I sent her to Richmond, Va., where she remained for six months under the treatment of an eminent Physician without any permanent benefit. She was induced to try your medicine and after a reasonable time commenced to improve and is now able to attend to her business and considers herself fully relieved." [General Barringer is the present editor of the American Hotel, Winston, N. C., and is widely known —Ed.]

A Man's Thanks.

A well known business man of Wilmington, N. C., writes: "It is with pleasure, that I write to express to you my gratitude for the relief and benefit your Vegetable Compound has been to my Wife who has been troubled with ulceration. She has been under the treatment of the doctor for six years. Finally he said he could do nothing more for her, that she would die in 24 hours. Then I commenced using your Compound and now she can attend to her domestic affairs as well as she ever could."

their razor and shave themselves. Houston accepted the gift, and on extending his left arm whetted the razor on his learthern sleeve, and with an exulting tone remarked; "I'll keep this razor and shave me with it when I become president of the republic." He put spurs to his bobtailed pony, and the friends parted. Houston kept his word, he kept the razor until he became president of the republic of Texas.—Ben: Perley Poore.

A Gypsy Chief's Chariot.

A Gypsy chief recently had an elegant chariot manufactured at Baltimore. The body of the vehicle, which overhangs the wheels, is divided in two apartments, the back portion being reserved for sleeping and the front used as a sitting place while traveling. The seats are ornamented with checker boards, a favorite game of this romantic people. The whole interior is of polished poplar, and besides having places for clothes there is a secret recess for money or valuables which would tantalize a professional thief to locate. The windows are of cut and stained-glass, and folding doors are used to securely close up the whole wagon. The painting of the whole wagon is very beautiful, designs representing commerce and the arts being employed, and the whole outside body is covered with gold and silver stars. This handsome vehicle is valued at $9,000.—Chicago Herald.

Duration of Infectiousness.

The duration of the infectious stages of various diseases is thus given by Dr. J. F. Pearse, an English physician: Measles, from the second day of the disease, for three weeks; small-pox, from the fourth day, for four weeks; scarlet fever, from the fourth day, for seven weeks; mumps, from the second day, for three weeks; diphtheria, from the first day, for three weeks. The incubation periods, or intervals occurring between exposures to infection and the first symptoms, are as follows: Whooping cough, fourteen days; mumps, eighteen days; measles, ten days; small-pox, twelve days; scarlet fever, three days; diphtheria, fourteen days.—Arkansaw Traveler.

LIBERTY ENLIGHTENING THE WORLD.

[From Harper's Weekly, published October 27th.]

Warder at ocean's gate,
Thy feet on sea and shore,
Like one the skies await
When time shall be no more!
What splendors crown thy brow?
What bright dread angel Thou,
Dazzling the waves before
Thy station great?

"My name is Liberty!
From out a mighty land
I face the ancient sea,
I lift to God my hand;
By day in Heaven's light,
A pillar of fire by night,
At ocean's gate I stand
Nor bend the knee.

"The dark Earth lay in sleep,
Her children crouched forlorn,
Ere on the western steep
I sprang to height, reborn:
Then what a joyous shout
The quickened lands gave out,
And all the choir of morn
Sang anthems deep.

"Beneath yon firmament,
The New World to the Old
My sword and summons sent,
My skyey flag unrolled;
The Old World's hands renew
Their strength; the form ye view
Came from a living mould
In glory blent.

"Oh ye, whose broken spars
Tell of the storms ye met,
Enter! there are no bars
Across your pathway set;
Enter at Freedom's porch,
For you I lift my torch,
For you my coronet
Is rayed with stars.

"But ye that hither draw
To desecrate my fee,
Nor yet have held in awe
The justice that makes free,—
Avaunt, ye darkling brood!
By right my house hath stood;
My name is Liberty,
My throne is Law."

O wonderful and bright,
Immortal Freedom, hail!
Front, in thy fiery night,
The midnight and the gale;
Un-aunted on this base
Guard well thy dwelling-place:
Till the last sun grow pale
Let there be Light!

Do sandwiches come from the Sandwich islands? Of course not, but consumption always comes from neglected colds. And a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup taken in time will save much suffering.

A dead body found near Council Bluffs, Iowa, Oct. 4th, has been identified as that of Henry Peters of Sioux City, Iowa. Peters was one of the ruffians hired by the saloon keepers of Sioux City to murder Rev. Mr. Hadlock, the prohibition advocate, and it is supposed was murdered by his pals lest he should "peach."

Chronic catarrh usually indicates a scrofulous condition of the system, and should be treated, like chronic ulcers and eruptions, through the blood. This disease has been cured, in hundreds of cases, by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Price $1. Six bottles, $5.

Every lady who knows its worth (and who does not?) feels that the kindly face of Lydia E. Pinkham is that of an honored friend.

At Burlington, Mich., on the evening of Oct. 24th, a strange suicide occurred. E. J. Willcox, aged sixty, waited until the other members of the family had retired, and then stepped outside the door and exploded a dynamite cartridge under his arm. The report was terrific, and the fragments of his body were scattered in every direction.

If you have rheumatism or pains, put a Hop Plaster over the affected part. A sure cure. 25c.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhœa, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle.

Our Rapid Transitory Existence,

Brief as it is at the longest, is liable to be materially curtailed by our own indiscretions. The dyspeptic eat what they should not, the bilious drink coffee in excess, and the rheumatic, neuralgic and consumptive sit in draughts, get wet feet and remain in damp clothes, and then wonder when ill how they became so. To persons with a tendency to neuralgia, we recommend a daily use of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, and always a wineglassful after unavoidable exposure in damp or otherwise inclement weather. Efficient protection is afforded by this pleasant safeguard, which diffuses a genial glow through the system, invigorates and tones it, and promotes nerve tranquility. Fever and ague, biliousness, constipation, dyspepsia and renal disorder, are among the maladies which it remedies and prevents.

—Fogg says that when he asked the future Mrs. Fogg for her hand, he had no idea it was going to cost so much to keep it in gloves.

A fine constitution may be ruined by simple neglect. Many bodily ills result from habitual constipation. There is no medicine equal to Ayer's Pills for restoring the system to natural and healthy action.

Mrs. Elder, wife of Charles R. Elder, Esq., a lawyer of Malden, Mass., was killed by the cars in that town on the morning of Oct. 26th, her head being literally cut off. She heedlessly stepped in front of the Boston & Maine train from Portland for Boston. She leaves two children.

Do not rot or injure your clothes by using washing powders or compounds, but use Beach's Washing Soap. Will not injure the finest fabrics.

WHY IS IT

That rheumatism and neuralgia are so prevalent? This question has not been satisfactorily answered, but it is certain that these diseases are not only the most painful but among the most common, and some member of nearly every family in the land is the victim of one of these dread tormentors. Ladies seem to be peculiarly liable to neuralgic attacks, which, in the form of neuralgic headache, pain in the back, or nervous pains are of constant occurrence. Not until the discovery of Athlophoros had any remedy been found for either rheumatism, neuralgia or nervous headache, and they were generally conceded to be incurable, but Athlophoros has been proven to be not only a certain cure for these diseases, in all their varied forms, but a safe remedy. If, in the use of Athlophoros, the bowels are kept freely open, its success is certain, and to aid this, Athlophoros Pills are recommended, which, while providing the necessary cathartic, will be found to be a valuable aid to the action of the medicine. Athlophoros is no experiment, it has been tested and has proved its wonderful efficacy.

The Athlophoros Pills were originally prepared as a remedy for use in connection with Athlophoros, for rheumatism and neuralgia and kindred complaints. Used in connection with that remedy, they are a certain cure for either of these very common and distressing diseases. They have also been found to be an invaluable remedy for any and all diseases arising from vitiated blood or general debility. They are especially valuable for nervous debility, blood poisoning, dyspepsia, distress after eating, headache, constipation, loss of appetite, and all stomach or liver troubles. For diseases of women they are invaluable. These pills are perfectly harmless and may be safely used by adults or children.

Testimonials of those who have been cured will be sent free on application.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist, the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

MOSBY AND HIS CAVALRY.

Military Value of a Partisan Commander's Work—A Fascinating Life.

My purpose was to weaken the armies invading Virginia by harassing their rear. As a line is only as strong as its weakest point, it was necessary for it to be stronger than I was at every point in order to resist my attacks. It is easy, therefore, to see the great results that may be accomplished by a small body of cavalry moving rapidly from point to point on the communications of an army. To destroy supply trains, to break up the means of conveying intelligence, and thus isolating an army from its base, as well as its different corps from each other, to confuse their plans by capturing dispatches, are the objects of partisan war. It is just as legitimate to fight an enemy in the rear as in the front. The only difference is in the danger. Now, to prevent all these things from being done, heavy detachments must be made to guard against them. The military value of a partisan's work is not measured by the amount of property destroyed, or the number of men killed or captured, but by the number he keeps watching. Every soldier withdrawn from the front to guard the rear of an army is so much taken from its fighting strength.

I endeavored, as far as I was able, to diminish this aggressive power of the army of the Potomac by compelling it to keep a large force on the defensive. I assailed its rear, for there was its most vulnerable point. My men had no camps. If they had gone into camp they would soon have all been captured. They would scatter for safety and gather at my call, like the children of the Mist. A blow would be struck at a weak or unguarded point and then a quick retreat. The alarm would spread through the sleeping camp, the long roll would be beaten or the bugles would sound to horse, there would be mounting in hot haste and a rapid pursuit. But the partisans generally got off with their prey. There pursuers were striking at an invisible foe. I often sent small squads at night to attack and run in the pickets along a line of several miles. Of course these alarms were very annoying, for no human being knows how sweet sleep is but a soldier. I wanted to use and consume the northern cavalry in hard work. I have often thought that their fierce hostility to me was more on account of the sleep I made them lose than the number we killed and captured.

It has always been a wonder with people how I managed to collect my men after dispersing them. The true secret was that it was a fascinating life and its attractions far more than counterbalanced its hardships and dangers. They had no camp duty to do, which, however necessary, is disgusting to soldiers of high spirit. To put them to such routine work is pretty much like hitching a race horse to a plow. Many expeditions were undertaken and traps laid to capture us, but all failed—and my command continued to grow and flourish until the final scene at Appomattox. It had just reached its highest point of efficiency when the time came to surrender.—Col. John S. Mosby in New York Mercury.

Care of the Eyes.

For the care of the eyes the following rules are laid down by a noted oculist:

Keep a shade on your lamp or gas-burner.

Avoid a sudden change between light and darkness.

Never begin to read, write or sew for several minutes after coming from darkness to light.

Never read by twilight, moonlight, or on cloudy days.

Never read or sew directly in front of the light, window or door.

It is best to let the light fall from above obliquely over the left shoulder.

Never sleep so that on first awakening the eyes shall open on the light of a window.

Do not use the eyesight by light so scant that it requires an effort to discriminate.

The moment you are instinctively prompted to rub your eyes, that moment stop using them.

If the eyelids are glued together on waking up do not forcibly open them, but apply saliva with the finger—it is the speediest dilutant in the world; then wash your eyes and face in warm water.—New York Graphic.

Mistake in the Introduction.

Mr. Webster was an admirable raconteur, and some of his reminiscences of his visit to England were very entertaining. One morning in London, after a breakfast with Rogers, the banker poet, he left the house in company with the celebrated Sydney Smith, and as they passed the door of Lord Brougham Smith proposed a call, to which Mr. Webster assented. On entering, Smith introduced Mr. Webster as "Mr. Clay." Now Mr. Clay had not long before denounced Lord Brougham in the United States senate, so to use Mr. Webster's words, "Lord Brougham did not say a word to Mr. Clay, nor Mr. Clay to Lord Brougham." Smith and Webster soon took their leave, and as they were crossing St. James park, the former all at once became silent and then asked: "Did I not introduce you to Lord Brougham as Mr. Clay?" "Certainly you did," replied Webster. No more was said on the subject, but Smith soon excuse himself. That afternoon Mr. Webster found a card from Lord Brougham inscribed, "For Mr. Webster," and they became intimate friends.—Ben: Perley Poore.

A man believed to be Jim Cummings, former member of the infamous James gang, on the night of Oct. 25th by means of a forged letter managed to get a passage in an express car out of St. Louis, and when about ten miles out attacked and bound the express messenger, robbed the safe of $50,000 or so, and when near Pacific station escaped.

Wonderful

Old age was attained by Ann Wignell of Jamacia, who lived to be 146 years; by Joseph Rasn, also of Jamaica, 140; by Elias Hoyle of England, 131, and William McKein of Virginia, United States, who was 130. Humanity will all reach these figures now that so pure and medicinal an article as the G. O. Taylor Bourbon and Rye Whiskey is bottled by C. H. Graves & Sons, Boston, and sold by every reliable grocer and druggist.

The Way the Thing Appears.

Ex-Commissioner of Pensions Dudley, who is now engaged in the banking business in Washington, recently stated to a New York newspaper man that the next president will be a republican. "The nominee of the democratic party," he said, "will be the man who is the choice of the democrats of New York state. I believe it will be Governor Hill. He is the choice of the democrats of the entire country. The talk that I hear among the southern democrats in Washington is all in his direction. They are for Hill and not for Cleveland. This talk about the patronage helping the democrats is not well grounded. Cleveland is not strong either through patronage or with the people. If every postmaster in the country was thrown out to make place for an administration democrat, it would only make things worse for Cleveland. There are from fifteen to twenty men in every town who have been waiting for the democratic party to come into power, and hoping to get an office. The nineteen men cannot understand why the twenty-fifth man should get the office, and they become lukewarm, if not open in revolt. The effect of that feeling in the democratic party will prove disastrous. The patronage hurts more than it helps."

A Great Scheme Fails.

The discontinuance of the great electric light at Hell Gate, determined upon by the lighthouse board, carries with it the failure of schemes for lighting by electricity a large body of water in order to make it more easily navigable. The Sound steamer lines and vessel owners have protested against it, for, while it lights the channel immediately about it, the darkness beyond the immediate circle is rendered the more dense and confusing. In view of this fact it is questionable if the government will maintain the Liberty statue as a lighthouse, as the illumination of the great figure by electricity would seem to establish in upper New York harbor the evils complained of at Hell Gate.

An Important Decision.

A New York despatch says: "A most important decision has just been rendered by Justice Potter, which is of especial interest to all musical persons, and is a telling blow at trade-union tyranny. Some time ago the Musical Union objected to the performance of any of their members in company with an imported oboe player engaged by Theodore Thomas, and enforced their objection by fines and threatened expulsion. It was in vain that Thomas urged the fact that there was no oboe player in the union capable of playing the music; the union insisted upon enforcing their dog-in-the-manger rules. The oboe player in question was perfectly willing to join the union, but was prevented from doing so by a by-law of the organization which made it necessary for him to be six months in the country before he could attain admission to the order. In this emergency Thomas applied for and obtained an injunction restraining the union from interfering with its members or punishing them for playing in company with performers who were not union men. Justice Potter has given his decision in favor of Mr. Thomas, the plaintiff, holding that the by-laws of the defendants, forbidding members to play with non-union men, are in restraint of trade and against public welfare, and void. He also issues a perpetual injunction forbidding these laws from being put into operation against the plaintiff."

AROUND HOME.

Charles Peirce, a laborer in the construction department at the navy yard, while at work about the sawmill on Tuesday of this week was quite badly hurt by being struck in the head by cant-hooks which slipped from a log. His wounds were dressed at the yard hospital, after which he was taken home.

"A meeting of the independent voters of this city and vicinity," "to transact business of importance," was called by notice in the Times for several days, to be held at the Rockingham house on Tuesday evening, Oct. 26th. Just what all this meant we were unable to find out, and even now we are unable to report just what "business of importance" was transacted; but we are informed that the mass meeting numbered just three persons.

Mr. George W. Peirce, of Frost's point, Rye, raised this year more than 600 red cabbages, a considerable number of which he has brought to the Portsmouth market. This is said to be the largest crop of that variety of cabbage grown by any farmer in Maine or New Hampshire. The red cabbage is a somewhat delicate plant, and more difficult of cultivation than other varieties. It is used to a large extent for pickles and salads.

Best quality of rubber shoes, men's, women's and children's, can be found at J. C. Carr's shoe store, at the lowest prices.

Elvin Newton on Monday of this week commenced operations in purchasing fish for the cold season. Besides occupying the stores on Commercial wharf used by him for years, he has hired the extensive wharf and fish houses belonging to the estate of the late John Dixon, where he proposes to carry on extended operations the coming winter.

A clear harbor is what we strive for, but when made so by heavy weather it is not so pleasant for those engaged in maritime affairs. About the most desolate outlook on the broad Atlantic this season was from ten A. M. to four P. M. on Tuesday of this week, between which hours not a sail, or a dory, or a steamer was to be sighted outside the points. Then a freighter ran out, bound west, a fisherman came in from somewhere, and a little steam launch ran over toward Col. Eastman's on Odiorne's point, but quickly returned to the harbor. The sea was not heavy, but there was a decided nor'wester under good inception; the clouds hung dark and low; the chop, where tide and sea met in conflict, was energetic; and our amphibious reporters deemed it best to drag their slow length into calmer waters.

The schooner Maggie Mulvey, Randlett master, which arrived from Port Johnson the first of this week, brought coal to E. F. Sise & Co.

This congressional district does not seem to fare very well in the democratic division of the fat offices allotted to New Hampshire. Naval Officer Kent, Superintendent of Mails Dame, Pension Agent Cochrane and United States Marshal Barker are all from the second district.

Great dissatisfaction is expressed by very many of the democrats of York, Kittery and Eliot, farmers, mechanics and fishermen, at the whole course of the Cleveland administration; and they do not hesitate to declare themselves openly in opposition.

Charles Emery of Newington, one of a gang of men engaged in sinking a well for Hon. Frank Jones at Freeman's point, fell down the well on the 26th inst. to the bottom, twenty-four feet, and would probably have been killed had not Amos Dame of Newington, who was at the bottom of the well at the time, caught him as he descended, thus breaking his fall, although both men were thrown heavily on the rocks and considerably bruised.

The parents of the three Dover boys who went gunning for the geese of Mr. Paul of Eliot, on learning the facts of the case settled with him by the payment of a satisfactory amount of money. That was probably not the way they settled with their hopeful sons.

We print on our first page Mr. E. C. Stedman's poem on the Bartholdi statue, from Harper's Weekly of Oct. 27th. The statue will be formally unveiled today.

in time. Kidney diseases may be prevented by purifying, renewing, and invigorating the blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. When, through debility, the action of the kidneys is perverted, these organs rob the blood of its needed constituent, albumen, which is passed off in the urine, while worn out matter, which they should carry off from the blood, is allowed to remain. By the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the kidneys are restored to proper action, and Albuminuria, or is prevented. Ayer's Sarsaparilla also prevents inflammation of the kidneys, and other disorders of these organs. Mrs. Jas. W. Weld, Forest Hill st., Jamaica Plain, Mass., writes: "I have had a complication of diseases, but my greatest trouble has been with my kidneys. Four bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla made me feel like a new person; as well and strong as ever." W. M. McDonald, 46 Summer st., Boston, Mass., had been troubled for years with Kidney Complaint. INVESTMENTS.

I am prepared to furnish the most desirable investments in County Bonds and Guaranteed Farm Mortgages, paying 6 and 7 per cent semi-annually. On Farm Mortgages, only from 25 to 33 per cent of the actual cash value of the property is loaned, and the title, location, quality of land and future prospects of the property are personally looked up. Farm Loans are, when negotiated by experienced and responsible parties, the most profitable security offered, especially for those having small sums to invest from time to time. The Loans I offer are First-Class in every respect. Principal and interest when due, paid here without expense to the holder.

I have these Loans in sums from $300 to $5,000.

NOTICE TO DOG OWNERS

The attention of dog owners is called to the following extracts from the General Laws and City Ordinances:

GENERAL LAWS OF NEW HAMPSHIRE, CHAP. 115.

SECT. 7. No person shall be liable by law for killing any dog which shall be found not having around his neck a collar of brass, tin, or leather, with the name of the owner carved or engraved thereon.

SECT. 8. Any town may make by-laws for licensing, regulating, or restraining dogs as they shall deem expedient, and may affix penalties for the violation thereof not exceeding five dollars; and the sum to be paid for a license shall not be less than two dollars on male dogs and five dollars on female dogs.

CITY ORDINANCES, CHAP. 16.

SEC. 1. No dog shall be permitted to go at large or loose in this city until the owner or keeper of such dog, or the head of the family, or the keeper of the house or place where such dog is kept or harbored, shall have procured from the city marshal a license for such dog.

SEC. 2. The city marshal shall grant a license to any citizen for his dog on the payment of two dollars for a male dog, and five dollars for a female dog, which license shall expire on the first day of July annually.

SEC. 4. The person named in each license so granted shall cause his name and the number of the license to be distinctly marked on a collar which shall be constantly kept about the neck of the dog so licensed, and no dog shall be considered as licensed unless this requisition shall be complied with.

SEC. 5. It shall be the duty of the city marshal to cause all dogs to be killed which shall be found at large or loose within the city without a collar marked as required in section 4, and cause all dogs so killed to be buried, and any person may lawfully kill any dog found within the limits of the city going at large contrary to the provisions of this chapter.

SEC. 6. In case any dog not licensed shall be provided with a collar marked as required in this ordinance, the owner or keeper thereof or the head of the family or keeper of the house or place where such dog is kept or harbored, shall upon conviction thereof be fined five dollars.

Notice is hereby given that the law will be strictly enforced.

BRILLIANT WEDDING.

The marriage of Miss Sadie P. Wadley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dole Wadley, to Ensign Edward Everett Capehart, United States navy, was solemnized at St. John's church on Wednesday evening, 27th inst., Rev. Henry E. Hovey, rector of the parish, officiating. The church, which was elaborately and tastefully decorated for the occasion, was completely filled with the relatives and near friends of the high contracting parties, the elegant toilettes of the ladies and the showy uniforms of the many naval officers combining with the evergreens, foliage and bright-colored flowers to make up a scene of rare brightness and beauty. Especially admired were the floral gates which were opened to permit the bridal couple to pass under a fern arch as they approached the altar, which was brilliant with flowers and wax-lights.

The bride was attired in a delicately cream-tinted satin gown, with point lace trimmed bodice; the skirt, en train, being entirely covered in front with Brussels net veiling, artistically gathered and looped up with garlands of orange flowers; the bridal veil being of the soft Brussels net, giving a lovely and delicate effect to the petite form of the young lady, who though always charming, on this occasion looked more beautiful than ever.

The groom, who appeared in special full dress, was attended by Ensign Franklin Swift, U. S. N., as best man. The ushers, in full dress, were Lieut. Charles C. Rogers, Lieut. Thomas D. Griffin, Ensign Baine C. Dent and Assistant Engineer Thomas F. Carter, of the navy.

As the young couple passed from the altar to their carriage they were preceded down the aisle by two little girls, daughters of the rector, who strewed roses in their pathway.

The church service was followed by a reception at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Wadley, No. 11 Islington street, which was attended by about eighty relatives and intimate friends of the bride and groom, among whom were Commodore Johnson, the officers attached to the navy yard and those of the United States steamships Galena and Swatara, Hon. David A. Ross and Mrs. Ross of Quebec, Mr. Frederick Vinton and wife of Boston, Mass., and Mrs. George W. Haven and family, Dr. F. E. Potter and wife, Mrs. Winder, Mrs. True M. Ball, Mr. and Mrs. James P. Bartlett, Miss Bartlett, Mr. Ogden of New York, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Decatur and others of this city. The bridal presents were numerous and beautiful, many of them being of rare and artistic designs.

At 7:40 o'clock P. M. the bride and groom left for Annapolis, Md., where Ensign Capehart is now on duty at the United States naval academy.

CHILDHOOD'S FAITH.

There is something in the unquestioning faith of childhood which touches a responsive chord even in hearts hardened by long conflict with the world and long experience of its shams and disappointments. This "faith which reaches to the skies" was touchingly exemplified a day or two since in the reply given his mother by a little four-year-old boy, the beloved grandson of one of our elder and most esteemed citizens lately passed to his rest, and of whom the little fellow was very fond. The mother had been watching with considerable anxiety her boy's somewhat singular movements while at play in the garden. Finally, she called,—"Caddy, what are you doing?" "Throwing kisses up to Grandpa in the sky, mamma," was the immediate reply, in a tone indicating perfect confidence that the beloved grandparent was receiving these pure tokens of childhood's love. What an impressive lesson is conveyed by this loving child's implicit faith.

REPUBLICAN NOMINATIONS.

The republicans of ward one at their caucus on Wednesday evening of this week made nominations as follows:

Representatives, James A. Waterhouse, George B. Wallace, Hiram C. Locke;

Selectmen, Lorenzo T. Burnham, Joseph Moulton, Walter S. Gray;

Supervisors of Checklists, Samuel D. Foye, Richard H. Waldron;

Moderator, Robert E. Rich;

Ward Clerk, Washington Stott.

DEMOCRATIC MEETING.

The Rev. Mr. McKinney was greeted by a thin house at the "grand democratic mass meeting" at Music hall Wednesday evening. The audience was called to order by Major David Urch who introduced Capt. Daniel Marcy as president, with a long list of vice-presidents and secretaries. Capt. Marcy in a brief address presented Mr. Herbert F. Norris of Manchester as the first speaker. Mr. Norris' remarks were short, and he was followed by the hero of the evening, the celebrated Mr. McKinney, who discussed in about his usual exuberant style. We thought the reverend gentleman a little more subdued than usual. Perhaps he was tired. The Newmarket band was present, and enlivened the somewhat dismal evening with music. There was quite a sprinkling of republicans in the hall and a few ladies graced the occasion with their presence. It was a wet evening.

REPUBLICAN MEETING.

At Music hall, this evening, Hon. Seth L. Milliken of Maine will deliver an address on the political issues of the day, presenting the republican view. Col. John C. Linehan of Concord is also announced to be present. Both the gentlemen named are pleasing speakers, and the people of Portsmouth and vicinity, without distinction of party or sex, are invited to hear them.

GAS--ELECTRICITY--KEROSENE.

Very many superintendents and other representatives of gas companies met in convention at Philadelphia a few days ago. The principal topic discussed was the matter of regulating the manufacture and sale of gas by commissioners appointed by the several governors of the states. A resolution favoring state commissioners was referred to the executive committee, to report at the next year's meeting. The current sentiment of the convention seemed to be that the acknowledged prejudice against gas companies is due to the short sighted and illiberal policy of many of the managers of early days, and still adhered to by some of the unprogressive companies.

The trouble with gas to-day seem to be that between the illuminating oils and electric lights, the gas companies make a poor showing in the matter of gas sold. The demand for gas decreases because the light is often inferior to that afforded by either oil or electric power. The companies contend the use of gas is safer than that of oil, and cheaper than that of electric light.

In our own city there seems to be indications that there will be patrons enough of the new mode of lighting discard the use of gas, to render the gas company's profits too small for dividends, for a time at least. Whether in an economical place like Portsmouth, with so few customers, there can be a fair profit permanently made by both corporations that will compete for the patronage of our citizens, seems not a matter capable of being questioned. The use of electric lights, it is true, causes the gas consumers to require a stronger light, and they will burn more gas; but the light of illuminating oils is so good and their cost so cheap that their use is quite general in many stores; while from places where the electric lights are being introduced, the gas company will doubtless for a season, until the cost of the new light is ascertained, suffer a diminution of income.

MUSIC HALL.

Wheeler's Ideal Minstrels opened the season of 1886 and '87 at the Opera House last night, to a full house; the company is the best ever seen in our city. There is not a poor feature in the entire performance; the jokes and repartee are bright and sparkling, the music, both vocal and instrumental was especially fine, and taken as a whole the performance gave entire satisfaction, and they certainly merited the frequent applause and encores given them. We hope to see them here again.—Norwich Bulletin.

To the Holders of Certificates of Indebtedness.

The Voting Register of Certificate holders is now making up at the office of the Company in Boston, Mass.

Persons desiring to have their names placed upon said Register in order to vote at the coming election must comply with the following regulation of the Trustees.

"Every holder of Certificates of Indebtedness who desires to have them registered in his name shall present to the Trustees at their office, No. 10 Tremont street, Boston, a written statement signed by him and giving his address and the denomination and number of every certificate of indebtedness claimed to be held by him, and shall, if required by said Trustees, verify this title by exhibiting such certificates and the written order of the last registered holder of the same, or other evidence of his title to the reasonable satisfaction of the Trustees; and said Trustees, if satisfied with his title, shall endorse their approval upon said written statement, and said certificate holder may thereupon be registered in conformity thereto. The approval of one of said Trustees shall be sufficient authority for such registration, and no registration after the 15th day of August, 1886, shall be valid without such approval, and no approval shall be granted after the time for closing the register."

The voting register will close at the close of business on the 15th day of November, between which time and the special meeting on the 23d day of November, 1886, no registration will be allowed.

Lydia E. Pinkham

Suffering Womanhood.

Too much effort cannot be made to bring to the attention of suffering womanhood the great value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as a remedy for the diseases of women. Such an one is the wife of General Barringer of Winston, N. C., and we quote from the General's letter as follows: "Dear Mrs. Pinkham: Please allow me to add my testimony to the most excellent medicinal qualities of your Vegetable Compound. Mrs Barringer was treated for several years for what the physicians called Leucorrhea and Prolapsus Uteri combined. I sent her to Richmond, Va., where she remained for six months under the treatment of an eminent Physician without any permanent benefit. She was induced to try your medicine and after a reasonable time commenced to improve and is now able to attend to her business and considers herself fully relieved." [General Barringer is the proprietor of the American Hotel, Winston, N. C., and is widely known.—Ed.]

A Man's Thanks.

A well known business man of Wilmington, N. C., writes: "It is with pleasure, that I write to express to you my gratitude for the relief and benefit your Vegetable Compound has been to my Wife who has been troubled with Ulceration. She has been under the treatment of the doctor for six years. Finally he said he could do nothing more for her, that she would die in 24 hours. Then I commenced using your Compound and now she can attend to her domestic affairs as well as she ever could." oct5

Summit of North America.

Professor Iglesias, of San Luis Potosi, maintains that the barometrical measurements of the Mexican mountains have been formulated without due allowance for the influence of the coast climate, and that Mount Orizaba, not Popocatepetl, is the summit of the North American continent. It is certainly the finest mountain of the Mexican Cordilleras. Its rival humps its broad back above the naked hills of the central plateau, while Orizaba lifts its symmetrical cone high above the pine summits of the coast range, as the only snow-peak which the mariners of the gulf can view in its full grandeur. The height exceeds that of Mont Blanc by at least 2,000 feet.—Boston Budget.

They Grew Side by Side.

A mother had been teaching her infant daughter a little prayer, the refrain of which was: "Forget me not, O Lord," and because of the little girl's forgetfulness her attention had been called to the flower of that name, in the hope that its association with the prayer would improve her memory. After it was supposed the child had her lesson fully learned the mother, one evening, in the presence of company, anxious to exhibit her daughter's precocity, asked her to recite her little prayer, and she surprised the company by shouting: "Bachelor's buttons, O Lord." The two flowers grew side by side in the family garden.—Boston Post.

Hydraulic Compression of Wood.

The London Engineer describes the compression of beech and other woods by means of hydraulic presses, under the patent of Mr. Robert Pickles, of Bromley, England, who makes the wood a specialty for shuttles and for gearing. The compression of the wood improves its wear-resisting qualities to a degree that would be deemed impossible. The grain is very close, and the weight of compressed beech is considerably greater than that of box-wood, and when compared with uncompressed beech it is remarkably heavier.—Boston Budget.

Athlophoros has done me more good than anything I have ever taken. I was a great sufferer from rheumatism, but since taking seven bottles of the remedy I think that I am nearly or quite cured. G. T. Gilson, Dunstable, Mass.

Senator Frye of Maine addressed a crowded meeting at the opera house in Rochester on the evening of Oct. 26th, on the political issues of the campaign.

Catarrh

Is a very prevalent and exceedingly disagreeable disease, liable, if neglected, to develop into serious consumption. Being a constitutional disease, it requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, acting through the blood, reaches every part of the system, effecting a radical and permanent cure of catarrh in even its most severe forms. Made only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Owing to low water the Norway Plains company of Rochester have been obliged to close part of their mills.

All authorities agree that the milk of a healthy mother is the best food for an infant. Next to this, and containing all the elements for perfect nutrition, is Mellins' Food, which after a long test, is highly endorsed by prominent medical men.

From a Consumptive.

Lakeville, Mass., Sept. 14, 1885.

I was very sick in 1865 with consumption; had severe pain in my left side; lungs were very sore and tender; a friend told me of Allcock's Porous Plasters. I tried one, cut in strips, and placed it over the painful places; they gave me almost immediate relief. I continued the use of them, in connection with tonic medicines, until I was cured. I have used hundreds of them for myself and family. My husband was attacked about two weeks ago with a terrible pain in his right side; he could not breath without crying out. I had one in the house. I applied it, and he received relief. He continued to wear it a day or so, when he was well again.

JEANNETTE M. PLUMMER.

"THE BARTHOLDI STATUE."

[A Poem, by JOHN G. WHITTIER, Read at the Unveiling.]

The land that, from the rule of kings
In freeing us, itself made free,
Our old world sister to us brings
Her sculptured dream of liberty.

Unlike the shapes of Egypt's sands,
Uplifted by the toil-worn slave;
On freedom's soil with free men's hands
We rear the symbol free hands gave.

O, France, the beautiful, to thee
Once more a debt of love we owe;
In peace beneath thy floor de lis,
We hail a later Rochambeau.

Rise, stately symbol! holding forth
Thy light and hope to all who sit
In chains and darkness! belt the earth
With watchfires from thy torch uplit!

Reveal the primal mandate still
Which chase hard and ceased to be;
Trace on midair thy eternal will
In signs of fire, "Let man be free!"

Shine far, shine free a guiding light
To reason's ways and virtue's aim;
A lightning flash the wretch to smite
Who shields his license with thy name!

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhœa, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle.

Our Rapid Transitory Existence,

Brief as it is at the longest, is liable to be materially curtailed by our own indiscretions. The dyspeptic eat what they should not, the bilious drink coffee in excess, and the rheumatic, neuralgic and consumptive sit in draughts, get wet feet and remain in damp clothes, and then wonder when ill how they became so. To persons with a tendency to neuralgia, we recommend a daily use of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, and always a wineglassful after unavoidable exposure in damp or otherwise inclement weather. Efficient protection is afforded by this pleasant safeguard, which diffuses a genial glow through the system, invigorates and tones it, and promotes nerve tranquility. Fever and ague, biliousness, constipation, dyspepsia and renal disorder, are among the maladies which it remedies and prevents.

A nominee stepped into a saloon with a crowd of friends recently to treat them. "What will you have?" inquired the barkeeper in his blandest tones. "Well," replied the nominee, "I don't know what these other gentlemen want, but as for me, I'll take votes."

At Dover, Oct. 27th, the three-year-old daughter of John M. Staples, while playing with matches got her clothes on fire, and was terribly burned about the head and body. She died in great agony two hours later.

WHY IS IT

That rheumatism and neuralgia are so prevalent? This question has not been satisfactorily answered, but it is certain that these diseases are not only the most painful but among the most common, and some member of nearly every family in the land is the victim of one of these dread tormentors. Ladies seem to be peculiarly liable to neuralgic attacks, which, in the form of neuralgic headache, pain in the back, or nervous pains are of constant occurrence. Not until the discovery of Athlophoros had any remedy been found for either rheumatism, neuralgia or nervous headache, and they were generally conceded to be incurable, but Athlophoros has been proved to be not only a certain cure for these diseases, in all their varied forms, but a safe remedy. If, in the use of Athlophoros, the bowels are kept freely open its success is certain, and to aid this, Athlophoros Pills are recommended, which, while providing the necessary cathartic, will be found to be a valuable aid to the action of the medicine. Athlophoros is no experiment, it has been tested and has proved its wonderful efficacy.

The Athlophoros Pills were originally prepared as a remedy for use in connection with Athlophoros, for rheumatism and neuralgia and kindred complaints. Used in connection with that remedy, they are a certain cure for either of these very common and distressing diseases. They have also been found to be an invaluable remedy for any and all diseases arising from vitiated blood or general debility. They are especially valuable for nervous debility, blood poisoning, dyspepsia, distress after eating, headache, constipation, loss of appetite, and all stomach or liver troubles. For diseases of women they are invaluable. These pills are perfectly harmless and may be safely used by adults or children.

Testimonials of those who have been cured will be sent free on application.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist, the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

ITEMS FOR COFFEE-DRINKERS.

The Different Varieties of Coffee—How the Beverage Should Be Prepared.

According to a recent statement there are over 600 grades of coffee on the market, which might lead many to believe that there are as many different species of the plant, which is not true, however, for there are but few of these and one only—i. e., the coffœa arabica—from which the genuine article is obtained; consequently the grading must be arbitrary or dependent upon individual caprice. The true grading and price of the commodity result from the treatment the coffee berries receive after they have been gleaned, which varies according to the locality of growth. In Brazil and the West Indies as fast as the fruit ripens it is gathered, placed on mats or floors adapted to the purpose, exposed to the sun and frequently stirred to expedite the drying process. When dry enough the berries are passed through heavy rollers, which remove the tough outside membrane and pulp that enclosed the beans. The latter are then carefully winnowed, sorted, put into bags and are ready for market. The varieties of coffee chiefly distinguished in commerce are the Mocha, from Arabia, esteemed the best on account of its being richest in caffeine, the alkaloid to which coffee owes its popularity. The Mocha grains are easily recognized by their comparative smallness, gray, inclining to greenish color. The Java, or East India coffee, has large, yellow beans. Jamaica coffee beans are of a greenish cast, smaller than the Java, but larger than the Mocha. Surinam has the largest sized bean of all, whilst the Bourbon has medium size, pale yellowish, inclined to whitish, beans. Liberia, Laguayra and other kinds have no distinguishing features to entitle them to especial notice here.

The fruit of the coffee-tree is a red berry resembling a cherry, having a pale, insipid, glutinous pulp, inclosing two hard, oval seeds, which we term "grains." Each of these is about the size of an ordinary bean, and covered with a tough, cartilaginous membrane called the "parchment."

Orientals do not prepare coffee for drinking purposes as we do. Arabs make it from the unroasted beans. The sultan of Turkey, formerly, if not now, has a beverage made out of the dried pulp and pericarp for his own use, while some of his subjects prepare a decoction from the dried leaves of the coffee tree. For this purpose the leaves are prepared by a process similar to that for tea leaves, and a great many suppose that the leaves so treated contain a larger proportion of caffeine than the beans.

Roasted to a reddish-brown color coffee loses 15 per cent. by weighing and gains in bulk 30 per cent. If the process of roasting is continued until the coffee assumes a chestnut-brown, 20 per cent. by weight is lost and 50 per cent. in bulk gained. Roasted to a dark-brown it loses 25 per cent. by weight and increases 60 per cent. in bulk. The roasting of coffee in some manner develops a volatile oil in the grain to the extent of about one part in fifty that is not present in the raw state, to which it owes its delightful aroma. If the roasting is protracted beyond a light-brown color this delicious odor is jeopardized, if not entirely destroyed. Coffee keeps best in the green state; the older and drier the grain unroasted the better, it is said, is the coffee when it is roasted.

Fortunately for mankind, coffee is a wholesome and harmless beverage and rarely leaves any unpleasant effects behind, even when indulged in to excess. It is eminently the cup that cheers and does not inebriate.

Therapeutically, coffee is a great conservator of the tissues; it prevents waste of the body, allays thirst, hunger, and, as above intimated, cheers the mind but does not intoxicate the brain, while the aromatic oil it contains has a gentle aperient effect upon the bowels. For this latter purpose it is best taken soon after rising in the morning, about the strength of two tablespoonfuls of finely ground coffee to a pint of boiling water, drank five minutes after mixing.

Regarding the toxic properties (so called) of coffee little need be said. Only lower animals have exhibited any great sensitiveness in this respect, and then not until after very large doses of the alkaloid, caffeine, had been administered to them, which, when given to man in the same quantities, caused but little temporary nervous disturbance. Its effects, like medicine generally, depend very much upon the constitution, temperament, and idiosyncrasy of the individual using it.

To extract all the good qualities of coffee, says Professor Donovan in The Dublin Physiological Journal, 1826, the fresh, finely-ground coffee requires two separate and somewhat opposite methods of treatment. On the one hand the flavor is lost by boiling, while on the other it is necessary to subject it to that degree of heat in order to extract its medical quality. These difficulties are overcome by dividing the water to be used in the making into two equal parts. With one of these the coffee must be mixed cold and placed on the fire until on the eve of boiling, when it is taken off the fire and allowed to settle. The liquid is then poured off and the other portion of water—which ought now to be boiling hot—is added to the grounds and strongly boiled for five minutes, after which the two portions of liquid are mixed together, forming a combination of all good properties of the coffee in the greatest perfection.—Physician in Washington Star.

OUR NEW YORK FASHION LETTER.

MILLINERY—CLOAKS—WEDDING DRESSES—COSTUMES—TRIMMINGS.

The distance between a lady's front bonnet trimming and the tip-end of her bonnet strings might form a subject of philosophical speculation. The extreme limit of lengthening has been reached in case where nature gratuitously furnishes a long face, but the effect of an apple-shaped countenance garnished above by a tuft remarkable for narrowness as for height, renders the latter case almost more absurd than the former. Add to the above a capote, where narrowness seems to have been the chief object of ambition, and the result obtained is that of unbecomingness to everybody. Some capotes have coronet brims, which relieve the waste of narrowness, but they are few. In this extremity hats become a refuge for those young enough to wear them, and there is choice among turbans and rather wide-brimmed in unusual variety of shape, turned up or down in many fanciful ways, and therefore of great adaptability. But theatre-goers look with dismay upon the high crowns, and regard them as so many piled-up woes which transform orchestra chairs into a vale of tears.

SOME NEW CLOAKS

Extend only a little below the waist at the back but have long fronts, and the thick wadding and fur trimming shows them meant for winter use. Beads make a good exhibit on velvet, of which many are composed, yet not more so than on plush or the novel wool cloaking cloths. Jet fringes are often on the edges, or chenille united with jet. These cloaks are a protest against the enveloping styles that have for a long time been popular, but the latter hold their own, although it is said reproachfully they afford no chance for the showing of a dressy costume. Let us have both. President Cleveland's marriage has inspired a number of bachelors to a point of imitation, and the smiles of the would-be Benedicts could not be surpassed, if under the supervision of Gens. Beauregard and Early they had drawn grand prizes in the Louisiana State Lottery. Brides think most of their

WEDDING DRESSES.

Brocades are counted out, unless some one of the new and magnificent metal brocades. White satin or faille trimmed with lace are most in favor, but gros grain is used, as likewise frise goods or plush in combinations. The kinds of lace are many, commencing with Honiton as most costly, but among the less in price, plat Val is by far the most fashionable and can be more lavishly employed than a rarer fabric. Bead embroidery is also quite popular, but has never seemed so specially appropriate as lace. Crepe lisse is quite a feature in bridal dresses. Some are made entirely of it over white silk; plain and embroidered lisse are combined in many fanciful ways, and as a trimming it often takes the place of lace, looking far better than a common quality. Necks are usually high, or at most square or heart shaped, but there are a few elegant dresses made recently with low neck; the train full, long, and cut in Martha Washington style; tulle veil off the face.

COSTUMES

In general show little departure from what has been, though very lately some basques have been cut longer on the sides, and here at least there will be much less stereotyping than hitherto. Beads in various forms and combinations lead in trimmings. Cuffs, collars, plastrons, capes, passementeries, bands, and galoons are suppemented by fringes wholly of them or mixed with chenille. Jet colored and irridescent beads are varied by polished wood, and small corsage buttons are made to resemble beads. Military cords and gimps are set on in soldier-like patterns, and conform to the mannish ideas new so prominent in dress.

LUCY CARTER.

The Bartholdi Statue Unveiling.

Bartholdi's colossal statue of Liberty Enlightening the World, on Bedloe's island, New York harbor, was formally unveiled on Thursday, Oct. 28th, the order of exercises being as follows:

Grand parade of military, civic societies, officials, foreign visitors and invited guests, in the forenoon; followed immediately by a naval parade of American and foreign men-of-war, and excursion steamers, to Bedloe's island, where music was furnished by Gilmore's 22d Reg't band during the landing and seating of the limited number of eminent persons the small area of the island would accommodate.

Signal gun for commencement of unveiling exercises, which were opened by prayer by Rev. Richard S. Storrs, D. D.

Address of presentation by Count Ferdinand de Lesseps, on behalf of the Franco-American Union, followed by an address by Hon. Wm. M. Evarts.

Unveiling of the statue, amid music and a salvo from all the guns on the ships and forts in the harbor.

Acceptance of the statue by President Cleveland, on behalf of the people of the United States.

Address on behalf of the republic of France, le ministre plenipotentaire et delegue extraordinaire, A. Lefaivre; followed by music, and a commemorative address by Hon. Chauncy M. Depew.

Doxology, tune "Old Hundred," by bands and people, followed by benediction by Rt. Rev. Henry C. Potter, D. D.

National salute, fired simultaneously from all the batteries in the harbor, ashore and afloat.

Illumination of the statue, with fireworks on Bedloe's and Governor's islands and the Battery, at dusk.

The statue measures 151 feet and one inch from the bottom of the plinth to the tip of the torch flame, and stands in all 305 feet and eleven inches above low water mark. The forefinger of the goddess' right hand is over seven feet long, and over four feet in circumference at the second joint. The eye is two feet wide, and the nose more than three feet long. The total weight of the statue is about twenty-five tons; and its cost in making over a million of francs.

The Goddess of Liberty is the largest work of its kind that has ever been completed. The legendary Colossus of Rhodes could not possibly have had the shape or bigness attributed to it. The colossal statue of Arminius, in Bavaria, is about ninety-four feet in height; that of St. Charles Borromeo, on the shores of Lake Maggiore, seventy-five feet. The Virgin of Puy comes next, fifty-two feet, and the statue of Bavaria last, scarcely more than a foot shorter. All of them shrink out of countenance beside the gigantic copper figure on Bedloe's island.

New Hampshire Patents.

The following list of patents, granted Oct. 26th, to citizens of New Hampshire, is specially reported by Franklin H. Hough, solicitor of American and foreign patents, 925 F street, N. W., Washington, D. C.:

in time. Kidney diseases may be prevented by purifying, renewing, and invigorating the blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. When, through debility, the action of the kidneys is perverted, these organs rob the blood of its needed constituent, albumen, which is passed off in the urine, while worn out matter, which they should carry off from the blood, is allowed to remain. By the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the kidneys are restored to proper action, and Albuminuria, or Four bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla made me feel like a new person; as well and strong as ever." W. M. McDonald, 46 Summer st., Boston, Mass., had been troubled for years with Kidney Complaint. By the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, he not only the disease from assuming a fatal form, but was restored to perfect health. John McLellan, cor. Bridge and Third sts., Lowell, Mass., writes: "For several years I suffered from Dyspepsia and Kidney Complaint, the latter being so severe at times that I could scarcely attend to my work. My appetite was poor, and I was much emaciated; but by using my appetite and digestion improved, and my health has been perfectly restored."

Check-List Notice.

THE Board of Inspectors of Check-Lists gives notice that they have posted copies of all the Check-Lists of the city in the corridor of the City Building. Also have posted a list of ward one at the Railroad Station, and a list of ward three at the store of John Mitchell on Islington st. ext, and a list of ward four at the store of John J. Laskey on Pleasant street, for the inspection of the voters of the city.

They also give notice that they will be in session at the City Building on Wednesday the 20th day of October, on Wednesday the 27th day of October, and on Friday the 29th day of October, 1886, from 9 o'clock A. M. to 12 M., and from 2 to 5 P. M., on each of said days, for the purpose of revising and correcting the several lists of the voters. They will also be in session at the same place from 8 to 10 A. M., and from 1 to 2 P. M., on the day of election, for the purpose of furnishing certificates to any persons whose names may have been omitted, and who the board are satisfied have resided in the ward one year next preceding said election.

INVESTMENTS.

I am prepared to furnish the most desirable investments in County Bonds and Guaranteed Farm Mortgages, paying 6 and 7 per cent semi-annually. On Farm Mortgages, only from 25 to 33 per cent of the actual cash value of the property is loaned, and the title, location, quality of land and future prospects of the property are personally looked up. Farm Loans are, when negotiated by experienced and responsible parties, the most profitable security offered, especially for those having small sums to invest from time to time. The Loans I offer are First-Class in every respect. Principal and interest when due, paid here without expense to the holder.

I have these Loans in sums from $300 to $5,000.

NOTICE TO DOG OWNERS.

The attention of dog owners is called to the following extracts from the General Laws and City Ordinances:

GENERAL LAWS OF NEW HAMPSHIRE, CHAP. 115.

SECT. 7. No person shall be liable by law for killing any dog which shall be found not having around his neck a collar of brass, tin, or leather, with the name of the owner carved or engraved thereon.

SECT. 8. Any town may make by-laws for licensing, regulating, or restraining dogs as they shall deem expedient, and may affix penalties for the violation thereof not exceeding five dollars; and the sum to be paid for a license shall not be less than two dollars on male dogs and five dollars on female dogs.

CITY ORDINANCE, CHAP. 16.

SEC. 1. No dog shall be permitted to go at large or loose in this city until the owner or keeper of such dog, or the head of the family, or the keeper of the house or place where such dog is kept or harbored, shall have procured from the city marshal a license for such dog.

SEC. 2. The city marshal shall grant a license to any citizen for his dog on the payment of two dollars for a male dog, and five dollars for a female dog, which license shall expire on the first day of July annually.

SEC. 4. The person named in each license so granted shall cause his name and the number of the license to be distinctly marked on a collar which shall be constantly kept about the neck of the dog so licensed, and no dog shall be considered as licensed unless this requisition shall be complied with.

SEC. 5. It shall be the duty of the city marshal to cause all dogs to be killed which shall be found at large or loose within the city without a collar marked as required in section 4, and cause all dogs so killed to be buried, and any person may lawfully kill any dog found within the limits of this city going at large contrary to the provisions of this chapter.

SEC. 6. In case any dog not licensed shall be provided with a collar marked as required in this ordinance, the owner or keeper thereof or the head of the family or keeper of the house or place where such dog is kept or harbored, shall upon conviction thereof be fined five dollars.

Notice is hereby given that the law will be strictly enforced.

REPUBLICAN MEETING.

There was a good attendance at Music hall on Thursday evening, to hear Hon. Seth L. Milliken of Maine and Col. John C. Linehan of Concord present the republican view of the political issues of the present campaign. The officers of the meeting were announced as follows:

President, Charles E. Batchelder;

Vice Presidents,—Ward One, M. M. Collis, George W. Pendexter, Henry M. Clark, Joseph H. Thacher, E. A. Manent, Washington Stott, William D. Fernald, E. C. Matthews, E. S. Ryder, F. L. Pryor, A. C. Hoyt, Martin Hoyt, Harrie W. W. Jackson, George B. Wallis, Jos. F. Berry, William H. Smith, William F. Fernald, E. B. Goodall, M. E. Long, I. R. Davis, A. L. Rice, Chas. Ham, Frank L. Benedict, Willis B. Hodgon, James A. N. Rugg, Samuel C. Whittier, E. G. Peirce, George A. Silsbee, C. Dwight Hanscom, Frank B. Johnson, Henry J. Eaton, Charles H. Dennett, Samuel Hawkes; Ward Two, John H. Broughton, John Laighton, E. P. Kimball, T. Salter Tredick, John H. Hutchinson, C. W. Tracy, William H. Sise, Charles H. Mendum, John S. Rand, Lewis E. Smith, John H. Slater, George Annable, John P. Hart, George W. Butler, Chas. M. Laighton, Thomas K. Locke, Samuel H. Ayers, Morris C. Foye, John J. Pickering, Wm. H. Hackett, Charles A. Hazlett, Wm. G. Billings, William C. Randall, Joseph A. Randall, Charles E. Simpson, John F. Shillaber, Fred B. Coleman, Charles H. Joy, James C. Brown, James R. Yeaton, D. W. Jones, Daniel J. Vaughan, E. A. Tilton, B. F. Jacobs, Samuel Adams; Ward Three, Joseph O. Ham, Chas. H. Hayes, Andrew M. Gardner, Langdon J. Whidden, Horace D. Whidden, Joseph J. Wain, John S. Cutts, Ira Brown, John Hallam, Ed. A. Clough, George A. Alton, George Campbell, Geo. S. Webber· Ward Four, William H. Rollins, Joshua Stackpole, Oliver H. Locke, M J Vaughn John O. Ayers, George M AyersThorton Betton, Allen A. Rand, [illegible] ert H. White, Moses R. Curtis, [illegible] iel Bell, Geo. W. Towle. Kittery, M. F. Wentworth.

Secretaries, Daniel J. Vaughan, John Albee, Joseph R. Curtis, Lewis W. Brewster, William H. Moore, Samuel Dodge.

Col. Linehan spoke first, and for half an hour presented unanswerable reasons why the republican candidates should be supported by all who wish well to the country and the great body of its citizens, the working men, and why the democratic candidates should be elected to the continued care of their private affairs and not be entrusted with those of the state. Mr. Milliken in his address devoted some time to the consideration of the fishery question, with which as a member of Congress he has had occasion to become intimate; and he showed conclusively that a vote for the democratic candidate for Congress from this district would be a vote in favor of giving our fish market to the Canadians, and in full endorsement of the administration's truckling to the British minister and its humiliating submission to the insolence of petty Canadian officials. He also referred in strong terms to the administration's gross injustice in the treatment of John Roach. The democratic proclamation, before Cleveland's election, as to the enormous republican thefts which they would show up if they were only once entrusted with the national accounts, were also referred to, and it was shown that they had not in a single department or bureau of a department been verified.

Both speakers made excellent impressions, and their calm and convincing arguments held the audience in close attention to the close of the meeting.

Chief Justice Doe was in town on Wednesday.

SUPREME COURT.

OCTOBER TERM, Clark J.

THURSDAY, 28th.—The case of Mrs. B. W. Hoyt vs. the Epping Savings bank, suit to recover money on deposit, was on trial.

POLICE COURT--BATCHELDER J.

THURSDAY, Oct. 28th.

A person arraigned for the larceny of a gold watch was discharged after a long hearing, the evidence not being of such a nature as to convict. The owner of the watch was satisfied to recover his property, lost while intoxicated, as he testified in court.

Richard Rogers, for drunkenness, was fined $3, costs $6.90.

MUSIC HALL.

We are pleased to be able to say a good word for Wheeler's Minstrels. This company is composed of talent that we know must please the people. It was pretty clearly demonstrated last evening that the company stands at the head of minstrelsy, for there was not a poor feature in the entire programme presented, and the frequent encores bestowed upon the performers showed an appreciative audience.—Providence Telegram.

FIRE.

An alarm of fire was sounded at 10:20 o'clock Thursday evening from box fifty-eight, (the police station,) in consequence of a blaze having been discovered by passers-by, in the rear of Mr. John Griffin's store on Market square. The fire department was quickly on hand, and effectually wet down the fire in a few moments; the damage to the stock was wholly from smoke end water. The origin of the fire cannot now be stated, Mr. Griffin having left the store apparently all right but a few minutes before the fire was discovered. The stock is insured to the amount of $3,000 in the Granite State, People's, and Capital companies; the building is insured with J. P. Morse's agency.

DEMOCRATIC NOMINATIONS.

The democratic caucus of ward four was held on Thursday evening, and the following nominations made:

Representative, William S. Hazel;
Moderator, William A. A. Cullen;
Ward Clerk, Richard I. Walden;
Selectmen, Horace Mudge, Michael T. McCarthy, James W. Sowersby;
Inspector of Checklists, Robert W. Phinney.

The democrats of Newcastle on the evening of Oct. 27th nominated as representative Oliver V. Randall; supervisors of checklists, Ambrose Card, Simeon C. Flanders, Gilbert A. Trussel; moderator, George W. Randall.

The last meeting of the board of inspectors prior to election day is to be held at the city building to-day. All persons whose names are not on the voting lists should see to it that their names are correctly registered.

The funeral of the late Geo. H. Seavey of Rye took place on Thursday, the 28th inst., and was largely attended. Delegations of Masons and Odd Fellows of this city attended, going and returning in a barge.

We are credibly informed that as long ago as Oct. 21st the mayor ordered the street commissioner to cease work on the extension of the road across the south pond.

At Elyria, Ohio, on Wednesday evening of this week, Mr. Arthur W. Walker of this city and Miss Mary Louise Foster of Elyria, a recent graduate of Miss Morgan's seminary, were joined in matrimonial bonds at the residence of the bride's parents, Parks Foster, Esq., and wife. A number of Mr. Walker's relatives and friends were in attendance from this city. Mr. and Mrs. Walker will receive congratulations at the Rockingham house on Wednesdays after Nov. 10th.

Mr. John E. Chase, a native of this city and son of the late Captain John Chase, died of pneumonia on Monday, Oct. 25th, at New Providence, N. J. He was born in 1837. After sailing several voyages he went to Boston at the age of sixteen, and entered the service of Sumner, Swift & Co. In 1857 he went to New York and founded, with his partners, the firm of Simes, Chase & Co., ship chandlers and shipping merchants. Besides large interest in shipping they conducted a heavy trade in lumber. Mr. Chase was vice president of the Maritime Association of the port of New York. He leaves a widow and two young children.

Daniel Kane, a seaman attached to one of the national ships now at this navy yard, was in Boston on Oct. 26th on leave of absence, and while passing through Fleet street about eight oclock in the evening was attacked by two young roughs named Edward Flanigan and James M. Crackin, and robbed of $15. The thieves were arrested and fully identified.

Two weeks ago the post office at Kingston was broken into, and the safe robbed of money and stamps. James Jenks was indicted for the offence, but he could not be found. On Thursday last he was arrested in Boston, and was brought to this city in the evening by Sheriff Kent. Jenks is forty-two years old. He admits that he was in Kingston on the night of the robbery, but denies that he is guilty of the crime.

Mr. L. V. Newell, the photographer, has a very fine negative of the decoration of the altar and chancel on the occasion of the recent wedding at St. John's church.

REPUBLICAN CAUCUSES.

The Republicans of Ward Two are requested to meet at the Common Council rooms on Friday evening, Oct. 29th, at 7:30 o'clock, for the purpose of nominating candidates for representatives and ward officers to be supported at the polls Nov. 2d. PER ORDER.

There will be a meeting of the republican ward committee of Ward Two immediately after the caucus this evening.

The Republicans of Ward Three are requested to meet at the Spalding school house on Friday evening, Oct. 29th, at 9:30 o'clock, for the purpose of nominating candidates for representative and ward officers to be supported at the polls Nov. 2d. PER ORDER.

If some of our republican friends in ward three will furnish us with a list of the nominations made at the caucus this evening, as soon as convenient after the close of the meeting, we shall regard it as a favor.

Boucle and Astrachan for outside garments, and Astrachan for dress trimmings, are shown in all the colors by Lewis E. Staples at No. 7 Market street.

A False Report Refuted.

To Hon. J. Frank Seavey of the State Republican Committee.

DOVER, N. H., Sept. 30th, 1886.

DEAR SIR:—You inform me that it has recently been claimed by certain persons that I was employed during the session of the legislature of 1885, by Col. C. H. Sawyer, the present republican candidate for the office of governor, to oppose the passage of a ten hour law, and ask me to say whether the report is true or not; answer, that it is not true and is without foundation, and false. A very few days before the legislature of 1885 convened, being the attorney of the Cocheco Manufacturing Co., and having been informed that an attempt would be made to enact a ten-hour law, I made inquiry of the attorney for Sawyer's Woolen Mills, whether that corporation would join in an effort to prevent the passage of such a law, and was by him referred to its agent, Col. C. H. Sawyer, who very soon after informed me that neither Sawyer's Woolen Mills nor himself would in any way, directly or indirectly, make any opposition to the passage of a ten-hour law. I believe I know all the corporations and individuals who made opposition to the passage of the ten-hour law before the legislature of 1885. Certainly I know all in Strafford county, and I know that neither Sawyer's Woolen Mills nor Col. Sawyer were among the number.

Very Truly,
JOSHUA G. HALL.

EASTERN RAILROAD COMPANY.

To the Holders of Certificates of Indebtedness.

THE voting register of certificate holders is now making up at the office of the Eastern Railroad on Causeway Street, Boston, Mass. Holders already registered are not required to register anew. Any holder not already registered can register or presenting at said office of said Eastern Railroad Company to Edward Lelley a written statement signed by himself of his name, address, and the denomination and numbers of the certificates held by him. If the company shall so require, the holder desiring to register shall also duly verify his title thereto by producing said certificate of indebtedness, or filing with the Company the written order of the person last registered as the holder, or in such other mode as may be prescribed by the laws of Massachusetts and the regulations of the Trustees.

The voting register will be closed at the close of business on the 15th day of November, A. D. 1886, between which time and the special meeting for the election of a trustee on the twenty-third day of November, A. D. 1886, no registration for the purpose of said special meeting will be made.

EASTERN RAILROAD COMPANY.

To the Holders of Certificates of Indebtedness.

The Voting Register of Certificate holders is now making up at the office of the Company in Boston, Mass.

Persons desiring to have their names placed upon said Register in order to vote at the coming election must comply with the following regulation of the Trustees.

"Every holder of Certificates of Indebtedness who desires to have them registered in his name shall present to the Trustees at their office, No. 10 Tremont street, Boston, a written statement signed by him and giving his address and the denomination and number of every certificate of indebtedness claimed to be held by him, and shall, if required by said Trustees, verify this title by exhibiting such certificates and the written order of the last registered holder of the same, or other evidence of his title to the reasonable satisfaction of the Trustees; and said Trustees, if satisfied with his title, shall endorse their approval upon said written statement, and said certificate holder may thereupon be registered in conformity thereto. The approval of one of said Trustees shall be sufficient authority for such registration, and no registration after the 15th day of August, 1886, shall be valid without such approval, and no approval shall be granted after the time for closing the register."

The voting register will close at the close of business on the 15th day of November, between which time and the special meeting on the 23d day of November, 1886, no registration will be allowed.

Suffering Womanhood.

Too much effort cannot be made to bring to the attention of suffering womanhood the great value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as a remedy for the diseases of women. Such an one is the wife of General Barringer of Winston, N. C., and we quote from the General's letter as follows: "Dear Mrs. Pinkham: Please allow me to add my testimony to the most excellent medical qualities of your Vegetable Compound. Mrs. Barringer was treated for several years for what the physicians called Leucorrhea and Prolapsus Uteri combined. I sent her to Richmond, Va., where she remained for six months under the treatment of an eminent Physician without any permanent benefit. She was induced to try your medicine and after a reasonable time commenced to improve and is now able to attend to her business and considers herself fully relieved." [General Barringer is the proprietor of the American Hotel, Winston, N. C., and is widely known. —Ed.]

A Man's Thanks.

A well known business man of Wilmington, N. C., writes: "It is with pleasure, that I write to expr ss to you my gratitude for the relief and benefit your Vegetable Compound has been to my Wife who has been troubled with ulceration. She has been under the treatment of the doctor for six years. Finally he said he could do nothing more for her, that she would die in 24 hours. Then I commenced using your Compound and now she can attend to her domestic affairs as well as she ever could." 6cs3

Contentment of the Poor Man.

There is lots of sympathy wasted in this world, but it shows a good heart to have it. As the burden is, so the strength shall be. If labor is rewarded it is all right. Rowland says he don't mind pulling fodder at all if it don't get wet and spoil in the curing. Contentment is what we all want, and the poor man can be as contented as the rich one if his labor is rewarded—a reasonable reward. Then it is willing labor. The watchman goes on duty willingly at midnight. The doctor hears the door-bell ring willingly when deep sleep has possessed him on a cold and stormy night. The night editor of the daily paper is a willing slave to the lamp. Every true man will screw his courage up to the sticking point if the reward is in sight.—Bill Arp in Atlanta Constitution.

"Boston, Every Inch of Him."

"Have you any ash trees on the common?" my fellow pilgrim asked a policeman who was walking along declining some Latin noun (the only thing a Boston policeman ever does decline). He stopped and looked at my friend with the utmost commiseration for his ignorance. "We have the 'Fraxinus Americana,'" he replied, waving his stick in the direction of a white ash not far away. Boston, every inch of him.—Boston Cor. Chicago News.

New York's Catholic Governor.

Many people are probably not aware of the fact that New York had an Irish Catholic governor in 1683, and for some years after. This was Thomas Dongon, the younger son of Sir John Dongan, an Irish baronet, and a nephew to Richard Talbott, earl of Tyrconnel.

Payable to His Grandson.

"Your article is accepted," wrote the magazine editor to the author.

"All right," wrote the author back; "make the check payable to my grandson. His name will be sent to you when he is born and christened."—Boston Courier.

It has been shown that the strength of the lion in the fore limbs is only 60.9 per cent. of that of the tiger, and the strength of his hind limbs only 65.9 per cent. Five men can easily hold down a lion, but nine men are required to control a tiger.—Arkansaw Traveler.

Their Only Medicine Chest.

Deerlodge, Montana, Dec. 16, 1885.

I have been using Brandreth's Pills for the last thirteen years, and though I have had nine children, I have never had a doctor in the house, except three times, when we had an epidemic of scarlet fever, which we soon banished by a vigorous use of Brandreth's Pills. I have used them by myself, two or three a night for a month, for liver complaint, dyspepsia, and constipation. In diarrhœa, cramps, wind colic, indigestion, one or two Brandreth's Pills fixed the children at once. A box of pills is all the medicine chest we require in the house. We use them for rheumatism, colds, catarrh, biliousness, and impure blood. They never have failed to cure all the above complaints in a very few days.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhœa, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle.

Scavengers of Importance.

Next to the bowels, or rather in conjunction with them, the kidneys and bladder are most important scavengers of the system. They purify the blood and carry off its refuse, preventing rheumatism, dropsy, Bright's disease and diabetes by their active cleansing work. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, when the kidneys evince a tendency to relax the activity of their important function, renews it, and thus averts renal maladies, the most difficult to cope with, and which superinduce a frightful loss of bodily tissue, stamina and flesh. When the renal organs exhibit the slightest symptoms of inaction, they should at once receive the needed stimulus from this safest, surest and pleasantest of diuretics. Chills and fever, dyspepsia, constipation, liver complaint and debility are also remedied by it.

Lord Lonsdale, the manager of Violet Cameron's theatrical tour in this country, sailed from New York for Liverpool Oct. 28th. There was a great banging of cannot and tooting of steam whistles in New York harbor that day, but it was not in Lord Lonsdale's honor.

A fine constitution may be ruined by simple neglect. Many bodily ills result from habitual constipation. There is no medicine equal to Ayer's Pills for restoring the system to natural and healthy action.

WHY IS IT

That rheumatism and neuralgia are so prevalent? This question has not been satisfactorily answered, but it is certain that these diseases are not only the most painful but among the most common, and some member of nearly every family in the land is the victim of one of these dread tormentors. Ladies seem to be peculiarly liable to neuralgic attacks, which, in the form of neuralgic headache, pain in the back, or nervous pains are of constant occurrence. Not until the discovery of Athlophoros had any remedy been found for either rheumatism, neuralgia or nervous headache, and they were generally conceded to be incurable, but Athlophoros has been proven to be not only a certain cure for these diseases, in all their varied forms, but a safe remedy. If, in the use of Athlophoros, the bowels are kept freely open, its success is certain, and to aid this, Athlophoros Pills are recommended, which, while providing the necessary cathartic, will be found to be a valuable aid to the action of the medicine. Athlophoros is no experiment, it has been tested and has proved its wonderful efficacy.

The Athlophoros Pills were originally prepared as a remedy for use in connection with Athlophoros, for rheumatism and neuralgia and kindred complaints. Used in connection with that remedy, they are a certain cure for either of these very common and distressing diseases. They have also been found to be an invaluable remedy for any and all diseases arising from vitiated blood or general debility. They are especially valuable for nervous debility, blood poisoning, dyspepsia, distress after eating, headache, constipation, loss of appetite, and all stomach or liver troubles. For diseases of women they are invaluable. These pills are perfectly harmless and may be safely used by adults or children.

Testimonials of those who have been cured will be sent free on application.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist, the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

A BOUTONNIERE.

A dewy fragrance drifts at times
Across my willing senses,
And leads the rillet of my rhymes
From city gutters, gusts and grimes
To lowland fields and fences.

I seem to see, as I inhale
This perfume faint and fleeting,
Green hillsides sloping to a vale,
Whose leafy shadows screen the pale
Wood-flowers from noonday's greeting.

I hear the song—the sweet heartache—
Of just a pair of thrushes;
And hear, half dreaming, half awake,
The ripple of a streamlet break
Their momentary hushes.

And why, dear heart, do I to-day,
Hemmed in by court and alley,
Seem lost in haunts of faun and fay?
Look! on my coat I've pinned your spray
Of lillies-of-the-valley.

CARELESSNESS IN BUILDING.

An Evil Which Pertains to the Age—Manufacture of Unsound Implements.

The United States engineers who are investigating the results of the earthquake in Charleston find that nine-tenths of the damaged brick buildings have been constructed of faulty material and with careless workmanship. One new school-house, costing $20,000, is utterly ruined for this reason. The same condition of things prevails in cities generally, and even where no fault can be found with the material it is too sparingly used, and the structures are necessarily of an unsubstantial character.

And it is not in the matter of houses alone that imperfect or stinted work is evinced. The evil is one which pertains to the age and particularly to this country. In the desire to place cheap goods of all kinds on the market the limit of true economy and prudence is left far behind. The clothing which the great majority of people buy is poor stuff. It looks well at first, but soon fades, comes to pieces, or wears out. It takes about three suits to do the legitimate service of one good one. A large amount of shabby gentility, so far as appearance go, is the consequence, and it contrasts unfavorably with the stout and appropriate garments used by the masses in Europe or by the people of a generation ago anywhere.

The unsound manufacture extends to wagons, agricultural implements, furniture and many other articles in common use. The frequent remark is that it is difficult to find any of these things which are up to the old standard of excellence. A lack of confidence in chairs is experienced by heavy people which did not exist some years ago, and good old housewives mournfully shake their heads at the degeneration of fabrics in which they are interested. Much of this imperfection is attributed to the increased use of machinery, but as machinery is not responsible for the kind of material used, the reason is not adequate. The truth is that there has been a wave towards flimsiness and apparent cheapness in houses, clothes, and pretty much everything else, and there is a fair hope that it has about reached its limit and that, under the influence of prevailing experiences, the current will set the other way, as it has already done in some particulars.—New York World.

The Big Cities of Scotland.

I am surprised at the many large cities which Scotland has, many of which are comparatively unknown in America. Glasgow is the largest. It has over 700,000 population and shows the most growth during late years, I am told, of any city in Great Britain. It is the third city in the kingdom, and ranks next to London and Manchester. Edinborough is about the size of Cleveland, and may be called the Boston of Scotland. It has 228,000 inhabitants and is one of the most beautiful cities in the world. Paisley, the seat of the shawl trade in former times, is a manufacturing center, within seven miles of Glasgow and its population is 60,000. Trains run into Glasgow every two minutes, and as the fare is only 6 pence it may be considered a suburb of Glasgow. Greenock, a little further down the new Clyde, has 60,000 people, and Aberdeen, a university town, has 105,000. Ayr, so noted in the poems of Burns, has 20,000, Dundee has 140,000, Leith 85,000, and it has twenty-eight other towns which range from 10,000 to 30,000 population. —Frank G. Carpenter's letter in Cleveland Leader.

The Digestibility of Fish.

Fish is generally regarded as a light, easily digested, and nutritious article of food, and as such is often prescribed for patients during convalescence. But every now and again the medical fraternity is chagrined at the sudden setback of such a patient, and occasionally a fatal relapse follows the "bit of fish" ordered as the proper thing for an invalid's meal. Dr. J. Stuart Nairne, surgeon to the Glasgow Samaritan Hospital for Women, calls attention to the fact—learned by him through some very distressing experiences—that it is the cooking and preparation of the fish, and not the fish itself, which is at fault. Boiled fish, fried fish, baked fish, are all inferior in digestibility to steamed fish. Dieting is the half and sometimes the best half of medical treatment, and medical men are but poor doctors if they are not good cooks. But not all good cooks know that a steamed fish may be safely and beneficially partaken of when if cooked in any other way it might be a seriously indigestible plat.—Chicago News.

It is said the Langtry garter is getting to be fashionable and much worn; how this may be, we do not know, but we do know that every one is using Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup for all catarrhal affections.

C. C. Gardiner of Biddeford, Me., G. H. Tuttle of Lebanon and Timothy Sullivan of Hanover, Dartmouth college seniors, were at work on the stone tower in the college park, Oct. 28th, when they fell thirty-five feet to the rocks below by the giving way of the staging, and Gardiner was seriously injured; Tuttle was terribly cut about the head, but it was hoped would recover; Sullivan was slightly bruised.

Wonderful

Old age was attained by Ann Wignell of Jamacia, who lived to be 146 years; by Joseph Rann, also of Jamaica, 140; by Elias Hoyle of England, 131, and William McKein of Virginia, United States, who was 130. Humanity will all reach these figures now that so pure and medicinal an article as the G. O. Taylor Bourbon and Rye Whiskey is bottled by C. H. Graves & Sons, Boston, and sold by every reliable grocer and druggist.

For sale by the bottle or case by John Leighton.

Fire in the Sugar River Mill Co.'s building at Claremont, occupied by a saw mill and toy manufactory, did damage to the amount of $2,500, Oct. 28th.

"100 Doses One Dollar" is true only of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and it is an unanswerable argument as to strength and economy.

The Concord People and Patriot having published what purported to be a copy of a letter alleged to have been written by Colonel Charles H. Sawyer, republican candidate for governor, to Colonel E. H. Gilman of Exeter, member of the last legislature, asking him to use his influence to defeat the ten-hour law which came up at that session, Colonel Gilman proclaims the published letter a forgery.

Cunard Steamship Pavonia Ashore.

The Cunard steamship Pavonia, 5500 tons register, 4600 horse-power, 440 feet long, four years old, and having over 400 passengers on board, during a thick fog on the night of Oct. 28th went ashore on High Pine ledge, about three miles north of the Gurnet lights, Duxbury bay, Mass. Several tugs were sent from Boston to her aid as soon as the mishap was known, and it was hoped she would be pulled off before high water at one o'clock P. M. on the 29th; otherwise her position would be very dangerous, as a heavy sea was getting up in the bay. The Pavon's was bound from Liverpool to Boston, and was due on the 28th; she was some twenty miles off her course when she went ashore.

The railroad accident at Rio, Wis., was an awful affair. The train was thrown into a quarry by an open switch, a passenger coach being telescoped at both ends, and with several other cars burned. One man, terribly burned and cut, escaped from the wreck, and two children were rescued; but all the others were either crushed or burned to death, the number of lives lost being now placed as high as twenty-six. Eleven charred corpses were taken from the ruins within a few hours of the time the wreck occurred.

About two months ago several parties in Nottingham, Epping and Northwood were defrauded by a confidence man through the means of what is known as the "flim-flam game" or "change racket." Complaint was made to Deputy Sheriff Watson of Nottingham, and a description of the two parties working the game given to him, he in turn informing Sheriff Kent. On the 6th of October a safe robbery took place at Kingston, and during the investigation of that case by the sheriff he learned that the flim-flam game had been played in that town, and comparing the descriptions of the parties at Nottingham with those at Kingston, was convinced that James Jenks, alias "Slim Jim," of Boston, was the principal, and another man his confederate. "Slim Jim" was indicted at the present term of the supreme court, and was brought from Boston by Sheriff Kent on Friday forenoon; he pleaded not guilty, and his case was continued to the next term, he going to jail in default of $500 bail. He is a good-looking fellow, and is reported to be an expert card and dice player.

Mr. George Pierce of Spruce creek, Kittery, who was injured while at work around the sawmill at the navy yard the first of this week by being struck in the head by gear which slipped from a log, died on Thursday. He was aged about fifty-four years, and leaves a widow and a large family of children.

Mrs. Helen Wingate of Exeter, (nee Locke, of this city,) is advertised to appear next Friday evening in Newmarket town hall as a soprano soloist in a concert given by the Park Concert Co. of Boston.

The Newmarket Advertiser of Oct. 30th says: "Last Saturday afternoon a school of mackerel were observed in the river back of No. 3 mill, and Elmer Tuttle succeeded in catching two, about eight to ten inches long. The oldest inhabitant does not remember of ever seeing a mackerel in our river before, although a few were once caught in the bay."

Caine, will resign the office, on account of intended future absence from the state. The evening will be devoted to exercises of a public character, and it is hoped that 300 delegates will be present to enjoy the ever-generous hospitality of the York Corner temperance people.

An Eliot correspondent says: "School in district No. 1 ended on Friday, Oct. 22d. The term has been short, and scholars few. It seems a waste of money, this paying a teacher $1 per day for teaching six or seven scholars, which has been the average attendance the past term here."

A Great Victory

A Terrible Case of Scrofula Cured by

Hood's Sarsaparilla

"In the winter of 1879 I was attacked with Scrofula in one of the most aggravating forms. At one time I had no less than thirteen large abscesses over and around my neck and throat, continually exuding an offensive mass of bloody matter disgusting to behold, and almost intolerable to endure. It is impossible to fully describe my sufferings, as the case was complicated with Chronic Catarrh. After three years of misery, having been treated by three physicians, I was worse than ever. Finally, on the recommendation of W. J. Huntley, druggist, of Lockport, I was induced to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. And now, after having taken twelve bottles, within the last twelve months, the scrofulous eruptions have entirely ceased, and the abscesses have all disappeared, except the unsightly scars, which are daily becoming smaller by degrees, and beautifully less. I do not know what it may have done for others, but I do know that in my case, Hood's Sarsaparilla has proved an effective specific indeed. As an evidence of my gratitude I send these facts unsolicited, and I am ready to verify the authenticity of this cure, by personal correspondence with any one who doubts it." CHARLES A. ROBERTS, East Wilson, N. Y.

This statement is confirmed by W. J. Huntley, druggist, of Lockport, N. Y., who calls the cure a great victory for Hood's Sarsaparilla. Send for book giving statements of many cures.

Be Warned

in time. Kidney diseases may be prevented by purifying, renewing, and invigorating the blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. When, through debility, the action of the kidneys is perverted, these organs rob the blood of its needed constituent, albumen, which is passed off in the urine, while worn out matter, which they should carry off from the blood, is allowed to remain. By the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the kidneys are restored to proper action, and Albuminuria, or

Bright's Disease

is prevented. Ayer's Sarsaparilla also prevents inflammation of the kidneys, and other disorders of these organs. Mrs. Jas. W. Weld, Forest Hill st., Jamaica Plain, Mass., writes: "I have had a complication of diseases, but my greatest trouble has been with my kidneys. Four bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla made me feel like a new person; as well and strong as ever." W. M. McDonald, 46 Summer st., Boston, Mass., had been troubled for years with Kidney Complaint. By the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, he not only the disease from assuming a fatal form, but was restored to perfect health. John McLellan, cor. Bridge and Third sts., Lowell, Mass., writes: "For several years I suffered from Dyspepsia and Kidney Complaint, the latter being so severe at times that I could scarcely attend to my work. My appetite was poor, and I was much emaciated; but by using my appetite and digestion improved, and my health has been perfectly restored."

Prevented

NOTICE TO DOG OWNERS.

The attention of dog owners is called to the following extracts from the General Laws and City Ordinances:

GENERAL LAWS OF NEW HAMPSHIRE, CHAP. 115.

SECT. 7. No person shall be liable by law for killing any dog which shall be found not having about his neck a collar of brass, tin, or leather, with the name of the owner carved or engraved thereon.

SECT. 8. Any town may make by-laws for licensing, regulating, or restraining dogs as they shall deem expedient, and may affix penalties for the violation thereof not exceeding five dollars; and the sum to be paid for a license shall not be less than two dollars on male dogs and five dollars on female dogs.

CITY ORDINANCE, CHAP. 16.

SEC. 1. No dog shall be permitted to go at large or loose in this city until the owner or keeper of such dog, or the head of the family, or the keeper of the house or place where such dog is kept or harbored, shall have procured from the city marshal a license for such dog.

SEC. 2. The city marshal shall grant a license to any citizen for his dog on the payment of two dollars for a male dog, and five dollars for a female dog, which license shall expire on the first day of July annually.

SEC. 4. The person named in each license so granted shall cause his name and the number of the license to be distinctly marked on a collar which shall be constantly kept about the neck of the dog so licensed, and no dog shall be considered so licensed unless this requisition shall be complied with.

SEC. 5. It shall be the duty of the city marshal to cause all dogs to be killed which shall be found at large or loose within the limits of a collar marked as required in section 4, and cause all dogs so killed to be buried, and any person may lawfully kill any dog found within the limits of this city going at large contrary to the provisions of this chapter.

SEC. 6. In case any dog not licensed shall be provided wi h a collar marked as required in this ordinance, the owner or keeper thereof or the head of the family or keeper of the house or place where such dog is kept or harbored, shall upon conviction thereof be fined five dollars.

Notice is hereby given that the law will be strictly enforced.

WHEELER'S IDEAL MINSTRELS.

Of this company, advertised to appear at Music hall this evening, the Taunton Enterprise says: "It is an excellent company, and it is refreshing to have a performance wholly devoid of old, worn-out business, and the large audience was not slow in showing their appreciation." The Providence Star says "it is one of the strongest minstrel shows on the road this season; we wish them success, for they certainly deserve it." And the Kennebec Journal: "There was no end to funny features and laughter provoking acts, and no minstrel company that has been seen here of late gave better satisfaction. The artists were all first-class, skilled in presenting that which goes to make up a good minstrel performance. The orchestra made an excellent impression." Tickets at Goodrich's; see advertisement.

SUPREME COURT.

OCTOBER TERM, Clark J.

FRIDAY, 27th.—James Jenks of Boston, indicted for robbery in Kingston, pleaded not guilty, and was held in $500 for trial at the next term of the court, the jury having been dismissed for the term.

Case James Quinn vs. city of Portsmouth, case to recover salary alleged to be due for services as watchman. Exceptions taken by counsel for city, and case sent to the law term.

REPUBLICAN NOMINATIONS.

The republicans of ward two held their caucus on Friday evening, and the following candidates were nominated:

Representatives, William G. Billings, William O. Sides, Lewis E. Smith;

Selectmen, James L. Parker, Henry O. Batten, Albert E. Rand;

Inspectors of Checklists, Horace A. Martin, Daniel L. Randall;

Moderator, Charles E. Batchelder;

Ward Clerk, Samuel H. Kingsbury.

The following ward committee was chosen for the ensuing year:

Newton Johnson, Robert C. Sides, Jos. A. Randall, William O. Sides, George Frank Randall, Henry O. Batten, H. W. Oxford, Daniel L. Randall, Warren P. Webster, William G. Billings, Samuel H. Kingsbury, Daniel J. Vaughan, A. C. Anderson, James L. Parker, F. J. Bonney, Horace A. Martin.

THE SOUTH POND.

It is well that the attention of the community has been recently called by the local press to the treatment which the south pond is receiving at the hands of the city. The many remonstrances which have been printed against the so-called "improvement" contemplated, in the form of a road through the pond, to Langdon park, at the cost of its conversion into a foul and offensive ditch, have certainly been made none too soon, for further delay would have rendered the protests too late to have been effective. It is the testimony of candid and unprejudiced persons, who are qualified by knowledge of what they affirm, to speak in the matter, that the pond has been already seriously damaged. The fifty feet or so of the unsightly embankment, which constitutes the commencement of the "causeway," ought certainly to be removed in deference to the wish that has received such general expression.

And here it is proper to state what is only the simple fact, that if the present custom of filling out into the pond along the line of the marginal road be continued, its utter ruin is merely a question of time. When the plan for the construction of the marginal road received general approval, upon its adoption, some years ago, it was supposed by the public that the process of filling along the margin of the pond was to be confined to the dimensions originally prescribed by the city as the width of the roadway, and with which understanding the amount of land deemed necessary to complete its proportions was purchased from the abutors by the city authorities.

It was not understood that the banks of the pond were to be curtailed farther than was necessary to obtain that portion of the width of the road which was to be constructed by filling, while the remaining water surface was to be kept intact. Any one wishing to assure himself of the wisdom of thus preserving the form of this beautiful body of water, has but to refer to the excellent map of this city, published about 1850, where it will be seen that the irregular sweep of the south pond constitues one of its most pleasing features. But in the plan which appears to have been adopted the past year of indiscriminate filling, the former judicious policy of adherence to the line of the marginal road, within the prescribed limits, has been abandoned, while the manner in which refuse has been heaped along the edge of the roadway appears to indicate that the place has been fixed upon as a general dumping-ground, with the idea of eventually filling in the entire area.

The most flagrant instance of this insidious encroachment upon the pond appears along that portion of its margin reaching from Edward to Rogers streets. Here the original outlines have not only been materially changed, but the graceful, natural curve, which formerly existed, is in process of rapid and complete obliteration. The fact may not be realized by our citizens, but nothing is more certain than the eventful ruin of this pond, should the present plan of filling at random upon its borders be continued, a proceeding sure to find its natural sequence in the permanent disfigurement of what is now an attractive feature of our city. A walk along the marginal roadway will enable any one interested in the matter to fully appreciate this embryo Puddle Dock, now in process of formation.

OBSERVER.

"DAD'S GIRL."

On Monday evening next, at Music hall, will appear as "Dad's Girl" a young lady well known in this city, and who this week is playing at the Bijou theatre in Boston: The Traveller says:

"Dad's Girl," in the person of Miss Blanche Sherwood, artlessly smiled and sang herself into the hearts of good-sized audiences at the Bijou, Monday afternoon and evening. The play in which this talented and unaffected little actress assumes the title role has been seen at this theatre before, although this is the first opportunity the Boston public has had of witnessing Miss Sherwood in it. The liberal applause awarded by her audience told the story of her success as "Dad's Girl." Her interpretation of the uncultured, but bright, affectionate and noble girl, left nothing to be desired, and her acting and singing alike demonstrated her the mistress of her part. The cast supporting her was a fairly good one as a whole, with one or two particularly bright features. The beautiful scene representing Nantasket beach by moonlight evoked deserved applause.

Reserved seats can now be secured at Goodrich's.

THE NOVEMBER METEORS.

We take the following statement concerning the meteor-showers from the "Planets in November," the monthly record of planetary movements contributed to the Providence Journal by Miss Maria Mitchell, the eminent professor of astronomy at Vassar college:

One of the marked features of the month is the recurrence of the November meteors. The November meteor-zone is a gigantic ellipse peopled with countless myriads of tiny meteors. Its perihelion rests on the earth's orbit, its aphelion being beyond the orbit of Uranus. Its boundaries are therefore entirely within the solar system, and it probably owes its presence within the solar borders to the attraction of the planet Uranus, who captured a comet when it came too near his mighty mass and changed its orbit into an ellipse. The comet in disintegrating is being transformed into swarms of particles following in the train of the comet, and forming the meteoric showers. On the 14th of November the earth plunges through this meteor-zone, the meteors and the earth moving with immense velocity and in different directions. The meteors come full tilt upon the earth's atmosphere, are inflamed by the concussion and descend in the form of falling stars. Comet I, 1866, is the name of the imprisoned comet, and the maximum show occurs once in thirty-three years, for then when the comet comes round the swarming particles are thicker than leaves in Vallambrosa, and there is a veritable rain of falling stars. The year 1899 will usher in the next grand exhibition, and until that time observers must be contented with sometimes a few and sometimes many meteors. There is always an excitement in observing a fall of meteors, for one never knows what new and complicated wonders may arise to reward the patient watcher. The November meteors are known as Leonids, for their radiant point is in the constellation Leo. The best time to look for them is on the nights of the 13th, 14th and 15th, about three o'clock in the morning, when Leo is well up in the east. The moon, two days after the full, will interfere with the exhibition. The Bielan meteors have their anniversary on the 27th. They are called Andromids, as their radiant point is in the constellation Andromeda. There was a superb show of Bielan meteors last year, and as this is one of the off-years, not much is anticipated, but it is well for students of the stars to be on the lookout.

Miss Ella R. Knowlton of South Berwick, daughter of Mr. Jeremiah S. Knowlton, was on Wednesday, Oct. 27th, united in marriage with Mr. Charles Plummer of Rollinsford, N. H., at the residence of her father, by Rev. Mr. Spaulding, pastor of the Congregational church in South Berwick. The bride is an accomplished musician and teacher; was for some time a valued instructor in Berwick academy and the Rollinsford high school, and up to the time of her marriage was a prominent member of one of the church choirs of the town.

Mr. Hiram Chase, farmer, of Creek road, has seven wells on his place. Every one of them has dried up, and he is compelled to drive his stock a long distance for water, and to haul water a long way in casks for culinary and other domestic uses.

Boucle and Astrachan for outside garments, and Astrachan for dress trimmings, are shown in all the colors by Lewis E. Staples at No. 7 Market street.

Suffering Womanhood.

Too much effort cannot be made to bring to the attention of suffering womanhood the great value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as a remedy for the diseases of women: Such an one is the wife of General Barringer of Winston, N. C., and we quote from the General's letter as follows: "Dear Mrs. Pinkham: Please allow me to add my testimony to the most excellent medicinal qualities of your Vegetable Compound. Mrs Barringer was treated for several years for what the physicians called Leucorrhea and Prolapsus Uteri combined. I sent her to Richmond, Va., where she remained for six months under the treatment of an eminent Physician without any permanent benefit. She was induced to try your medicine and after a reasonable time commenced to improve and is now able to attend to her business and considers herself fully relieved." [General Barringer is the proprietor of the American Hotel, Winston, N. C., and is widely known —Ed.]

A Man's Thanks.

A well known business man of Wilmington, N. C., writes: "It is with pleasure, that I write to exp ar s to you my gratitude for the relief and benefit your Vegetable Compound has been to my Wife who has been troubled with ulceration. She has been under the treatment of the doctor for six years. Finally he said he could do nothing more for her, that she would die in 24 hours. Then I commenced using your Compound and now she can attend to her domestic affairs as well as she ever could." oct5

Overwork in Public Schools.

The proper time to consider the question of overwork in schools is at the beginning of the term, when the evil can be prevented, and not, as is usually done, at its end, when the manifest bad effects give rise to pointless moralizing.

School teachers generally will not admit that the ordinary public school course causes overwork in the pupils. But the pale faces, emaciated forms, headaches and bad nervous conditions observable in the children at the end of the school year show plainly that something is wrong. It may be that the bad air of the school-rooms or improper diet and care at home contribute to produce the fagged-out appearance, but there can be little doubt that the high-pressure system of head-cramming is responsible for a large share of the bad results.

One thing is surely bad—the subjecting of all children, the weak with the robust, the dull with the bright, to the same iron-bound system and course of study. The instruction should in some way be better adapted both to the individual needs and the capacity of the scholars. The rivalry, the worry and suspense in contests for promotion, under an absurd system of marks, should be abolished. Parents on their part should see to it that their children get plenty of sleep and outdoor play, and that the older girls avoid social dissipation. Study alone hurts very few children. It is the things superadded to necessary study, or bad conditions for studying that do the most of the mischief.—New York World.

The Way of the Wildes.

Lady Wilde receives her guests seated upon a throne, with Oscar at her right hand and Willie on her left. Every now and then, in an imploring tone, Willie will address his mother, "Mother, do you love me?" Then Oscar takes up the strain, "Mother, do you love your Oscar?" Then they will shake hands all round.—New York Graphic.

Mr. E. C. Stedman writes that the works of Thackeray, not excepting Henry Esmond, are as realistic as those of Trollope, or of the most uncompromising Zolaites. "They are more so, because more elevated, and more intense in their exquisite portrayal of life's varied forms."—Frank Leslie's.

The Post Repeats the Lie.

The Boston Post of Saturday republished the forged letter from Col. Charles H. Sawyer to E. H. Gilman of Exeter, first printed by the Concord People & Patriot, and fully exploded thirty-six hours before the Post repeated it. This democratic trick was sprung on the public a little too early; it should have been held back by the People & Patriot until the day before election, when there would not have been time to effectively expose the forgery. But the Post evidently considers the lie a good enough Morgan till after election.

Scavengers of Importance.

Next to the bowels, or rather in conjunction with them, the kidneys and bladder are most important scavengers of the system. They purify the blood and carry off its refuse, preventing rheumatism, dropsy, Bright's disease and diabetes by their active cleansing work. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, when the kidneys evince a tendency to relax the activity of their important function, renews it, and thus averts renal maladies, the most difficult to cope with, and which superinduce a frightful loss of bodily tissue, stamina and flesh. When the renal organs exhibit the slightest symptoms of inaction, they should at once receive the needed stimulus from this safest, surest and pleasantest of diuretics. Chills and fever, dyspepsia, constipation, liver complaint and debility are also remedied by it.

ANOTHER SUDDEN DEATH.

Hardly a week passes without the mention by the newspapers of sudden deaths, and of late the alarming frequency of the statement that death was caused by rheumatism or neuralgia of the heart cannot fail to have been noticed. In all probability many deaths attributed to heart disease are caused by these terrible diseases, which are far more dangerous than is generally considered. Is there any positive cure? The best answer to such a question is given by those who have been cured by the use of Athlophoros.

Dover, N. H., March 23, 1886.

I have for years suffered with muscular rheumatism in back of my head, neck and arms; the pain was intense and seemed to grow steadily worse. I used two bottles of Athlophoros and it brought relief almost immediately. I believe Athlophoros to be a pure, honest medicine, and there is no question it will certainly cure rheumatism.
MRS. F. KENNEDY, Orchard Street.

Chicopee, Mass., May 23, 1886.

I have suffered for over five years with muscular rheumatism, being treated by several physicians, besides taking numberless remedies; the doctors could not cure me and the different medicines gave me no relief. There was one remedy I had not tried—Athlophoros. I bought three bottles of it, taking them according to directions. I commenced at night before retiring. The next morning, after a good night's rest, I was perfectly free from pain. My rheumatism went and has never returned. Athlophoros effected a cure in my obstinate case and I believe it will in that of any one suffering with rheumatism or neuralgia.

AFTER THE BATTLE OF SHILOH.

Death in the Hospital Steamboats—The Confederate Dead—An Incident.

The morning of April 8, 1862, broke clear and crisp over the tired remnants of both armies. The Confederates had the broad rolling country from Shiloh Church to Corinth to lay down their wounded upon—to bury their dead. The Union army had not a hospital on land on the first or second day of the battle, excepting the few temporary ones for surgical purposes in what has been elegantly described as "the pocket between the river and an impassible creek." The Union dead lay where they fell until the 8th. The Confederates were promptly removed or buried. Few of them were, or their wounded, encountered when we advanced and retook our old camps during the afternoon of the 8th of April.

The mortality in the open air was great; the death-list in the hospital steamboats was far greater. Soon as a poor, mutilated fellow died from loss of blood or exhaustion on board he was wrapped up in a blanket and carried ashore, up the steep, slippery bluff, to be buried as soon as convenient. It was not an uncommon sight to see a wounded soldier, with his garments stained with blood, borne along in the arms of loving comrades, or taken from the ambulance at the landing, and there to encounter, while going down the bluff, the corpse of a comrade ascending the same, going to his shroudless, coffinless grave. Arriving at the boat, he was placed on one of the decks that had a vacant place. Should he happen at one without room he was carried to another. There his comrades' duty ended. The ambulance when it delivered its precious but sorrowful load turned to the south and brought again and again to the landing its load of broken-limbed, bleeding Union soldiers.

Visiting the steamboat that had carried us from St. Louis only a few days before, to seek dear friends and comrades on this day, we were amazed to find the unfortunates lying along the main saloon floor and stretched out upon the blood-stained decks in a space of six inches or so between the heads of the two rows, one on the port side, the other on the starboard, and hardly any more space between them literally. The odor was sickening—indescribable. We had to retire to the open air. The doctors, however, toiled away at their sacred but painful tasks. Many of them were stained with blood, brave human gore, from the knee to the breast, while both arms were purple with the wine of life. Several of them intended to carry away as souvenirs the balls extracted from the limbs of the wounded, but they found that the number increased so rapidly that they were obliged to throw them away. Few of them retained any except those taken from general officers or personal friends. Thus were the wounded of the Union army "cabin'd, cribb'd, confin'd," with inadequate hospital supplies, few surgeons, and no nurses, on the day after the great conflict. This was the cause of the fearful mortality on board the steamboats, the greatest of all in proportion to numbers at the battle of Shiloh.

About noon our first camp over the bluff was deserted. With the remnant of our equipage we set out for the front, as we did on Sunday, but this time our ranks were thin, indeed, and at the first step forward sad recollections of the past two days crowded upon our minds. On our way we found a dozen or so of the Confederate dead some distance south of the famous peach orchard, lying within from two to five feet of each other. A shell from one of the gunboats had killed them. The sight was heart-rending. They were torn to pieces—headless, disemboweled, armless, legless. They had been there from Sunday evening to this Tuesday noon. Gently the broken forms were gathered together and buried. One young fellow I remember well. His beardless face, fine under-clothing and small white hands indicated that he was not much used to the vigorous vicissitudes of life or long a soldier in the Confederate service. I shall never forget the harrowing spectacle; it deeply impressed me who had the misfortune to see it; but it was only war.

When we arrived at our camp we found that the Confederates had, in our absence, pitched some of our tents which we left boxed up when we precipitately "fell back" on Sunday morning. Entering one of the tents on our arrival we found half a dozen or so of the southern wounded. One or them was from Alabama. He fixedly gazed at us as we approached him. His wan, wasted features and shock head were strange contrasts. His furred lips and weak voice told of a night in the vicinage of the dark valley of death and the indescribable sufferings of a wounded human being upon the battle-field perhaps during the preceding twenty-four hours. Bending down to him we softly and fraternally inquired where he was wounded. He imploringly turned his face toward us and in a low tone, with his brown, bare arm extended, begged, "Don't kill me; you won't kill me?"

Some of the soldiers good-naturedly began to laugh. They were chided for their levity and dismissed; the poor wounded were assured that no one would touch them but with the broad hand of kindness.—Capt. R. F. Fernett, Ex-U. S. Consul, in Philadelphia Times.

The Election.

To-morrow there will be elected in this state a governor, council, state senate and house of representatives; two members of the national Congress; county officers; and selectmen, moderators and clerks for the several towns and wards of cities throughout the state. That the result of the voting will be a republican victory we have no doubt; the governor, two congressmen, four of the five councillors, and a majority of the members of both house and senate, (assuring the choice of a republican United States senator,) will be elected by the republicans, notwithstanding the regular ante-election boasting of the democrats, and their skillful manipulation of third-party schemes.

We wish to impress upon the republicans of Portsmouth the importance of the early recording of their votes in favor of the nominees of the party. With the navy yard, the breweries and other important industrial institutions of the city which are used as political machines, against them, they may not be able to make as good a showing as they would like, or as they would make were voting untrammelled; but they can give the ticket such support as will count appreciably on the general result.

Two of the candidates on the county ticket are selected from this city; John H. Kent for sheriff, and Newton Johnston for county commissioner. Sheriff Kent is unquestionably the ablest detective officer who has filled the office during the last fifty years; and during Commissioner Johnston's incumbency the county debt has been cut down so much that it is only a question of months when it will be extinguished altogether, while the accommodations at the county farm have yearly been increased, and the county poor have been better cared for with each successive year. We have nothing to say against the gentlemen proposed as their successors, either as men or citizens; but they totally lack the experience of the republican candidates, in positions where experience is of the utmost value.

George W. Weston and Edwin G. Eastman, of Exeter, the republican candidates for register of deeds and county solicitor, have proved by service their entire fitness for the positions for which they are renominated; and there is, to say the least, no presumptive evidence of superior ability on the part of their democratic competitors, to justify any republican in voting for the latter.

Mr. Marcus M. Collis, the republican candidate for state senator from the Portsmouth district, needs no endorsement from us of his eminent fitness for the position. A successful business man, a pleasing and ready speaker, a man who puts all his energies into anything he undertakes, he will, if elected, prove an industrious and capable senator.

The republican ticket—city, county, congressional and state—is entirely deserving of the full party support; many of its candidates are experienced in the duties of the offices for which they are nominated, and all of them are clean and honorable men; and the republicans of Portsmouth should come out to-morrow and help make up a vote of which they will feel proud the next day.

He Acted Promptly Once.

The charge that Secretary Bayard has not either acted at all or has acted dilatorily all through the fishery dispute, is unjust. When an American fishing captain hoisted on an American vessel the American flag, and that flag was hauled down under circumstances of studied insult by a petty Canadian official, Sec. Bayard made such haste to send to the Canadian rulers a letter expressing his "regrets" that the Yankee skipper should have dared to hoist the American flag, that the letter was received by the Dominion cabinet in time to prevent the sending off by them of two letters—one to our government, apologizing for the gross insult to our flag, and the other to Bully Quigley of the "Terror," warning him to be a little more careful how he insulted the stars and the stripes in the future. Those letters were thrown into the waste basket as soon as Bayard's apology for the American fishing skipper's hoisting of the flag was received.

The fishermen of this congressional district are asked to endorse by their votes to-morrow for Rev. L. F. McKinney, the "fishery policy" of the administration.

Steamship Pavonia Disaster.

The Cunard steamship Pavonia, which ran on High Pine ledge, near Plymouth, Mass., about nine o'clock A. M. on Friday morning last, was going slow when she struck, and came off at high water, about one o'clock P. M., by the work of her own engines. There was a hole in her bow, and one or more of her compartments filled with water, but she steamed to Boston and anchored Friday evening about three miles below Boston light. Most of the saloon passengers were taken to Boston on a pilot boat, but nearly four hundred persons remained on board; and as the wind and sea kept increasing, the steamship settled lower and lower, her bow going down until her screw and rudder were out of water. As it was evident she could not keep afloat till morning the anchor chain was slipped, and the big towboat Underwriter, with a hawser from the Pavonia's stern, towed her stern foremost to a point near Rainsford's island, where she was beached about one o'clock Saturday morning, being steered in through the passage by the tugs Elsie and Confidence, which had hawsers from her quarters. The passengers were taken to Boston by the health boat Vigilant, arriving about two o'clock Saturday morning. The Pavonia filled with the flood tide Saturday forenoon, and remained in a bad position Saturday night.

Four years ago Edson H. Patch of Greenfield lost a pocketbook containing a $20 bill. This fall, while picking apples, he found it under a tree from which apples had been gathered each year. The bill could not be removed from the pocketbook without destroying it, and the whole was sent to Washington for redemption.

☞ Prices: 25, 50 and 75 Cents.

NOTE. Every lady purchasing reserved seats will be presented with an elegant souvenir photograph of Miss Goodwin in one of her 14 changes.

Seats on sale at Goodrich's, Tuesday morning, Nov. 2d.

Mr. William S. Hazel, the democratic candidate for representative from ward four, has been for ten or fifteen years past the efficient and obliging clerk of that ward. If we have got to have a democratic representative from ward four,—and we probably have, as usual,—no better selection could be made by our democratic brethren of the south end. We shall depend upon him for a prompt return of the result of the voting in his ward on Tuesday, as we long have done without ever being disappointed, though the returns he has brought in have usually been very shocking from a political point of view.

Mrs. Charles Plummer of Rollinsford, N. H., nee Knowlton, who was married Oct. 27th at her former home in South Berwick, was presented with a solid silver tea service and a one thousand dollar bond as a wedding gift by her father, Jeremiah H. Knowlton, Esq.

Mr. Stephen Grant and wife of Limerick will celebrate the 25th anniversary of their marriage by a gathering of friends at their home on Wednesday, Nov. 10th.

The Berean Sunday association had a meeting at York the first part of last week, which was well attended. The association has just been organized, and comprises all the evangelical churches, Sunday schools and ministers of Kittery, Eliot, York and Wells. The next meeting will be held in December, with the Methodist church of East Eliot.

Rheumatism

It is an established fact that Hood's Sarsaparilla has proven an invaluable remedy in many severe cases of rheumatism, effecting remarkable cures by its powerful action in correcting the acidity of the blood, which is the cause of the disease, and purifying and enriching the vital fluid.

It is certainly fair to assume that what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for others it will do for you. Therefore, if you suffer the pains and aches of rheumatism, give this potent remedy a fair trial.

A Positive Cure.

"I was troubled very much with rheumatism in my hips, ankles, and wrists. I could hardly walk, and was confined to my bed a good deal of the time. Being recommended to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, I took four bottles and am perfectly well. I cheerfully recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla as one of the best blood purifiers in the world." W. F. WOOD, Bloomington, Ill.

For Twenty Years

I have been afflicted with rheumatism. Before 1883 I found no relief, but grew worse. I then began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and it did me more good than all the other medicine I ever had." H. T. BALCOM, Shirley, Mass.

"I suffered from what the doctors called muscular rheumatism. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and am entirely cured." J. V. A. PROUDFOOT, letter carrier, Chicago, Ill.

We shall be glad to send, free of charge, to all who may desire, a book containing many additional statements of cures by

in time. Kidney diseases may be prevented by purifying, renewing, and invigorating the blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. When, through debility, the action of the kidneys is perverted, these organs rob the blood of its needed constituent, albumen, which is passed off in the urine, while worn out matter, which they should carry off from the blood, is allowed to remain. By the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the kidneys are restored to proper action, and Albuminuria, or

Bright's Disease

is prevented. Ayer's Sarsaparilla also prevents inflammation of the kidneys, and other disorders of these organs. Mrs. Jas. W. Weld, Forest Hill st., Jamaica Plain, Mass., writes: "I have had a complication of diseases, but my greatest trouble has been with my kidneys. Four bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla made me feel like a new person; as well and strong as ever." W. M. McDonald, 46 Summer st., Boston, Mass., had been troubled for years with Kidney Complaint. By the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, he not only the disease from assuming a fatal form, but was restored to perfect health. John McLellan, cor. Bridge and Third sts., Lowell, Mass., writes: "For several years I suffered from Dyspepsia and Kidney Complaint, the latter being so severe at times that I could scarcely attend to my work. My appetite was poor, and I was much emaciated; but by using my appetite and digestion improved, and my health has been perfectly restored."

Prevented

AYER'S

INVESTMENTS.

I am prepared to furnish the most desirable investments in County Bonds and Guaranteed Farm Mortgages, paying 6 and 7 per cent semi-annually. On Farm Mortgages, only from 25 to 33 per cent of the actual cash value of the property is loaned, and the title, location, quality of land and future prospects of the property are personally looked up. Farm Loans are, when negotiated by experienced and responsible parties, the most profitable security offered, especially for those having small sums to invest from time to time. The Loans I offer are First-Class in every respect. Principal and interest when due, paid here without expense to the holder.

I have these Loans in sums from $300 to $5,000.

SUPREME COURT.

OCTOBER TERM, Clark J.

SATURDAY, 29th.—Charles H. Cleaves vs. Charles M. Laighton. Plaintiff is a fish dealer in Rockport, and sold defendant 200 pounds selected halibut at ten cents a pound. Defence was that the halibut was not suited to the trade, and not what was ordered. The plaintiff was notified to take it back. Plff. alleged that part of the fish was sold by Laighton. The amount claimed was something over twenty-three dollars, including interest. The verdict was for $17.22. Page for plff.; Hackett for deft.

In the case of Mrs. B. W. Hoyt vs. the Epping Savings bank, to recover money alleged to be on deposit there, the court found for the defendant.

New Hampshire National bank against Christine A. Gerrish, action to foreclose a mortgage of certain estate on Middle street. The property was sold by the present treasurer of the Portsmouth Savings bank under a power of sale mortgage constituting the then treasurer of the savings bank, attorney. The defendant contended that this was not a power which authorized the successor of the late treasurer to make the sale indicated, and that a power of sale mortgage could not be enforced in this state. The plaintiff claims under a conveyance in May last from the Portsmouth Savings bank, which held the first mortgage of $8000, and also a title under the collector of taxes, which sale it was contended was on account of personal estate taxed to Mr. H. F. Gerrish, and who had deceased before the sale by the collector. The case will go to the law term if the parties desire it on further examination. Frink for bank; Page for Gerrish.

At 4:30 P. M. the court adjourned without day.

BOUND TO FILL IT.

We published in the Chronicle of Saturday morning a very temperately expressed communication in opposition to the destruction of the south pond by filling it with rubbish. The Times makes some extracts therefrom, and comments as follows:

Beautiful mud hole and graceful fiddle sticks! We would advise the writer of the above to join a circus as boss clown, or let himself out as an art critic for a dime museum. In either capacity we think he he would do well, if we are to judge of his capabilities from the above.

The Times editor's idea of argument, wit, and gentlemanly courtesy, may be judged from the above. He further says:

We can see nothing beautiful in the south pond—a veritable mud hole, reeking with filth from house and street sewers, and in the summer time growing full of slimy water grass.

As the Times has from the first in this matter spoken as one having authority as the organ of the city government, it is reasonable to assume that this comment may be an official intimation that the pond is to be filled, whether the citizens approve it or not.

If the pond is such a nuisance—so filthy from house and street sewers emptying into it, the proper way to obviate the trouble is to construct an intercepting sewer to convey the waste matter to the river, the same as has been done on the other side of the city, and at much less than half the cost of that one. Filling the pond would merely transfer the nuisance from one point to another; and such a sewer will have to be built in the end, whether the pond is previously destroyed or not.

ORDINATION SERVICES.

The formal ordination to the Christian ministry of Mr. Lee H. Fisher, and his installation as pastor of the Universalist church, will take place on Thursday afternoon and evening, Nov. 4th. In the afternoon there will be an address by Rev. C. B. Lynn of College Hill, on "The value of public worship." At six o'clock a supper will be served in the vestry; and at 7:30 o'clock the regular ordaining and installing services will commence in the church, under the conduct of Mr. Fisher's classmates, — the clas of '86, Tufts divinity school. The order of exercises is to be as follows:

Organ voluntary, Miss Fanny Tilton, organist.
Anthem, Choir.
Psalm, Rev. J. W. Carney.
Invocation, Rev. E. B. Barber.
Hymn, Choir.
Sermon, Rev. C. W. Biddle, D. D., of North Cambridge, Mass.
Anthem, Choir.
Prayer of Ordination, Rev. Charles Leonard, D. D.
Response, Choir.
Charge and Delivery of Scripture, Rev. A. J. Patterson, D. D., of Boston Highlands.
Right Hand of Fellowship, Rev. James Eastwood.
Charge to Parish, Rev. J. S. Cutler.
Ordination Hymn, Rev. A. F. Walch.
Benediction, Rev. Lee H Fisher.

"DAD'S GIRL."

The cosy little Bijou theatre was filled last evening. The attraction offered by the live and enterprising managers of this popular resort for the delectation of its patrons was that excellent and well known New England comedy-drama, "Dad's Girl." Once before this piece had an exceedingly prosperous run at the same house, and there can be no doubt that the present engagement will prove a brilliant and successful one. Miss Blanche Sherwood, a bright little lady, of whom Boston theatre-goers must cherish many pleasant recollections, carried off the honors of the evening. Throughout the entire performance, whether in the effervescence of comedy or the depths of pathos, she carried with her the sympathy of her audience, and every effort met with a hearty response from them. The mounting of the piece was attractive and appropriate. The third act, representing Nantasket beach by electric light, was quite realistic in effect, and brought forth expressions of hearty appreciation. —Boston Globe, Oct. 26th,

Miss Sherwood appeared on Music hall stage when not more than seven or eight years old, as "Topsy" in Uncle Tom's Cabin, and took her part well—not merely well for a child, but as well as we ever saw it taken by any one. There will no doubt be much interest to see her in this new role, in which she has so pleased the Boston critics. At Music hall this (Monday) evening; tickets on sale at Goodrich's.

MYRA GOODWIN AS "SIS."

Miss Myra Goodwin, who is advertised to appear at Music hall on Thursday evening, Nov. 4th, as "Sis" in Edward E. Kidder's new comedy-drama of that name, has recently been playing in the Bijou theatre at Boston, and won high praise from the papers of the city. The Post said "the audience followed with the closest interest the rapid alterations of the emotional and ridiculous extremes which the author has worked into his piece on a plan decidedly freakish. There was enough of a plot, however, to hold the attention, and toward the close it even became exciting; but what was most fascinating in the piece was offered parenthetically as it were. There is nothing in it anywhere to offend the most delicate sense of humor and propriety, and the fun is of a rollicking, innocent kind. Miss Goodwin, the talented young soubrette, acts, sings and dances superbly, and she has a very strong support. The piece is short, and runs smoothly.

The Haverhill (Mass.) Bulletin speaks the exact truth in the following paragraph in regard to Col. J. Horace Kent of this city, the republican candidate for sheriff. It says: "J. Horace Kent of Portsmouth, the republican candidate for sheriff of Rockingham county, is a veteran in the service. Where is the man within a radius of 200 miles of Portsmouth, who has not heard of Sheriff Kent? No sooner is an offence committed, or does a criminal escape, than Horace Kent is on the alert. He is one of those omnipresent, persevering, untiring individuals who knows no such word as fail, and never lets up on a case until the last vestige of hope has fled. There is no man in Rockingham county, from the hills of Deerfield to the Massachusetts line, who can begin to fill the bill so well as J. Horace, and he ought, in the interests of public safety and the public weal, to receive the suffrages of old Rockingham voters, irrespective of party."

The sermon in the Universalist church on Sunday forenoon was from a text uttered by Solomon in Eccl. 1:9; "There is nothing new under the sun." Solomon is right if he means that all that ever will be is but a development of the infinite resources of the Existing Unknown. Solomon is wrong if he means that his life of pleasure had developed everything that there is to develop. No life that recognizes the possibilities of human thought and discovery, can be monotonous. Monotony is the result of feeling that we have exhausted truth.

The schooner Laughing Waters, of Tremont, Me., which has been lying at Randall & Caswell's wharf for some days loading with apples in bulk, is paying twenty-five cents a bushel for ones and twos.

The Dover Democrat says the sound of the fire alarm in this city on the night of Thursday, the 28th ult., was very plainly heard in Dover.

Oct. 30th, 1885, a year ago last Saturday, we had the first snow-storm of the season; not much of a snow-storm, to be sure, but better than nothing. Last Saturday afternoon we had a thunder storm.

Mr. John B. Hutchins last week went on the navy yard as boss laborer in the department of steam engineering. Mr. Hutchins has been an outspoken republican for twenty years or so, but is now solid for Cleveland and reform.

The Republican Committee of Ward Two will meet this evening at eight o'clock, at the Court House.

DOG COLLARS.—The time has come for licensing dogs. Those who would have their favorite dog run at large must furnish said dog with collar and license. Messrs. A. P. Wendell & Co., at their hardware store No. 2 Market square, have the largest line of Dog and Cat Collars we ever saw together; they are prepared to fit a collar to any dog or cat in the city large or small. The variety of styles of dog collars that is required for a complete line of these goods is something immense. Step in and look at their stock of dog collars.

EASTERN RAILROAD COMPANY.

To the Holders of Certificates of Indebtedness.

THE voting register of certificate holders is now making up at the office of the Eastern Railroad on Causeway Street, Boston, Mass. Holders already registered are not required to register anew. Any holder not already registered can register on presenting at said office of said Eastern Railroad Company to Edward Lemley a written statement signed by himself of his name, address, and the denomination and numbers of the certificates held by him. If the company shall so require, the holder desiring to register shall also duly verify his title thereto by producing said certificates of indebtedness, or filing with the Company the written order of the person last registered as the holder, or in such other mode as may be prescribed by the laws of Massachusetts and the regulations of the Trustees.

The voting register will be closed at the close of business on the 15th day of November, A. D. 1886, between which time and the special meeting for the election of a trustee on the twenty-third day of November, A. D. 1886, no registration for the purpose of said special meeting will be made.

Per order of the Directors,

FRANCIS I. AMORY, Clerk.

EASTERN RAILROAD COMPANY.

A SPECIAL meeting of the holders of Certificates of Indebtedness issued under the act entitled "An Act for the relief of the Eastern Railroad Company and the securing of its debts and liabilities," passed April 28, 1876, will be held at the Meionaon, in Boston, Massachusetts, U. S. A., on the 23d day of November, 1886, at eleven o'clock A. M., for the purpose of electing a new Trustee under said act in place of William B. Bacon, who has resigned said trust.

EASTERN RAILROAD COMPANY.

To the Holders of Certificates of Indebtedness.

The Voting Register of Certificate holders is now making up at the office of the Company in Boston, Mass.

Persons desiring to have their names placed upon said Register in order to vote at the coming election must comply with the following regulation of the Trustees.

"Every holder of Certificates of Indebtedness who desires to have them registered in his name shall present to the Trustees at their office, No. 19 Tremont street, Boston, a written statement signed by him and giving his address and the denomination and number of every certificate of indebtedness claimed to be held by him, and shall, if required by said Trustees, verify this title by exhibiting such certificates and the written order of the last registered holder of the same, or other evidence of his title to the reasonable satisfaction of the Trustees; and said Trustees, if satisfied with his title, shall endorse their approval upon said written statement, and said certificate holder may thereupon be registered in conformity thereto. The approval of one of said Trustees shall be sufficient authority for such registration, and no registration after the 13th day of August, 1886, shall be valid without such approval, and no approval shall be granted after the time for closing the register."

The voting register will close at the close of business on the 15th day of November, between which time and the special meeting on the 23d day of November, 1886, no registration will be allowed.

A Semi-Savage African Monarch.

A notable man is France's new ally, the African monarch Samory. According to Le Temps he is 43 years old and stands six feet high. He is a half-breed, his mother belonging to the tribe of Peul and his father to the Saracolais. He is a good type of the semi-savage, with flat nose, thick lips and protuding jaws. His skin is reddish black. He began life as a caravan driver, but displaying great courage in war with a neighboring tribe, he became famous and was elected chief. Fired by ambition, he set to making conquests on his own account, and eventually assumed the rank of royalty.

It is estimated that he has conquered no fewer than 157 small states. The frontiers of his kingdom extend from English Gambia to Ashantee on the one side and from the Segon to Sierra Leone on the other. His territory, therefore, is as large as that of the whole of France. His army consists of 60,000 infantry armed with guns, and 5,000 cavalry. Samory is a Mussulman, but not a very fervent believer. He has prohibited intoxicating drinks throughout his empire; he says a drunken man fears neither God nor devil, and is prompt to rebellion. His arms, hands and breast are tattoed. He bathes every day; after his bath he rubs his body with perfumed butter, according to an ancient custom, and paints his eyes so as to make them appear large and terrible. In time of peace his robes are all white, but in war they are yellow. Samory has a harem of about 100 girls chosen from different parts of his kingdom. When he visits a village it is the custom of the local chief to make him presents, including the most beautiful girl in the neighborhood.—New York Tribune.

A Canadian railway company has fitted up a number of its cars with bathing facilities.

A few days since a gentleman saw a little 6-year-old fellow playing during school hours about a quarter of a mile from home and inquired: "Johnny, why are you not at school?" "Mother is sick and I stayed home to take care of her," was the ready reply.—Lynn Item.

After Diphtheria.

Diphtheria is a terrible disease, requiring the greatest medical skill to effect a complete cure. Even when its power is broken, it clings to the patient with great persistency, and often leaves the system poisoned and prostrated. Just here Hood's Sarsaparilla does a vast amount of good, expelling impurities from the blood, giving it richness and vitality, while it renovates and strengthens the system.

A six-year-old child of Mrs. Wiggin, of East Orrington, Me., climbed up to a shelf during the absence of its mother, last Thursday afternoon, ate fourteen pills out of a box, and died in great pain nine hours afterwards.

The usual treatment of catarrh is very unsatisfactory, as thousands of despairing patients can testify. On this point a trustworthy medical writer says: "Proper local treatment is positively necessary to success, but many, if not most of the remedies in general use by physicians afford but temporary benefit. A cure certainly cannot be expected from snuffs, powders, douches and washes." Ely's Cream Balm is a remedy which combines the important requisites of quick action, specific curative power with perfect safety and pleasantness to the patient.

It is now said the loss to the Adams Express Co. by the robbery of their messenger near St. Louis last week, already amounts to over $81,000. The messenger, Fotheringham, is closely watched, it being suspected that he was an accomplice in the robbery.

Stop and Think

how much money you have thrown away buying worthless medicines, prepared by unprincipled parties, who care not what harm they may do to your system. You can depend on every bottle of Sulpher Bitters as being a reliable medicine. It searches out and cleanses from the blood all impure matter, and makes you feel like a new person.—Boston Globe.

Hannah Sands, an aged maiden lady at Rye, N. Y., who was supposed to be very poor, died last fall. A search among her effects brought to light $400,000 in money and bonds, sewed up in an old skirt. Her only living relatives are four nephews, all of whom were poor, and the money has been divided between them.

Skin diseases cannot be successfully treated by external applications. The proper way to cure such complaints is to purify the blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Under the vitalizing influence of this medicine all the functions of the body are brought into healthy action.

The United States fish commission schooner Grampus, while carrying on scientific researches, fouled an Atlantic cable October 24th in lat. 42 50 north, lon. 70 19 west, and had to cut her hawser to save the cable from injury. Behind the Time.

It now transpires that the centennial celebration of New Brunswick, N. J., observed two years age, was fifty-four years behind the times. The city was granted a charter by George II., Dec. 30th, 1730. All local and other histories have uniformly written that New Brunswick was incorporated in 1784, and that Azariah Durham was the first mayor; instead of that it was incorporated in 1730, and Thomas Farmar was the first mayor. So says a newspaper item.

The tenth annual meeting of the New Hampshire Christian Association, which commenced its session in Manchester Oct. 23d, closed on the evening of the 26th. This association originated at a meeting of the Free Baptists near Dover, in 1875. It favors nearly all reforms of the present day, believes in practical holiness and divine physical healing, is in hearty sympathy with the Women's Christian Temperance Union, has some connection with home mission work, and endorses Second Adventism to some extent. The secretary is Rev. S. C. Kimball, a Free Baptist minister of Newmarket.

The President of the New York State Senate.

For expediting legislative business, Edmund L. Pitts, the president of the New York State Senate, stands almost without a peer. Such a place as he holds is a most trying one and requires great powers of endurance. One of Mr. Pitts' ablest supporters will be seen in his letter given below:

State of New York, Senate Chamber,
Albany, March 11, 1886.

I have used Allcock's Porous Plasters in my family for the past five years, and can truthfully say that they are a valuable remedy and effect great cures. I would not be without them. I have in several instances given some to friends suffering with weak and lame backs, and they have invariably afforded certain and speedy relief. They cannot be too highly commended. EDMUND L. PITTS.

Scavengers of Importance.

Next to the bowels, or rather in conjunction with them, the kidneys and bladder are most important scavengers of the system. They purify the blood and carry off its refuse, preventing rheumatism, dropsy, Bright's disease and diabetes by their active cleansing work. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, when the kidneys evince a tendency to relax the activity of their important function, renews it, and thus averts renal maladies, the most difficult to cope with, and which superinduce a frightful loss of bodily tissue, stamina and flesh. When the renal organs exhibit the slightest symptoms of inaction, they should at once receive the needed stimulus from this safest, surest and pleasantest of diuretics. Chills and fever, dyspepsia, constipation, liver complaint and debility are also remedied by it.

Baptiste Coutin, a Saccarappa wood chopper, and a mill operative named Selina Frichette, registered at a Saco hotel on Saturday evening as husband and wife. Not appearing on Sunday, the landlord at noon burst open the door of their room, and found them both insensible from gas, which was escaping from an open burner. A bottle partly filled with whiskey was on the table. The man will recover, but the woman will probably die.

ANOTHER SUDDEN DEATH.

Hardly a week passes without the mention by the newspapers of sudden deaths, and of late the alarming frequency of the statement that death was caused by rheumatism or neuralgia of the heart cannot fail to have been noticed. In all probability many deaths attributed to heart disease are caused by these terrible diseases, which are far more dangerous than is generally considered. Is there any positive cure? The best answer to such a question is given by those who have been cured by the use of Athlophoros.

Dover, N. H., March 23, 1886.

I have for years suffered with muscular rheumatism in back of my head, neck and arms; the pain was intense and seemed to grow steadily worse. I used two bottles of Athlophoros and it brought relief almost immediately. I believe Athlophoros to be a pure, honest medicine, and there is no question it will certainly cure rheumatism.

MRS. F. KENNEDY, Orchard Street.

Chicopee, Mass., May 23, 1886.

I have suffered for over five years with muscular rheumatism, being treated by several physicians, besides taking numberless remedies; the doctors could not cure me and the different medicines gave me no relief. There was one remedy I had not tried—Athlophoros. I bought three bottles of it, taking them according to directions. I commenced at night before retiring. The next morning, after a good night's rest, I was perfectly free from pain. My rheumatism went and has never returned. Athlophoros effected a cure in my obstinate case and I believe it will in that of any one suffering with rheumatism or neuralgia.

G. E. LEWIS.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

For liver and kidney diseases, dyspepsia, indigestion, weakness, nervous debility, diseases of women, constipation, headache, impure blood, &c., Athlophoros Pills are unequaled. 2

PECULIARITIES OF THE PUMA.

An Animal Which Steadfastly Refuses to Recognize an Enemy in Man.

I was told by a person who had spent most of his life on the pampas that on one occasion, when traveling in the neighborhood of Cape Corrientes, his horse died under him, and he was compelled to continue his journey on foot, burdened with his heavy native horse-gear. At night he made his bed under the shelter of a rock, on the slope of a stony sierra; a bright moon was shining, and about 9 o'clock in the evening four pumas appeared, two adults with their two half-grown young. Not feeling the least alarm at their presence he did not stir; and after awhile they began to gambol together close to him, concealing themselves from each other among the rocks, just as kittens do, and frequently while pursuing one another leaping over him. He continued watching them until past midnight, then fell asleep and did not wake until morning, when they had left him.

This man was an Englishman by birth, but having gone very young to South America, he had taken very kindly to the semi-barbarous life of the gauchos, and had imbibed all their peculiar notions, one of which is that human life is not worth very much. "What does it matter?" they often say, and shrug their shoulders, when told of a comrade's death. "So many beautiful horses die!" I asked him if he had ever killed a puma, and he replied that he had killed only one, and had sworn never to kill another. He said that while out one day with another gaucho looking for cattle a puma was found. It sat up with its back against a stone, and did not move even when his companion threw the noose of his lasso over its neck. My informant then dismounted, and drawing his knife advanced to kill it; still the puma made no attempt to free itself from the lasso, but it seemed to know, he said, what was coming, for it began to tremble, the tears ran from its eyes, and it whined in the most pitiful manner. He killed it as it sat there unresisting before him, but after accomplishing the deed felt that he had committed a murder. It was the only thing he had ever done in his life, he added, which filled him with remorse when he remembered it. This I thought a rather startling declaration, as I knew that he had killed several individuals of his own species in duels, fought with knives, in the fashion of the gauchos.

All who have killed or witnessed the killing of the puma—and I have questioned scores of hunters on this point—agree that it resigns itself in this unresisting, pathetic manner to death at the hands of man. Claudio Gay, in his "Natural History of Chili," says, "When attacked by man its energy and daring at once forsook it, and it becomes a weak, inoffensive animal, and trembling and uttering piteous moans, and shedding abundant tears, it seems to implore compassion from a generous enemy." The enemy is not often generous; but many gauchos have assured me, when speaking on this subject, that although they kill the puma readily to protect their domestic animals, they consider it an evil thing to take its life in desert places, where it is man's only friend among the wild animals.

When the hunter is accompanied by dogs, then the puma, instead of drooping and shedding tears, is aroused to sublime rage; its hair stands erect; its eyes shine like balls of green flame; it spits and snarls like a furious tomcat. The hunter's presence seems at such times to be ignored altogether, its whole attention being given to the dogs and its rage directed against them. In Patagonia a sheep-farming Scotchman, with whom I spent some days, showed me the skulls of five pumas which he had shot in the vicinity of his ranch. One was of an exceptionally large individual, and I here relate what he told me of his encounter with this animal, as it shows just how the puma almost invariably behaves when attacked by man and dogs. He was out on foot with his flock, when the dogs discovered the animal concealed among the bushes. He had left his gun at home, and having no weapon, and finding that the dogs dared not attack it where it sat in a defiant attitude with its back against a thorny bush, he looked about and found a large dry stick, and going boldly up to it tried to stun it with a violent blow on the head. But though it never looked at him, its fiery eyes gazing steadily at the dogs all the time, he could not hit it, for with a quick side movement it avoided every blow. The small heed the puma paid him, and the apparent ease with which it avoided his best-aimed blows, only served to rouse his spirit, and at length striking with increased force his stick came to the ground and was broken to pieces. For some moments he now stood within two yards of the animal perfectly defenceless and not knowing what to do. Suddenly it sprang past him, actually brushing against his arm with its side, and began pursuing the dogs round and round among the bushes. In the end my informant's partner appeared on the scene with his rifle, and the puma was shot.

In encounters of this kind the most curious thing is that the puma steadfastly refuses to recognize an enemy in man, although it finds him acting in concert with its hated canine foe, about whose hostile intentions it has no such delusion.—Longman's Magazine.

Acknowledging a Defeat.

A despatch of Oct. 30th from Salem, Mass., says: "The Knights of Labor openly express their disgust at the situation in which they find themselves, and bitterly condemn the leaders for their foolishness in precipitating the labor troubles. They expected some encouragement from Grand Master Workman Powderly, who was advertised to be present at the rink and address the mass meeting, but he did not appear. Assessments are hard to collect, as those who have work are getting tired of contributing to the support of men who are out without any prospect of ever going back. Said one to the writer: 'The thing is settled, and we are beaten; and now all that remains for the men who went out is to go to work somewhere else.' William B. O'Keefe and six others have gone to New York to solicit funds of the assemblies there."

The usual strike took place in Chicago on the 1st inst., 6,000 beef-butchers leaving work rather than go back to the ten-hour system.

The striking Detroit brewery workmen have given up the fight, and are anxious for terms of settlement with their employers.

Capt. Thomas Davidson of Newcastle has purchased of Boston owners the lobster smack Addie & Hattie, formerly for some years owned at this port, and went to Boston on Monday of this week to bring her around. He intends to go into lobstering on a large scale.

The British schooner Alba, of and from St. John, N. B., for Fall River, Mass., was fined $500 on Wednesday of last week at Portland, Me., for being without a manifest. Her captain appealed to the secretary of the treasury, who probably will make haste to remit the fine, in return for the liberal treatment accorded the American fishing schooner Marion Grimes (the vessel whose flag was hauled down by a Canadian cruiser, and for the hoisting of which flag Mr. Bayard humbly expressed "regrets" to the Canadians) by the Dominion authorities, who generously remitted one-half the fine of $800 imposed on her for daring to seek four hours of shelter in a provincial inlet ten miles from a custom house during a dark and tempestuous night when the custom house was closed, without entering at the custom house. Such condescending generosity on the part of the Canadians toward the despised Yankees must be reciprocated. [P. S. A despatch of Oct. 31st from Washington says: "The treasury department has remitted the fine of $500 imposed on the British schooner Alba for entering the port of Portland, Me., without a manifest." Now let Mr. Bayard hasten an apology to the Dominion government for her detention.]

Ralph Davidson of Newcastle has just finished building a superb row-boat constructed of Michigan cedar, for a young gentleman of Haverhill, Mass. The boat is fifteen feet long by four feet in width, and is pronounced by seafaring men the handsomest boat ever launched upon the Piscataqua.

The Mystic took the mud near the north beacon on her six o'clock trip from Kittery, Monday evening, during the dense fog, and her passengers were ferried across the river in boats while she waited for the tide to rise.

AROUND HOME.

Mr. Everett Ricker, (a "grandson of Portsmouth," his father being City Collector James S. Ricker of Boston, a native of this city,) who recently graduated from the Lowell, Mass., School of Design, has been appointed assistant instructor in the weaving department of that school.

A correspondent of the Dover Republican, writing from Durham, says: "Rev. Wm. P. Israel, a reformed sailor of Portsmouth who has crossed the Atlantic eighteen times, besides making voyages to the East Indies and Australia in the merchant service, has been holding a series of revival (Advent) meetings at the Point school house; his efforts have been attended with a good degree of success. As he has been at work for the Master only eight years, he shows remarkable familiarity with the scriptures, speaking without notes with a fluency attained by few; his appeals to the unconverted are earnest, pungent and fervid, yet calm and placid as a summer's eve. As he is in comfortable financial circumstances he asks souls, not money, for his hire. His wife, who is a fine soprano singer, is with him a part of the time. We certainly wish that success may attend them wherever they go."

Eastern railroad stock sold in Boston on Saturday at 106; Concord (ex-dividend) at 113; Concord & Portsmouth at 148 1-4; Portsmouth, Great Falls & Conway at 92 1-2 and 93 1-4; Portland, Saco & Portsmouth at 133 1-4 and 133 1-2; Boston & Maine at 208 and 208 1-4; Maine Central at 129; Cocheco Manfg. Co. at 650; Pepperell Manfg. Co. at 1,150; Laconia Manfg. Co. at 445.

President Cleveland has issued a proclamation designating Thursday, Nov. 25th, as a day of national thanksgiving and prayer.

An Eliot man informs us that Mr. Albert Hurst, one of the democratic selectmen of the town, has been appointed to the position of watchman on the U. S. S. Swatara, at the navy yard. The only noticeable feature about this appointment, our informant says, is that Mr. Hurst was one of the twenty-five or thirty democrats of Eliot who positively refused to vote at the late election in Maine, and that his name was on the list subsequently made up by Mr. George A. Hammond of Eliot, of persons who under no circumstances were to be called on the yard, which list was duly handed to the navy yard manager in this city. Mr. Hurst is on the yard in a good position, though, even if he didn't vote against Tom Reed.

A fierce thunder storm raged in Saco on Saturday night, Oct. 30th. A boarding block belonging to the York Manufacturing company was struck by lightning, and took fire. A fireman on the Pullman train was struck, and severely affected.

The Unitarian society of Kennebunk village last week sent to the Unitarian church at Charleston, S. C., a donation of $78. The sum of $.92 was raised in Kennebunk for the Exposition sufferers.

Moses G. Berry of Rickery Point fell from a ladder while unhanging blinds from his residence a few days ago, and had his right leg broken.

The six-year-old son of Artemas W. Allen was crushed to death by a jigger wagon at Thomaston, Me.

Gen. Aaron F. Stevens and wife, of Nashua, have gone to their winter home in Florida. The general's health has greatly improved since his return from the south last spring.

The Above Picture Represents

CAPTAIN S. GREENWOOD,

Master of the Steamship Kanawha.

About a year ago he observed a strange change in his feelings. He felt tired instead of vigorous; nervous instead of strong. His appetite became poor and his sleep broken. He tried to overcome these feelings, but they would not go. He then noticed pains and irritation in the water channels, and that the fluids passed were often thick and with a scum on top or a brick-dust sediment at the bottom. All these were the sure symptoms of that fearful disease, Catarrh of the Bladder, which has always been considered incurable, and they continued until the Captain was in a terrible condition. But he is the picture of health and vigor to-day, and he owes it entirely to that wonderful medicine, Hunt's Remedy. Capt. Greenwood says: "I am so certain of the great value of Hunt's Remedy, that I always carry a supply on shipboard for the use of my men, and I prescribe it whenever they are ailing. After curing me as it did, and restoring my wife, (whom the best physicians of New York said was dying of tumor,) to perfect health, I swear by it."

This Great Remedy absolutely cures all Kidney, Liver and Urinary Diseases.

in time. Kidney diseases may be prevented by purifying, renewing, and invigorating the blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. When, through debility, the action of the kidneys is perverted, these organs rob the blood of its needed constituent, albumen, which is passed off in the urine, while worn out matter, which they should carry off from the blood, is allowed to remain. By the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the kidneys are restored to proper action, and Albuminuria, or

Bright's Disease

is prevented. Ayer's Sarsaparilla also prevents inflammation of the kidneys, and other disorders of these organs. Mrs. Jas. W. Weld, Forest Hill st., Jamaica Plain, Mass., writes: "I have had a complication of diseases, but my greatest trouble has been with my kidneys. Four bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla made me feel like a new person; as well and strong as ever." W. M. McDonald, 46 Summer st., Boston, Mass., had been troubled for years with Kidney Complaint. By the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, he not only the disease from assuming a fatal form, but was restored to perfect health. John McLellan, cor. Bridge and Third sts., Lowell, Mass., writes: "For several years I suffered from Dyspepsia and Kidney Complaint, the latter being so severe at times that I could scarcely attend to my work. My appetite was poor, and I was much emaciated; but by using my appetite and digestion improved, and my health has been perfectly restored."

Prevented

AYER'S

Sarsaparilla

Check-List Notice.

THE Board of Inspectors of Check-Lists gives notice that they have posted copies of all the Check-lists of the city in the corridor of the City Building. Also have posted a list of ward one at the Railroad Station, and a list of ward three at the store of John Mitchell on Islington street, and a list of ward four at the store of John J. Laskey on Pleasant street, for the inspection of the voters of the city.

They also give notice that they will be in session at the City Building on Wednesday the 26th day of October, on Wednesday the 27th day of October, and on Friday the 29th day of October, 1886, from 9 o'clock A. M. to 12 M., and from 3 to 5 P. M., on each of said days, for the purpose of revising and correcting the several lists of the voters. They will also be in session at the same place from 6 to 10 A. M., and from 1 to 3 P. M., on the day of election, for the purpose of furnishing certificates to any persons whose names may have been omitted, and who the board are satisfied have resided in the ward one year next preceding said election.

INVESTMENTS.

I am prepared to furnish the most desirable investments in County Bonds and Guaranteed Farm Mortgages, paying 6 and 7 per cent semi-annually. On Farm Mortgages, only from 25 to 33 per cent of the actual cash value of the property is loaned, and the title, location, quality of land and future prospects of the property are personally looked up. Farm Loans are, when negotiated by experienced and responsible parties, the most profitable security offered, especially for those having small sums to invest from time to time. The Loans I offer are First-Class in every respect. Principal and interest when due, paid here without expense to the holder.

I have these Loans in sums from $300 to $5,000.

For New England to-day:—

ELECTION DAY.

The Board of Inspectors of Checklists will be in session at the City Rooms from eight o'clock to ten this forenoon, and from one o'clock to two this afternoon, for the purpose of furnishing certificates to any persons entitled to vote but whose names may have been omitted from the checklists.

We again remind the republican voters of the city that the early depositing of their votes in the ballot boxes will be advantageous to the party they favor. To those who are firm in the faith it may make no difference; but a heavy party vote thrown early in the day does have a marked effect in drawing out the lukewarm and influencing the doubtful vote. This is not a matter of theory, but has been demonstrated time and again; and for this reason we urge every republican who intends voting—and every republican should so intend, the ticket throughout meriting the solid support of the party—to deposit his ballot as soon as practicable after the opening of the polls at nine o'clock.

You must vote before six o'clock this evening, or not at all; the polls close at that hour.

There will be split tickets pasted with the names of one or more democratic candidates, in abundance at the polls today; hence it will be well for every republican to scrutinize his ballot closely before depositing it. If a man chooses to vote a split or scratched ticket, it is his perfect right to do so; but the split ticket is a fraud when it is used to defeat the intention of the voter. There will be plenty of them at the polls with this very intent; look out for them.

If there is a single vote cast in this city to-day for any republican candidate, it will not be for lack of democratic "stickers" to cover every name on all the ballots printed. The local mail has been heavy the past few days with letters to republicans from democratic candidates, containing stickers on which the candidates' names are printed.

MUSIC HALL.

There was a fair audience at Music hall on Monday evening, when Wilson's Comedy Co. performed "Dad's Girl," Miss Blanche Sherwood taking the title role. The play is not one of especial merit, but was well received by the audience, applause being frequent and liberal.

The audience that assembled at Lawrence Hall last night were surprised and delighted at the excellence of the entertainment. The star, Miss Myra Goodwin, is a young, handsome and talented girl, who possesses more accomplishments as a dancer, singer and actress than is comprised in the entire stock of many traveling companies. Her company is composed of actors of unusual merit. Miss Goodwin's dancing completely carried the audience to their feet, and they insisted upon encores until they were gravely requested to desist.—New London Day.

At Music hall Thursday evening; tickets now on sale at Goodrich's.

BENJAMIN F. CHANDLER.

Civil Engineer B. F. Chandler, United States navy, on the retired list with the relative rank of commander, died very suddenly of apoplexy on Sunday, Oct. 31st, at the house of a friend at Onset, Mass., at the age of about seventy years.

Mr. Chandler was appointed civil engineer on the 7th of July, 1852, by Capt. (afterward Rear Admiral) Joseph Smith, then chief of the bureau of yards and docks, and ordered to the Portsmouth navy yard, where he continuously remained, with the exception of one year at the Charlestown yard, until about ten years since, when he was ordered to the station at New London, Conn., where he remained until he was relieved by the age of age. A large number of the buildings at this yard were constructed under his direction. He was commissioned a civil engineer in the navy on the 28th of March, 1867, civil engineers not having been commissioned officers of the navy previous to that year.

He leaves a widow, daughter of the late Alexander Parris of Pembroke, Mass., who was civil engineer at this navy yard prior to Mr. Chandler's appointment; also two sons,—three daughters and two sons having died after arriving at maturity. He was a member of St. Andrew's Masonic Lodge, of this city, and of the Royal Arch Chapter at Augusta, Me. His burial will take place at Waverly, Mass.

IN MEMORIAM.

At a recent meeting of the rector, wardens and vestry of St. John's church, expressions of sorrow at the sudden death of Mr. C. C. Jackson, a member of the vestry, were spoken, and the following notice ordered to be spread upon the records, and a copy sent to the family of the deceased:

Inasmuch as it hath pleased Almighty God in His wise providence to take out of this world the soul of our late revered and beloved associate, Christopher C. Jackson, we, the members of the vestry of St. John's church, desire to testify to our conviction of the great loss suffered, not only by the parish of which he was so many years an esteemed member, a faithful vestryman, and a conscientious warden, but also by the entire community with which has so long and so honorably associated in active business, in civic office, and in social relations.

We offer our warmest sympathies to the family thus deprived of a loving and benignant presence, and to the friends thus losing a valuable and true heart's friendship; and we pray God that when we ourselves shall have served Him in our generation, we may be gathered to our fathers, having—like our dear friend—the testimony of a good conscience, the confidence of a certain faith, the comfort of a reasonable religious and holy hope, and in perfect charity with the world.

SAMUEL R. GARDNER, Parish Clerk.

William C. Randall was appointed supervisor of elections in ward two on Monday, in place of William O. Sides, who declined to serve.

There will be a meeting of the Board of Instruction this evening at the city rooms, at 7:30 o'clock.

The directors of the New Hampshire Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals held their regular monthly meeting on Monday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Alfred W. Haven on Congress street. The state agents report was accepted. The treasurer reported various contributions of money received during the month from friends of the cause.

Mother Nature releted during the past week, and copious rains fell from the skies, to the delight of the farmers of this vicinity. The total rain fall in this city was four and three-quarters inches.

The fire alarm apparatus received the regular monthly testing on Monday, and worked satisfactorily.

A new pigment has been developed by the recent storm from the frost-bitten leaves of the maples in front of the residence of Mr. William H. Palmer on Miller avenue. Where the trend of the north-easter had full force, his house and fence are beautifully painted with one of the fashionable shades of yellowish brown or brownish yellow that would delight the æsthetic taste of Oscar Wilde. If this new decoration won't wash (off) "Billy" will wish that the ice storm of last winter had taken these trees with some that then departed.

The Eldredge Brewing Co.'s pond, which before the late rain was only a hole for a pond, the bottom being so dry as to be dusty, except where a thin and narrow streak of water feebly meandered along near the middle, was on Monday full to overflowing, there being quite a fall over the dam.

A lad of fourteen was arraigned before Judge Batchelder on Monday at noon, on a complaint of the S. P. C. A. charging him with cruelly killing a pigeon, the property of Mr. John Nutter, by means of a fish-hook which he baited with a kernel of corn, and caught the unsuspecting bird as fish are caught, by the mouth. The S. P. C. A. did not urge the infliction of the legal punishment, and the boy was put on probation, with the promise of a term at the State Industrial school if the offence is ever again repeated.

On the night of the fire at Mr. Griffin's store on Market square, last week, the large plate glass window of John Leighton's store, on the side of the door next Hill's hotel, was broken, probably by some person falling against it; it was quite badly cracked some time before. A new pane of glass is to be put in, and metal guard rails placed in front of both the windows of that store, and of those of A. P. Wendell & Co. adjoining.

President Cleveland has contributed $500 to the democratic campaign fund of New York. Let's see; isn't there some kind of a law against United States officials contributing money to help carry elections?

The Eureka Bakery, J. C. Stevens proprietor, on and after this date will have on sale every week-day morning hot rolls, and hot Vienna and cream bread, baked at No. 62 Daniel street, and sold there, and delivered from the cart by Mr. Gilman B. Randall.

DOG COLLARS.—The time has come for licensing dogs. Those who would have their favorite dog run at large must furnish said dog with collar and license. Messrs. A. P. Wendell & Co., at their hardware store No. 2 Market square, have the largest line of Dog and Cat Collars we ever saw together; they are prepared to fit a collar to any dog or cat in the city large or small. The variety of styles of dog collars that is required for a complete line of these goods is something immense. Step in and look at their stock of dog collars.

Boucle and Astrachan for outside garments, and Astrachan for dress trimmings, are shown in all the colors by Lewis E. Staples at No. 7 Market street.

EASTERN RAILROAD COMPANY.

To the Holders of Certificates of Indebtedness.

THE voting register of certificate holders is now making up at the office of the Eastern Railroad on Causeway Street, Boston, Mass. Holders already registered are not required to register anew. Any holder not already registered can register on presenting at said office of said Eastern Railroad Company to Edward Lelay a written statement signed by himself of his name, address, and the denomination and numbers of the certificates held by him. If the company shall so require, the holder desiring to register shall also duly verify his title thereto by producing said certificates of indebtedness, or filing with the Company the written order of the person last registered as the holder, or in such other mode as may be prescribed by the laws of Massachusetts and the regulations of the Trustees.

The voting register will be closed at the close of business on the 15th day of November, A. D. 1886, between which time and the special meeting for the election of a trustee on the twenty-third day of November, A. D. 1886, no registration for the purpose of said special meeting will be made.

Per order of the Directors,

FRANCIS I. AMORY, Clerk.

EASTERN RAILROAD COMPANY.

A SPECIAL meeting of the holders of Certificates of Indebtedness issued under the act entitled "An Act for the relief of the Eastern Railroad Company and the securing of its debts and liabilities," passed April 26, 1876, will be held at the Melonaon, in Boston, Massachusetts, U. S. A., on the 23d day of November, 1886, at eleven o'clock A. M., for the purpose of electing a new Trustee under said act in place of William B. Bacon, who has resigned said trust.

EASTERN RAILROAD COMPANY.

To the Holders of Certificates of Indebtedness.

The Voting Register of Certificate holders is now making up at the office of the Company in Boston, Mass.

Persons desiring to have their names placed upon said Register in order to vote at the coming election must comply with the following regulation of the Trustees:

"Every holder of Certificates of Indebtedness who desires to have them registered in his name shall present to the Trustees at their office, No. 19 Tremont street, Boston, a written statement signed by him and giving his address and the denomination and number of every certificate of indebtedness claimed to be held by him, and shall, if required by said Trustees, verify this title by exhibiting such certificates and the written order of the last registered holder of the same, or other evidence of his title to the reasonable satisfaction of the Trustees; and said Trustees, if satisfied with his title, shall endorse their approval upon said written statement, and said certificate holder may thereupon be registered in conformity therewith. The approval of one of said Trustees shall be sufficient authority for such registration, and no registration after the 15th day of August, 1886, shall be valid without such approval, and no approval shall be granted after the time for closing the register."

The voting register will close at the close of business on the 15th day of November, between which time and the special meeting on the 23d day of November, 1886, no reg stration will be allowed.

An Unused Volume.

The most beautiful volume among the 500,000 in the congressional library at Washington is a Bible which was transcribed by a monk in the sixteenth century. It could not be matched to-day in the best printing-office in the world. The parchment is in perfect preservation. Every one of its 1,000 pages is a study. The general lettering is in German text, each letter perfect, and every one of them in coal-black ink, without a scratch or a blot from lid to lid. At the beginning of each chapter the first letter is very large, usually two or three inches long, and is brightly illuminated in blue or red ink. Within each of those capitals there is drawn the figure of some saint, or some incident of which the following chapter tells is illustrated. There are two columns on a page, and nowhere is traceable the slightest irregularity of line, space, or formation of the letters. Even under a magnifying glass they seem flawless.

The precious volume is kept under a glass case, which is sometimes lifted to show that all the pages are as perfect as the two which lie open. A legend relates that a young man who had sinned deeply became a monk and resolved to do penance for his misdeeds. He determined to copy the Bible, that he might learn every letter of the divine commands which he had violated. Every day for many years he patiently pursued his task. Each letter was wrought with reverence and love; and the penitent soul found its only companionship in the saintly faces which were portrayed on those pages. When the last touch was given to the last letter an old man reverently kissed the page and folded the sheets together. Soon afterward he died.—Chicago Times.

An ordinary solution of gum camphor in whisky is said to be a permanent and excellent sympathetic ink. The writing must be done very rapidly, as the first letters of a word have disappeared by the time the last are written. Dipping the paper in water brings it out distinctly, and it becomes invisible again when the paper is dried. It can be brought out repeatedly without affecting its vividness.—Philadelphia Call.

Sirs—I have suffered with dyspepsia for eight or ten years and have tried patent medicines with results totally unsatisfactory. I find your Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey a most excellent tonic and invaluable to those suffering from Dyspepsia. D. W. MORGAN.

REYNOLDS, WIS., June 5, 1886.
Dear Sirs—Am happy to say that your Duffy's Formula is all the great celebrity as a cure for dyspepsia. I have been troubled with indigestion for about four years, and after using one bottle of your Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey with the other ingredients has not a stitch better. D. K. MEAD.

929 VIRGINIA AVE., S. W., WASHINGTON, D. C.
I have improved rapidly since taking your Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey and Duffy's Formula. I was a great sufferer from indigestion and severe pains in my arms and back, and now they have almost entirely disappeared. My family are also taking both and are delighted with the results. I have called in friends to testify to it. It does not stop vomiting, but it is allowing me to keep down food.
There is nothing like your Pure Malt Whiskey.

The Pavonia Safe.

The steamship Pavonia was floated out of the mud off Rainsford's island, Boston harbor, Monday noon, the holes in her having been partially choked with blankets and tarpaulins, so that the steam pumps freed her of water; and aided by as many powerful tugs as could be lashed to her, and with her own engines working, she reached the upper harbor about four o'clock in the afternoon.

The Catholic Church and the Knights.

The conference of Roman Catholic archbishops at the cardinal's residence in Baltimore on Oct. 28th discussed the attitude of the Catholic church towards the Knights of Labor. The result of the deliberations was not made public, but a prominent churchman intimated that the prelates were disposed to look favorably on the organization. The matter will be refered to the Vatican for approval, and will be put in the form of a circular, which will be taken to Rome by Bishops Keene of Richmond, Va., and Spalding of Peoria, Ill

After Diphtheria.

Diphtheria is a terrible disease, requiring the greatest medical skill to effect a complete cure. Even when its power is broken, it clings to the patient with great persistency, and often leaves the system poisoned and prostrated. Just here Hood's Sarsaparilla does a vast amount of good, expelling impurities from the blood, giving it richness and vitality, while it renovates and strengthens the system.

Chicago had a $250,000 fire, Oct. 31st. Two firemen were killed and several others badly injured by falling walls and debris.

The usual treatment of catarrh is very unsatisfactory, as thousands of despairing patients can testify. On this point a trustworthy medical writer says: "Proper local treatment is positively necessary to success, but many, if not most of the remedies in general use by physicians afford but temporary benefit. A cure certainly cannot be expected from snuffs, powders, douches and washes." Ely's Cream Balm is a remedy which combines the important requisites of quick action, specific curative power with perfect safety and pleasantness to the patient.

Liberty's Torch Lighted.

The torch of Liberty's statue was lighted on Monday evening, 1st inst., the occasion being attended with an illumination of Bedloe's island, and a fine pyrotechnic display which lasted two hours. At certain points in the programme the steamboat whistle chorus was introduced. A large fleet of vessels carried a throng down the bay, and the Battery and the roofs of many buildings in the lower part of the city were covered with sight seers. The firework displays were from the Battery, Governor's island and Bedloe's island.

The place of honor in the November Atlantic is occupied by a clever story by Josiah P. Quincy, entitled "The Peckster Professorship," which treats a question of the day and will attract much attention. Mr. Percival Lowell contributes "A Korean Coup d'Etat," and Mr. John Fiske has a paper on the "The Germs of National Sovereignty in the United States." The third paper of the serial, "French and English," by Philip Gilbert Hamerton, is marked by the interest which distinguishes everything that he writes. Besides these, Mr. Henry Van Brunt's article on Richardson, the architect, will be read with special interest. Miss Murfree and Mr. Bishop continue their serial stories; there is a charming paper entitled "Wood-Fears," and some poetry by Andrew Hedbrooke, Lucy Larcom, and Margaret. The number as a whole is one of unusual excellence, and sustains the high standard which the Atlantic always sets for itself. Houghton, Mifflin & Co., Boston.

Scavengers of Importance.

Next to the bowels, or rather in conjunction with them, the kidneys and bladder are most important scavengers of the system. They purify the blood and carry off its refuse, preventing rheumatism, dropsy, Bright's disease and diabetes by their active cleansing work. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, when the kidneys evince a tendency to relax the activity of their important function, renews it, and thus averts renal maladies, the most difficult to cope with, and which superinduce a frightful loss of bodily tissue, stamina and flesh. When the renal organs exhibit the slightest symptoms of inaction, they should at once receive the needed stimulus from this safest, surest and pleasantest of diuretics. Chills and fever, dyspepsia, constipation, liver complaint and debility are also remedied by it.

ANOTHER SUDDEN DEATH.

Hardly a week passes without the mention by the newspapers of sudden deaths, and of late the alarming frequency of the statement that death was caused by rheumatism or neuralgia of the heart cannot fail to have been noticed. In all probability many deaths attributed to heart disease are caused by these terrible diseases, which are far more dangerous than is generally considered. Is there any positive cure? The best answer to such a question is given by those who have been cured by the use of Athlophoros.

Dover, N. H., March 23, 1886.

I have for years suffered with muscular rheumatism in back of my head, neck and arms; the pain was intense and seemed to grow steadily worse. I used two bottles of Athlophoros and it brought relief almost immediately. I believe Athlophoros to be a pure, honest medicine, and there is no question it will certainly cure rheumatism.
MRS. F. KENNEDY, Orchard Street.

Chicopee, Mass., May 23, 1886.

I have suffered for over five years with muscular rheumatism, being treated by several physicians, besides taking numberless remedies; the doctors could not cure me and the different medicines gave me no relief. There was one remedy I had not tried—Athlophoros. I bought three bottles of it, taking them according to directions. I commenced at night before retiring. The next morning, after a good night's rest, I was perfectly free from pain. My rheumatism went and has never returned. Athlophoros effected a cure in my obstinate case and I believe it will in that of any one suffering with rheumatism or neuralgia.
G. E. LEWIS.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

For liver and kidney diseases, dyspepsia, indigestion, weakness, nervous debility, diseases of women, constipation, headache, impure blood, &c., Athlophoros Pills are unequaled. 2

THE MYSTIC DOOR.

All souls freed from the body's breath
Stands by the mystic door of death.

Pure spirits turn the key aright
And enter into realms of light.

But souls from virtue still astray
Turn the same key a different way,

And walk, with self-accusing dread,
Into dark regions of the dead!
—William H. Hayne in Home Journal.

DISORDERS OF DIGESTION.

Emotional Dyspepsia—Passive Exercise and Abundant Feeding—"Fuel."

Biliousness and melancholy, dyspepsia and morbidness, are sisters, and they grope along hand in hand. "Half the unhappiness in the world proceeds from little stoppages, from a duct choked," writes Sydney Smith. Then the cleverest of men tells how a friend from eating a lobster saw everything in black, and how toasted cheese severed an old friendship. It is a nervous disturbance which takes place, and indigestion and irritability are the resultants. There is a disease perfectly well defined called emotional dyspepsia.

In treating of the disorders of digestion, Dr. Brunton pays a merited compliment to Dr. Weir-Mitchell, of Philadelphia, and his book on "Fat and Blood and How to Make Them." Dr. Mitchell's principle of restoring health is that of passive exercise and abundant feeding. The manner in which Dr. Weir-Mitchell brings about a marvellous result is as follows: Active exercise increases the appetite. If tissue changes can be rapidly carried on, and the waste driven off, then more food will be necessarily wanted. But there are many feeble, flabby persons who cannot take exercise, or if they can, have no will power. The muscular exercise if given then to the patient by massage. Under such treatment Dr. Brunton shows by illustrations the case of a man who, a living skelton, was in six weeks so metamorphosed that he might have joined "a Highland regiment and worn a kilt without being ashamed."

With all the care and attention paid to food and drink what is the use of all without exercise? It was Lord Palmerston who said: "The outside of a horse is the best thing for the inside of a man." A good trot is the best of all stimulants, or if not a trot on a horse a walk with one's legs. We all of us, after a certain age, start in the wrong direction in building our fires. We are inclined to try and keep up the blaze by pouring the fuel on the top, as would a child. The combustion must begin lower down, and if we want to have the fire bright and clear, the draught must come from the bottom, and that draught is exercise. As to the putting on of the fuel, we must, when age comes, be careful as to that or we will smother up the blaze by piling on too much coal, and now comes in use discrimination as to both the quantity and quality of that fuel.—Boston Budget.

Meet Trouble Like a Hero.

If the world has given you a hard row to hoe, go at it like a man and hoe it through and hoe it well. If your destiny has moored you to a wash-tub and a kitchen-sink, roll up your sleeves and make the wash-tub and the kitchen where it stands as attractive as you can. Pin a lot of poems over your sink, that, while your hands are in the dish-water, your soul can catch an impulse heavenward, as a climber keeps his eye away from the difficult places where his feet must stand. Be plucky, and meet trouble like a hero. The harder the blows the more credit to the man who stands and takes them, rather than he who whimpers and runs like a scared baby.

Half the little things in life, and many of the big ones, too, are of less account than the stone lions that guard an entranceway, if we march upon them steadily. Only remember, to him who stands and trembles, the lions are always lions; to him who keeps his eyes upon the places where his feet must stand, the shining of the sunset skies, the revealings of the wind-swept spaces and the grand uplifting of the hills can be disclosed.—"Amber" in Chicago Journal.

An Unusual View of Hospitals.

Every day hospitals are being erected to nurture the diseased and imperfect specimens of our race, and every year thousands of children are by skill and care saved from the death to which nature would consign them. All this accords with our enlarged notions of humanity, and reflects great credit on the zeal of the philanthropist and the science of the physician, but exerts a baneful effect on the race. To one who has had access to any large city hospitals, it is a pitful sight to see the multitude of children who are tided over a few years, and sent out into the world branded with any hereditary taint, to propagate their wretched breeds.—Popular Science Monthly.

Production of Paper.

The consumption of paper and the volume of its manufacture are sometimes taken as standards of civilization. The United States has 884 paper mills and 1,106 paper machines. Germany has 809 mills and 891 machines; France, 420 mills and 525 machines; England, 261 mills, 541 machines; Scotland, 69 mills, 98 machines; Ireland, 13 mills, 13 machines; Russia, 133 mills, 137 machines, and Austria 220 mills, 270 machines. The average annual production of paper in all countries is estimated at 3,800,000 tons—a quantity which fairly entitles the present age to be called the age of paper.—New York Tribune.

Mr. Thos. McDonald, of 56 Albermarle street, Baltimore, Md., recommends Salvation Oil with all his heart, for it rid him of rheumatism in his shoulder which he had been suffering with for many months. It cured him entirely.

The insurance payments on the losses in Farmington, Me., will aggregate $160,000.

The Elections.

Elections were held on Tuesday for something or other in every state of the Union except Maine, Vermont and Oregon.

In Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Mississippi, Rhode Island and Virginia, the election was only for the choice of representatives in the 50th congress.

Twenty-six other states elected governors or other state officers, and legislatures, besides congressmen.

Florida voted on a new state constitution; New York on the question of holding a convention to revise its constitution; California, Illinois, Kansas, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, Nevada, South Carolina and Wisconsin voted on amendments to their respective constitutions, most of these amendments being of little importance and of no general public interest.

In New York city there was a triangular contest for mayor, which attracted as much attention from the country at large, as the election in any one state. Theodore Roosevelt was the republican candidate, Abram S. Hewitt the democratic candidate, and Henry George the Knights of Labor candidate.

The following are the more important returns as received during the evening up to the closing of the telegraph offices:

CONCORD, N. H., 8:00 P. M.

Forty towns give Sawyer, rep., 3656, Cogswell, dem., 3743, Wentworth, prohibition, 189, scat. 4.

BOSTON, 8:00 P. M.

Ninety-nine precincts give Ames, rep., 16,358, Andrews, dem., 24,118, scat. 336; ten precincts to come.

NEW YORK, 7:30 P. M.

Two hundred and thirty districts give Roosevelt 16,318, Hewitt 21,743, George 15,609, scat. 176.

BOSTON, 8:30 P. M.

One hundred and eight towns, including New Bedford and Fitchburg, give Ames 23,648, Andrews 18,764, Lothrop 8,985; these towns are mostly in eastern part of state.

HARTFORD, CONN., 8:30 P. M.

Earliest returns received show democratic gains on state ticket and legislature.

NEW YORK, 8:15.

Four hundred districts, Roosevelt 30,121, Hewitt 40,832, George 28,781, scat. 284.

CINCINNATI, 7:15.

Scattering returns from Ohio show large republican gains.

CONCORD, 9:00.

Returns from nearly one-third of the state show a republican loss on the popular vote of about 200 as compared with vote of 1884, when Currier's majority was 558. Indications now are that there is no choice of governor by the people; that McKinley, dem., has been elected to Congress in the first district, and Gallinger, rep., in the second.

CINCINNATI, 8:15.

Forty-seven precincts of Ohio, outside Cincinnati, show net rep. gains of 1,584; in Cincinnati, 34 precincts show net rep. gains of 1,630.

CONCORD, 9:30.

Eighty-five towns give Sawyer 10,437, Cogswell 10,395, Wentworth 535; dem. gain 354.

BOSTON, 9:15 P. M.

One hundred and thirty-six towns and cities, including Boston with exception of one precinct, give Ames 53,234, Andrews 53,120, Lothrop 2397. Andrews' plurality in Boston is 8346.

NEW YORK, 9:15.

Six hundred and forty districts give Hewitt 70,052, George 50,845, Roosevelt 50,184, Wardwell 649.

BOSTON, 9:45.

Andrews 26,709, Ames 18,323. One hundred and seventy towns and cities, including Boston, give Ames 60,320, Andrews 61,384.

CONCORD, 11:30.

One hundred and fifty-five towns and wards give Sawyer 20,861, Cogswell 20,690, Wentworth 1,236, scat. 464. Carroll county, all but three small places, gives Sawyer 1,272, Cogswell 1,938; dem. gain three representatives.

NEW YORK, 10:15.

In city, 750 districts give Hewitt 83,108, George 60,675, Roosevelt 52,205. Republicans have a large majority on joint ballot in legislature.

BOSTON, 10:30.

One hundred and seventy towns and cities give Ames 73,699, and Andrews 73,144.

MILWAUKEE, 9:30 P. M.

Nineteen towns and cities in Wisconsin show a net rep. gain of 274.

HARTFORD, 10:00.

Ninety towns show a small rep. gain in legislature. State ticket in doubt.

RICHMOND, VA., 10:00 P. M.

Indications are that the republicans have carried three congressional districts now represented by democrats.

WHEELING, W. VA.

Goff, republican, is re-elected to Congress from the first district by an increased majority.

CONCORD, 12:00.

One hundred and eighty towns give Sawyer 25,396, Cogswell 24,735, Wentworth 1,507; net dem. gain 1,282.

BOSTON, 11:45.

Ames 86,685, Andrews 85,260, in 182 cities and towns. In the 10th dist., Rice, rep., for Congress, 8,889; Russell, dem., 9,557; one town to hear from; rep. loss. Ninth dist., Ely, rep., 7,441; Bennet, dem., 8,049.

CINCINNATI, 11:30.

In Hamilton county 135 precincts show 3,745 net rep. gain. In Michigan 10 precincts give Rice, rep., 15,671, Yawple, dem., 14,211. Returns from Iowa show slight republican gains. In Wisconsin 391 towns show a net rep. gain of 391.

HARTFORD, 12:30 A. M., 3d.

Sixty-six towns give reps. 15,962, dems. 16,544. Legislature, reps, 37, dems, 46.

NEW YORK, 12:00.

Wardwell 5,568, Roosevelt 59,621, George 66,885, Hewitt 89,407, in 810 of 812 districts.

CONCORD, 1:30 A. M.

One hundred and ninety-three towns and wards give Sawyer 28,722, Cogswell 27,571, Wentworth 1,632; net dem. gain, 1,386.

PHILADELPHIA, 11:45.

Returns indicate a majority of over 25,000 in the state for Beaver. Dem. committee concede state by large majority.

CINCINNATI, 12:00.

Net rep. gain of 3,222 in 298 precincts.

BOSTON, 1:00 A. M. 3d.

Two hundred and ninety-six towns and cities give Ames 95,060; Andrews 95,907.

NEW YORK, 1:45.

Six hundred and eighty-six districts of New York and King's county give Peckham, dem., 52,211, Daniels, rep., 71,592.

DETROIT, MICHIGAN, 11:45.

Outside of this city and Grand Rapids, 163 precincts give Price, rep., 24,822, Yawple, dem., 23,765.

NEW YORK, 2:45 A. M.

United democratic ticket in this city elected by 20,000 majority. Perry Belmont returned to congress.

CINCINNATI, 2:00 A. M.

Chairman rep. state com. claims state by 12,000, and fifteen rep. congressmen, with two doubtful. Chairman dem. com. concedes Robinson's election by 10,000 to 13,000.

PHILADELPHIA, 2:00 A. M.

Chairman Cooper estimates Beaver's maj. at 40,000.

BOSTON, 2:45 A. M.

Lodge is elected to Congress in the 6th dist., against Lovering.

New Jersey, dem. governor elected by 2,000 maj. In Colorado, reps. elect entire state ticket.

Seabrook—Sawyer 116, Cogswell 212, scattering 1; the congressional vote is the same; representative in legislature, Joseph T. Smith, dem., 11 maj.

Kensington, 30 dem. maj.; Joseph N. Nealey representative.

Hampton, Charles Philbrick, rep., representative, 25 maj.

Hampton Falls, Sawyer 82, Cogswell 34; Haynes 82, McKinney 34. Kent, rep., for sheriff, 71; Coffin, dem., 44.

Rye, Sawyer 77, Cogswell 153; congressional vote the same; no scattering.

The mills in Biddeford and Saco on Saturday morning last rang the 4:30 o'clock bells "to rouse the cooks," for the last time. The sister cities were among the last places in New England to give up a practice which has been for many years but a useless annoyance.

Pursuant to the call of a joint committee chosen at recent meetings of the York Congregational conference and Free Baptist quarterly meeting, respectively, a union convention of the churches represented by these bodies was held in Saco last week, five Congregational and three Free Baptist churches of York county being represented by pastors and delegates. The meeting was not for the consideration of an organization of the two denominations, but to unite for Christian work the coming winter; and the following resolution was adopted: "That a committee of three be raised by this body to confer with the churches in reference to evangelistic work, and to arrange for a conference of brethren who shall meet with such churches as desire with special reference to revival effort."

Four young men of this city, Delbi Spinney, Charles E. Bailey, Thomas Emery and Ceylon Spinney, who have recently passed a vacation in gunning at York beach, were amusing themselves in their cottage at Long sands on Wednesday night of last week, when they heard cries from the water, and on going out saw a boat coming in, with two men in it, who asked if they could effect a landing there. The wind was high and the sea heavy, and the men in the boat were directed to attempt a landing at a spot not far off, where a lantern was shown to guide them. Here the boat was run on the beach, and the two men were hauled ashore with lines, one of them, the elder, being almost exhausted; the boat, a small two-masted craft, was smashed to pieces in the surf. The castaways reported that they were originally in two boats, bound from Maine to Rockport, Mass., where the boats were to be delivered to a man who had bought them. They left Cape Porpoise on Wednesday afternoon, but the larger one foundered off Cape Neddick, the man sailing her being rescued by the other boat, which was afterward lost on the beach as stated above.

"The Season" for December is as usual rich in designs, patterns and plates, designed to assist and guide the ladies in the preparation of their toilettes for home, street, or party. It is an admirable lady's magazine in all respects, and its extensive circulation evidences the high appreciation in which it is held.

The president will visit Boston on Monday, Nov. 8th, and will attend the exercises at Harvard college.

Ex-treasurer Carter, of Pittsfield, Mass., is still $30,000 short in his accounts.

Three Peculiarities

Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier and regulating medicine, is characterized by three peculiarities, namely:

1st: The combination of the various remedial agents used.

2d: The proportion in which the roots, herbs, barks, etc., are mixed.

3d: The process by which the active medicinal properties are secured.

The result is a medicine of unusual strength and curative power, which effects cures heretofore unequalled. These peculiarities belong exclusively to Hood's Sarsaparilla, and are

Unknown to Others

Hood's Sarsaparilla is prepared with the greatest skill and care, by pharmacists of education and long experience. Hence it is a medicine worthy of entire confidence. in time. Kidney diseases may be prevented by purifying, renewing, and invigorating the blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. When, through debility, the action of the kidneys is perverted, these organs rob the blood of its needed constituent, albumen, which is passed off in the urine, while worn out matter, which they should carry off from the blood, is allowed to remain. By the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the kidneys are restored to proper action, and Albuminuria, or

Bright's Disease

is prevented. Ayer's Sarsaparilla also prevents inflammation of the kidneys, and other disorders of these organs. Mrs. Jas. W. Weld, Forest Hill st., Jamaica Plain, Mass., writes: "I have had a complication of diseases, but my greatest trouble has been with my kidneys. Four bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla made me feel like a new person; as well and strong as ever." W. M. McDonald, 46 Summer st., Boston, Mass., had been troubled for years with Kidney Complaint. By the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, he not only the disease from assuming a fatal form, but was restored to perfect health. John McLellan, cor. THE WEATHER.

For New England to-day:—

Fair weather, slightly warmer, variable winds.

The Thermometer at the CHRONICLE Office, at 4:00 o'clock this morning, indicated 42 degrees above zero.

Clear.

THE ELECTION.

There was nothing in the weather on Tuesday to prevent a heavy vote and a substantial republican victory in this city, but something else seems to have interfered. It was not lack of variety in tickets, nor a scarcity of "stickers," for if all that were at the polls had found their way into the ballot boxes the entire state would have been swamped. As it was, enough mixed stuff was voted to give the counters a job, though the scratching in ward four was almost wholly on senator. In ward one the scratching, and carrying of split tickets, was pretty well kept down by the watchful presence of the democratic bosses, who kept a sharp lookout for every democrat who was supposed to be in the least shaky. Ward two was well looked after, too, but there the amount of scratching was appalling—to the counters—who did not get through disentangling the mass until half-past ten o'clock at night.

From the table in another column it will be seen that the democrats elected every one of their candidates in this city; gave Cogswell a plurality of 504, and McKinney a plurality of 461.

Private despatches received by different persons in this city during the evening indicated the election of the entire democratic ticket in this county, and the very probable defeat of Haynes for congressman.

A VIGOROUS CAMPAIGN.

A prominent politician in ward two knocked off work last Friday to reform the elective franchise on the 2d inst. The weather was heavy, and he put on his rubber boots to defy the elements. By Monday night he had interviewed one man by assisting him to bail out postholes. On the morning of election he remarked that the only reason why he was not certain of the success of his ticket was, "Election comes to soon."

There will be a Teacher's meeting this afternoon at the Common Council room.

A quorum not being in attendance at the meeting of the Board of Instruction last evening, an adjournment was made to this (Wednesday) evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Frank E. Bean, an auctioneer in Epping, fell dead while selling some real estate in that town on Saturday. His sudden death was the result of heart disease.

There is a little consolation for republicans in the election returns, but they have to go a good way for it—out west, or down in the Virginias.

The reading of a paper upon the early town records of Portsmouth, by Frank W. Hackett, Esq., occurs at three o'clock this afternoon at the Middle street Baptist society's vestry on State street. The public are cordially invited to attend. While the address is to be delivered before the N. H. Historical society, the invitation to attend is given to all interested in the subject.

The eastern and western divisions of the Boston & Maine railroad have just been connected by a short track, a little west of Biddeford. This will be of great value to the road in case of any obstruction to either division between Biddeford and Portland, or between Biddeford and North Berwick junction.

The Mutual Life Insurance Co. of New York paid, during the week ending Oct. 29th, death claims amounting to $195,-174.59, and endowments amounting to $25,868.52. In the list of death claims paid are the names of C. C. Jackson and Frank Robeck, of this city.

Rev. Fernando C. Putnam, D. D., rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church at Jersey City, N. J., since 1860, died there on the 1st inst., aged about seventy-four years. He leaves a widow, and a son about twenty years old, who is studying for the ministry. Mr. Putnam was at one time a resident of this city, and a teacher in the Proprietors' Academy; and he prepared for the ministry under the direction of the late Rev. Charles Burroughs, D. D.

Two sportsmen of this city on Tuesday morning bagged seven partridges, six woodcock, and one snipe. This good shooting was done in about four hours, and within three miles of the Parade.

"Sis," a comedy, by Edward E. Kidder, was presented to a large audience at the Bijou theatre last night. The plot serves as a peg on which to hang a number of very clever acts from the variety stage. The chief performer is Miss Myra Goodwin, who as Sis shows a pretty, piquant face and a trim figure. She sings well, dances gracefully, and acts with dash and vivacity. The audience was generous with its encores, and gave Miss Goodwin rounds of applause after her songs and dances.—Boston Advertiser.

At Music hall Thursday evening; tickets now on sale at Goodrich's.

The Biddeford Times says a good deal of annoyance is being caused in that city by boys with rubber slings, who break windows and imperil people's eyes with their missiles. The "catapult" epidemic raged among the boys of Portsmouth last year, but was abated very suddenly by the mayor's order to the police to arrest any boy found on the street with one of them in his possession.

As a young man from this city was returning from Rye beach, Sunday evening, the horse he was driving ran away, threw him out, and made a wreck of the carriage. The team belonged to H. R. Stoddard & Son.

EASTERN RAILROAD COMPANY.

To the Holders of Certificates of Indebtedness.

THE voting register of certificate holders is now making up at the office of the Eastern Railroad on Causeway Street, Boston, Mass. Holders already registered are not required to register anew. Any holder not already registered can register on presenting at said office of said Eastern Railroad Company to Edward Lelay a written statement signed by himself of his name, address, and the denomination and numbers of the certificates held by him. If the company shall so require, the holder desiring to register shall also duly verify his title thereto by producing said certificates of indebtedness, or filing with the Company the written order of the person last registered as the holder, or in such other mode as may be prescribed by the laws of Massachusetts and the regulations of the Trustees.

The voting register will be closed at the close of business on the 15th day of November, A. D. 1886, between which time and the special meeting for the election of a trustee on the twenty-third day of November, A. D. 1886, no registration for the purpose of said special meeting will be made.

Per order of the Directors,
FRANCIS I. AMORY, Clerk.

EASTERN RAILROAD COMPANY.

To the Holders of Certificates of Indebtedness.

The Voting Register of Certificate holders is now making up at the office of the Company in Boston, Mass.

Persons desiring to have their names placed upon said Register in order to vote at the coming election must comply with the following regulation of the Trustees:

"Every holder of Certificates of Indebtedness who desires to have them registered in his name shall present to the Trustees at their office, No. 19 Tremont street, Boston, a written statement signed by him and giving his address and the denomination and number of every certificate of indebtedness claimed to be held by him, and shall, if required by said Trustees, verify this title by exhibiting such certificates and the written order of the last registered holder of the same, or other evidence of his title to the reasonable satisfaction of the Trustees; and said Trustees, if satisfied with his title, shall endorse their approval upon said written statement, and said certificate holder may thereupon be registered in conformity therewith. The approval of one of said Trustees shall be sufficient authority for such registration, and no registration after the 15th day of August, 1886, shall be valid without such approval, and no approval shall be granted after the time for closing the register."

The voting register will close at the close of business on the 15th day of November, between which time and the special meeting on the 23d day of November, 1886, no registration will be allowed.

The Art of "Treading Water."

Many persons have wondered that all animals seem to possess an instinctive knowledge of swimming, and that man alone lacks this gift. It is not necessary that a person knowing nothing of the art of swimming should drown, if he will depend upon the powers of self-preservation with which nature has endowed him. The pith of the whole matter is contained in the following paragraphs: When one of the inferior animals takes the water, falls, or is thrown in, it instantly begins to walk as it does when out of water. But when a man who can not "swim" gets into the water, he makes a few spasmodic struggles, throws up his arms, and drowns. The brute, on the other hand, treads water, remains on the surface, and is virtually insubmergeable.

In order, then, to escape drowning, it is necessary to do as the brute does, and that is to tread or walk water. The brute has no advantage as to his relative weight in respect to the water over man; and yet the man perishes while the brute lives. Nevertheless, any man, any woman, any child who can walk on the land may also walk in the water just as readily as the animal does, and that without any prior instruction or drilling whatever. Throw a dog in the water and he treads or walks the water instantly, and there is no imaginable reason why a human being under like circumstances should not do the same. The brute, indeed, walks the water instinctively, whereas man has to be told. —The Argonaut.

The "Science" of Pitching.

The most important player in a nine is the pitcher. He has studied the ball so carefully that when cleverly supported by his catcher he is oftentimes invincible. Despite the teachings of science he often throw a ball in a curve or drop it to the ground at the "plate" just when the batsman has aimed at it at the hight of his belt. To bring about these results pitchers have various styles of delivering the ball, and it is to transfer these peculiarities to the columns of the newspaper that the photographer's art has been summoned. It is a study not only in base ball, but in science, and as such will prove of benefit to all, whether experts in the national game or strangers to its varied features.—Philadelphia Times.

TRUTHS FOR THE SICK.

For those deathly Bilious Spells depend on SULPHUR BITTERS and it will cure you.

Do you suffer with that tired and all gone feeling; if so, use SULPHUR BITTERS, it will cure you.

Operatives who are closely confined in the mills and work shops; clerks, who do not procure sufficient exercise, and all who are confined in doors, should use SULPHUR BITTERS. They will not then be weak and sickly.

If you do not wish to suffer from Malaria, use a bottle of SULPHUR BITTERS; it never fails to cure.

Don't be without a bottle. Try it; you will not regret it.

Ladies in delicate health, who are run down, should use SULPHUR BITTERS.

$1,000 will be paid for a case where SULPHUR BITTERS will not assist or cure. It never fails.

Cleanse the vitiated blood when you see its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Blotches, and Sores. Rely on SULPHUR BITTERS, and health will follow.

SULPHUR BITTERS will cure Liver Complaint. Don't be discouraged; it will cure you.

SULPHUR BITTERS will build you up and make you strong and healthy.

SULPHUR BITTERS will make your blood pure, rich and strong, and your flesh hard.

Try SULPHUR BITTERS to-night, and you will sleep well and feel better for it.

After being laid up six weeks with acute rheumatism, by taking two doses of Athlophoros, I enjoyed a good night's rest. I can recommend it as a very valuable medicine, and always keep a bottle in the house. Mrs. Cordelia Marcotte, 8 Walnut street, Haverhill, Mass.

The postmaster of Benkleman, Nebraska, is minus a year's salary. An enterprising thief rifled the money drawer and took $20.

After Diphtheria.

Diphtheria is a terrible disease, requiring the greatest medical skill to effect a complete cure. Even when its power is broken, it clings to the patient with great persistency, and often leaves the system poisoned and prostrated. Just here Hood's Sarsaparilla does a vast amount of good, expelling impurities from the blood, giving it richness and vitality, while it renovates and strengthens the system.

The statue of Liberty Enlightening the World had to be made of colossal size to keep the New York aldermen from stealing it.

The usual treatment of catarrh is very unsatisfactory, as thousands of despairing patients can testify. On this point a trustworthy medical writer says: "Proper local treatment is positively necessary to success, but many, if not most of the remedies in general use by physicians afford but temporary benefit. A cure certainly cannot be expected from snuffs, powders, douches and washes." Ely's Cream Balm is a remedy which combines the important requisites of quick action, specific curative power with perfect safety and pleasantness to the patient.

Lady Churchill is being roughly criticised in England for having written a letter approving flirtations after marriage.

Stop and Think

how much money you have thrown away buying worthless medicines, prepared by unprincipled parties, who care not what harm they may do to your system. You can depend on every bottle of Sulpher Bitters as being a reliable medicine. It searches out and cleanses from the blood all impure matter, and makes you feel like a new person.—Boston Globe.

Tom Acrefoot is the name of a Key Wester whose feet are sixteen inches long and six and a half inches wide.

Skin diseases cannot be successfully treated by external applications. The proper way to cure such complaints is to purify the blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Under the vitalizing influence of this medicine all the functions of the body are brought into healthy action.

All opposition to putting electric wires under ground has ceased on the part of the electrical companies in New York city.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound revives the drooping spirits, invigorates and harmonizes the organic functions.

Victor Hugo's "Day Break," with music by N. H. Allen, "Nell, the Village Lass," by J. W. Wheeler, (each thirty cents,) and Max Piutti's version of the Swedish Folk-Song, "High in the Vault of Heaven," (twenty-five cents,) charming love songs, are announced by Oliver Ditson & Co. They also announce the following choice instrumental pieces: "Waltz," from the opera of "Love's Vow," (thirty-five cents,) "Lilly's Garden Polka," an excellent teaching piece, (twenty-five cents,) "Mandolin Polka," for violin, by C. E. Pratt, (forty cents,) "Nocturne," by Chovan, (thirty cents.)

A railroad engineer in New York was cured of kidney complaint by wearing a Hop Plaster. 25c.

The United States Revenue Marine Service is the subject of an article by Lieutenant Worth G. Ross, an officer in that department, in Harper's magazine for November. The writer outlines the history of "Our Coast-Guard," and shows the work and equipments of the revenue cutters. This service opens up a promising naval occupation to many young men, and the course of study and training, which is fully indicated, will interest aspirants to maritime life. The article is well illustrated.

Hundreds of persons who have used Ayer's Hair Vigor attest its value, as a stimulant and tonic, for preventing and curing baldness, cleansing the scalp, and restoring the youthful color to faded and gray hair.

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the REV. JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station D, New York City.

Without Reference to Earthquakes.

The certainty of the success of Southern enterprises is shown by the regularity which has characterized the Grand Monthly Drawings of The Louisiana State Lottery—the 196th of which events will take place on Tuesday, Nov. 9, 1886—without any reference to earthquakes or other interferences. Gen'ls G. T. Beauregard of La. and Jubal A. Early of Va., will scatter more $265,500 all about the earth. For any information apply to M. A. Dauphin, New Orleans, La. Do not forget the day.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhœa, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle.

About ten days ago I took a severe cold, which settled in my chest and back and caused me much suffering. I immediately procured three Allcock's Porous Plasters; two I applied to my chest and one to my back. In a few hours my pains sensibly abated, and in three days I was entirely well. I take great pleasure in recommending Allcock's Plasters.

Scott's Emulsion of Pure Cod Liver Oil, with Hypophosphites, For lung troubles and wasting diseases.

Dr. J. Simonaud, New Orleas, La., says: "Scott's Emulsion is the finest preparation of the kind ever brought to my notice. In affections of the lungs and other wasting diseases, we may consider it our most reliable agent. In a perfectly elegant and agreeable form."

In June, 1880, the fish and game society of York county received from Italy two hundred Messina quails, which were parceled out in twenties to Biddeford, Saco, Dayton, Hollis and Buxton. The birds were liberated, and afterward retired from the seaboard to towns in the interior, although many nests were found in Biddeford and Saco with from twelve to fifteen young in them the first year. The birds migrated to Texas in the fall, and were there killed in great numbers. For two or three years the quails were quite plenty in some parts of York county, but for the past two years none have been seen until week before last, when a brood was noticed in Kennebunk. It was fully expected when the birds were turned loose that they would go south for the winter and return the following spring, but those that were freed seem to have soon after lost their migratory instinct. They were quite tame, and could be easily approached. House cats were their greatest enemy, and it is probable that many of the quails were destroyed by them. In Italy the birds are quite as tame as our doves, and it is a common thing to see them in the door yards. They breed prolifically, live upon the ground and in the fields, and their summer food consist largely of insects.

Scavengers of Importance.

Next to the bowels, or rather in conjunction with them, the kidneys and bladder are most important scavengers of the system. They purify the blood and carry off its refuse, preventing rheumatism, dropsy, Bright's disease and diabetes by their active cleansing work. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, when the kidneys evince a tendency to relax the activity of their important function, renews it, and thus averts renal maladies, the most difficult to cope with, and which superinduce a frightful loss of bodily tissue, stamina and flesh. When the renal organs exhibit the slightest symptoms of inaction, they should at once receive the needed stimulus from this safest, surest and pleasantest of diuretics. Chills and fever, dyspepsia, constipation, liver complaint and debility are also remedied by it.

The readers of "Ben Hur," Gen. Lew Wallace's fascinating "Story of the Christ," will be glad to know that the sweet song of the fair Egyptian, "Wake not, but hear me, Love," has been set to music by George L. Osgood, and published by Oliver Ditson & Co., Boston, at thirty-five cents.

ANOTHER SUDDEN DEATH.

Hardly a week passes without the mention by the newspapers of sudden deaths, and of late the alarming frequency of the statement that death was caused by rheumatism or neuralgia of the heart cannot fail to have been noticed. In all probability many deaths attributed to heart disease are caused by these terrible diseases, which are far more dangerous than is generally considered. Is there any positive cure? The best answer to such a question is given by those who have been cured by the use of Athlophoros.

Dover, N. H., March 23, 1886.

I have for years suffered with muscular rheumatism in back of my head, neck and arms; the pain was intense and seemed to grow steadily worse. I used two bottles of Athlophoros and it brought relief almost immediately. I believe Athlophoros to be a pure, honest medicine, and there is no question it will certainly cure rheumatism.

MRS. F. KENNEDY, Orchard Street.

Chicopee, Mass., May 23, 1886.

I have suffered for over five years with muscular rheumatism, being treated by several physicians, besides taking numberless remedies; the doctors could not cure me and the different medicines gave me no relief. There was one remedy I had not tried—Athlophoros. I bought three bottles of it, taking them according to directions. I commenced at night before retiring. The next morning, after a good night's rest, I was perfectly free from pain. My rheumatism went and has never returned. Athlophoros effected a cure in my obstinate case and I believe it will in that of any one suffering with rheumatism or neuralgia.

G. E. LEWIS.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

Whatever the design, all real Florence Silk Mittens are sold one pair in a box, bearing the brand "Florence" on one end.

The pattern shown here is lined in back and wrist throughout with silk. They are perfect fitting and in cold climates are far more comfortable than any glove, are more durable and quite as elegant and fashionable as the best of gloves.

Sold by all enterprising dealers, who can be supplied at our agency, No. 16 Summer Street, Boston, Mass. Our latest book on knitting (1886 edition) contains over 100 valuable illustrated rules including full instructions for this mitten. Mailed to any address on receipt of six cents in stamps.

Songs of the Mexican Indians.

Like the peasants of Connaught, the table-land Indians are a bilingual race, retaining their ancient vernacular for domestic purposes, and the acquired language of Castile for outside business. Spanish has never become their favorite tongue, but they recognize its harmonious qualities, and have translated many of their lyrics without changing the tune of its strange measure, all in a minor key, like the plaintive ditties of the Spanish gypsies.

Those old songs, too, prove that the subjects of King Montezuma were something more than "architectural barbarians." They treat of war and the chase, the adventures, passions and superstitions of bygone ages, and some old rhymes, which the Indian miners of Anahuac still crone at their solitary camp-fires have an almost Buddhistic tendency, lamenting the evils of life and its disappointed hopes. Even their erotic melodies, with all the usual admixture of "sensuous caterwauling," have become popular enough in their Spanish translations to find favor with a Madrid audience. Marshal Bazaine's mother-in-law used to boast that her daughter could at any time retrieve the loss of her fortune by singing selections from the popular canzonets of her native land.—Dr. Felix L. Oswald.

A Palace Tragedy.

M. Maspero added an incident of a peculiarly horrible character to the story of the unhalmment of a living man—a form of murder which it is not difficult to reconcile with Egyptian usage. Medical men, however, who had been consulted, were disposed rather to recognize the symptoms of poisoning. In any case, we are brought face to face with a palace tragedy, for a body found among the royal mummies of Deir-el-Bahari can hardly be other than that of a princely personage.—London Academy.

Swiss Patriotism and Prosperity.

In Switzerland, out of 485,000 households 465,000 are householders. Here is one secret of the remarkable patriotism and prosperity of that people, and of their comparative exemption from labor troubles. Their excellent public schools and twenty-nine industrial schools, all topped up by their grand polytechnic institute at Zurich, including the same practical works as that of this Worcester industrial institute, have wonderfully unified the home-owning and home-loving people of those twenty-five cantons.

Though separate in race, religion and language, they are one in natural interest, proud of their history and prouder still of their recent progress and manufacturing prosperity. They are an ingenious and industrious people, and their mechanics are educated and skillful, believing in the dignity of labor and the thorough mastery of some trade. Though hemmed in by mountains, without a seaport, with few minerals and no coal, with costly transportation, all freight from the seaboard coming over foreign territory, Switzerland threatens the ribbon trade of Coventry, rivals the English and French in muslin and delaine, and the world in watches, music boxes and wood carving.—Age of Steel.

New Salvation Army Schemes.

The Salvation army have decided to add a new department to their operations in the metropolis. It is proposed to take two or three rooms in the poorer districts of London, which are to be occupied by a man and his wife or two women (members of the army), who will be provided with common medicine and lint for bandages, and a stock of pails, brushes, clothes, etc. Every morning these people will visit the poor people living in the neighborhood, and where they find the rooms in a dirty condition they will clean them. Having thus gained an entry, they are to pay their attention to the spiritual welfare of the people. The medicines will be given, where necessary, without charge. They are also to visit the prison gates and endeavor to get discharged prisoners to seek ale aid of the Salvation army.—London Standard.

Saved His Rations.

In the fall of 1864 we were in west Tennessee on short rations. Our regiment had been fighting hard. One day Capt. G——— and myself sat eating—only beans and coffee—when a shell lit close to our tent-door. We could see the blue smoke curling from its fuse. The captain at once clapped his hat over our coffee and beans, and went down under the table, while I went under our bunk. With a fearful report that shell burst, covering everything about us with sand. Jumping up, the captain took the hat off from over the beans, put it on his head, sat down, and finished his eating, remarking, "Rations are too scarce to lose any by foolishness."

Consumption Cured.

An old physician retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and all Throat and Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire this receipt, in German, French, English, with the directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. A. Noyes, 149 Power's Block, Rochester, New York.

Portsmouth Chronicle.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1886.

☞ Copies of the GAZETTE and of the DAILY CHRONICLE can be had of Moses Brothers, at their Newspaper Store in Congress Block.

For Senator, William E. Chandler.

Enough is known of the complexion of the legislature elected on the 2d inst. to meet at Concord next June, to assure the choice of a republican as United States senator to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late Hon. Austin F. Pike, whose term would not have expired until March 3d, 1889.

At present New Hampshire is represented in the national senate by but one senator, and as another cannot be elected until June, it devolves upon Governor Currier to appoint to the vacancy a suitable man, that on the assembling of Congress in December the state's delegation may be full, and the republican majority of the only republican branch of the national government may not be weakened by the lack of a single member. For this appointment there should be selected a man of intellect, energy, character, courage, industry, fertility of resource and intimate acquaintance with public affairs, and a staunch republican—one who would do honor to the state by adding to its influence in the national councils. Such a man, we suggest, he can find in Hon. William E. Chandler.

That Mr. Chandler possesses all the qualifications we have enumerated, and in an eminent degree, cannot be disputed; and on the assembling of the next legislature the republican majority will be able to do nothing better for the interests of New Hampshire and of the republican party of the state and nation, than to endorse the appointment we hope the governor will make, by electing Mr. Chandler United States senator for the remainder of Mr. Pike's unexpired term.

THE ELECTION.

The very latest returns show that there is probably no choice of governor by the people in this state. McKinney, dem., has been elected to congress in the 1st district, and Gallinger, rep., in the 2d. The republicans have carried the legislature. Dover sends eight republican and two democratic members to the legislature. B. F. Neally, republican, is elected senator in the Dover district over Chadwick, democrat and Knights of Labor, by 360 majority. Concord elects a democratic mayor, the first democrat chosen mayor since 1853. The city government will be strongly republican.

In New York city Hewitt is elected mayor by 20,000. In Connecticut the congressional delegation is evenly divided, as before. In Virginia the republicans gain several congressmen.

In Iowa the congressional delegation is unaltered politically. There is probably no election of governor by the people in Connecticut.

In Pennsylvania the vote was the heaviest ever cast in an election for governor, and the entire republican ticket comes in a winner. Gen. James A. Beaver is to be the next governor.

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION.

By the President.

It has long been the custom of the people of the United States on a day in each year, specially set apart for that purpose by their chief executive, to acknowledge the goodness and mercy of God and to invoke his continued care and protection.

In observance of such custom, I, Grover Cleveland, president of the United States, do hereby designate and set apart Thursday, Nov. 25th, to be observed and kept as a day of thanksgiving and prayer.

On that day let all our people forego their accustomed employment and assemble in their usual places of worship to give thanks to the Ruler of the universe for our continued enjoyment of the blessings of a free government; for a renewal of business prosperity throughout our land; for the return which has rewarded the labor of those who till the soil, and for our progress as a people in all that makes a nation great.

And while we contemplate the infinite power of God in earthquake, flood and storm, let the grateful hearts of those who have been shielded from harm through his mercy be turned in sympathy and kindness toward those who have suffered in his visitations.

Let us also in the midst of our thanksgiving remember the poor and needy with cheerful gifts and alms, so that our service may, by deeds of charity, be made acceptable in the sight of the Lord.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington this first day of November, in the year of our Lord 1886, and of the independence of the United States of America the 111th.

GROVER CLEVELAND.

[By the President: T. F. Bayard, Secretary of State.]

AFFAIRS IN KITTERY.

KITTERY, ME., Nov. 2d.

Mr. Moses G. Berry, of the Point, had the misfortune to fracture both bones of his left leg just above the ankle, and also to dislocate the ankle, early Friday morning last. He was engaged at the time the accident happened, in taking the blinds off the second-story windows of his house, preparatory to putting on double windows. The foot of the long ladder on which he was at work was placed on the side of a bank, and it being very wet it slipped out, and both came down together. It was fortunate that Mr. Berry escaped without internal injury. He was in good spirits over his ill luck, and while waiting for the doctor to come and set the bones of his leg he threw his ankle into place himself.

Mr. Charles H. Peirce, who died last week from the result of an accident on the navy yard, was a steady, industrious farmer and a good citizen, and had carried on the large farm of the late Daniel Peirce in North Kittery for the past fifteen years. He leaves a widow and a large family of children, who have the sympathy of the community in their hour of affliction.

The harvest concert which the 1st Methodist Sunday school were to have given last Sunday evening was postponed to next Sunday evening, the 7th inst.

The fourth quarterly session of York District Lodge of Good Templars will be held with Old York Lodge, No. 143, of York, on the 10th inst. It is expected that a large delegation will be present, as there is much business of importance to be transacted. Quite a number of Good Templars from Portsmouth have signified their intention to be present.

The York Beach railroad, if it is built on the line of the last survey, will not be of much accommodation to any one in Kittery. After leaving Butler's crossing it crosses the Post road at the Willows, between Harrison Remick's house and Ephraim C. Pettigrew's; it again crosses the highway beyond Mr. Remick's house on the Foreside road, thence across his pastures to Eagle point, where it crosses the creek. The bridge across the creek will probably have to be a draw bridge, as the old mill-bridge is at the head of navigation. The railroad crossings at Remick's will be another chance to frighten horses between Kittery and Portsmouth.

The work of cutting down Blaney's hill in North Kittery we understand will commence this week, and we hope will not be dropped until completed. This hill is one of the steepest and most travelled in town, and although much talk of reducing the grade has been done, that is all it has ever amounted to. While the citizens of this section have voted money year after year to build and repair highways that are of no more consequence than this one, if of as much, they have been content to drag their loads over it without a murmur. SUB ROSA.

The British barque Gov. Langdon, which put into Chatham, N. B., some weeks ago, in distress, on a voyage from Quebec for Liverpool, has been sold at auction for $1150, and it is said will probably be repaired and put in the deal carrying trade. This vessel was formerly the ship Gov. Langdon, 1095 tons register, built at this port in 1854 by Fernald & Pettigrew for Horton D. Walker, G. W. Pendexter, Samuel Adams, Nathaniel K. Walker and others.

CAPTAIN S. GREENWOOD,

Master of the Steamship Kanawha.

About a year ago he observed a strange change in his feelings. He felt tired instead of vigorous; nervous instead of strong. His appetite became poor and his sleep broken. He tried to overcome these feelings, but they would not go. He then noticed pains and irritation in the water channels, and that the fluids passed were often thick and with a scum on top or a brick-dust sediment at the bottom. All these were the sure symptoms of that fearful disease, Catarrh of the Bladder, which has always been considered incurable, and they continued until the Captain was in a terrible condition. But he is the picture of health and vigor to-day, and he owes it entirely to that wonderful medicine, Hunt's Remedy. Capt. Greenwood says: "I am so certain of the great value of Hunt's Remedy, that I always carry a supply on shipboard for the use of my men, and I prescribe it whenever they are ailing. After curing me as it did, and restoring my wife, (whom the best physicians of New York said was dying of tumor,) to perfect health, I swear by it."

This Great Remedy absolutely cures all Kidney, Liver and Urinary Diseases.

For Instant Use

As a reliable remedy, in cases of Croup, Whooping Cough, or sudden Colds, and for the prompt relief and cure of throat and lung diseases, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is invaluable. Mrs. E. G. Edgerly, Council Bluffs, Iowa, writes: "I consider Ayer's Cherry Pectoral a most important remedy for home use. I have tested its curative power, in my family, many times during the past thirty years, and have never known it to fail. It will relieve the most serious affections of the throat and lungs, whether in children or adults." John H. Stoddard, Petersburg, Va., writes: "I have never found a medicine equal to

AYER'S

Cherry Pectoral

for the prompt relief of throat and lung diseases peculiar to children. I consider it an absolute cure for all such affections, and am never without it in the house." Mrs. L. E. Herman, 187 Mercer st., Jersey City, writes: "I have always found Ayer's Cherry Pectoral useful in my family." B. T. Johnson, Mt. Savage, Md., writes: "For the speedy cure of sudden Colds, and for the relief of children afflicted with Croup, I have never found anything equal to Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It is the most potent of all the remedies I have ever used." W. H. Stickler, Terre Haute, Ind., writes: "Ayer's Cherry Pectoral cured my wife of a severe lung affection, supposed to be Quick Consumption. We now regard the Pectoral as a household necessity." E. M. Breckenridge, Brainerd, Minn., writes: "I am subject to Bronchitis, and, wherever I go, am always sure to have a bottle of with me. It is without a rival for the cure of bronchial affections."

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

FRAUDULENT VOTING.

A man was detected in ward one on the afternoon of election day, by James A. Waterhouse and John H. Locke, who had charge of the republican checklists, voting upon the name of Patrick Burke, an old man whom these two gentlemen knew. Mr. Waterhouse followed the man out of the ward room and pointed him out to Sheriff Kent, who with Michael E. Long followed him to Call's lumber yard, where he went in behind a building. The sheriff followed him, brought him out and questioned him. He equivocated and gave a false residence, and was taken in charge by the sheriff and lodged in the police station, and later was taken to the jail. The sheriff thought the fellow was from Haverhill, and telegraphed the police there for identification. His face was blacked so as to give him the appearance of being a coal heaver. He confessed to the sheriff in presence of Mr. Long. As this election was for a member of Congress, his enterprise in aid of the democratic ticket is likely to turn out not much to his interest or satisfaction.

BOARD OF INSTRUCTION.

The Board of Instruction met Wednesday evening, Nov. 3d, at the rooms of the mayor and aldermen. In the absence of the mayor, Mr. John Pender was appointed chairman.

The resignation of the janitor of the Bartlett school was accepted, and the appointment of his successor referred to the superintendent.

The resignation of Miss Nellie E. Rand was not accepted.

The following resolutions were passed:

Whereas it has been the will of God to take to himself a most active and efficient member of this board during the past nine years,—

Resolved, that in the death of Mrs. Anna B. Wilson we recognize a serious blow to the interests of public education in this community, depriving the schools of a faithful and intelligent worker and the teachers of a wise counsellor and friend.

Resolved, that we would hereby express our appreciation of those rare qualities which she devoted so liberally to the cause which this board represents—her clearness of mind, her great executive ability, her wisdom in discerning the best means to the best ends, and above all her generous devotion of her leisure and her powers to a most important public interest.

Resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to Mrs. Wilson's family.

Miss A. Maude Woodward was confirmed as a regular teacher.

The superintendent was granted power to introduce supplementary reading into the schools; and he was also authorized to make some necessary changes in the course of study, and report to the board.

Messrs. Sinclair, Batchelder and Hodgdon were appointed a committee to investigate the condition of the various school buildings, and report.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY MEETING.

The meeting of the New Hampshire Historical Society held on Wednesday afternoon, 3d inst., at the Middle street Baptist church vestry in State street, was well attended by an audience which completely filled the attractive auditorium. The audience paid the closest attention throughout, and evinced a deep interest in the subject under discussion. Ex-Gov. Charles H. Bell, president of the society, called the meeting to order, and stated that the paper to be read was one of especial interest to the people of this section of the state, and from having examined it at the request of the writer with a view of confirming its accuracy in some particulars, he had deemed it very proper to invite its public delivery before the society at this time. The president then introduced Frank W. Hackett, Esq., of this city.

Mr. Hackett's introductory was a rapid sketch of the books comprising our early town records, with a mention of the successive town clerks, beginning with Renald Fernald, who kept the town book as early as 1651. He also brought facts to bear upon the probable date of the beginning of the town meeting between 1635 and 1640. This led to an enquiry as to the difficulty of obtaining data respecting our history at that period. It seems that the selectmen in January, 1652, crossed out of the town book everything which they (the selectmen) did not approve. The principal object of the paper was an endeavor to ascertain what it was that these officials suppressed, and their motives for such an extraordinary procedure. The conclusion reached was that the spoliation was by the connivance if not at the actual dictation of Massachusetts. The reading of the paper occupied fifty minutes.

The president subsequently referred to the Exeter record similarly treated, and coincided with the views expressed in Mr. Hackett's paper.

John J. Bell, Esq., of Exeter, gave an interesting statement of the mode by which Massachusetts extended her boundaries in this direction, as towards Rhode Island.

A vote was passed thanking Mr. Hackett for reading the paper, and requesting a copy for the use of the society. A resolution of thanks for the use of the chapel in which the meeting was held, was also passed.

POLICE COURT--BATCHELDER J.

WEDNESDAY, Nov. 3d.

Edward Carr, for drunkennesss, was fined $5, costs $6.90; jail in default of payment.

The Times of the 3d was jubilant, and resplendent with roosters,—all the birds, however, being engaged in walking toward the edge of the paper, and holding their heads so high that they appeared likely to fall off when they got there; pride goeth before a fall; we are not liable to fall at present on account of the election in this city, county or congressional district. The Times has reason for feeling fairly well, the editor-in-chief being incumbent of an important federal and political office, its local editor triumphantly elected clerk of his ward, and its foreman chosen to the responsible and we suppose remunerative position of county commissioner. But if the whole force goes into official life, who'll run the paper?

The largest vote cast in this city on the 2d inst. for any candidate was that for Samuel W. Emery, Esq., for county solicitor, who had 1330, leading the republican candidate for solicitor by 620, the democratic candidate for governor by fifty-nine, and Rev. L. F. McKinney by ninety-one.

At the church of the Immaculate Conception, on Wednesday morning of this week, Miss Annie Anderson, daughter of Mr. Robert Anderson, was married to Mr. Charles Garrity, Rev. E. M. O'Callaghan, the rector, officiating. Mr. Joseph Sullivan was the best man, and Miss Lizzie Anderson, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. A wedding breakfast was served at the residence of the bride's father, and partaken of by a large number of friends of the newly married pair, who took the forenoon train west for a short bridal trip. The wedding presents were numerous and handsome.

The public is cordially invited to the ordination and installation of Mr. Lee H. Fisher, pastor-elect of the First Universalist church of this city. An address will be delivered this afternoon at 4 o'clock by Rev. C. B. Lynn, of College Hill, who is a very accomplished speaker. The services in the evening will be very interesting.

Mr. John Bickford, a veteran of the late war, was found dead in bed at his home in Newcastle on the morning of the 2d inst. He had been subject to fits, and probably died in one.

The brick schooners Lillie, Hattie Lewis, Estella, J. Chester Wood and Clara B. Kennard arrived from Boston on the 3d inst., having made a long trip this time, owing to unfavorable weather. The East Wind, a little schooner from eastern Maine, arrived the same day, and went up to Eliot to load with apples.

The Boston Traveller says of "Sis," which is to be performed at Music hall this evening: "Miss Myra Goodwin, the star, is a young and pretty Boston lady, and is very pleasing. The dialogue of the piece is bright, and abounds in fun and good jokes. The specialty business, the excellent singing and graceful dancing of Miss Goodwin were received by the audience with favor, and repeated encores were demanded." Tickets at Goodrich's; see advertisement.

The whole number of pupils enrolled in the public schools of this city for the month of October, was twelve hundred and forty-four. The average daily attendance was eleven hundred and ninety-seven. Number of pupils not absent, tardy, or dismissed, four hundred and twenty. The above does not include the High school, which has an attendance of about one hundred and thirty.

Miss Pauline Markham, the former famous burlesque actress, will appear on the Music hall stage every evening next week as the leading actress in a series of the most popular emotional plays of the day, in which she has won high favor from the critics of the New York press. Popular prices—ten, twenty and thirty cents—will rule through the week.

We learn that Miss Nellie E. Rand, an especially capable member of the city's competent and valuable corps of public school teachers, has accepted the position recently tendered her as teacher of a school in Chicopee, Mass.

Mr. Benjamin Green, who for some years past has occupied the position of clerk in Mr. J. H. Thacher's drug store, left town this week to locate in the west, probably in Cincinnati, Ohio.

The Eureka Bakery, J. C. Stevens proprietor, on and after this date will have on sale every week-day morning hot rolls, and hot Vienna and cream bread, baked at No. 62 Daniel street, and sold there, and delivered from the cart by Mr. Gilman B. Randall.

Boucle and Astrachan for outside garments, and Astrachan for dress trimmings, are shown in all the colors by Lewis E. Staples at No. 7 Market street.

EASTERN RAILROAD COMPANY.

To the Holders of Certificates of Indebtedness.

THE voting register of certificate holders is now making up at the office of the Eastern Railroad on Causeway Street, Boston, Mass. Holders already registered are not required to register anew. Any holder not already registered can register on presenting at said office of said Eastern Railroad Company to Edward Lelay a written statement signed by himself of his name, address, and the denomination and numbers of the certificates held by him. If the company shall so require, the holder desiring to register shall also duly verify his title thereto by producing said certificates of indebtedness, or filing with the Company the written order of the person last registered as the holder, or in such other mode as may be prescribed by the laws of Massachusetts and the regulations of the Trustees.

The voting register will be closed at the close of business on the 15th day of November, A. D. 1886, between which time and the special meeting for the election of a trustee on the twenty-third day of November, A. D. 1886, no registration for the purpose of said special meeting will be made.

For order of the Directors.

To the Holders of Certificates of Indebtedness.

The Voting Register of Certificate holders is now making up at the office of the Company in Boston, Mass.

Persons desiring to have their names placed upon said Register in order to vote at the coming election must comply with the following regulation of the Trustees

"Every holder of Certificates of Indebtedness who desires to have them registered in his name shall present to the Trustees at their office, No. 10 Tremont street, Boston, a written statement signed by him and giving his address and the denomination and number of every certificate of indebtedness claimed to be held by him, and shall, if required by said Trustees, verify this title by exhibiting such certificates and the written order of the last registered holder of the same, or other evidence of his title to the reasonable satisfaction of the Trustees; and said Trustees, if satisfied with his title, shall endorse their approval upon said written statement, and said certificate holder may thereupon be registered in conformity thereto. The approval of one of said Trustees shall be sufficient authority for such registration, and no registration after the 13th day of August, 1886, shall be valid without such approval, and no approval shall be granted after the time for closing the register."

The voting register will close at the close of business on the 15th day of November, between which time and the special meeting on the 23d day of November, 1886, no registration will be allowed.

Discovery of a Northern River.

Lieut. Stoney, who was sent out by the United States government to explore Putnam river, Alaska, which was discovered by him in 1883, has found a river to the north which the natives say empties into the Arctic near Point Barrow. The river is supposed to be the same as the one at the mouth of which Lieut. Ray established his headquarters during his observing expedition. Along the banks of this river were Indians who had never before seen a white man. Lieut. Stoney afterwards explored Natak river to its headwaters, and found it longer than the Putnam. He intends starting last January on a series of explorations east and north.—Frank Leslie's.

Berlin papers copy from The Germania an account of an important discovery in glass manufacture made by Friedrich Siemens of Dresden. He has succeeded in casting glass in the same way as metal is cast and obtaining an article corresponding to cast metal. This cast glass is hard, not dearer in production than cast iron, and has the advantage of transparency, so that all flaws can be detected before it is applied to practical use. It will be much less exposed to injury from atmospheric influences than iron. The process of production is not difficult, the chief feature being rapid cooling. The hardness and resisting power of this cast glass are so great that experiments are being just now carried out at the Siemens glass foundry at Dresden with the purpose of ascertaining whether the material could be employed for rails on railways.—London Times.

To strive to forget enemies, or to throw out to them only friendly thought, is as much an act of self-protection as it is to put up your hands to ward off a physical blow. The persistent thought of friendliness turns aside thought of ill-will and renders it harmless.—Prentice Mulford in "White Cross Library."

As Well as at Home.

Mr. Cyrus W. Field finds that when on the Pacific coast or in London he can direct his business affairs almost as well as when he is at home. "That is what the telegraph has done. The only place where a man is cut off from his business in these days is an ocean steamer on a voyage."—Exchange.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey as Duffy's Formula.

For the Weak and Debilitated and Wasting Diseases.

191 W. FAYETTE ST. Baltimore, Md.
The Duffy Malt Whiskey Co., Baltimore, Md.

Dear Sirs—I beg to add my name among the many who have been greatly benefited by the use of your celebrated Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, and I desire to cheerfully add my testimony to its marvelous powers in building up the enervated system. I have suffered from those terrible debilitating wells which are the result of extreme nervousness. Frequently I believed I was dying. Violent nervous headaches were also another symptom of my malady. A friend suggested that I try Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, and I did so. At but little faith that it could possibly improve my condition, yet I faithfully took it, however, been fully restored, and I can scarcely realize that I was ever sick. As a medicinal tonic and nerve stimulant, I consider Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey beyond the estimation of monetary value.
MRS. ELLA FEDDERMAN.

670 JERSEY ST., New Orleans, La.
Gentlemen—I have given your medicine a thorough trial. I am now using the third bottle of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. When I commenced to use it I was not able to be out of bed, and now I am up from 9 o'clock in the morning until 9 o'clock at night. Several ladies who noticed the improvement in the sale key had made in my health, recommended it to me, and they all think I have done them a great favor in telling about it.
MRS. LUCIEN DUCOS.

7 W. 110TH STREET, NEW YORK, N. Y.
Gentlemen—I have used your Duffy's Formula and Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, and find it very beneficial in many respects. My appetite is better and I sleep better. My case is one of long standing, being Chronic Bronchitis, with some catarrhal trouble. Think your preparation very excellent.
MRS. F. P. HAVILAND.

218 S. GEORGE ST. YORK, PA.
Gentlemen—I am a great sufferer with Asthma or Phthisic, and my lungs are very weak. I am using your Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey and think it relieves me more than anything I have yet used. MRS. AMELIA BISHOP.

Gentlemen—I concur in the endorsement of all that has been said of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey.
F. E. SPINNER,
Late Treasurer of the United States.

THE DUFFY MALT WHISKEY CO.,
BALTIMORE, MD.

The Duffy's Formula is a special household application of the medicinal virtues and purity of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, and is intended more especially for the treatment of Consumption, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Malaria, General Debility and all Wasting Diseases. In addition to the tonic effect of our whiskey, it furnishes unoxidized blood-forming material, whereby the Weight and Strength are increased. It is made in accordance with a specially prepared formula and consists principally of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey and fluid extract of beef, combined in liquid form, the nutritious elements of the beef being extracted without cooking or chemical changes by a new process, making it the most palatable and efficacious beef preparation ever made. It can be had of all dealers at ONE DOLLAR PER BOTTLE.

I was sick this fall with the rheumatism. I took the Athlophoros, and in less than two hours I could move one of my legs. In ten hours I got off my bed alone, and in eighteen hours my fever had gone. Wm. Sawyer, West Hampden, Me.

Surveyor Beattie, of the New York custom house, who was recently shot in the hand and groin by Louis Bieral, an inspector, discharged for swindling an emigrant, was not seriously injured.

After Diphtheria.

Diphtheria is a terrible disease, requiring the greatest medical skill to effect a complete cure. Even when its power is broken, it clings to the patient with great persistency, and often leaves the system poisoned and prostrated. Just here Hood's Sarsaparilla does a vast amount of good, expelling impurities from the blood, giving it richness and vitality, while it renovates and strengthens the system.

Scientists calculate that the earth will cease revolving in about six thousand million years from now. Let it stop; who cares?

The usual treatment of catarrh is very unsatisfactory, as thousands of despairing patients can testify. On this point a trustworthy medical writer says: "Proper local treatment is positively necessary to success, but many, if not most of the remedies in general use by physicians afford but temporary benefit. A cure certainly cannot be expected from snuffs, powders, douches and washes." Ely's Cream Balm is a remedy which combines the important requisites of quick action, specific curative power with perfect safety and pleasantness to the patient.

Queen Victoria was presented a few days ago with a specially made umbrella from Glasgow. The handle was a round globe of fine gold representing the world, studied over with precious stones to represent her majesty's dominions.

Stop and Think

how much money you have thrown away buying worthless medicines, prepared by unprincipled parties, who care not what harm they may do to your system. You can depend on every bottle of Sulpher Bitters as being a reliable medicine. It searches out and cleanses from the blood all impure matter, and makes you feel like a new person.—Boston Globe.

Official notice is given by the lighthouse board that on and after Dec. 1st the electric light at Hell Gate, on Hallett's point, Astoria, N. Y., will be discontinued.

Skin diseases cannot be successfully treated by external applications. The proper way to cure such complaints is to purify the blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Under the vitalizing influence of this medicine all the functions of the body are brought into healthy action.

Says the Providence Journal: "Mr. Powderly has a little too comprehensive an idea of himself. He did not stand in Cooper Institute speaking for Henry George as 'the representative of every man in the country who uses a tool.' It is to be feared that Mr. Powderly, like Mr. George, has lost his head."

Eastern railroad stock made its biggest jump on record at the brokers' board in Boston on Thursday last, going up sharply on a good demand from 110, the closing price of Wednesday, to 121 1-2 bid just before three o'clock. That a plan for a consolidation that shall take in the Eastern, Boston & Maine and Maine Central roads has been agreed upon, and will be submitted to the stockholders of the several corporations at their respective annual meetings, soon to be held, is reported to have been admitted by people who are in a position to be informed on the matter. To this the bulls say the gain is due, and in confirmation of their position they cite a contemporaneous advance in Maine Central from 131 to 138. The bears, on the other hand, assert that the buying comes solely from the shorts, and that the upward movement is the result wholly of manipulation. Whatever the cause, the stock went up like a balloon.

An Obstacle to Physical Well Being.

Physicians rightly characterize constipation as an obstinate impediment to the welfare of the body. The performance of the more important functions, such as digestion, biliary secretion and an active circulation of the blood, are interrupted by it in a greater or less degree, as the development of the complaint is incipient or mature. Not at once, of course, but with reasonable promptitude, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will remove every symptom to which it gives rise, as well as the minor maladies that spring from it, among them indigestion and chronic biliousness. From drenching cathartics it is vain to hope for permanent benefit, and there are few purgatives that are not violent and profuse in their operation. Blue pills and calomel are designed to act upon the liver only, and taken frequently are pernicious to health. The Bitters produces relaxation of the bowels without pain, and a renewal of their regularity. It also conquers fever and ague, rheumatism, neuralgia and inactivity of the kidneys.

ANOTHER SUDDEN DEATH.

Hardly a week passes without the mention by the newspapers of sudden deaths, and of late the alarming frequency of the statement that death was caused by rheumatism or neuralgia of the heart cannot fail to have been noticed. In all probability many deaths attributed to heart disease are caused by these terrible diseases, which are far more dangerous than is generally considered. Is there any positive cure? The best answer to such a question is given by those who have been cured by the use of Athlophoros.

Dover, N. H., March 23, 1886.

I have for years suffered with muscular rheumatism in back of my head, neck and arms; the pain was intense and seemed to grow steadily worse. I used two bottles of Athlophoros and it brought relief almost immediately. I believe Athlophoros to be a pure, honest medicine, and there is no question it will certainly cure rheumatism.
MRS. F. KENNEDY, Orchard Street.

Chicopee, Mass., May 23, 1886.

I have suffered for over five years with muscular rheumatism, being treated by several physicians, besides taking numberless remedies; the doctors could not cure me and the different medicines gave me no relief. There was one remedy I had not tried—Athlophoros. I bought three bottles of it, taking them according to directions. I commenced at night before retiring. The next morning, after a good night's rest, I was perfectly free from pain. My rheumatism went and has never returned. Athlophoros effected a cure in my obstinate case and I believe it will in that of any one suffering with rheumatism or neuralgia.
G. E. LEWIS.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

For liver and kidney diseases, dyspepsia, indigestion, weakness, nervous debility, diseases of women, constipation, headache, impure blood, &c., Athlophoros Pills are unequaled. 2

THE FUNNY MAN'S TASK.

The Reason Why Many Writers Become Worked Out—Brain and Stomach.

Not many moths ago a certain Boston newspaper was quoted from one end of the country to the other. Its humorous lyrics gave it a great reputation suddenly, and the paper, hitherto unheard of, went up like a rocket. At the present time, however, we seldom find the paper quoted; its verses are popular no longer—the rocket has fallen a stick. The experience which the Boston paper has had does not differ from the experience which many other American papers have had during the last ten years. The craze for humorous writing has possessed many a newspaper which led a glorious career for a few weeks and then sank into obscurity. The trouble with the Boston humorous poet seems to have been that he worked himself out, and this, we will add, seems to have been the trouble with most of the newspaper humorists who have flourished and waned within the last decade.

There is no harder task in the world than that of attempting the same class of work for a protracted period, and in the literary profession the hardest kind of work one can be called upon to sustain is humor. We have frequently remarked that no man can sustain any kind of literary work unless he meanwhile constantly improves and replenishes his mind; he must read, study, converse, see, travel—in short, he must be feeding his intellectuals all the time upon a variety of food, or his intellectuals will surely be exhausted before his ambition has been satisfied. The great mistakes of young writers are two. The first is in supposing that the mind is a self-feeding machine that is capable of producing indefinitely and requiring no special attention at the hands of the proprietors; the second is in supposing that the mind is capable of answering at once the demands of occasion, no matter how enormous those demands may be.

The brain and the stomach are twins, and they demand similar treatment. The stomach demands regular refreshment and regular rest, and so does the brain. If the stomach doesn't get what it demands it makes serious trouble, but this trouble is a mere nothing compared with the worry, the vexation and the disappointment that an impoverished and abused brain will cause a man. It would be fair, we think, to estimate that about 90 per cent. of the newspaper writers in this country neglect their brains; in this estimate we do not, of course, include the large number whose possession of brains is simply an allegation. The humorists, so-called, make a still sorrier showing. We will venture to say that 95 per cent. of their number have petered out merely because they have failed to recognize the great truth that the intellectual machine must be kept in running order or it will not run.

A writer should never play out; he should do good work up to the years of senility, and senility should not come to him any earlier than it comes to the blacksmith, the merchant, or the farmer. But just as the blacksmith, the merchant and the farmer succeed in their vocations by exercising prudence and enterprise, so must the writer be willing to work out his ends. He must be "laying in" stock, or his supply will quickly be exhausted. He must study and and progress with the world, for the world is studying and progressing, and he who thinks not makes in that judgment a fatal mistake.—Chicago News.

The Itch Water" of Tarsus.

There is near Tarsus, St. Paul's old city, a stream of mineral water from the cavity of a limestone rock. It is rank with the smell of bitumen. The soil over which it passes is dark. It is called "itch water," for the natives who have the itch here do, as our sick Indians used to do at the mud baths of Colorado and California, cover themselves with the black muck and get cured in a brief time. This stream is only three hours' ride from Tarsus. Who knows that Tarsus may not again come to the front, dropping the scales from its sightless eyes, and under a new light give some trouble to our Pennsylvania, Ohio, and West Virginia proprietors, if not to those of Jebel Zeit or Baku?—S. S. Cox in Chicago Times.

Red Shades and Pink Newspapers.

Red lamp shades are a monstrosity. Dr. Forbes Winslow gives facts to show how injurious to the eyes are the red and yellow rays of the ordinary oil lamps and gas, and shows that a certain amount of blue in the lamp shades will prevent their bad effects. Pink and buff-toned paper for newspapers are a great mistake. The best paper for the eyes is that which is nearly white, with a slight bluish or lilac tint.—Herald of Health.

But Two Perfect Women.

Two ladies are conversing on the qualities and demerits of their own fair sex. Said one, with a twinkle in her beautiful eyes: "I have never known but two women who were really perfect." Who was the other?" asked her companion, with a smile on her thin face.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Doctor—I will leave you this medicine to take after each meal.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and all Throat and Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire this receipt, in German, French, English, with the directions for preparing and using. THE ELECTION.

The Associated press despatch from Concord on the morning of the 4th inst. said:

Returns from 224 towns and wards give Sawyer, republican, 37,703; Cogswell, democrat, 36,655; Wentworth, prohibition, and scattering, 2,176. Only ten small towns remain to be heard from. A majority being necessary, Sawyer falls of an election by the people.

The vote in the first congressional district is very close, with probabilities in favor of the election of McKinney. The republicans have certainly carried the first, third and fourth councillor districts, and the democrats the fifth. Returns from the second district indicate the probable election of Linehan, republican, by a small majority. The republicans have carried thirteen and the democrats seven senatorial districts, the result in the remaining four districts being in doubt. Returns for representatives show 170 republicans and 141 democrats. Conceding to the democrats the five not heard from it will make the republican majority twenty-four in the house. This with three majority in the senate will give them twenty-seven on joint ballot in the legislature.

A Concord despatch of the 4th said the election of McKinney by 150 over Haynes was conceded.

Morrison of Illinois, of "horizontal reduction" fame, is defeated for re-election to Congress, by 750; in 1884 he had 2600 majority.

Speaker Carlisle's majority for his return to Congress is not over 200, if indeed he has any at all.

Mr. McPherson of the republican congressional committee on the 4th said the democratic majority in the next house will not be over six or eight, if so many.

The Washington Republican of the 4th said: "If the returns are to be trusted, and we have reason to believe them reliable, the republicans have a majority in the house, and the house committees of the Fiftieth Congress will be named by Speaker Thomas B. Reed of Maine. The first democratic administration with which the nation has been afflicted since democratic statesmen plotted against the old flag in the cabinet of James Buchanan has been tried for twenty months, and the country says 'enough.'"

HAMPTON JOTTINGS.

HAMPTON, Oct. 30th.

The Congregational society were surprised to learn that their pastor, Rev. W. W. Fay, had received a unanimous call from the society in Watertown, Mass.

There are three gentleman of high standing in this town, who tip the scales at exactly 212 lbs.

Mr. Curtis DeLancey, while returning from York Nubble one day recently, was thrown from the team by the horse taking fright from the engine near Market street in Portsmouth; no bones were broken, but severe bruises were received which were very painful for a time, but he hopes to be out on the 2d of November.

Rev. R. A. DeLancey has recovered his health in a measure, so that he has supplied the pulpit for three successive Sabbaths in Hampton, Rye and Amesbury.

We heard the sound of marriage bells on Wednesday, the 20th, when Mr. Alvin True of Amesbury was united in marriage to Miss Annie May Marston, the modest and beautiful belle of the town. Mr. True has secured a most estimable partner for life; she is the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Marston. Costly and numerous were the presents of the bride. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. W. Fay. The new married pair are residing in Amesbury, Mass.

Boucle and Astrachan for outside garments, and Astrachan for dress trimmings, are shown in all the colors by Lewis E. Staples at No. 7 Market street.

boon ever bestowed upon man is perfect health, and the true way to insure health is to purify your blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Mrs. Eliza A. Clough, 34 Arlington st., Lowell, Mass., writes: "Every winter and spring my family, including myself, use several bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Experience has convinced me that, as a powerful purifier, it is very much superior to any other preparation of Sarsaparilla. All persons of scrofulous or consumptive tendencies, and especially delicate children, are sure to be greatly benefited by its use." J. W. Starr, Laconia, Iowa, writes: "For years I was troubled with Scrofulous complaints. I tried several different preparations, which did me little, if any, good. Two bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla effected a complete cure. It is my opinion that this medicine is the best blood of the day." C. E. Upton, Nashua, N. H., writes: "For a number of years I was troubled with a humor in my eyes, and unable to obtain relief until I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I have taken several bottles, am greatly benefited, and believe it to be the best of blood purifiers." R. Harris, Creel City, Ramsey Co., Dakota, writes: "I have been an intense sufferer, with Dyspepsia, for the past three years. Six months ago I began to use

It has effected an entire cure, and I am now as well as ever."

INVESTMENTS.

I am prepared to furnish the most desirable investments in County Bonds and Guaranteed Farm Mortgages, paying 6 and 7 per cent semi-annually. On Farm Mortgages, only from 25 to 33 per cent of the actual cash value of the property is loaned, and the title, location, quality of land and future prospects of the property are personally looked up. Farm Loans are, when negotiated by experienced and responsible parties, the most profitable security offered, especially for those having small sums to invest from time to time. The Loans I offer are First-Class in every respect. Principal and interest when due, paid here without expense to the holder.

I have these Loans in sums from $300 to $5,000.

MYRA GOODWIN AS "SIS."

A very large amount of fun was served out to a fair audience at Music hall on Thursday evening—enough to have gone around in an audience of twice the number, and then had some left over. "Sis," a comedy-drama, as it is called, has not a great plot, but it has enough of a plot to follow and be quite interested in, and to permit of some good acting. The emotional and the absurd crowd each other in the most comical fashion, and the many "extras" which are the great charm of the entertainment seem to drop in as naturally as falling off a log. Miss Myra Goodwin is a fascinating soubrette actress, sings beautifully and dances superbly, and is very strongly supported. The piece bubbles over with innocent, rollicking fun, and there is nothing whatever in it to offend. 'Tis a good show.

WHOOSE "BOODLE" PAID HIM?

The Times, the day after election, announced that "every vestige of republicanism has been wiped out in this city," "in spite of the liberal use of Sawyer's boodle." That there was a large amount of "boodle" used at the election will certainly not be questioned by the republicans; but the miss-spelling by the Times of the name of the gentleman who furnished most of it, causes democrats and republicans alike to smile. Whose "boodle" was it that induced Fred Fleming—or whatever the bummer's name may be—to carry the democratic ticket in ward one, voting on another man's name? Possibly he was influenced solely by patriotism, and devotion to the cause of Cleveland and reform, and the purification of the ballot!

LONGFELLOW'S DREAM.

"Longfellow's Dream," which was so popular in Boston and vicinity last season, will be produced at Music hall on Nov. 17th, under the auspices of the ladies' society of the Universalist church. It is a medium through which music, oratory, sculpture, painting, processions, etc., are presented. With the exception of Browning, no modern poet has illustrated, or created, such diversity of character as Longfellow. In the dream appear antique Greeks, Jews, Egyptians, Japanese, queens, peasants, old style Yankees, airy creatures of mythology, and enough of lovely children to convert the stage of Music hall into a garden of June roses. The draping of these characters gives opportunity for the display of exquisite taste; the committee having this detail in charge will doubtless satisfy the most exacting critic.

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, Thursday evening, Nov. 4th, Mayor Eldredge in the chair:

Present the full board.

Records of last meeting read and approved.

Application of Mrs. J. Wesley Rand and others, for a naptha light on Wentworth street, was referred to committee on lights, with power.

Applications for eleven new electric lights (in addition to applications for three made at a previous meeting), were received; and the committee on lights were empowered to establish and erect fourteen new lights, in accordance with the petitions.

Edward Jameson asked leave to erect a small building at the foot of Court street, near the river; referred to com. on city lands and buildings, with power.

Application of the Misses Vennard, for relay of sidewalk on Vaughan street, was referred to com. on streets, with power.

Matter of purchasing an automatic fire-alarm whistle for Eldredge brewery was indefinitely postponed.

Special committee on landing at Concord railroad wharf were granted further time.

The matter of claim of Wm. S. Willey against the city for alleged injury to a right of way, was referred to the com. on streets with the mayor added, to endeavor to effect a settlement.

Bills amounting to $2424.42 were ordered paid.

Application of Frank W. Rice for light on Sheafe street was referred to com. on lights to report.

Report of city marshal for quarter ending Oct. 30th was accepted.

City marshal reported that $17 were collected for dog licenses the past year.

It was voted that when the board adjourn it be for four weeks.

Aldermen Urch and Hodgdon gave notice that they should, at the next meeting of the board, object to the payment of any bills approved by the board during the interregnum.

Voted that the bills accruing during the next month be paid when approved by the com. on accounts and signed by the mayor.

Adjourned to Thursday, Dec. 2d, at eight o'clock P. M.

ORDINATION SERVICES.

Mr. Lee H. Fisher was ordained to the Christian ministry, and installed as pastor of the First Universalist church of this city, on Thursday, the 4th inst. In the afternoon an able and earnest address on "The value of public worship" was delivered by Rev. C. B. Lynn of College Hill, to a large and interested audience. The ordination exercises took place in the evening, the congregation filling the church. After an organ voluntary by Miss Fanny Tilton, and the singing of an anthem by the choir, a psalm was read by Rev. J. W. Carney, a classmate of Mr. Fisher's at Tufts College. This was followed by the singing of a hymn and reading of scripture, and the preaching of an eloquent sermon by Rev. Dr. C. W. Biddle; the choir sang another anthem, and Rev. Dr. Chas. Leonard offered the ordination prayer, the choir making response; the charge to the pastor and delivery of scriptures were by Rev. Dr. A. J. Patterson, former pastor of the church; the right hand of fellowship was given by Rev. Jas. Eastwood, and the charge to the people by Rev. Mr. Vail; an ordination hymn by Rev. A. F. Walch was sung, the pastor pronounced the benediction, and the large audience dispersed.

If the democratic county officials are elected, Portsmouth democrats will come in for a goodly show of places. The high sheriff, county treasurer, county solicitor and one of the county commissioners in Portsmouth will leave but a small number of places for the rest of the county. But then the assessments are heaviest here.

The "independent party of Portsmouth and vicinity," who held a convention at the Rockingham house "for the transaction of important business," one evening the week before the late election, was at the polls in ward one election day with his hands full of straight democratic tickets, industriously peddling them out to the faithful.

Mr. Henry S. Page on Tuesday of this week moved with his family to Manchester.

"The Fifth of November, as I do remember, the gunpowder treason and plot." This evening a lot of boys in this city will blow tin horns and make night hideous in commemoration of a circumstance of which few of them ever heard, and which occurred in another land centuries ago. We do not know that "Pope night" is celebrated by the boys of any place in the country besides Portsmouth, and the silly observance might well be given up here.

Mrs. J. M. Tebbetts in another column invites the attention of the ladies to her extensive and choice assortment of millinery, ribbons, jet and fancy trimmings, specialties in hat and bonnet frames, etc.

The ladies of the Pearl street church will hold a fair in Franklin hall next week, on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings, in aid of the church.

Clothes-line thieves are reported as active in some parts of the city. The lines at the Boston & Maine railroad station were cleared of clothes on the night of the third inst., though the thieves had to scale a high fence to do it.

An alarm of fire sounded on Thursday morning, 4th inst., at about five o'clock, after the Chronicle edition of that date was more than half worked off, was caused by a trifling blaze in a grocery store on McDonough street kept by Ordway R. Hall. The fire department turned out, but their services were not required. The burning of a small hole in the floor was the only damage done.

The schooner Agnes E. Downs, Capt. Levi Downs, and the schooner Albert Woodbury, Capt. Ephraim Henry Downs, have arrived back from mackereling, and are fitting for winter fishing out of this port.

Wm. Pitt Moses, second clerk in the office of the commandant of the navy yard, has been removed, and A. M. Brackett of Wakefield, a relative of Hon. Frank Jones' clerk, appointed in his place.

Schooner D. K. Ham, Garland master, arrived from Boston on the evening of the 3d inst., and proceeded up river to load.

EASTERN RAILROAD COMPANY.

To the Holders of Certificates of Indebtedness.

THE voting register of certificate holders is now making up at the office of the Eastern Railroad on Causeway Street, Boston, Mass. Holders already registered are not required to register anew. Any holder not already registered can register on presenting at said office of said Eastern Railroad Company to Edward Lo-ley a written statement signed by himself or himself, address, and the denomination and numbers of the certificates held by him. If the company shall so require, the holder desiring to register shall also duly verify his title thereto by producing said certificate of indebtedness, or filing with the Company the written order of the person last registered as the holder, or in such other mode as may be prescribed by the laws of Massachusetts and the regulations of the Trustees.

The voting register will be closed at the close of business on the 15th day of November, A. D. 1886, between which time and the special meeting for the election of a trustee on the twenty-third day of November, A. D. 1886, no registration for the purpose of said special meeting will be made.

Per order of the Directors,
td FRANCIS I. AMORY, Clerk.

EASTERN RAILROAD COMPANY.

A SPECIAL meeting of the holders of Certificates of Indebtedness issued under the act entitled "An Act for the relief of the Eastern Railroad Company and the securing of its debts and liabilities," passed April 23, 1875, will be held at the Meionnon, in Boston, Massachusetts, U. S. A., on the 23d day of November, 1886, at eleven o'clock A. M., for the purpose of electing a new Trustee under said act in place of William B. Bacon, who has resigned said trust.

EASTERN RAILROAD COMPANY.

To the Holders of Certificates of Indebtedness.

The Voting Register of Certificate holders is now making up at the office of the Company in Boston, Mass.

Persons desiring to have their names placed upon said Register in order to vote at the coming election must comply with the following regulation of the Trustees:

"Every holder of Certificates of Indebtedness who desires to have them registered in his name shall present to the Trustees at their office, No. 18 Tremont street, Boston, a written statement signed by him and giving his address and the denomination and number of every certificate of Indebtedness claimed to be held by him, and shall, if required by said Trustees, verify this title by exhibiting such certificates and the written order of the last registered holder of the same, or other evidence of his title to the reasonable satisfaction of the Trustees; and said Trustees, if satisfied with his title, shall endorse their approval upon said written statement, and said certificate holder may thereupon be registered in conformity thereto. The approval of one of said Trustees shall be sufficient authority for such registration, and no registration after the 13th day of August, 1886, shall be valid without such approval, and no approval shall be granted after the time for closing the register."

The voting register will close at the close of business on the 10th day of November, between which time and the special meeting on the 23d day of November, 1886, no registration will be allowed.

Artificially Made Quinine.

A London paper conveys the information that Dr. Cresswell Hewett, of Lincoln's-inn-fields, had discovered the synthetical or artificial mode of making quinine, by which the price of that drug will be reduced to something like 3d per ounce. The importance of this discovery (which was made through the accidental breaking of a medicine bottle), is rendered greater by the fact that while hitherto we have been depending for our quinine on the cultivation of the cinchona tree, from whose bark only about 2 per cent. of good quinine can be extracted, 98 per cent. being valueless, the drug can now be manufactured without limit by a very simple process from an article which can always be got in abundance in any part of the world.

A few days ago Dr. Hewitt submitted a sample of his preparations to Messrs. Howard & Sons, quinine manufacturers, Stratford, who have expressed surprise at the result of their analysis, the sample being equal to the best quinine in the market. The discoverer is about to communicate with the government, who annually spend in India alone about 60,000 pounds sterling in the cultivation of the tree.

A Novel Rope Railway.

A rope railway on a rather novel principle is to be built at Genoa. Instead of a stationary engine which acts directly upon the endless cable, the locomotive which conducts the train from Balzaneto to the foot of the hill will be detached, and its wheels will serve as pulleys for the cable. It is thought that this arrangement will be much more economical than that of a stationary engine, which would necessarily have a horse-power greater than would often be needed.—Boston Transcript.

Oxalic Acid in Tomatoes.

The principal acid of the tomato is malic; but there is also a trace of oxalic acid which would be dangerous if it existed in large quantities. The oxalic acid acts on the tin in the cans and produces a dangerous compound. The malic acid does not act so strongly. If glass is used there can be no danger, and the flavor of the fruit will be much better retained.—Exchange.

CURE

djeo17,81

No Penalty Attached.

The solicitor of the treasury, Mr. McCue, has rendered to the secretary of the treasury an opinion in the matter of the alleged attempt at smuggling, by the officers of the United States training-ships Portsmouth and Saratoga. He decides that the wines, etc., for use on board the vessel, and clothing and other articles for the use of the officers themselves, were exempt from duty. Fancy articles, imported by them as presents, or for the use of other persons, were subject to duty, but no penalty attaches to their importation in this manner.

After Diphtheria.

Diphtheria is a terrible disease, requiring the greatest medical skill to effect a complete cure. Even when its power is broken, it clings to the patient with great persistency, and often leaves the system poisoned and prostrated. Just here Hood's Sarsaparilla does a vast amount of good, expelling impurities from the blood, giving it richness and vitality, while it renovates and strengthens the system.

At Varna, Nov. 3d, the Russian consular officials, with the help of sailors from the Russian men-of-war, tore down a number of placards which had been posted in the city by order of the Bulgarian government. The Russian consul threatened to land troops if the authorities attempted to prevent the removal of the placards.

The usual treatment of catarrh is very unsatisfactory, as thousands of despairing patients can testify. On this point a trustworthy medical writer says: "Proper local treatment is positively necessary to success, but many, if not most of the remedies in general use by physicians afford but temporary benefit. A cure certainly cannot be expected from snuffs, powders, douches and washes." Ely's Cream Balm is a remedy which combines the important requisites of quick action, specific curative power with perfect safety and pleasantness to the patient.

Rev. David Kelly, a colored man, died in Pittsburg, Pa., several days ago. In 1851 he organized the Liberian Enterprise society, which made the pioneer settlement in Liberia. Kelly remained in Africa over twenty-seven years, discovered rich diamond and iron mines, gained great influence over the natives, and by his efforts made Liberia a republic. He was often asked to become president, but as often refused. A little over three years ago he and his wife returned to America.

Skin diseases cannot be successfully treated by external applications. The proper way to cure such complaints is to purify the blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Under the vitalizing influence of this medicine all the functions of the body are brought into healthy action.

Mrs. Ham, an aged lady of Sangerville, Me., was found dead in a brook in that town Oct. 30th. It is thought her cane slipped from the log on which she was crossing, and she fell into the water in such a manner that she could not get out.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound revives the drooping spirits, invigorates and harmonizes the organic functions.

At Hadkins, N. Y., Nov. 3d, a train ran into a gang of workmen engaged in ballasting, and two Italians were killed and two fatally wounded.

A railroad engineer in New York was cured of kidney complaint by wearing a Hop Plaster. 25c.

Near Vicksburg, Miss., Nov. 3d, a train was ditched, and one tramp was killed, while eleven others were wounded.

Hundreds of persons who have used Ayer's Hair Vigor attest its value, as a stimulant and tonic, for preventing and curing baldness, cleansing the scalp, and restoring the youthful color to faded and gray hair.

A hotel at Logootee, Ind., was burned on the night of Nov. 2d, and three men perished in the flames.

A dispatch from Tonquin states that a body of Chinese armed with repeating rifles ambushed a party of Tonquinese riflemen near Phanka, province of Namkinh, killing thirty. At the same time a force of 1,200 Chinese made an attack upon the fort at Dong Song, but were repulsed.

D. Lothrop & Co. announce that Mrs. Celia Thaxter has written twenty-four poems for the sumptuous folio volume which they will publish before the holidays under the title of Idyls and Pastorals; they are accompanied by twenty-four superb photogravures by eminent American and foreign artists.

F. Childe Hassam, the water color painter, has completed a series of twenty-four striking studies of youthful race types and costumes, which the same house will at once publish in photogravure reproductions under the title of Youth in Twelve Centuries. A character poem by M. E. B. accompanies each picture.

They also announce that, leading in the great literary movement towards lower prices and larger sales, they have made, without reducing quantity or quality, an extraordinary reduction in the price of the Wide Awake, the best illustrated young folks' magazine, (1,000 quarto pages and 500 original pictures yearly.) and will now receive subscriptions at the former wholesale price of only $2.40 a year.

About the most cruel thing that has been reported from Connecticut lately was the conduct of three citizens of Norwich, who were on Niantic bay recently in search of ducks. A gale was blowing, and a bevy of quail, which had evidently been blown off shore, alighted on the duck shooters' boat, too weary to fly any further. The shooters deliberately shot ten of the tired little fellows, and the few that escaped went wearily winging their way out over the bay, and doubtless were drowned.

ANOTHER SUDDEN DEATH.

Hardly a week passes without the mention by the newspapers of sudden deaths, and of late the alarming frequency of the statement that death was caused by rheumatism or neuralgia of the heart cannot fail to have been noticed. In all probability many deaths attributed to heart disease are caused by these terrible diseases, which are far more dangerous than is generally considered. Is there any positive cure? The best answer to such a question is given by those who have been cured by the use of Athlophoros.

Dover, N. H., March 23, 1886.

I have for years suffered with muscular rheumatism in back of my head, neck and arms; the pain was intense and seemed to grow steadily worse. I used two bottles of Athlophoros and it brought relief almost immediately. I believe Athlophoros to be a pure, honest medicine, and there is no question it will certainly cure rheumatism.

MRS. F. KENNEDY, Orchard Street.

Chicopee, Mass., May 23, 1886.

I have suffered for over five years with muscular rheumatism, being treated by several physicians, besides taking numberless remedies; the doctors could not cure me and the different medicines gave me no relief. There was one remedy I had not tried—Athlophoros. I bought three bottles of it, taking them according to directions. I commenced at night before retiring. The next morning, after a good night's rest, I was perfectly free from pain. My rheumatism went and has never returned. Athlophoros effected a cure in my obstinate case and I believe it will in that of any one suffering with rheumatism or neuralgia.

G. E. LEWIS.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

For liver and kidney diseases, dyspepsia, indigestion, weakness, nervous debility, diseases of women, constipation, headache, impure blood, &c., Athlophoros Pills are unequaled. 2

AROUND THE WORLD.

Experiences of an American Bicyclist—Through the Sivas Valayet.

Soon after leaving Koehne my attention is attracted by a small cluster of civilized-looking tents, pitched on the bank of a running stream near the road, and from whence issues the joyous sounds of mirth and music. The road continues ridable, and I am wheeling leisurely along, hesitating about whether to go and investigate or not, when a number of persons, in holiday attire, present themselves outside the tents, and by shouting and gesturing, invite me to pay them a visit. It turns out to be a reunion of the Yuzgat branch of the Pampasian-Pamparsan family—an Armenian name, whose representatives in Armenia and Anatolia, it appears, correspond in comparative numerical importance to the great and illustrious Smiths in the United States, and following—doubtless, more properly, setting—a worthy example. They likewise have their periodical reunions, where they eat, drink, spin yarns, sing and twang the tuneful lyre in frolicsome consciousness of always having a howling majority over their less prolific neighbors.

Refreshments in abundance are tendered, and the usual pantomimic explanations exchanged between us; some of the men have been honoring the joyful occasion by a liberal patronage of the flowing bowl, and are already mildly hilarious; stringed instruments are twanged by the musical members of the great family, while several others, misinterpreting the inspiration of raki punch for terpsichorean talent are prancing wildly about the tent. Middle-aged matrons are here in plenty, housewifely persons finding their chief enjoyment in catering to the gastronomic pleasures of others; while a score or two of blooming maidens stand coyly aloof, watching the festive merry-makings of men; their heads and necks are resplendent with bands and necklaces of gold coins; it still being a custom of the east to let the female members of a family wear the surplus wealth about them in the shape of gold ornaments and jewels, a custom resulting from the absence of safe investments and the unstability of national affairs.

Yuzgat enjoys among neighboring cities a reputation for beautiful women, and this auspicious occasion gives me an excellent opportunity for drawing my own conclusions; it is not fair, perhaps, to pass judgment on Yuzgat's pretensions by the damsels of one family, but still they ought to be at least a fair average. They have beautiful large black eyes, and usually a luxurient head of hair; but their faces are, on the whole, babyish and expressionless. The Yuzgat maiden of sweet 16 is a coy, babyish creature, possessed of a certain doll-like prettiness, but at 23 she is a rapidly fading flower, and at 30 is already beginning to get wrinkled and old. Happening to fall in with this festive gathering this morning is quite a gratifying and enlivening surprise; beside the music and dancing and a substantial breakfast of chicken, boiled mutton and rice pillau, it gives an opportunity of witnessing an American family reunion under primitive conditions.

Watching over this peaceful and gamboling flock of Armenian lambkins is a lone Circassian watch dog; he is of a stalwart, warlike appearance; and although wearing no arms—except a cavalry sword, a shorter broad sword, a dragoon revolver, a two-foot horse pistol and a double barrelled shotgun slung at his back—the Armenians seemed to feel perfectly safe under his protection. They probably don't require any such protection really; they are nevertheless wise in employing a Circassian to guard them, if nothing else, for the sake of freeing their own unwarlike minds of all disquieting apprehensions, and enjoying their family reunion in the calm atmosphere of perfect security; some lawless party passing along the road might peradventure drop in and abuse their hospitality, or partaking too freely of raki, make themselves obnoxious, were they unprotected; but with one Circassian patrolling the camp, they are doubly sure against anything of the kind.—Outing.

There is no question but that there are numerous persons so generously endowed with vitalizing fluid, as to be capable of alleviating pain and healing disease, by physical contact, who have no conception of it themselves. We have been made acquainted with a number of instances of cure by such healers without contiguity or manipulation of any sort, their mere presence being sufficient to effect that object. This is particularly the case in respect to the lighter forms of nervous troubles. The presence of such persons in the sick chamber is of itself a healing balm to the afflicted, who is able to feel the vitalizing force though ignorant of its source. On the other hand there are persons whose presence at the bed-side of a sufferer only adds to his suffering. Hence it is that the family physician, of all others, should be naturally refined and sympathetic, at once capable of comprehending not alone the physical, but also the mental or spiritual wants of his patients, and in a manner, ministering to them out of his abundant sympathy and good cheer. — Hall's Journal of Health.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and all Throat and Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire this receipt, in German, French, English, with the directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. A. Noyes, 149 Power's Block, Rochester, New York.

Mr. Charles Schreiner, foreman of a large meat house in Baltimore, Md., says: "He had a sprained wrist for several weeks and began to think it was never going to get well, he was advised to try Salvation Oil, did so and it worked like magic and a few applications entirely cured him."

By a decision of the supreme court of New Jersey so saloon keeper of Newark has the right to sell liquor until the legislature meets and enacts a new law.

Stop and Think

how much money you have thrown away buying worthless medicines, prepared by unprincipled parties, who care not what harm they may do to your system. You can depend on every bottle of Sulpher Bitters as being a reliable medicine. It searches out and cleanses from the blood all impure matter, and makes you feel like a new person.—Boston Globe.

The Vessel Owners' & Captains' National Association met in New York on the 3d inst., and a committee was appointed to secure the abolition of compulsory pilotage.

Pure blood is absolutely necessary in order to enjoy perfect health. Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood and strengthens the system.

James McCabe, a bricklayer at Huntington, Pa., on the 3d inst. shot John Holland and his son, two New Englanders, employed in a shoe factory. Their injuries are not necessarily fatal.

Get Rid of that Bad Taste.

When you wake up in the morning with a bad taste in your mouth, with your throat and tongue dry and a yellow coating on your teeth and gums, don't imagine it was all caused by what you ate the night before. Off course everybody does that and everybody "swears off" from again eating such food. The trouble is that your liver is clogged, your kidneys are overworked and your bowels are not doing their duty. Take from three to ten of Brandreth's Pills and note the sudden and wonderful change in your system.

THE ELECTION.

Frank Hurd, of Ohio, is defeated for Congress by 1600, by Romeis, the republican candidate. Objector Holman of Indiana, "the watchdog of the treasury," is defeated for re-election by Lucas, republican. The loss of these two leading democrats, added to that of Horizontal Reduction Morrison of Illinois, is a serious set-back for the free-trade democracy. Randolph Tucker of Virginia is also defeated.

Complete returns from Connecticut show no election of governor by the people. The legislature is republican by thirty-one majority on joint ballot, so the state officers and United States senator will be republicans.

There is a disposition in New York state to look upon Governor Hill as having lost ground through the result of the election.

Mr. Blaine was in New York on the night of the 3d inst., but said he was there on business, and refused to say anything regarding the result of the elections.

Calendars for 1887.

A writer in the Hartford Post, speaking of Messrs. Houghton, Mifflin & Co.'s Calendars, says: "Hardly a better method of injecting a little wholesome leaven into one's life than that of hanging one of these classics at your desk or office, and noting, as you eye the date, some axiom or aid to more comfortable living." Of the eight beautiful calendars for 1887 which are published by Houghton, Mifflin & Co. two are new, and all are mounted on cards most attractively decorated in gold and colors. These calenders, although not less artistic than those of previous years, and containing many features which render them of greater value, are sold at one-half the price, namely, fifty cents.

New Hampshire Patents.

The following list of patents, granted Nov. 2d, to citizens of New Hampshire, is specially reported by Franklin H. Hough, solicitor of American and foreign patents, 925 F street, N. W., Washington, D. C., who will furnish copies of patents for twenty-five cents each:

Rollin A. Baldwin, Manchester, apparatus for operating the check-reins of harnesses.

David S. Stimson, Concord, dust-guard for car-axle boxes.

The whole number of patents granted to citizens of the United States for the week ending Nov. 2d was 362.

The democratic newspapers having rallied to the defense of Secretary Lamar, who is charged with having refused the agents for General Grant's book permission to canvass through his department, and on the other hand allowed the agents for the Life of Gen. Robt. E. Lee to solicit subscriptions and distribute advertisements throughout the entire office, a Washington correspondent retorts that "the story is true in every particular, and the agents have been swarming through the building for the past week, worrying the clerks and delaying work. There is a rule that no agents shall be allowed to canvass through the public offices, and this is the first deviation from it." The discrimination in favor of a book which holds up General Lee as one of the noblest and purest patriots who ever lived, is significant.

The beef butchers in Morris' and Swift's packing establishments at Chicago having struck, and the employers having refused to concede their demands, the Knights of Labor on the evening of the 4th inst. ordered out the beef men in Armour's employ on the 5th, to help the strikers. It was considered that this order, if obeyed, would lead to another general lock-out of all the men in the packing yards; and if not obeyed, would render Armour's men liable to expulsion from the Knights of Labor.

Fifteen hundred of Armour's beef killers left work on the 5th, in accordance with the orders of the Knights of Labor. A general cessation of work at all the Chicago stockyards was considered probable; this would throw 25,000 men out of employment.

The Harvard university football eleven defeated the Phillips academy team at Exeter, by a score of 158 to 0.

CAPTAIN S. GREENWOOD,

Master of the Steamship Kanawha.

About a year ago he observed a strange change in his feelings. He felt tired instead of vigorous; nervous instead of strong. His appetite became poor and his sleep broken. He tried to overcome these feelings, but they would not go. He then noticed pains and irritation in the water channels, and that the fluids passed were often thick and with a scum on top or a brick-dust sediment at the bottom. All these were the sure symptoms of that fearful disease, Catarrh of the Bladder, which has always been considered incurable, and they continued until the Captain was in a terrible condition. But he is the picture of health and vigor to-day, and he owes it entirely to that wonderful medicine, Hunt's Remedy. Capt. Greenwood says: "I am so certain of the great value of Hunt's Remedy that I always carry a supply on shipboard for the use of my men, and I prescribe it whenever they are ailing. After curing me as it did, and restoring my wife, (whom the best physicians of New York set down as dying of tumor,) to perfect health, I swear by it."

This Great Remedy absolutely cures all Kidney, Liver and Urinary Diseases.

At Saco on the 4th inst. a verdict was rendered by the coroner's jury on the death of James W. Bennett, who was recently poisoned by new cider from a cask formerly containing embalming fluid. The result of the analysis by Professor Carmichael, Boston, was received that day, stating that arsenic and lead were found in the stomach. The inquest commenced two weeks ago. Many witnesses were examined, and a lengthy verdict was rendered. It accuses no one of criminal negligence, but charges gross carelessness against Frank Wildes, the cider maker, and Dennis O'Connor, the Biddeford undertaker who sold the cask. No further action will be taken.

boon ever bestowed upon man is perfect health, and the true way to insure health is to purify your blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Mrs. Eliza A. Clough, 34 Arlington st., Lowell, Mass., writes: "Every winter and spring my family, including myself, use several bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Experience has convinced me that, as a powerful purifier, it is very much superior to any other preparation of Sarsaparilla. All persons of scrofulous or consumptive tendencies, and especially delicate children, are sure to be greatly benefited by its use." J. W. Starr, Laconia, Iowa, writes: "For years I was troubled with Scrofulous complaints. I tried several different preparations, which did me little, if any, good. Two bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla effected a complete cure. It is my opinion that this medicine is the best blood of the day." C. E. Upton, Nashua, N. H., writes: "For a number of years I was troubled with a humor in my eyes, and unable to obtain relief until I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I have taken several bottles, am greatly benefited, and believe it to be the best of blood purifiers." R. EASTERN RAILROAD COMPANY.

To the Holders of Certificates of Indebtedness.

The Voting Register of Certificate holders is now making up at the office of the Company in Boston, Mass.

Persons desiring to have their names placed upon said Register in order to vote at the coming election must comply with the following regulation of the Trustees

"Every holder of Certificates of Indebtedness who desires to have them registered in his name shall present to the Trustees at their office, No. 10 Tremont street, Boston, a written statement signed by him and giving his address and the denomination and number of every certificate of indebtedness claimed to be held by him, and shall, if required by said Trustees, verify this title by exhibiting such certificates and the written order of the last registered holder of the same, or other evidence of his title to the reasonable satisfaction of the Trustees; and said Trustees, if satisfied with his title, shall endorse his approval upon said written statement, and said certificate holder may thereupon be registered in conformity therewith. The approval of one of said Trustees shall be sufficient authority for such registration, and no registration after the 20th day of August, 1886, shall be valid without such approval, and no approval shall be granted after the time for closing the register."

The voting register will close at the close of business on the 13th day of November, between which time and the special meeting on the 23d day of November, 1886, no registration will be allowed.

INVESTMENTS.

I am prepared to furnish the most desirable investments in County Bonds and Guaranteed Farm Mortgages, paying 6 and 7 per cent semi-annually. On Farm Mortgages, only from 25 to 33 per cent of the actual cash value of the property is loaned, and the title, location, quality of land and future prospects of the property are personally looked up. Farm Loans are, when negotiated by experienced and responsible parties, the most profitable security offered, especially for those having small sums to invest from time to time. The Loans I offer are First-Class in every respect. Principal and interest when due, paid here without expense to the holder.

I have these Loans in sums from $300 to $5,000.

MUSIC HALL.

On Monday evening, at Music hall, Pauline Markham will commence a week's engagement, appearing as Mercy Merrick in the emotional drama "The New Magdelen," supported by Randolph Murray and a competent company. This is Miss Markham's first appearance in this city, but she is well known everywhere as the most famous burlesque actaess and stage beauty New York has seen for many years. Her success in emotional parts has surprised the critics. Tickets now on sale at Goodrich's; popular prices.

GOLDEN WEDDING.

Deacon Warren Thayer and wife, of Acworth, celebrated at their residence in that town, Tuesday of this week, their golden wedding. As it was election day, many friends in the adjoining towns of Newport, Claremont, Charlestown and Alstead were unable to be present. Nevertheless, the spacious old farmhouse was well filled with relatives and friends. The venerable couple have a number of children living, one of them being Mr. William M. Thayer, who is now secretary and treasurer of the New York & Boston Rapid Transit company, but more widely known as a journalist, having been for a number of years editor and part proprietor of the Portsmouth Times and States and Union, and for about twelve years one of the editors of the Boston Post.

MARITIME NOTES.

The brick schooner G. W. Raitt arrived from Boston on the 4th inst.; the Satellite arrived on the 5th, and the Lillie and the Estella sailed the same day.

The schooner Lizzie Guptill, Smith master, of Rockland, Me., after discharging her cargo of lime will load with cabbages and apples, provided the farmers of the neighboring country will sell them at reasonable prices. Capt. Smith reports a considerable crop of apples at the eastward this year, but says New Hampshire baldwins are preferred.

The steamship Pavonia, recently ashore on the coast of Massachusetts, will have temporary repairs made in Boston to enable her to proceed to Liverpool to be put in perfect condition. This is one of the effects of foreign cheap labor. We find the rocks for the British steamers to pound against, and John Bull finds the low-priced labor with which to repair the ships. The Cunard company will save $50,000 by having the repairs made in England.

AROUND HOME.

The notice given by Aldermen Urch and Hodgdon at the late meeting of the board, in regard to the payment of bills accruing during the recess of the board, was that they would object to the payment of any such bills approved by the com. on accounts but not approved by the board.

John Albee, Esq., of the Penna Post, has moved from Newcastle to this city for the winter, occupying the Laighton house on Richards avenue.

Mr. George A. Blaisdell on Monday of this week sent to Boston by rail ten tons of rags, the collection of two carts in two weeks.

The total vote for commissioners of Rockingham county was as follows: For the republican candidates — Johnston, 5452; Dow, 5433; Clark, 5363; for the democratic candidates—Magraw, 5487; Sanborn, 5516; Dudley, 5520. It will be seen that Magraw, who is the lowest on the democratic list, leads Johnston, who is the highest on the republican list, thirty-five votes.

"Times change, and men change with them." All the "pumpkin lanterns" we saw carried about by the numerous and noisy small boy, on Pope night, were made of cigar boxes. If less appalling of aspect than the old-time pumpkin lantern, the cigar-box lantern is easier to get and lighter to carry, and will do to make fire with after its usefulness is past.

Mr. S. Augustus Preble has purchased the house of Mr. John P. Tibbetts on Blossom street, and will occupy it as a residence.

The second annual ball of the Boston & Maine Railroad Relief Association will be held in Mechanics' building, Boston, on the evening of January 12th, 1887. This ball is held for the purpose of increasing the fund of the association, and it is intended by the railroad boys to make it "the ball" of the season. Baldwin's Cadet band has been engaged for the occasion. Tickets one dollar, and purchasers of tickets have the privilege of half fare to Boston and return, good going on any train January 12th, and returning on any train January 13th. For tickets and information apply to George A. Silsbee or George B. Wallace, at the Boston & Maine railroad station in this city.

A citizen of Portsmouth whose prominence in business and politics makes him a target for all the circulars and advertising sheets which flood the mails, and who finds his postoffice box daily filled with worthless trash, suggests that the janitor of the federal building place a waste box in the vestibule of the postoffice, that the hundreds of people similarly afflicted can easily dispose of this useless paper, instead of being compelled to carry it away. He thinks the janitor could double his salary by this device.

We acknowledge an invitation from the Dover Clerks' association to attend their first annual concert and ball, at the Opera house in that city on Thursday evening, Nov. 11th.

Rev. John G. Adams of Boston, a noted Universalist clergyman and author, and a native of Portsmouth, is dying of enlargement of the heart.

The property of Mr. Thomas McCue, stable keeper, was attached on Thursday last on a writ in favor of Mr. David Welch, who claims $4000 damages on account of his daughter having been bitten on High street Oct. 9th, as alleged by a dog belonging to McCue. The latter denies that his animal is the guilty one.

Mrs. Henry A. Marden of Epsom, and her niece, Miss Nellie Marden, have been visiting friends in this city the present week.

By the new oleomargarine law, which went into operation on Monday, Nov. 1st, all retail dealers therein must pay $48 annually for a license, and are forbidden to sell oleo in the original packages, or in as large packages as ten pounds. All dealers are required to mark distinctly the packages of oleo so as to designate the contents. The penalty for breach of these provisions is very severe.

Of the lady to whom Miss Edith Wendell is chiefly indebted for her position in Brooklyn, N. Y., the Eagle of that place says: "Miss Dell H. Thompson, of Lefferts Place, who has spent a month very pleasantly and restfully in Pennsylvania, entertained the guests at the Delaware house, Lackawanna, just before leaving, with some of her choicest readings. Last Thursday evening she read at a concert in Patchogue, giving some of her humorous selections and making immense enthusiasm. Little Dell is a creditable representative of Brooklyn, and never fails of a good reception wherever she goes."

WHAT'S O'CLOCK?

It has been current talk among members of both political parties since election day, that the republicans will contest the legality of the vote in ward one on the 2d inst., on account of the polls not being opened at the legal hour. The law specifies that the polls shall be opened at nine o'clock, whereas the door of the ward-room was not opened until some ten minutes or so later, owing to somebody's blunder in regard to the keys, and Moderator Seymour did not declare the polls open until thirteen minutes past nine. The republican managers and candidates, it is reported, propose to contest the counting of the votes thrown in that ward, on account of this informality. As the democratic majority in this ward on the congressional ticket was 192, and on the county ticket some over 200, the throwing out of the ward's vote might have a decisive effect on the election of some of the late candidates, and certainly would have on the election of all the ward's officers and representatives to the general court.

But if it should be finally decided that the vote of ward one was invalid by reason of informality, on account of the polls not being opened at the time prescribed by the law, the same decision would seem to invalidate the vote of every ward of every city in the state, and of most of the towns. The law says the polls shall be open at nine o'clock; not at the hour which the railroads have declared or may declare shall be called nine o'clock; and not a polling place in this city was opened at nine o'clock, and probably but very few in the state—they were opened at seventeen minutes past that hour, and the ward one officials were but a little more behind than their brethren in the other wards, that's all. The order one day given by Mayor Treat to set the town clocks back seventeen minutes did not put the sun back a moment, and noon continues to arrive when the sun reaches the meridian, as formerly, and not seventeen minutes afterward, when the clocks indicate noon. Nine o'clock continues to arrive three hours before noon, and not two hours and forty-three minutes before, but it was at the latter time the polls were opened nearly all over the state.

Probably at Hart's Location, and other back towns where they use a quadrant or a sun-dial to get the time, and know nothing about the "standard," the election was legal; and those places may yet be found to have decided who shall be the next governor, legislature and members of Congress of New Hampshire.

There was a singular incident connected with the recent death of Civil Engineer B. F. Chandler, U. S. N. He was supposed to be dead, and the undertaker who had been sant for had commenced preparing the body for burial, when he suddenly sat up in bed and asked for an oyster stew. This was given him, and eaten with apparent relish; but he immediately afterward commenced to sink away, and in about an hour ceased to breathe.

Catarrh in the Head

Catarrh is inflammation of the mucous membrane, attended with increased secretion. Thus catarrh may affect the head, throat, stomach, bowels, or any part of the body where the mucous membrane is found. But catarrh of the head is by far the most common, coming on so gradually that often its presence is not suspected till it has obtained a firm hold on its victim. It is caused by a cold, or a succession of colds, combined with

Impure Blood.

When firmly established the disease is exceedingly disagreeable, causing flow from the nose, dryness of the throat, headache, loss of appetite, roaring and buzzing noises in the ears, etc. In Hood's Sarsaparilla may be found a prompt and permanent cure for catarrh. It purifies and enriches the blood, soothes and rebuilds the diseased membrane, and thus soon cures the disease. At the same time it refreshes and tones the whole system. The remarkable success of this peculiar medicine entitles it to your confidence. Give Hood's Sarsaparilla a trial.

"I am happy to state that I used Hood's Sarsaparilla for catarrh, with which I have been troubled many years, and received great relief and benefit from it. The catarrh was very disagreeable, especially in the winter, causing constant discharge from my nose, ringing noises in my ears, and pains in the back of my head. The effort to clear my head in the morning by hawking and spitting was painful. My grocer advised me to try and it gave me relief immediately, while in time I was entirely cured. I am never without the medicine in my house, as I think it is worth its weight in gold." MRS. G. B. GIBB, 1029 Eighth Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

"I have used Hood's Sarsaparilla for catarrh with very satisfactory results. I have received more permanent benefit from it than from any other remedy I have ever tried." M. E. READ, of A. Read & Son, Wauseon, Ohio.

EASTERN RAILROAD COMPANY.

To the Holders of Certificates of Indebtedness.

THE voting register of certificate holders is now making up at the office of the Eastern Railroad on Causeway Street, Boston, Mass. Holders already registered are not required to register anew. Any holder not already registered can register on presenting at said office of said Eastern Railroad Company to Edward Lo-ley a written statement signed by himself of his name, address, and the denomination and numbers of the certificates held by him. If the company shall so require, the holder desiring to register shall also duly verify his title thereto by producing said certificate of indebtedness, or filing with the Company the written order of the person last registered as the holder, or in such other mode as may be prescribed by the laws of Massachusetts and the regulations of the Trustees.

The voting register will be closed at the close of business on the 15th day of November, A. D. 1886, between which time and the special meeting for the election of a trustee on the twenty-third day of November, A. D. 1886 no registration for the purpose of said special meeting will be made.

Would Make Him Rich.

Some years ago John Randolph Tucker went to Gen. Garfield, both being members of the house at the time, to arrange a pair with him on political questions for a few days.

"My oldest son is just of age," he explained, "and I want to run down and give him his start in life."

"Very well," replied Gen. Garfield, "but don't break yourself. Too much money at the outset spoils a young man!"

"Money!" exclaimed Mr. Tucker, with an amused expression on his face. "Why, I haven't a red to give him. But if he'll accept it I'll make him rich with good advice."—New York Star.

Five Coaches and an Engine.

An old railroad engineer avers that a train of cars consisting of five coaches and an engine is easier to stop in a short distance when high speed is being made than any other. Two coaches and an engine is considered almost too light to stop with ease, and above five coaches is cumbersome. The happy medium for the engineer rests between two and five. —Pioneer Press.

The process by which Chinese leather acquires its peculiar characteristics is described as follows: The skins are put into tubs containing water, saltpetre and salt, and after thirty days are taken out, the hair is shaved off, and the skins well washed in spring water; each side is then cut into three pieces and well steamed, which is done by passing them several times backward and forward over a steaming oven—further, each piece is stretched out separately over a flat board and secured with nails, so as to dry gradually and thoroughly in the sun. The smoke of the oven makes the leather black, and if it is desired to have it of a yellow appearance, it is rubbed over with water in which the fruit of the so-called wongchee tree has been soaked. Of the offal glue is made by heating it in pans for twelve hours over a slow fire, and the glue so obtained is poured into rough earthen vessels, where it remains three days in order to coagulate; the solid mass is cut into pieces with sharp knives and carefully laid upon grating-like trays to dry—the time taken in drying varying from five days with a northwest wind to thirty or forty with a southwest.—Boston Transcript.

It is said that Gen. Butler will defend Parson Downs.

W. C. Thompson, mate of the Nova Scotia bark Strathay, has been murdered by a mutinous sailor.

"I have kept your medicine, Athlophoros, and have sold quite a lot of it. I find that it is a good thing for rheumatism and neuralgia, and that people get good results from it," reports George Mallard, a prominent druggist of Laconia, N. H.

James S. Roberts, formerly bookkeeper for a firm an Wilkesbarre, Pa., committed suicide on a mountain near there, Nov. 3d. Supposed cause, financial embarrassments.

After Diphtheria.

Diphtheria is a terrible disease, requiring the greatest medical skill to effect a complete cure. Even when its power is broken, it clings to the patient with great persistency, and often leaves the system poisoned and prostrated. Just here Hood's Sarsaparilla does a vast amount of good, expelling impurities from the blood, giving it richness and vitality, while it renovates and strengthens the system.

Wednesday afternoon, the 3d inst., while some of the St. Louis college pupils were playing in Bryant park, New York, Joseph Dolliger's youngest son, eleven years old, fell on the asphalt pavement and was killed.

The usual treatment of catarrh is very unsatisfactory, as thousands of despairing patients can testify. On this point a trustworthy medical writer says: "Proper local treatment is positively necessary to success, but many, if not most of the remedies in general use by physicians afford but temporary benefit. A cure certainly cannot be expected from snuffs, powders, douches and washes." Ely's Cream Balm is a remedy which combines the important requisites of quick action, specific curative power with perfect safety and pleasantness to the patient.

The Salvation Army in Portland, Ore., held service in a jail there on a recent Sunday, and the leader told such a startling story of his wickedness before he joined the army, that, after the performance was over, one of the convicts said: "The lamp can now be extinguished; the vilest sinner has returned."

Skin diseases cannot be successfully treated by external applications. The proper way to cure such complaints is to purify the blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Under the vitalizing influence of this medicine all the functions of the body are brought into healthy action.

Lee Miller, a twelve-year-old Indianapolis newsboy, was waylaid three times after dark by a big negro, who robbed him of the little money he had. Then Lee bought a dollar revolver, and when the darky attempted the fourth robbery shot him. The rascal howled for help, but was able to run down the street, and has not molested the plucky little fellow since.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound revives the drooping spirits, invigorates and harmonizes the organic functions.

The captain, mate and four seamen of the Spanish barque Tres Auroras were picked up near the Dry Tortugas after floating five days on a piece of wreck without food or water, their vessel having gone down in a hurricane, carrying seven men with her.

A railroad engineer in New York was cured of kidney complaint by wearing a Hop Plaster. 25c.

J. N. Haines of Dayton, Ohio, a tramp, is under arrest for setting fire to the hotel in Toogootee, Ind., in which three men were burned to death.

Hundreds of persons who have used Ayer's Hair Vigor attest its value, as a stimulant and tonic, for preventing and curing baldness, cleansing the scalp, and restoring the youthful color to faded and gray hair.

THE ELECTION.

John G. Carlisle of Kentucky is elected to Congress by from 700 to 800 plurality, against over 6,000 majority two years ago.

At a democratic jollification meeting in Brooklyn, Mr. Ridgeway, who was re-elected district attorney on the 2d inst., declared that he had been greatly assisted by a sermon preached against him by Rev. Theodore L. Cuyler on the previous Sunday, accusing him of being in favor of opening beer saloons on Sundays. Mr. Ridgeway had 30,000 copies of the sermon circulated among the Germans, and captured nearly the entire German vote.

The London Truth fears that overdressing is the constitutional defect in America; this may be so, but there is one thing England can not help acknowledging,—that we have the greatest remedy for asthma ever known,—Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

Dr. James M. Buzzell, of Portland, Me., was arrested Nov. 5th for the murder of Carrie M. Cotton of Gorham. It is charged that she went to his house to have a criminal operation performed, and died there. A coroner's jury have been holding an inquest at Gorham for several days, and on the 4th found a verdict that the girl came to her death by criminal malpractice at the hands of Dr. Buzzell. Dr. Buzzell was brought before Judge Gould at Portland on the 5th, and committed on a charge of murder. W. H. Looney and Nathan Cleaves are his counsel.

Narrow Escape From Death.

A man from Canada who had been at work during the summer on the low lands through which the great sewer carries all the filth from the city of Boston, on its way to the sea, became blood poisoned, and all who saw him supposed he would die. His face was swollen almost beyond recognition, and he was one solid sore from head to foot. The poor fellow was unknown, without friends, and almost penniless, and knew not what to do. In his distress he fortunately bethought himself of I. S. Johnson & Co. He had neves seen them, nor they him, and if they had they would not have known him in the condition he was in. However, he applied to them for help, and they supplied him with Parsons' Pills, believing that these pills would cure him. The poor fellow commenced to use the pills according to directions, and in about a week his condition began to improve, and in four weeks he was well enough to leave for home. On his way to the steamer, he called on Johnson & Co., to express his gratitude, and to show them what a wonderful change Parsons' Pills had wrought in him. There can be no doubt but that this man would have lost his life had it not been for the timely use of Parsons' Pills. No doubt many readers of this paper are suffering with liver of kidney troubles, or some form of blood disease, who might be restored to perfect health by the use of this great blood purifying remedy.

An Obstacle to Physical Well Being.

Physicians rightly characterize constipation as an obstinate impediment to the welfare of the body. The performance of the more important functions, such as digestion, biliary secretion and an active circulation of the blood, are interrupted by it in a greater or less degree, as the development of the complaint is incipient or mature. Not at once, of course, but with reasonable promptitude, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will remove every symptom to which it gives rise, as well as the minor maladies that spring from it, among them indigestion and chronic biliousness. From drenching cathartics it is vain to hope for permanent benefit, and there are few purgatives that are not violent and profuse in their operation. Blue pill and calomel are designed to act upon the liver only, and taken frequently are pernicious to health. The Bitters produces relaxation of the bowels without pain, and a renewal of their regularity. It also conquers fever and ague, rhematism, neuralgia and inactivity of the kidneys.

IT IS WONDERFUL

how easily rheumatism begins, and how insidiously it grows in the system, until one is startled to find himself its victim in either the acute or chronic form. He then learns the fearful tenacity of its grip and the utter powerlessness of the ordinary remedies to give relief.

Probably to no disease have physicians given more study, and none has more completely baffled their efforts to provide a specific; and until Athlophoros was discovered there was no medicine which would surely cure rheumatism, neuralgia and nervous or sick headache. Thousands of testimonials like the following prove beyond question that Athlophoros is the only reliable remedy, and that it will do all that is claimed for it.

Manchester, N. H., March 15, 1886.

One year ago while suffering with a rheumatic difficulty I was induced by friends of mine to try a bottle of Athlophoros, although I had little belief in anything of the kind, but, contrary to my expectations, it gave me immediate relief, and it is with pleasure that I can now recommend it to my acquaintances, feeling sure that they will find it the remedy of the age for such difficulties, as I had tried everything else with little or no relief.

PARK H. KELLY.

Northampton, Mass., May 21, 1886.

For relief from rheumatic pains and trouble, I believe your Athlophoros is infallible. For many years I have been subject to rheumatism in its worst forms. During my last siege of sickness I was induced to try Athlophoros and found it to be all it claimed to be, a cure for rheumatism.

LEVI I. CLARK.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

For liver and kidney diseases, dyspepsia, indigestion, weakness, nervous debility, diseases of women, constipation, headache, impure blood, &c., Athlophoros Pills are unequaled. 2

IN SEARCH OF RECREATION.

The American Way—Better Management of Excursions in China—The Gardens.

Managers of excursions from New York and other large American cities complain that they are not patronized by the people who have more taste. The people alluded to would probably say, if they thought it worth while to reply at all, that there is no reason why they should go on excursions such as leave the city every day. What are the inducements? Does any one who has a comfortable house, or even a quiet flat, see any pleasure in squeezing into a crowd on a big steamboat, fighting for a camp stool to sit on, smelling bad cigars for an hour or more, and then be dumped into the centre of another big crowd at Coney Island, Rockaway or Long Branch? What is there to do when one of these resorts is reached? The people among whom one is thrown are strangers to him, and apparently as uninteresting as if selected for that special purpose; there are no rational amusements except eating and drinking, and these have to be done in a crowd, with another crowd as spectators. One may listen to music, perhaps, by a good band, but there is at the same time a ceaseless clatter of feet on the walk behind. He may bathe, but he must do it with a mixed lot of men, women and children and when at last he becomes disgusted and hastens homeward he must fight with a crowd for a seat on a boat or train.

They manage these things better in far away China. City people there are very fond of excursions, but they, not the owners of boats and trains, make up the parties, which never number more than twenty; strangers are rigorously excluded. The boats are not large; they are made for the purpose, but their utmost capacity is about twenty people. When all is ready sails are hoisted, oars dipped or steam started, and the family or party of friends hie away to a garden previously engaged for the day. These gardens may be found by hundreds on the shore of all rivers, sounds and bays near Chinese cities. They are small, sometimes being only a single acre in area, but they are hedged high enough to keep off the intrusive gaze of outsiders; they contain shade trees, shrubbery, neatly-trimmed grass plots, and abundance of blooming plants, from which visitors may pick as many flowers as they like. There are also seats, benches, hammocks, and a wooden or bamboo shelter in case of rain. In such a place a little party may enjoy itself as unreservedly as if it were in a private grove; the men may roll on the grass, toss off their hats and outer garments, play ball, and shout, without attracting the attention of the police, and their elders may sit all day talking politics or scandal without being told to move on. Lovers can sit in such a garden with their arms about each other and not find themselves in jail for an offense against public taste, as some couples in Central park have done.

At these Chinese gardens no one has to fight for something to eat and then pay several prices for the privilege of eating it. A party may take its own luxuries, tea, bird's nest jelly, cold sliced puppy, pickled shark's fins, or what not, or it may order of the keeper of the grounds, who, on overcharging, has his head lopped off at once by the public executioner. When inclined to sail, a boat is called, and the party is taken wherever it chooses to go, instead of following a beaten path of passenger boats. The trio of Italian torturers who seem part of the crew of every Coney Island or Rockaway boat, are not on board, but there always is music, and although the instruments of which the Celestials are fondest sound strange to western ears, they are not, at their worst, as bad as the harp, fiddle and flute, which are inflicted upon all excursionists here. There never is a fight on the home trip. The Chinese excursionist never has to fear that the person at his right may be a pickpocket and the woman at his left no better than she should be. The landing is not made at the docks farthest from the excursionists' homes, nor is the disembarkation a a signal for the blood-curdling howl by the passengers.—Cor. New York Hour.

Proper Temperature of Food.

The following are the practical conclusions arrived at by Dr. Franz Spaeth: A temperature of 104-122 degrees Fahrenheit generally is the best for all foods and drinks, and where solid food is to be masticated it should not exceed 95 degrees. Fluids may be borne at 140-149 degrees in small swallows if cold solids are eaten with them. The warming of the body, for which purpose hot drinks are sometimes taken, can be attained at temperatures which exceed the blood heat (99.5 degrees Fahrenheit) by 18-24 degrees Fahrenheit and the danger and pain of higher temperatures are needless. People who suffer from stomach troubles, especially ulceration, should carefully avoid high temperatures. Children especially should be guarded against this dangerous habit. For nursing infants nature has clearly indicated the proper temperature. Mother's milk is at 100.4 degrees Fahrenheit, therefore all artificial food should be at that point. These experiments and the practical points deducted from them are of the greatest value hygienically, and should be heeded.—American Analyst.

And couldn't get Salvation Oil.

There is something left yet to the city of Charleston when its people are able to patronize a circus. Barnum recently gave two performances there, and took in about $14,000.

Catarrh

Is a very prevalent and exceedingly disagreeable disease, liable, if neglected, to develop into serious consumption. Being a constitutional disease, it requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, acting through the blood, reaches every part of the system, effecting a radical and permanent cure of catarrh in even its most severe forms. Made only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

William Lawlor, gate tender at Lowell, Mass., for the Boston & Maine railroad, has been presented with a gold medal by the Massachusetts Humane Society for gallant conduct in snatching a deaf and dumb boy from death in front of a moving train two months ago.

White Race

Has 616,000,000, the Mongolian 600,000,000, Black, 250,000,000, Copper, 12,000,000, but no race has yet been discovered that had a taste for what was purest and best, that spoke anything but praise for the pure and wholesome G. O Taylor Bourbon and Rye Whiskey, bottled by C. H. Graves & Sons, and sold by reliable grocers, druggists and traders in every clime.

A Democratic View of the "Victory."

The central national organ of the democratic party, the Washington Post, discourses as follows: "The democrats have suffered a substantial defeat all along the line in the elections just held. It is useless to deny the fact or to ignore it, and it is to early to attempt to outline the reasons for it or learn the lessons which it is supposed to teach. In the election of governors and legislatures we have generally held our own, and indeed we have there and there made important gains, as in Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Connecticut and Nebraska, but we have lost tremendously and almost fatally, not only in Michigan, Iowa, New York and New Jersey, where losses were foreshadowed, but in Ohio, Kentucky, Virginia and North Carolina, where we confidently expected to maintain our ground. In Virginia the defeat of the democrats assumes almost the size and form of a revolution. The republicans have gained in the state more than 10,000 votes, and the democrats have apparently elected only three out of the ten congressmen. In Michigan we have lost four members, retaining only three to the republicans' eight. Changes here were indeed expected, but nobody was looking for an earthquake. The democratic majority of forty-five in Congress has been whittled down to twelve, and perhaps to less, and the most depressing feature of the comprehensive defeat is that half of the democrats who have been beaten have been beaten like Morrison, distinctly on the issue of a protective tariff."

Labor Matters.

A despatch of the 5th from Salem, Mass., says: "The Knights have again begun to gather around the tanneries and threaten trouble, and the police guard has been restored. The Knights have not been paid this week, owing to a lack of funds, and this makes them quarrelsome."

Contrary to first reports, a large majority of the beef men at Armour's packing house in Chicago declined to leave their work at the order promulgated as coming from M. J. Butler, their master workman in the Knights of Labor. Just 400 men out of the 1500 employed in Armour's house obeyed the instructions to quit, and fully 250 of the 400 quickly returned to work, on the morning of the 6th inst.

The strike at Chicago took a very serious turn on the afternoon of the 5th, when at 2:30 o'clock all the stock-yard men were ordered out by the Knights of Labor, and 20,000 men obeyed the order. The situation is now grave in the extreme; the packers are united and determined not to yield, and the strikers recognize that they must win in this contest, or lose all power under their present organization.

The packing-house workmen at East St. Louis are on a strike. In that place, as at Chicago, many minor outrages are reported as being committed by the strikers.

It Was Loaded.

One day last week Charles Greasbover, of Greenpoint, L. I., called his five-year-old son Johnny to him, telling him he was about to shoot. Johnny did as told, laughing at the joke. The father pointed an old pistol at him, and snapped the trigger, thinking the weapon was harmless. There was an explosion, and Johnny fell with a bullet in his forehead, and will probably die. Greasbover had been snapping the pistol at several people before this, in fun, thinking it was not loaded. He was arrested.

The Bishops' Council.

The Catholic clergy of the diocese of New Hampshire met at Manchester on the 5th inst., to elect three of their number as members of the bishop's council directed by the late plenary council at Baltimore to be created in each diocese, and made choice of Rev. Frs. P. Hevey of Manchester, P. Houlihan of Nashua, and E. M. O'Callahan of this city. Bishop Bradley earlier in the week appointed as the other three members of the council Rev. Frs. D. W. Murphy of Dover, J. E. Barry of Concord, and J. H. B. Millette of Manchester. The synod at Manchester on Friday also appointed a board of examiners of the clergy, a board of examiners of the parochial school teachers, and a board of examiners of the parochial schools.

Harvard Law School Association.

The 250th anniversary celebration of Harvard college was inaugurated on Saturday. The organization of the Harvard Law School Association, as an accompaniment to but not as a part of the regular celebration, took place the previous day under the happiest auspices. There was a polished oration by Judge Oliver Wendell Holmes, Jr., followed by a banquet and speeches at the Hemenway Gymnasium. Hon. James C. Carter of New York was chosen president of the association, and presided at the dinner. The after-dinner speakers were Prof. Longdell, Judge S. E. Sewall, Judge Thomas M. Cooley of Michigan, President Eliot, Gen. Alexander R Lawton of Georgia, Mr. George O. Shattuck, Frank W. Hackett, Esq., of this city, Prof. John C. Gray, and Judge E. Rockwood Hoar. The Boston Post says of Mr. Hackett, who was introduced by President Carter as "one who has carried the renown and the name of Harvard to a distance," that

He made a speech sparkling with humor, and kept the company up to a high pitch of interest. Alluding to the numerous pose of the gentlemen on the platform as a bench of judges, he said he was reminded of the remark of a young attorney, that "your honors cannot sit there like marble statues to be wafted about by every idle breeze." He defended in a lively manner the character of the Washington people, and said that he had found the atmosphere of Boston too pure for him, and had emigrated to Washington. He then gave an amusing account of his practical teaching in criminal law through an experience he had while in Cambridge before the municipal court, the occasion being honored by the attendance of nearly all the members of his class. In closing, he said there were in Washington among the Harvard graduates a justice of the supreme court of the United States, a chief justice of the court of claims, an assistant attorney-general, and an assistant secretary of the treasury.

A resolution passed both houses of the legislature in Vermont, on Friday, Nov. 5th, to prevent persons from wearing Grand Army badges unless entitled to them, and imposing a fine and imprisonment for doing so.

ANNUAL MEETING.

To the Holders of Certificates of Indebtedness.

The Voting Register of Certificate holders is now making up at the office of the Company in Boston, Mass.

Persons desiring to have their names placed upon said Register in order to vote at the coming election must comply with the following regulations of the Trustees:—

"Every holder of Certificates of Indebtedness who desires to have them registered in his name shall present to the Trustees at their office, No. 10 Tremont street, Boston, a written statement signed by him, and giving his address and the denomination and number of every certificate of indebtedness claimed to be held by him, and shall, if required by said Trustees, verify his title by exhibiting such certificates and the written order of the last registered holder of the same, or other evidence of his title to the reasonable satisfaction of the Trustees; and said Trustees, if satisfied with his title, shall enforce their approval upon said written statement, and said certificate holder may thereupon be registered in conformity therewith. The Approval of one of said Trustees shall be sufficient authority for such registration, and no registration after the 13th day of August, 1886, shall be valid without such approval, and no approval shall be granted after the time for closing the register."

The voting register will close at the close of business on the 20th day of November, between which time and the annual meeting on the 8th day of December, 1886, no registration will be allowed.

EASTERN RAILROAD COMPANY.

Holders of certificates of indebtedness are notified that the company will issue in exchange for certificates of indebtedness, par for par, $5,150,000 of preferred stock, entitling the holders to annually receive annual net earnings of the corporation to an amount equal to but not exceeding six dollars per share, payable in semi-annual instalments on the first days of March and Sep ember, in such sums as the directors may determine, in preference and priority to the common stock, provided however that certificates to the amount named are tendered in exchange and are deposited for that purpose with LEE, HIGGINSON & CO. or KIDDER, PEABODY & CO. of Boston, Mass., or the Company's Agents in London, by twelve o'clock of the twenty-third day of November current. As soon as practicable thereafter, the preferred stock will be delivered, or, if not taken to the full amount named, the certificates deposited will be returned. If bonds in excess of the amount named are tendered, exchange will be made pro rata.

Sterling bonds will be exchanged at par of exchange, fractional sums being adjusted by purchase and sale of fractions.

Each bond exchanged must have all unmatured coupons attached.

boon ever bestowed upon man is perfect health, and the true way to insure health is to purify your blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Mrs. Eliza A. PAULINE MARKHAM AT MUSIC HALL.

The event of the week was the appearance of Miss Pauline Markham in the legitimate drama. It is pleasant to be able to say, as the Herald already has said, that the erstwhile queen of the English blondes scored a success in every piece she attempted—in the "Ticket of Leave Man," "Lady of Lyons," "Camille" and the "New Magdalen"—and displayed an earnestness and conscientiousness which served to bring out the real dramatic talent which was evidently lying latent.—N. Y. Herald, June 27th.

Miss Markham appears this evening in Music hall in the "New Magdalen," supported by a strong company, and will play in the same place every evening this week, at popular prices. To-morrow evening the Ticket of Leave Man will be presented. See advertisement.

MARITIME NOTES.

The four-masted schooner Eva B. Douglas, Letts master, which arrived at this port on the 6th inst. from Baltimore, is the largest schooner that ever came here, she carrying 1800 tons of coal—about 150 tons more than the Philadelphia & Reading Co.'s big iron steamers have capacity for.

The Athletic club's row-boat, which was badly damaged by the screw of a government steamer some weeks ago while lying at her wharf, was brought across the river from Kittery on Saturday last, having been thoroughly repaired by Mr. Wm. W. Dixon, and put in better condition than she was in when the accident occurred.

Only five or six American mackereling schooners are now in Nova Scotian waters, and the season is practically ended. The total catch of the year for all the New England ports is 250,000 barrels less than last year—one of the smallest catches of any season within the records of this industry.

ONE THING WE NEED.

The sermon in the Universalist church yesterday was from the text, I Samuel, 10:26; "And Saul also went home to Gibeah, and there went with him a band of men whose hearts God had touched." Young Saul's friends followed him, not for any mechanical scheme of ideal government, received from him; but because he touched the people's hearts. There is a place in man which logic or reasoning cannot reach until they move the forces of the emotion. You may, from well established premises, drive a man to the conclusion that he is wrong; but that does not save him from sin. Touch the heart, and its irrepressible volume of force surges upward out of the sinks and the Gehenna of mistake and sin. A little reason will sway multitudes.

NAVAL WAR.

Members of the naval board of inspection and survey, of which Rear Adm. James E. Jouett is president, are said to claim that they have been ignored in matters properly coming under their jurisdiction. A disposition on the part of the department to appoint special boards of survey, and to accept their recommendations without informing the regular board of inspection, is alleged to have been manifested for some time. The officers composing the board submitted to these slights for some time, until the Swatara was put out of commission at this navy yard without the board's knowledge, when they prepared to make an appeal to Sec. Whitney. The law, as they construe it, requires that a vessel shall be inspected by the regular board before it can be out of commission or repaired. Admiral Porter hearing that the board had failed to inspect the Swatara wrote a letter to its president, calling attention to the failure and suggesting that the matter be called to the attention of the secretary, otherwise it would be thought that the board was in fault. The members of the board seem to think that the Swatara did not require as extensive repairs as the special board recommended; the vessel will not be ready for sea until late next spring. It is hinted that the ignoring of the legal board of inspection is a result of some trouble which occurred between Commander McCalla and Rear Adm. Jouett at the time of the fuss on the isthmus. The law requires the chief of the bureau of navigation to notify the board when a ship requires inspection; Capt. Walker, chief of the bureau, being absent, Comdr. McCalla is temporarily in charge, and owing to his resentment against Adm. Jouett he fails to notify the regular board, but appoints one of his own selecting instead.

"Towle," the Washington correspondent of the Boston Traveller, in a despatch of the 5th inst. says: "Ex-Congressman Frank Jones of New Hampshire and Messrs. E. S. Eldrich and Parker C. Chandler of Boston dined with the president at the White House last night. Before he left for home to-day Mr. Jones said: 'I think that the democratic losses throughout the country are due mainly to President Cleveland's civil service policy. I am thoroughly in accord with his ideas, but it doesn't seem that the rank and file are.'"

Mr. John W. Young, who has been ill with pneumonia for two weeks or more, has so far recovered as to be out. The roof of Mr. Young's boot and shoe repairing and shoemakers' stock shop, in the rear of the city building, has been newly shingled, so no more pneumonia can get in that way; he has had all he wants.

There was no evening service in the Unitarian church last Sunday, owing to the pastor, Rev. Alfred Gooding, being obliged to leave town for Boston by the afternoon train in order to arrive in season to take part in the celebration of the 250th anniversary of Harvard college, of which institution he is a graduate.

Mr. R. H. Perkins, superintendent of schools in Chicopee, Mass., was in this city Saturday. He was in attendance on the convention of school superintendents in Boston on Friday, and left this city for Exeter on Saturday evening.

If the president, now the elections are over, could kindly afford to spare Mr. Dame in his efforts to assist him in making appointments to office, and allow him time to investigate the problem why the New York newspapers every Saturday for three weeks in succession have failed to get across Boston in proper season for the eastern mail, it would be a service we should appreciate.

Mr. Edgar W. Wood of Chicago, formerly of this city, arrived in town Saturday morning for a very brief stay, leaving again for the west to-day.

Ward & Sons' distillery on Christian Shore started up on the 1st inst., after lying idle all summer, during which time new copper stills and retort were put in, the work being done by Mr. Robert Ducker of Hanover street, this city.

Work is being pushed on the new shoe factory, the foundations being completed, the door and window frames of the basement story in place and the timbers for the floor of the first story laid, last week. Large amounts of material for the structure are arriving daily. The nine-foot space between the old and new buildings will be utilized for an elevator and water closets.

A grand concert will be given in Franklin opera house, Thanksgiving eve, in connection with the Charity Ball of Storer Post, G. A. R. Tickets, at $1 each, will be put on sale this week.

There will be a dance in Congress hall on Thursday evening of this week.

The following insurance companies of this state lost in the fire at Chicago, Ill., Oct. 31st: New Hampshire, $1,000; Security, $2,500; People's, $1,000; Granite State, $1,000.

The annual prize speaking of the pupils of the Newmarket high school will take place at the town hall in Newmarket on Friday evening, Nov. 19th. Prof. Fred. C. Baldwin, of Manchester, is training the speakers, of whom the following is a list: Lizzie Barber, Lizzie Caswell, Lonie Caswell, Jewett Chesley, Herbert Haley, Harry Joy, Bela Kingman, May Nichols, Etta Palmer, and Harry Tasker.

Boucle and Astrachan for outside garments, and Astrachan for dress trimmings, are shown in all the colors by Lewis E. Staples at No. 7 Market street.

The ladies of the Pearl street church will hold a fair in Franklin hall next week, on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings, in aid of the church.

Josiah Marston, who died recently in Limington, Me., aged ninety-one years, leaves in Sandwich, N. H., three brothers, aged respectively eighty-five, eighty-three and eighty-one years.

Is Cleveland responsible for the vast labor strikes that have prevailed since he became president? Had Blaine been elected, he would have been charged by the democrats with all the blame.

President Cleveland has voluntarily put himself on record recently, in a way and manner which enables his admirers to gauge his calibre with a great deal of precision. He gave $20 to the Charleston earthquake sufferers, $100 to the Texans whose all was swept away by a tidal wave, and $500 to the democratic corruption fund of New York.

Fred. A. Barker of Keene, the newly-appointed United States Marshal for the district of New Hampshire, filed his bond and took the oath of office last week, and is now qualified for transacting business. We hear of no appointment of any deputy marshal.

Mrs. Cleveland, accompanied by Secretary and Mrs. Endicott, and other prominent persons, arrived in Boston on Saturday afternoon from Washington. In the evening a select reception was given in Mrs. Cleveland's honor, at Col. Wm. Powell Mason's house on Commonwealth avenue. President Cleveland is to arrive in Boston early this morning.

The rampant free-traders having been defeated, the friends of a judicious revision of the tariff in the line of protection, in both parties, should unite and see if some practical measure cannot be brought about by the next Congress. There are many provisions in Mr. Hewitt's bill which are practicable and reasonable. Business men should formulate their views, and make a serious effort to influence legislation.—Providence Journal.

There was a marked shock of earthquake about noon on Friday, felt from Washington to the Gulf of Mexico. In some places it was the heaviest felt since Aug. 31st.

Francis McCabe, one of the famous New York boodle alderman of 1884, was found insane by a decision in court last week.

Chronic Catarrh

Catarrh is inflammation of the mucous membrane, attended with increased secretion. Thus catarrh may affect the head, throat, stomach, bowels, or any part of the body where the mucous membrane is found. But catarrh of the head is by far the most common, coming on so gradually that often its presence is not suspected till it has obtained a firm hold on its victim. It is caused by a cold, or a succession of colds, combined with

Impure Blood.

When firmly established the disease is exceedingly disagreeable, causing flow from the nose, dryness of the throat, headache, loss of appetite, roaring and buzzing noises in the ears, etc. In Hood's Sarsaparilla may be found a prompt and permanent cure for catarrh. It purifies and enriches the blood, soothes and rebuilds the diseased membrane, and thus soon cures the disease. At the same time it refreshes and tones the whole system. The remarkable success of this peculiar medicine entitles it to your confidence. Give Hood's Sarsaparilla a trial.

"I am happy to state that I used Hood's Sarsaparilla for catarrh, with which I have been troubled many years, and received great relief and benefit from it. The catarrh was very disagreeable, especially in the winter, causing constant discharge from my nose, ringing noises in my ears, and pains in the back of my head. The effort to clear my head in the morning by hawking and spitting was painful. My grocer advised me to try and it gave me relief immediately, while in time I was entirely cured. I am never without the medicine in my house, as I think it is worth its weight in gold." MRS. G. B. GRIM, 1029 Eighth Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

"I have used Hood's Sarsaparilla for catarrh with very satisfactory results. I have received more permanent benefit from it than from any other remedy I have ever tried." M. E. READ, of A. Read & Son, Wauseon, Ohio.

EASTERN RAILROAD COMPANY.

To the Holders of Certificates of Indebtedness.

THE voting register of certificate holders is now making up at the office of the Eastern Railroad on Causeway Street, Boston, Mass. Holders already registered are not required to register anew. Any holder not already registered can register on presenting at said office of said Eastern Railroad Company to Edward Lelyer a written statement signed by himself of his name, address, and the denomination and numbers of the certificates held by him. If the company shall so require, the holder desiring to register shall also duly verify his title thereto by producing said certificate of indebtedness, or filing with the Company the written order of the person last registered as the holder, or in such other mode as may be prescribed by the laws of Massachusetts and the regulations of the Trustees.

The voting register will be closed at the close of business on the 15th day of November, A. D. 1886, between which time and the special meeting for the election of a trustee on the twenty-third day of November, A. D. 1886, no registration for the purpose of said special meeting will be made.

Per order of the Directors.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND,

Is a Positive Cure

For ALL of those Painful Delicate Complaints and Complicated troubles and Weaknesses so common among our Wives, Mothers, and Daughters.

IT IS PLEASANT TO THE TASTE, EFFICACIOUS, IMMEDIATE AND LASTING IN ITS EFFECT, IN LIQUID, PILL OR LOZENGE FORM, (6 FOR $5.) EITHER OF THE LATTER SENT BY MAIL. CURE FROM OBSERVATION, OR RECEIPT OF PRICE. MRS. PINKHAM'S "GUIDE TO HEALTH" AND CONFIDENTIAL CIRCULAR MAILED TO ANY LADY SENDING ADDRESS AND STAMP TO LYNN, MASS. Mention this Paper.

Lydia E. Pinkham

For Weak Women.

Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham: "About the first of September 1881, my wife was taken with uterine hemorrhage. The best physics the physician could prescribe did not check it and she got more and more enfeebled. She was troubled with Prolapsus Uteri, Leucorrhœa, numbness of the limbs, sickness of the stomach and loss of appetite. I purchased a trial bottle of your Vegetable Compound. She said she could discover a nursery effect from the first dose. Now she is comparatively free from the Prolapsus, Stomach's sickness, &c. The hemorrhage is very much better and is less at the regular periods. Her appetite is restored, and her general health and strength are much improved. We feel that we have been wonderfully benefitted and our hearts are drawn out in gratitude for the same and in sympathy for other sufferers, for whose sake we allow our names to be used." C. W. EATON, Thursdon, N. Y.

Marriage and Health.

Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 8th, 1883. Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham: "As is frequently the case with mothers who have reared large families, I have tried the skill of a number of physicians, and the virtue of many medicines without relief, and as an experiment I concluded to try yours. I am not a seeker after notoriety but I need to tell you that I have been wonderfully benefitted by your medicine. I am now using my fourth bottle and it would take but little argument to persuade me that my health is fully restored. I should like to widely circulate the fact of its wonderful curative powers." H. G. TANTON.

Old-Time Congressional Squabbles.

On one occasion there was a correspondence indicating a duel between Daniel Webster and John Randolph, but the hostile meeting was prevented by the interposition of friends. Senator Benton taking an active part as peacemaker. Randolph's arrogant and insulting manner was always leading him into difficulties, which frequently resulted in an order for "pistols for two and coffee for one," yet he was no shot. When he was about to fight Representative Eppes, of Virginia, Gen. Breckenridge undertook to superintend his practice, and said to Mr. Crawford, of Georgia, who was to be his second on the field: "By all means arrange the matter, for Mr. Randolph can't hit a barn door."

When Randolph exchanged shots with Henry Clay, and they shook hands after the first fire, Randolph jocosely observed, pointing to a hole made by the bullet in his flannel dressing gown: "Mr. Clay, you owe me a gown." Mr. Clay promptly replied, with his usual smile: "I am glad, Mr. Randolph, that I am not deeper in your debt." In one of Mr. Calhoun's earlier speeches in congress he criticised Mr. Randolph for his "audacity in comparing himself to the great Lord Chatham." Mr. Randolph modestly disclaimed the pretension, but added: "In one thing we are alike. Every scoundrel assails me," and as he spoke he pointed his long index finger at Mr. Calhoun.—Ben: Perley Poore.

Warmed-Over Tea Not Wholesome.

Sewing-girls and, indeed, all women who are in the habit of making for themselves a cup of tea are warned against the careless habit of leaving any tea in the teapot to be "warmed over," or to be taken cold at an hour much later than when it was made. The tannin which tea that has been long standing contains does a great deal of mischief. A little weak tea, newly made with freshly-boiled water, is not hurtful taken once or twice a day, but strong tea or tea that has been standing is decidedly injurious.

An Obstacle to Physical Well Being.

Physicians rightly characterize constipation as an obstinate impediment to the welfare of the body. The performance of the more important functions, such as digestion, biliary secretion and an active circulation of the blood, are interrupted by it in a greater or less degree, as the development of the complaint is incipient or mature. Not at once, of course, but with reasonable promptitude, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will remove every symptom to which it gives rise, as well as the minor maladies that spring from it, among them indigestion and chronic biliousness. From drenching cathartics it is vain to hope for permanent benefit, and there are few purgatives that are not violent and profuse in their operation. Blue pills and calomel are designed to act upon the liver only, and taken frequently are pernicious to health. The Bitters produces relaxation of the bowels without pain, and a renewal of their regularity. It also conquers fever and ague, rhematism, neuralgia and inactivity of the kidneys.

Books, Magazines, &c.

The November number of the Eclectic magazine brings with it its usually well selected resume of the best foreign periodical literature. The place of honor is given to a paper on "Russia and England," now the burning problem of foreign politics. Andrew Lang's interesting paper on "Egyptian Divine Myths" is a suggestive contribution; and the long and suggestive article on "Revolution and Evolution," by the Russian philosopher and scientist, Leon Metchnikoff, will be read with attention. Prof. Freeman's "Prospects of Home Rule" is marked by the great English historian's thoroughness and judicial care. The number is rich in purely literary articles. There is a capital analysis of Mr. Sherburne as a poet. St. George Mivart gives us an interesting account of Austrian Monasteries. A capital article on Heine, and a no less suggestive paper on Coleridge, will please students of literature. The ghost story, "Coincidences," from that sturdy veteran of the English monthlies, Blackwood's, is unusually strong in its combination of mystery and adventure. The half dozen short papers are on current topics of interest. The magazine keeps up its high standard of literary excellence, and appeals strongly to cultivated and thoughtful readers throughout the land.

IT IS WONDERFUL

how easily rheumatism begins, and how insidiously it grows, in the system, until one is startled to find himself its victim in either the acute or chronic form. He then learns the fearful tenacity of its grip and the utter powerlessness of the ordinary remedies to give relief.

Probably to no disease have physicians given more study, and none has more completely baffled their efforts to provide a specific; and until Athlophoros was discovered there was no medicine which would surely cure rheumatism, neuralgia and nervous or sick headache. Thousands of testimonials like the following prove beyond question that Athlophoros is the only reliable remedy, and that it will do all that is claimed for it.

Manchester, N. H., March 15, 1886.

One year ago while suffering with a rheumatic difficulty I was induced by friends of mine to try a bottle of Athlophoros, although I had little belief in anything of the kind, but, contrary to my expectations, it gave me immediate relief, and it is with pleasure that I can now recommend it to my acquaintances, feeling sure that they will find it the remedy of the age for such difficulties, as I had tried everything else with little or no relief.

PARK H. KELLY.

Northampton, Mass., May 21, 1886.

For relief from rheumatic pains and trouble, I believe your Athlophoros is infallible. For many years I have been subject to rheumatism in its worst forms. During my last siege of sickness I was induced to try Athlophoros and found it to be all it claimed to be, a cure for rheumatism.

LEVI I. CLARK.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

For liver and kidney diseases, dyspepsia, indigestion, weakness, nervous debility, diseases of women, constipation, headache, impure blood, &c., Athlophoros Pills are unequaled. 2

A HAUNTED GODDESS.

Perilous Work of the Men Who Paint the Great Washington Dome.

There is said to be a superstition attached to the Goddess of Liberty that stands silently in the dome of the capitol. Though it is not widespread, it is said to be deeply rooted in some minds. Had congress decided to gild the goddess it would perhaps have been found difficult to get any one to undertake the task. It is well known that when the dome was thoroughly painted several years ago the painter who worked about the goddess lost his reason, declaring that she had life, and was possessed of the spirit of the Virgin. At a certain hour in the morning, very near the moment of sunrise, there is one point in the head-dress of the statue that reflects back the light, appearing as a star. It is only for a short time that it can be seen. Every morning this insnared painter would kneel in front of the capitol and worship the star-crowned goddess as long as the star was visible. Others are said to have come under the influence of this bronzed goddess, and have imagined that she exercised some mysterious power over them. Some imagine, it is said, that should they look too often at the star that shines on her forehead at morn they might suffer the fate of the poor painter.

Aside from any ignorant superstition, the man must have considerable courage who clings to the feet of the goddess. They might anger the dame, or lose their foothold and be hurled into eternity. It has been suggested to the superstitious mind that the man who was found crushed on the roof of the capitol was trying to woo the goddess, who in her anger cast him down. Why should she not be another Aphrodite?

At all events the goddess, or perhaps it is the great height, is apt to turn the head of a man who climbs up there. It is a very dangerous undertaking, and few men have the nerve to attempt it. But the dome has to be painted, and there are thirty painters constantly employed to climb about all over the dome and roof of the building to renew the paint where it is cracked and to clean away the rust. Two or three of these men venture to kneel at the feet of the goddess. Since she is not to be dressed in gold they will not have to venture farther than to her feet. To render this undertaking less dangerous they have bound strong cables tight about her ankles, and they will probably climb up with safety if she doesn't get angry and cast off the cords. From these cables strong scaffolding is being fastened to the white pillars just beneath her feet, which it is the purpose to paint. The dome and all below the goddess will be gone over here and there with the brush.

It takes about 150 men, constantly employed, to carry on the repairs and improvements to the capitol building and grounds. A hundred of these are now being employed on the new terraces. On account of the long session of congress the working season will be very short. It is expected, however, to complete the marble terrace on each side as far as the beginning of the grand staircase. The work will then have to be postponed on account of the session of congress. It is expected that about three years will be required to complete the whole thing.—Washington Star.

To Men Who Take Vacations.

Many middle-aged men who, at the commencement of their autumn holidays, after months of comparative inactivity, undertake without preparation some feat of Alpine climbing, or a long day's grouse shooting on the moors, lay the foundation of future heart troubles or aneurism, simply because they will not allow time for the concordant action between the heart and the great blood vessels to be established. In all cases where men are suddenly called upon to exchange a sedentary life for one of increased activity, they should consult their medical attendant as to the condition of their circulatory system.

One instance is particularly called to us of a distinguished general practitioner, who had long been troubled with a spasmodic cough, which he thought proceeded from deranged stomach, and which a month among the Alps would soon put right. He started on his journey, but fortunately en route he traveled in the same carriage with a physician who was personally a stranger. During the journey the physician was struck with the character of the cough, and after a little conversation an examination of the chest was made, which resulted in the discovery of an aneurism of the transverse aorta which had escaped the patient's notice. Had he made any of his contemplated ascents he would have aggravated the condition, even if the attempt had not led to immediate death.—Annals of Hygiene.

Twilight in Norway.

The first impressive peculiarity of northern lands is the extent of twilight. Early in June, at Copenhagen, I could read by the twilight at 11 p. m. At Stockholm it was continual day, and after crossing the Arctic circle the sun was constantly in view. The deserted appearance of a sleeping village in daylight is remarkable.—Cor. San Francisco Chronicle.

DR. HAM'S

Aromatic Invigorator.

SURE CURE FOR

DYSPEPSIA, INDIGESTION, LIVER AND KIDNEY COMPLAINTS, NERVOUSNESS, HEARTBURN, WIND IN THE STOMACH OR PAINS IN THE BOWELS, HEADACHE, DROWSINESS, LOW SPIRITS, MELANCHOLY, and INTEMPERANCE.

As a MEDICINE it is quick and effectual; curing the worst and most aggravated cases of Dyspepsia, Kidney Complaints, and all other derangements of the Stomach and Bowels.

It will instantly revive the most melancholy and drooping spirits, and restore the weak, feeble, nervous, and sickly to health, strength, and vigor.

Mighty Dissipation.—Persons who, from dissipating too much over night, feel the evil effects of the poisonous liquors in violent headaches, Sickness at Stomach, Weakness, Giddiness, etc., will find that one dose will remove all bad feelings.

All Druggists. D. H. HAM & CO., 24 Broad Street, BOSTON, MASS.

A western editor has spent six years writing a book entitled, "How to test time." An easy subject to stick to; but in the preface he says however he knows no better remedy for coughs and colds produced by sedentary habits, than Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

William Orton, alias Sir Roger Tichborne, otherwise known as the Tichborne claimant, has been arrested in Brooklyn, N. Y., on a charge of attempted fraud in a pension case.

Catarrh

Is a very prevalent and exceedingly disagreeable disease, liable, if neglected, to develop into serious consumption. Being a constitutional disease, it requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, acting through the blood, reaches every part of the system, effecting a radical and permanent cure of catarrh in even its most severe forms. Made only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

George Thoebe, the labor candiate against Speaker Carlisle, will contest the latter's election.

White Race

Has 616,000,000, the Mongolian 600,000,000, Black, 250,000,000, Copper, 12,000,000, but no race has yet been discovered that had a taste for what was purest and best, that spoke anything but praise for the pure and wholesome G. O. Taylor Bourbon and Rye Whiskey, bottled by C. H. Graves & Sons, and sold by reliable grocers, druggists and traders in every clime.

The Harvard Celebration.

President Cleveland arrived in Boston at half-past six o'cleck Monday morning; he was met at Springfield by military representatives of the governor, and at the Boston station by the governor himself, and under military escort proceeded to the Vendome. He was exuberantly greeted by the populace all along the route. After breakfast the president, Gov. Robinson, Secretaries Bayard, Endicott, Lamar and Whitney, and Col. Lafmont, proceeded to Cambridge; Mrs. Cleveland, Mrs. Robinson, Mrs. Endicott and Mrs. O'Brien, wife of Mayor O'Brien, went to Cambridge a little later, and were received by Mrs. Eliot, wife of President Eliot of Harvard; and all took the seats reserved for them in Sanders theatre, where there was an oration by James Russell Lowell, and a poem by Oliver Wendell Holmes. Subsequently there was a dinner and speaking in Memorial hall, with an overflow in the Hemenway gymnasium. Cambridge was in a blaze of glory and enthusiasm through the day, and Harvard's 250th anniversary was a memorable occasion.

Labor Matters.

Grand Master Workman Powderly says the Chicago strike was not ordered by the national executive board of the Knights of Labor. A member of the executive board was sent to Chicago to endeavor to avert the trouble, but did not arrive there in time.

Three hundred Pinkerton detectives, sworn in as deputy sheriffs, were in barracks at the Chicago stock stockyards on Sunday evening, the 7th. Following telegraphic instructions from Governor Ogelsby, General Fitz Simmons, commanding the first brigade of Illinois state troops, on Sunday evening issued orders directing the officers and enlisted men of the First and Second regiments of the brigade to assemble at their armories at seven o'clock Monday morning, "armed and equipped for active service."

United States District Attorney Stanton of New Haven, Conn., has brought suit against the Northfield Knife company of Litchfield, Conn., for $15,000 penalties for importing fifteen English laborers under contract. Suit is brought under the law of 1885.

Muddle in Manchester.

The Manchester Mirror says the selectmen of ward five in that city did not properly make out, sign, post, or make return of, the warrant for the late election meeting in that ward, and that prominent legal gentlemen are of opinion that the entire vote of the ward will be lost through the failure of the selectmen to comply with the law. Should the vote of this ward be thrown out the result will be to elect Col. Sawyer governor, by the people; Haynes to Congress, over McKinney; a republican as mayor of Manchester; and cause a democratic loss of six representatives in the legislature. Cogswell's majority in that ward was 746, and McKinney's 677.

John F. Looney, the democratic ward clerk, and representative-elect, acknowledges that the original warrant calling the election in that ward was not signed by the selectmen until about nine o'clock on the morning of the election; hence what purported to be attested copies were not copies, as there was no original in existence when they were signed and posted. And the returns of the votes, which should have been signed by the moderator and selectmen in open meeting on the day of election, were not signed until six o'clock in the evening of the next day, and then only by the moderator and two of the selectmen.

HAMPTON JOTTINGS.

Rev. W. W. Fay, who has resigned the pastorate of the Congregational church after a brief but very happy and faithful ministry of less than three years, will leave with the unanimous regrets of his entire congregation to accept the call of the Central church of Bridgewater, Mass., where he hopes a change from the immediate vicinage of the ocean will relieve a bronchial affection.

Dr. D. P. Cilley and family have removed, after a brief residence here, to his home in Farmington, N. H. He is, evidently, a professional gentleman of very pleasant address, education, culture and refinement. But our community, we presume, has few inducements for additional medical practice, for two major reasons—exceptional historic healthfulness, and a careful, popular, skillful resident physican, Dr. Wm. S. Merrill, who has lost scarcely a day from sickness in his constant business here during the lifetime of a generation.

Mr. Curtis DeLancey, who was severely injured two weeks, ago at the railroad bridge at Portsmouth, his horse being frightened by two engines at the crossing, is able to walk on crutches, though with much difficulty and pain. The mechanics are more rapidly repairing his wrecked carriage than the doctors can the fractures and wounds of the human frame.

The Milk Co., with capstan or windlass power, have pulled down their ice house which had a threatening leaning over the Advent chapel, and we are glad to learn have changed their plan, and will erect their new ice house back from the street, which will be a great relief to the owners of adjacent valuable frontage property.

Mr. Jeremiah Marston is making very nice repairs on his residence, which will greatly improve his property. It has withstood storm and sunshine for nearly two generations, on the beautiful frontage lot, on the corner of Main and Windmill streets, so called, appealing in vain, until now, to good taste for paint and clapboards. The community will be thankful for the embellishment, though tardy, of this prominent old homestead.

HAMPTON, Nov. 8th. **

Mr. J. Edward Pickering, principal of the Iron Works grammar school, has resigned that position to accept a more remunerative position as master of the North Main street grammar school in Manchester, N. H. While congratulating him on his deserved honor, we regret exceedingly to lose him from our midst, and feel that his place will be difficult to fill, he having raised the standard of the school to a high degree of excellence. He has had charge of this school little more than a year, and by his firm discipline, and gentlemanly and agreeable manners, has gained the love and respect of his pupils, and the confidence and support of the parents, as well as the general esteem of the people of the town. He leaves us with the best wishes from a host of friends for his abundant success, and prosperity in his new field of labor. —Braintree (Mass.) Observer.

Mr. Pickering appears to abound in the qualities for successful teaching for which his sisters are so much noted. In fact, the profession seems to run in the family.

Mr. Frank Philbrick of this city, a Dartmouth student, is to teach school in Bethel, Me., this winter.

Mrs. John Day, nee Hannaford, formerly matron of the Children's Home in this city, is now visiting friends here.

The Richmond and Trenton it is said will be shortly fitted out as flagships, one to take the place of the Tennessee, on the North Atlantic station, and the other to relieve the Hartford on the Pacific station.

Mr. JOHN W. FURBUSH,

An Army Veteran,

OF WAKEFIELD,

who has probably suffered more than any man or woman in America to-day. Taken sick while in the army, he has continued untold agonies since. Describing his first symptoms he said: "My head ached and my appetite was poor. I felt a faintness at the pit of the stomach, and a bad taste in my mouth, while my skin was sometimes hot and sometimes cold. I next felt pains in my back and around the lower portion of my body, and noticed a peculiar odor and color in the water I passed, which was scanty at one time and free at others. Sometimes it pained me to void it, and again it was almost impossible to do so at all. Finally I began to pass clear blood, accompanied with the greatest strain and agony."

Notwithstanding 20 eminent physicians attended Mr. Furbush at various times, but not one of them could help him. He was near death's door. And yet he says: "I am alive and well to-day, wholly through the wonderful power of Hunt's Remedy, which took me from the verge of the grave."

This Great Remedy absolutely cures all Kidney, Liver and Urinary Diseases.

boon ever bestowed upon man is perfect health, and the true way to insure health is to purify your blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Mrs. Eliza A. Clough, 34 Arlington st., Lowell, Mass., writes: "Every winter and spring my family, including myself, use several bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Experience has convinced me that, as a powerful purifier, it is very much superior to any other preparation of Sarsaparilla. All persons of scrofulous or consumptive tendencies, and especially delicate children, are sure to be greatly benefited by its use." J. W. Starr, Laconia, Iowa, writes: "For years I was troubled with Scrofulous complaints. I tried several different preparations, which did me little, if any, good. Two bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla effected a complete cure. It is my opinion that this medicine is the best blood of the day." C. E. Upton, Nashua, N. H., writes: "For a number of years I was troubled with a humor in my eyes, and unable to obtain relief until I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I have taken several bottles, am greatly benefited, and believe it to be the best of blood purifiers." R. EASTERN RAILROAD COMPANY.

Blood

To the Holders of Certificates of Indebtedness.

THE voting register of certificate holders is now making up at the office of the Eastern Railroad on Causeway Street, Boston, Mass. Holders already registered are not required to register anew. Any holder not already registered can register on presenting at said office of said Eastern Railroad Company to Edward Le-ley a written statement signed by himself or his name, address, and the denomination and numbers of the certificates held by him. If the company shall so require, the holder desiring to register shall also duly verify his title thereto by producing said certificate of indebtedness, or filing with the Company the written order of the person last registered as the holder, or in such other mode as may be prescribed in the laws of Massachusetts and the regulations of the Trustees.

The voting register will be closed at the close of business on the 15th day of November, A. D. 1886, between which time and the special meeting for the election of a trustee on the twenty-third day of November, A. D. 1886, no registration for the purpose of said special meeting will be made.

Per order of the Directors,

PAULINE MARKHAM AT MUSIC HALL.

Miss Pauline Markham made her first appearance in this city on Monday evening, at Music hall, as Mercy Merrick in "The New Magdalen, and gave a very natural, pleasing and satisfactory portrayal of that exacting part, her conception of the character being evidently her own, and not a mere copy of some other person's; and it is good. The support is good, the company being very well balanced. The audience was not only quite a large one, but included many of the best people of the city, and all seemed much pleased with the entertainment.

The New York World spoke as follows of Miss Markham's first appearance in the "Ticket-of-Leave Man," which is on the bills for this evening:

Pauline Markham, the most celebrated figurante that our local annals has produced, made her appearance at the Third Avenue Theatre last night in Tom Taylor's well-known melo-drama, "The Ticket-of-Leave Man," an effective melodrama with one pathetic scene, and one strong situation in the fourth act. Miss Markham played the part with easy magnificence, and a great deal of feeling. She was handsome, graceful, easy and quite at home. Her many old friends who were in the house applauded her warmly, and pretended to like her better in skirts than in tights.

THE EASTERN PREFERRED STOCK.

Friends of the Eastern railroad believe that the common stock will pay a five per cent dividend at no distant day. Careful estimates indicate that after all expenses are paid by the Boston & Maine, including dividends, and the payment of $100,000 to the sinking fund, there will be remaining enough of the net earnings to pay a handsome 5 1-2 per cent on the stock of the Eastern road. But there are three million dollars of bonds in the way of declaring this dividend, the act of the Massachusetts legislature of 1876 providing that no dividend shall be paid until the bonded indebtedness of the road is reduced to $10,000,000, and that indebtedness now being, in round numbers, $13,000,000. The bond account of the road will be of interest to many, and here it is:

Total issue under act of 1876 (gold)	$10,399,500
Total issue under act of 1876 (sterling)	3,154,000
Grand total	$13,547,000
Cancelled to date	410,500
Now outstanding	$13,136,500
Cash in hands trustees	6,162.55

To reduce this bonded indebtedness to the amount at which the payment of dividends on the stock can be commenced, the attempt is to be made to exchange preferred stock of the road for its bonds, par for par, to the amount of $3,150,000. This movement, if successful, will neither add to nor reduce the debt of the road; it will reduce the bonded indebtedness; but the preferred stock will draw, as dividend, the exact amount the surrendered bonds would have drawn as interest, and that amount, like the interest, and the $100,000 annually to the sinking fund, will have to be paid before the common stock can get anything. But if, after the exchange of bonds for preferred stock is made, there remains anything over after all fixed charges are paid, then a dividend can be declared on the Eastern's common stock. And this many persons believe is a matter of the not distant future.

Eastern railroad stock sold up to 128 at the brokers' board in Boston on the 8th inst., 800 shares going at that figure, 325 shares at 127, and ten shares at 127 3-4. Portsmouth, Great Falls & Conway sold up to 110, and Boston & Maine at 210 1-2.

MARITIME NOTES.

Among the arrivals at this port from the 6th to the 8th were the steamer Reading, with 1663 tons coal; schooner John Bird, with 508 tons; the Florence Randall, 1106 tons; M. O. Marrett, 241 tons; N. W. Craig, 831 tons—all to J. Albert Walker.

The new schooner Lizzie J. Call, at Fernald's shipyard, Freeman's point, is very nearly completed, and work on her will probably be finished this week. Her crew will be made up as follows: John J. Call, master; Daniel Frisbee, mate; Norman Rawding, steward; Alfred Burrell, John Davidson, and one other, seamen. She is expected to be launched on Saturday.

The gondola Hard Chance, Capt. Cheney, was on Monday loaded at the wharf just north of the Spring market with coal for Newmarket, and went up river with the flood tide in the evening. There are 650 tons of coal now on the way from one of the coal-shipping ports to this city, and which the Hard Chance will take to Newmarket.

The brickers Hattie Lewis, D. K. Ham, J. Chester Wood and Clara B. Kennard sailed from this port for Boston on the 8th inst.

Considerable excitement was caused in Boston on Monday by the report that the revenue cutter Manhattan, with a crew of twenty-five men, had sunk off New Haven harbor Sunday morning. She arrived safe in New York Sunday afternoon.

POLICE COURT--BATCHELDER J.

MONDAY, Nov. 8th.

John Crowly and James Hogan, for drunkenness, were each fined $3, with costs, and sent to Brentwood to work out their assessments.

James Haley, complained of as a vagrant, was sent to Brentwood for thirty days, and oadered to pay $8.04 costs.

The funeral services of Miss Ellen O. Parrott, which took place at her late residence on Middle street at noon on Monday, were according to the ritual of the Episcopal church, of which she was an earnest and devoted adherent. The obsequies were attended by many sincere mourners, including the young ladies of the Choir Chapter of St. John's Guild, who participated in the services in accordance with the expressed wish of Miss Parrott, whose interest in the chapter had been active ever since its formation. The remains were placed in the family tomb at the homestead in Greenland.

The Army and Navy Register of Nov. 6th says: "Naval Constructor Wilson has returned to Washington from a visit to Portsmouth. While at the navy yard there he inspected the Galena and Swatara, and found that the reports of the boards of survey recommending them for repairs were satisfactory. The Galena will be ready for sea by Dec. 1st, but the Swatara not before spring."

Ice made on Sunday night, on shallow puddles, thick enough to last through the day. The thermometer was down to twenty-four degrees above zero, Monday morning, and the ground was frozen hard on the surface; there was a slight snow-squall Monday afternoon, and all together the weather was indicative of the fact that winter is not a great way off.

The business of the Portsmouth Machine Co. in the manufacture of brass valves has increased to such an extent, and the prospect is so encouraging, that it has been decided to erect another foundry, 59x19 feet on the ground; and a considerable invoice of new machinery, to be delivered in the course of two months, has been ordered.

The president and the secretary of the navy, in looking over the returns of different congressional districts, agreed that the sending of a part of the North Atlantic squadron to the Portsmouth navy yard was the best stroke of policy in the whole campaign. It had cost the republicans a member of congress, a result most satisfactory to the administration. But it is a long time before another election, and it is said that funds are low in the coffers of the navy department. Unfortunately for the democracy as well as for the navy, Sam Randall is to run the party in the next house of representatives, and he opposes appropriations with a dogged democratic obstinacy equalled only by that of "Reformer Holman" of Indiana, and the prospect of good times on the navy yard are by no means encouraging for those who would like to be kept on.

Some of the democrats affect to believe that the president will consider the loss of congressional districts as a hint that the party are becoming tired of his civil service notions, and that soon he will let down the bars for a grand rush for the spoils. In the back towns it is hinted that a revolt is already begining to develop, which will have for its object the designation of Congressman McKinney for distributor of patronage as a successor to Messrs. Jones, Kent and Sullo way. This however will not be the case. The parson may hold the office of representative, but when it comes to parcelling out the places, the rule which now prevails will be still in force, and this is what the representative-elect and his hungry friends will do well not to lose sight of.

Mr. John B. Downs and family moved in from the Shoals last Saturday, to spend the winter in this city.

The temporary wooden building at the southerly end of the Jones brewery, used as a tun-room and rack-room, has been taken down, and will be re-erected in the field to the south and east of the brewery, for use as a storehouse for staves, etc.

The Boston & Maine railroad managers have provided some of their cars with a new device that will enable passengers to know their whereabouts, and the name of every station before it is reached. As the train begins to move from a station the slight sound of a bell attracts attention, and on looking up the name of the next station is plainly seen in large letters on a small square box, prettily ornamented, placed in an elevated position at the forward end of the car. The mechanism, invented by Mr. J. H. Beckford, of Salem, Mass., is simple in construction, resembling somewhat the works of a clock, and is operated by electricity. The touching of an electric button, which for convenience is placed in the baggage car, does all this work in a moment. The invention will prove of great value to travellers, and it is to be expected that other roads will adopt it when its benefits are fully established.

Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham: "About the first of September, 1881, my wife was taken with uterine hemorrhage. The best stypics the physician could prescribe did not check it and she got more and more enfeebled. She was troubled with Prolapsus Uteri, Leucorrhœa, numbness of the limbs, sickness of the stomach and loss of appetite. I purchased a trial bottle of your Vegetable Compound. She said she could discover a sensory effect from the first dose. Now she is comparatively free from the Prolapsus, Stomach's sickness, &c. The hemorrhage is very much better and is less at the regular periods. Her appetite is restored, and her general health and strength are much improved. We feel that we have found a wonderfully benefitted and our hearts are drawn out in gratitude for the same and in sympathy for other sufferers, for whose sake we allow our names to be used." C. W. I am not a seeker after notoriety but I want to tell you that I have been wonderfully benefitted by your medicine. I am now going my fourth bottle and it would take but little argument to persuade me that my health is fully restored. I should like to widely circulate the fact of its wonderful curative powers." Portraiture Invented by Silhouette.

Until Daguerre made his discovery the wealthy had their miniatures painted on ivory, but the cheaper portraiture invented by Silhouette was very common. Profile cutters, as they were called, were found in all cities and large towns, while others went about the country from house to house, so that it was rare to find a sitting-room in any decent house that did not boast of a framed silhouette, one looking to the right and the other to the left. There were different ways of arriving at the same result, but the work was chiefly done by cutting the profile out of white paper, which was backed by a piece of black silk or black paper neatly mounted.

To insure success it was necessary to have a steady hand and a correct eye; with these qualities one could cut a likeness in a few seconds. There was also several mechanical contrivances for producing silhouettes, one of which Sam Weller doubtless had in his mind's eye when, in indicting his valentine to Mary, he likened the growth of his love in its rapid operations to the "profeel machine," which "does finish a portrait and put the frame and gloss on complete, with a hook at the end to hang it up by, and all in two minutes and a quarter."—New York Home Journal.

Curious Changes of Flower.

Many persons, though well acquainted with flowers, are unaware of the changes through which the seedling tulip passes. It is four or five years before it flowers, then it takes on the self-colored or breeder form; but in the breeder state it is easy to class it with the bizarres, roses or byblœmens, according as it may belong to either of these three divisions. Then, at the expiration or sometimes one or two years up to six or seven years, it breaks into its true character, and becomes what is termed "rectified." Why the tulip should be an exception to the universal law observed in seedling flowers, and have an almost exceptionally intermediate state, passeth knowledge. The practical florist asks of the botanist the why and wherefor of this, and no reply is forthcoming. It is said that in the whole range and history of plants there is no analogy to this phenomenon.—Vick's Magazine.

Hay fever is said to be unknown in southern California.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey and Duffy's Formula.

For Consumption.

BELLEFONTAINE, O., March 30, 1886.
The Duffy Malt Whiskey Co., Baltimore, Md.

Dear Sirs—Your Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey has cured my wife of her lung trouble (thought to be consumption in its first stage). She was unable to do anything, weighing just 111 pounds when commencing using your Whiskey, and to-day, just three months from the use, she weighs 135 pounds, looks better, feels better and is better than she has been for two years. I believe her entirely cured and thank you most heartily for the trouble you took in prescribing for Duffy's Formula and other favors from your excellent corps of physicians. I shall praise it to all that I think can be benefited by it, as it has saved me an enormous doctor's bill and as in my case, a life. Most sincerely yours,

E. L. BARRINGER,
Prop. Excelsior Steam Printing Works.

271 Sackett St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Gentlemen—I was stricken down with congestion of the lungs, and had to leave the best medical attendance I did not improve. I had a cough that seemed to convert my chest to half its natural size. Was unable to rest day or night, except upon my back, and to make the least exertion by reason of my breathing being so quick and short. I commenced the use of your Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey and Duffy's Formula, and it has done more good than is claimed for them. Every trouble has entirely disappeared, appetite excellent, breathing as natural as ever, cough gone. I feel like a new man all over. Your remedies are certainly the sine plus ultra of lung curatives. M. C. CONNOR.

37 8th Ave., Pittsburg, Pa.

Dear Sirs—I would very thankfully say in behalf of my friend, Mr. Chas. Whittaker, that he has so much improved in health and spirits since using your Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey and Duffy's Formula that he is completely restored. At the time of taking it Mr. Whittaker was depressed in energy and spirits, characteristic of that dread disease, but now has gained so much in weight, strength and general vigor he is actively attending to business.

JOHN H. HULTS.

CRESTON, WAYNE CO., OHIO.

Dear Sirs—I am using your Duffy's Formula in connection with your Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, and find it very beneficial. I have derived most substantial benefit from its use. I am steadily improving in weight and strength, and cheerfully recommend both for lung trouble.

J. G. BITTINGER.

THE DUFFY MALT WHISKEY CO.,
BALTIMORE, MD.

☞ *The Duffy's Formula is a special household application of the medicinal virtues and purity of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, and is intended more specifically for the treatment of Consumption, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Malaria, General Debility and Wasting Diseases. In addition to the tonic effect of our whiskey, it furnishes unequaled blood-forming material, whereby the Weight and Strength are increased. It is made in accordance with a specially prepared formula and consists principally of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, Duffy Malt Extract, combined in liquid form, the nutritious elements of the beef, being extracted by a simple, inexpensive and novel process, making it the most palatable and efficacious beef preparation ever made. A Good Thing Come to Stay.

America is a great country for inventions and discoveries. Thousands upon thousands of new things come to light every year; thousands upon thousands of them disappear to be seen and heard of no more. Some of the new discoveries come to stay because they are genuine and meet a long felt want. Such a thing is Allcock's Porous Plaster, which after a fair trial of twenty-five years is conceded to be the best external remedy known by both the medical fraternity and the general public. In a quarter of a century it has never failed in doing all that was claimed for it. Allcock's Porous Plasters have reached the place they now occupy because they have been proved to be good, safe, sure and speedy in doing their work. Ask your druggist for Allcock's, and be sure to accept no other.

The reason why Solomon said that there was nothing new under the sun was that he could not buy a good remedy to cure his stubborn cold. Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup had not been compounded then. It has long since proved itself to be the greatest benefaction of the nineteenth century.

Rev. Dr. Josiah Strong, of Cincinnati, accepts the position of general secretary of the United States Evangelical alliance.

Weary women should use Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound, we know it to be efficacious. It is indeed a real blessing.

A probability that the chain and galley work will be removed from Washington to the Charlestown navy yard is reported.

Pure blood is absolutely necessary in order to enjoy perfect health. Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood and strengthens the system.

The proposition to hold a constitutional convention is undoubtedly carried in New York.

Send a 2-cent stamp to Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass., for a set of their beautiful album cards.

Many falls of snow are reported in the south and west. Seven inches fell in Burlington, Vt., and five inches in many places in New York state, Monday.

Take Warning

And don't let the germs of that vile disease, Catarrh, take root and flourish in your system. Sulphur Bitters will prevent this and will make you strong and healty.

There were two fires in Salem about two o'clock Tuesday morning, both evidently incendiary. Aid was sent from Peabody and Beverly. Two tannery buildings, several carpenter shops, etc., were burned; loss $6,000.

The question of a proper food for infants interests all mothers; especially those unable to nurse their offspring. Mellin's Food possesses all the requisites as a substitute for mothers' milk, and is highly commended by the medical faculty of both Europe and America.

Gen. Dudley of Indiana says that the state's legislature is certainly republican.

Beware of so called electric appliances, plasters and pads. Hop Plasters are sure and prompt. 25c.

Tuesday, the 9th, was "lord mayor's day" in London, and the usual procession took place; but there was no gala dressing of buildings with flags, and all the shops were shuttered and barred, while great numbers of police and soldiers were on duty. No serious disturbance occured, but the socialists held a meeting in Trafalgar square after the procession had passed.

Catarrh in the Head

Catarrh is inflammation of the mucous membrane, attended with increased secretion. Thus catarrh may affect the head, throat, stomach, bowels, or any part of the body where the mucous membrane is found. But catarrh of the head is by far the most common, coming on so gradually that often its presence is not suspected till it has obtained a firm hold on its victim. It is caused by a cold, or a succession of colds, combined with

Impure Blood.

When firmly established the disease is exceedingly disagreeable, causing flow from the nose, dryness of the throat, headache, loss of appetite, roaring and buzzing noises in the ears, etc. In Hood's Sarsaparilla may be found a prompt and permanent cure for catarrh. It purifies and enriches the blood, soothes and rebuilds the diseased membrane, and thus soon cures the disease. At the same time it refreshes and tones the whole system. The remarkable success of this peculiar medicine entitles it to your confidence. Give Hood's Sarsaparilla a trial.

"I am happy to state that I used Hood's Sarsaparilla for catarrh, with which I have been troubled many years, and received great relief and benefit from it. The catarrh was very disagreeable, especially in the winter, causing constant discharge from my nose, ringing noises in my ears, and pains in the back of my head. The effort to clear my head in the morning by hawking and spitting was painful. My grocer advised me to try and it gave me relief immediately, while in time I was entirely cured. I am never without the medicine in my house, as I think it is worth its weight in gold." MRS. G. B. GIBB, 1029 Eighth Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

Hood's Sarsaparilla,

"I have used Hood's Sarsaparilla for catarrh with very satisfactory results. I have received more permanent benefit from it than from any other remedy I have ever tried." M. E. READ, of A. Read & Son, Wauseon, Ohio.

FLORENCE SILK MITTENS.

This engraving shows the latest style of these goods. It is published as a protection for those ladies who wish to obtain mittens well-made from genuine

FLORENCE KNITTING SILK.

Whatever the design, all real Florence Silk Mittens are sold one pair in a box, bearing the brand "Florence" on one end.

The pattern shown here is lined in back and wrist throughout with silk. They are perfect fitting and in cold climates are far more comfortable than any glove, are more durable and quite as elegant and fashionable as the best of gloves.

Sold by all enterprising dealers, who can be supplied at our agency, No. 16 Summer Street, Boston, Mass. Our latest book on knitting (1886 edition) contains over 100 valuable illustrated rules including full instructions for this mitten. Mailed to any address on receipt of six cents in stamps.

Rambles About a Fishing Port.

In my vacation rambles I happened in the town of Eastport, Me. It is a fishing port, as any one would know by the smell, which stays with you all the while you are there and comes home with you. It is the kind of smell you can cut with a knife, but there is money in it. There are what they call pomace mills there, which take the heads and refuse of herring and press oil out of them. The remainder of the herring is made into sardines. Eastport is the great "sardine" packing place of this country. They catch herring in weirs. I was told by one man that he had taken 100 hogsheads of herring out of his weir in one night. He got $2 for a hogshead for them.

The herring's power of propagation is marvelous. They are scooped out of the weirs like sand and decapitated by the billion. By canning and smoking in summer and freezing in the winter enough herring are preserved in that vicinity almost to fill the bed of the East river between the bridge piers if the water was drained out. And yet the schools each year seem as large as ever. A dealer told me that he saw no signs of the herring giving out. The herring is the silliest of fish. He goes into a weir through a wide door, and might easily go out through the same opening. Once inside, however, he swims around and around in circles, and is frightened by the waving of the weir brush in the water from approaching the sides. So he stays in and is lost.—New York News "Wayside Notes."

Facts About Artichokes.

The artichoke, which originally came from Barbary, is not a botanical species, but a variety of the thistle, which grows spontaneously all along the African coast of the Mediterranean from Morocco to Palestine. It is now cultivated extensively in France, where those which come from Brittany and Algeria are the species most highly esteemed. Even of these there are many varieties, such as the Camus artichoke of Brittany, the bronzed artichoke of Roscoff, the big green artichoke of Laon and the violet artichoke of Provence. There are also varieties which come from Italy, Spain, India and Canada, to say nothing of the Jerusalem artichoke, famous for the enormous size of its leaves.

In the south of France, when the crop is abundant, the heads are carefully picked of all their leaves and the "hearts" dried in the sun are put up in sacks and stored away for winter use. These hearts when boiled in water, or in a rich beef broth, become soft and recover their form, color and flavor. They are then taken from the pot, the water and broth strained away, the center is filled with forced meat and they are then either fried or baked. The heads with their pale green, long, narrow and pointed leaves clustered around the top of a tall stalk give the plant a very elegant appearance. Each head, if allowed to mature, bears a purple, violet flower, which give a great richness of color to a field of artichokes.—Paris Letter.

The Fine Old English Waiter.

In London the scores of taverns where they point you out Johnson's favorite corner or Goldsmith's pet seat, the dozens of chop-houses which Dickens or Thackeray patronized, the divers resorts where they show Tennyson's clay pipes or the pewter Mr. Justice Harleigh used to drink his pint of mild and bitter out of long after he reached the bench—these sanctuaries of an age gone by still hold their own with the restaurant and counter lunch, but it is in London and with difficulty even there. As we have had our strike here, the old English waiters of these old taverns are on strike just now in London. The strikers there have their committees as ours have, hold meetings and draw up a protest setting forth the wrongs of the tribe and suggesting the remedy. Low wages, long hours, the despotism of the head waiters, the exclusion from profitable interest in extra tips make up the lamentable category of ills under which the swallow-tailed army profess to groan that the greatest affliction is the intrusion of the foreigner. He must go or the native will know why.

The fact is the fine old English waiter, with his slouch, his bunions, his slowness, his stupidity and his insolence, finds himself in danger of such extinction as befell the British black rat when the continental rodent contrived to effect a landing in British sewers. Nor is there much sympathy, especially among the crowd of American customers, for the home-born knights of the napkin. Alphonse and Frank and Louis and Hendrick, Frenchman, German, Swiss or Swede, is more neat-handed, more alert, infinitely more civil and immeasurably less expectant than the insular rival who is now rising in protest against him—New York World.

Oxalic Acid in Tomatoes.

The principal acid of the tomato is malic; but there is also a trace of oxalic acid which would be dangerous if it existed in large quantities. The oxalic acid acts on the tin in the cans and produces a dangerous compound. The malic acid does not act so strongly. If glass is used there can be no danger, and the flavor of the fruit will be much better retained.—Exchange.

Mr. E. C. Stedman writes that the works of Thackeray, not excepting Henry Esmond, are as realistic as those of Trollope, or of the most uncompromising Zolaites. "They are more so, because more elevated, and more intense in their exquisite portrayal of life's varied forms."—Frank Leslie's.

IT IS WONDERFUL

how easily rheumatism begins, and how insidiously it grows in the system, until one is startled to find himself its victim in either the acute or chronic form. He then learns the fearful tenacity of its grip and the utter powerlessness of the ordinary remedies to give relief.

Probably to no disease have physicians given more study, and none has more completely baffled their efforts to provide a specific; and until Athlophoros was discovered there was no medicine which would surely cure rheumatism, neuralgia and nervous or sick headache. Thousands of testimonials like the following prove beyond question that Athlophoros is the only reliable remedy, and that it will do all that is claimed for it.

Manchester, N. H., March 15, 1886.

One year ago while suffering with a rheumatic difficulty I was induced by friends of mine to try a bottle of Athlophoros, although I had little belief in anything of the kind, but, contrary to my expectations, it gave me immediate relief, and it is with pleasure that I can now recommend it to my acquaintances, feeling sure that they will find it the remedy of the age for such difficulties, as I had tried everything else with little or no relief.

PARK H. KELLY.

Northampton, Mass., May 21, 1886.

For relief from rheumatic pains and trouble, I believe your Athlophoros is infallible. For many years I have been subject to rheumatism in its worst forms. During my last siege of sickness I was induced to try Athlophoros and found it to be all it claimed to be, a cure for rheumatism. LEVI I. CLARK.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlephoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

For liver and kidney diseases, dyspepsia, indigestion, weakness, nervous debility, diseases of women, constipation, headache, impure blood, &c., Athlophoros Pills are unequaled.

THE EASTERN'S POSSIBILITIES.

The financial writer of the Boston Traveller, in that paper's issue of Monday evening, goes somewhat into figures to show that a six per cent dividend on Eastern railroad stock is not such a wild chimera as it would have appeared had it been suggested years ago as likely, or possible, to occur within a brief period. The early holders, in this vicinity, of small lots of that stock, will find the Traveller's article quite interesting to read, and the holders of large lots will no doubt find it still more so; it is as follows:

Something like a year ago, when the prediction was made that the Eastern road would earn six per cent on its stock this year, the officials and insiders very generally laughed at it and pronounced it "wild." Now, let us see by actual figures, what it has done. The Boston & Maine and Eastern roads have jointly earned during the fiscal year ending Sept. 30th, 1886, something like $7,500,000 gross, instead of $7,000,000 as was predicted. The results from this, under the terms of the lease, are approximately these:

Gross earnings	$7,500,000
Joint operating expenses (62 per cent)	4,875,000
Gross	$2,625,000
Joint fixed charges, interest, rent, etc.	1,419,250
Balance	$1,135,000
Eastern sinking fund	140,000
	$1,095,000
Six per cent on Boston & Maine stock (approximate)	700,000
Balance for Eastern	$395,000

Now, a step further to show how the issue of the preferred stock, together with the $300,000 or more left for the Eastern treasury, will admit of a six per cent dividend on the common stock.

By the terms of the lease the Boston & Maine road is pledged to pay to the Eastern road the interest on something over $14,000,000, as its fixed charges, amounting all told to $860,000. Now, with the debt reduced to $10,000,000, this sum can be applied as follows:

Amount received	$860,000
Interest on $1,000,000 Eastern bonds (sealed in September vault, 4½ per cent)	45,000
Interest on $1,000,000 Boston & Maine bonds (sealed in September vault, 4½ per cent)	45,000
Charlestown Land Co. rent, 6 per cent	41,400
	$740,770
Calling the actual interest payments, in round numbers	$650,000
A balance remains of	$210,000

Which is equivalent to 3.5 per cent on the $6,000,000 of preferred stock, and to three times the excess to the preferred stock guaranteed. Out of this $210,000 $100,000 go into the sinking fund

	100,000
And a balance is left of	$110,000

Before the Boston & Maine can pay the lessee one per cent it must, under the lease, pay $1,000 to the Eastern for its sinking fund, which has been provided for by the Eastern as above

	100,000
And this gives a total of $210,000 applicable to dividend. If to this be added the $300,000 (in round numbers) left over after paying all charges called for by the lease, a total of	$510,000 is shown, which sum represents the actual amount to be divided between the preferred and common stockholders, including, of course, the stock of the Portsmouth, Great Falls & Conway.

Six per cent on the preferred stock would require	$180,000
Six per cent on the common would require	330,000
Total	$510,000

This is within $8000 of the amount that will be at command, with earnings, expenses and charges estimated on a very liberal basis. As a matter of fact, the chances are that the exact figures will show considerably better than the above. Eastern stock was quite firmly held Monday, and in fair demand at from 127 to 128, while the bonds were neglected at 131 1-4 bid. N. trouble whatever is anticipated in quickly effecting the exchange of bonds as desired.

From the foregoing it would appear that there is no reason why the payment of dividends on Eastern stock should not soon be recommenced, unless legal or legislative objection should intervene, as has been hinted at as likely to be the Labor Matters.

The big lockout at Augusta, Ga., has ended with a reduction of the score of labor from sixty-eight to sixty-two a week.

No disturbances were reported from the Chicago strikes of the 9th.

A Great Fish Cape Ann.

The Gloucester correspondent of the Boston Globe writes to that paper that—

If Secretary Bayard visits Boston he might, to his great advantage, make a flying call to Cape Ann. It is true that Colonel French was hampered by the labor vote, but a great many democratic votes for congressman in this district were thrown away.

Why should old hunker democrats take to the republican ticket? For the, too plain reason that Secretary Bayard and the administration have been unheeding of the cry of the fishermen. Is it not self evident that American fishermen are scandalously treated in provincial waters? The recent experience of Captain Jacobs is evidence enough to demand national attention. If the secretary of state could pay a visit to Gloucester the coming week he will find American skippers at home who have been harassed by pesty Canadian officials, and Sch. Jacobs in particular might furnish material of great interest in the consideration of this question. The plot of Collector Bourinat to seize the Mollie Adams by perjured evidence should be investigated.

English cruisers are to be more numerous another season, and more indignities to be heaped upon Americans, to draw them from the occupation of fishing, unless more Americanism can be inoculated into high officials, and this fishery dispute settled upon a basis of justice.

The night Pullman trains between Bangor and Boston have within the past two or three years been stopped no less than seven times by sleepers, rails or other obstructions placed on the track of the Maine Central road at a point between Hallowell and Gardiner, Me., with evident intent to wreck the train. Only by the exercise of the utmost vigilance have the railroad men been able to avert serious disasters. Detectives have been employed and men detailed to watch suspected parties and isolated places, but no arrests have been made, the inhuman train-wreckers evidently being aware of all that is done by the road, and governing themselves accordingly. The eastbound train out of Gardiner, last Friday night, was behind time, and running fast to make it up, when the engineer saw a barrier across the track, and though he did all he could to stop the train the engine struck a barricade of timbers with such force as to break the cowcatcher and wrench the engine somewhat, though none of the wheels left the rails. There is said to be a general feeling of uneasiness among railroad and postal service men on the Maine Central, which is not to be wondered at, and which is heightened by the following order issued to conductors and engineers: "Run slow between Gardiner and Hallowell, as obstructions are again being placed upon the track." As long intervals occur between these attempts to wreck, no immediate danger is apprehended.

An Ogunquit correspondent of a Biddeford paper writes: "One day last week as N. F. Kimball was coming down the North Berwick road, he saw two large dogs after a flock of sheep. One old buck in the flock showed fight, and bravely faced them, but they were fast tiring him out when Kimball drove them away. A short time after, Capt. D. Maxwell went into the pasture and attempted to drive the dogs away from a sheep they had down, but they turned on him and he couldn't start them. When William Moody, the owner of the sheep, went up he found nine sheep dead or nearly so, and there were two or three missing. The next day the same dogs got into the flock of sheep belonging to William Eaton, but he managed to shoot one of them before any damage was done. The question now is, who owns the dogs?"

EASTERN RAILROAD COMPANY.

To the Holders of Certificates of Indebtedness.

The Voting Register of Certificate holders is now making up at the office of the Company in Boston, Mass.

Persons desiring to have their names placed upon said Register in order to vote at the coming election must comply with the following regulation of the Trustees:

"Every holder of Certificates of Indebtedness who desires to have them registered in his name shall present to the Trustees at their office, No. 10 Tremont street, Boston, a written statement signed by him, and giving his address and the denomination and number of every certificate of indebtedness claimed to be held by him, and shall, if required by said Trustees, verify this title by exhibiting such certificates and the written order of the last registered holder of the same, or other evidence of his title to the reasonable satisfaction of the Trustees; and said Trustees, if satisfied with his title, shall endorse their approval upon said written statement, and said certificate holder may thereupon be registered in conformity thereto. The approval of one of said Trustees shall be sufficient authority for such registration, and no registration after the 13th day of August, 1886, shall be valid without such approval, and no approval shall be granted after the time for closing the register."

The voting register will close at the close of business on the 15th day of November, between which time and the special meeting on the 23d day of November, 1886, a reg stration will be allowed.

EASTERN RAILROAD COMPANY.

Holders of certificates of indebtedness are notified that the company will issue in exchange for certificates of indebtedness, par for par, $3,000,000 of preferred stock, entitling the holders of said stock, to receive annual net earnings of the corporation to an amount equal to but not exceeding six dollars per share, payable in semi-annual instalments on the first days of March and Sep ember, in such sums as the directors may determine, in preference and priority to the common stock, provided however that certificates to the amount named are tendered in exchange and are deposited for that purpose with LEE, HIGGINSON & CO., or KIDDER, PEABODY & CO., of Boston, Mass., or the Company's Agents in London, by twelve o'clock of the twenty-third day of November current. As soon as practicable thereafter the preferred stock will be delivered, or, if not taken in the first account, stored, the certificates deposited will be returned. If bonds in excess of the amount named are tendered, exchange will be made pro rata.

Sterling bonds will be exchanged at par of exchange, fractional sums being adjusted by purchase and sale of fractions.

Each bond exchanged must have all unmatured coupons attached.

By order of the Board,

FRANCIS I. AMORY, Clerk.

THE CHURCH FAIR.

The fair of the Freewill Baptist society opened very encouragingly in Franklin hall on Tuesday evening, the attendance being large, and the sale of useful and fancy articles from the well filled tables quite brisk. Among the handsome contributions are a beautiful picture of Longfellow and an easel to bear it, to go to the engine company raising the most money for the fair; water-cooler and goblets, to the most popular clergyman, by vote; two fine chairs, etc. The fair will close on Thursday evening, when no admission will be charged, and supper will be served at twenty-five cents a plate from seven to nine o'clock, when all the articles unsold will be auctioned off.

PAULINE MARKHAM AT MUSIC HALL.

Tuesday evening Miss Markham appeared as May Edwards in the "Ticket-of-Leave Man," and played the part feeling and effectively, confirming and increasing the favorable impression created by her excellent rendering of the difficult part of Mercy Merrick, Monday evening. Randolph Murray took the leading male part, the support was generally very fine, and satisfaction was quite liberally expressed by the audience, which was a good one.

This evening the play is "Camille," in which Miss Markham has won many of the most commendatory notices given her by the New York critics.

Thursday evening she will appear as Pauline in the "Lady of Lyons."

Reserved seats on sale at Goodrich's, at popular prices.

POLICE COURT--BATCHELDER J.

TUESDAY, Nov. 9th.

George Pickering, charged with drunkenness, was discharged, the evidence showing that he was not drunk in a public place.

THE NORTH ATLANTIC SQUADRON.

"Passed through Hell Gate 7th—Steamer Yantic, Commodore F. M. Green, New York for Portsmouth."

So reads a notice in the ship-news columns of the Boston Post, of date Nov. 9th. It undoubtedly refers to the U. S. S. Yantic, Commander F. M. Green, which vessel was last week reported as under orders to proceed from New York to Newport, R. I., to prepare for her winter cruise in the West Indian waters.

There is no reason why the North Atlantic squadron should visit this naval station again this year; it came here once, and partially effected the purpose it was sent here for—the defeat of the republican candidates in the first congressional districts of Maine and New Hampshire. Mr. Reed was not defeated, but his vote in the southerly portion of York county was unquestionably reduced by the naval attack, which also reduced Haynes' vote on this side of the river, and increased McKinney's, perhaps making a change of votes enough in this district to have elected Haynes had the naval conditions been reversed.

The Yantic is now the North Atlantic squadron—that is, all there is left of it in condition to go on a cruise. At the commencement of the year it consisted of six vessels, namely, the Tennessee, (flagship,) Brooklyn, Swatara, Alliance, Galena and Yantic, the latter being not only the smallest vessel in the squadron, but the smallest cruising vessel in the navy, her displacement being only 900 tons. The Brooklyn is now in the Indian ocean, on her way to the Asiatic station; the Alliance is detached, and ordered to the South Atlantic station, at once; the Tennessee is alongside the ceb dock at the Brooklyn navy yard, for inspection to see if she is worth repairing; the Galena is undergoing repairs at this navy yard, and will not be finished for a month; and the Swatara has been put out of commission. This leaves the little craft which passed through Hell Gate on the 7th the only immediately available vessel of the squadron—not a very imposing display of naval power in the home squadron of a nation of between fifty and sixty millions of people.

MARITIME NOTES.

When the new schooner Lizzie J. Call comes off the stocks she will haul alongside of Appledore wharf, to load apples for Baltimore, having been chartered by Charles H. Hayes.

The schooner Grace Choate, Ed. Robinson master, is being overhauled and repainted preparatory to starting on winter fishing. What recaulking she requires is being done by Oliver Adams.

MECHANICS' ASSOCIATION.

At the annual meeting of the Mechanics' Association, held Tuesday evening, Nov. 9th, officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows:

President, Oliver H. Locke;
Vice Pres't, Charles H. Downs;
Secretary, Benjamin M. Parker;
Dep. Sec., Joseph Pettigrew;
Treasurer, Lewis G. Davis;
Trustees, W. F. Batten and John Pender, (William G. Billings, Marcellus Bufford, Edward J. Moulton and Franklin N. Paul, holding over;)
Marshal, Daniel Mason;
Dep. Marshal, David Urch;
Standard Bearer, John H. Slater;
Auditors, John Knowlton, David Urch, John H. Slater.

A correspondent of the Army and Navy Journal, writing from the naval academy, Annapolis, Md., under date of Nov. 2d, says: "Ensign and Mrs. E. E. Capehart arrived here last Saturday from Portsmouth, N. H., and have taken up quarters in the city. Although Cupid and his frolicsome tricks have played havoc in the bachelors' quarters, Dame Rumor assures us that a yet greater sweep is in store, and soon the bachelors' quarters will be almost deserted."

Among the graduates of Harvard college, resident in this city, who attended the celebration of the 250th anniversary on the 8th inst., were Charles E. Batchelder, Esq., Supt. of Schools Morss, Dr. James R. May and Rev. Alfred Gooding.

A session of the probate court was held in this city by Judge Leavitt on Tuesday.

Now is the time for those who need new cooking stoves, or new lamps, for the winter, to procure them; and a large and varied stock can be found at John P. Sweetser's kitchen furnishing store on Market street, where also orders for plumbing and gas fitting can be left, and will be promptly attended to. See the advertisement in another column.

Sheriff Kent on Tuesday moved from the room in the custom house occupied by him as United States deputy marshal—which position he resigned several weeks ago—to Morse's insurance office, No. 13 Pleasant street, where he may be hereafter found by those needing his services.

A RAY OF HOPE.

Every man who has had life made a burden at the theatre—and that means every man who has attended a theatrical performance within a year or more—has felt the persistance with which a high bonnet in front of him has obscured his view of the stage, and shifted from side to side just enough to shut him out from seeing anything as often as he managed to twist his neck so as to get a glimpse through some peep-hole, will be rejoiced at the ray of hope held out in the following extract from a New York correspondent's letter, and longingly look for the universal adoption of Mrs. John Bigelow's theatre bonnet. The correspondent says:

Such a nuisance has the fashionable high bonnet become in the theatres—it is impossible for any one in the rear to see over them and not always possible to keep out of their range—that, at the suggestion of Manager Augustin Daly, several society leaders, like Mrs. John Bigelow, will introduce a theatric bonnet, a flat head covering that will permit an unobstructed view of the stage by those behind. You may think this a joke, but it is not. If the fashionable high hat, which, according to all accounts, is to be higher than ever this season, continues to be worn in the theatres, the managers will have to pyramidically raise their seats or confine the ladies to the back rows.

Boucle and Astrachan for outside garments, and Astrachan for dress trimmings, are shown in all the colors by Lewis E. Staples at No. 7 Market street.

For Weak Women.

Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham: "About the first of September 1881, my wife was taken with uterine hemorrhage. The best styptics the physician could prescribe did not check it and she got more and more enfeebled. She was troubled with Prolapsus Uteri, Leucorrhea, numbness of the limbs, sickness of the stomach and loss of appetite. I purchased a trial bottle of your Vegetable Compound. She said she could discover a salutary effect from the first dose. Now she is comparatively free from the Prolapsus, Stomach's sickness, &c. The hemorrhage is very much better and is less at their regular periods. Her appetite is restored, and her general health and strength are much improved. We feel that we have been wonderfully benefitted and our hearts are drawn out in gratitude for the same and in sympathy for other sufferers, for whose sake we allow our names to be used." C. W. I am not a seeker after notoriety but I want to tell you that I have been wonderfully benefitted by your medicine. I am now using my fourth bottle and it would take but little argument to persuade me that my health is fully restored. I should like to widely circulate the fact of its wonderful curative powers." One of the service papers at Washington says: "The bids for the construction of the five new vessels of war will be opened Nov. 24th. The indications are that a good number will be presented, though none have yet been received. The custom of the contractors has been to hand in their bids in person a few hours before the time for opening them. The annual estimates of the navy bureau of ordnance will contain an item of $1,500,000 to be expended in the manufacture of guns and other ordnance equipments for the new vessels authorized by law. The secretary of the navy has endorsed this recommendation. The estimates of the secretary of the navy will be much below those of last year, since no money is asked for new vessels of war."

Nearly every well in Lyme village has been dry.

Mrs. Sarah Chandler Frye of Concord, a descendant of the Eastman family which founded the city, died Nov. 2d, aged seventy-four years.

James M. French of West Henniker died Nov. 3d, aged seventy years; he was formerly landlord of the Eagle hotel, Concord, the Fabyan house, White Mountains, and other hotels.

The Humboldt Lumber company's mill at Eureka, Cal., was burned, with a loss of $80,000.

Two game wardens were murdered by poachers in Hemenway township, Me., Nov., 8th.

There were no unmarried women in Wagon Wheel, Idaho, when John Doane, a miner in the village, died, but his death brought thither as mourners two of his sisters, who were old maids, and his widowed mother. Before the flowers had withered on John's grave the widow had been married to the mayor of the town, the elder sister to the sheriff, and the younger to a prominent citizen. The three weddings were held at the same time and all the town attended.

WM. P. WALKER,

An Obstacle to Physical Well Being.

Physicians rightly characterize constipation as an obstinate impediment to the welfare of the body. The performance of the more important functions, such as digestion, biliary secretion and an active circulation of the blood, are interrupted by it in a greater or less degree, as the development of the complaint is incipient or mature. Not at once, of course, but with reasonable promptitude, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will remove every symptom to which it gives rise, as well as the minor maladies that spring from it, among them indigestion and chronic biliousness. From drenching cathartics it is vain to hope for permanent benefit, and there are few purgatives that are not violent and profuse in their operation. Blue pill and calomel are designed to act upon the liver only, and taken frequently are pernicious to health. The Bitters produces relaxation of the bowels without pain, and a renewal of their regularity. It also conquers fever and ague, rhematism, neuralgia and inactivity of the kidneys.

The Dover Knights of Labor on the 9th inst. nominated Charles H. Farnham for mayor, and it is thought the democrats will endorse the nomination. Horatio G. Hanson, who was nominated by the republican Knights of Labor, has declined.

Weary women should use Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound, we know it to be efficacious. It is indeed a real blessing.

Theodore Roosevelt has sailed for London, where he will marry Miss Edith Carroll.

Send a 2-cent stamp to Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass., for a set of their beautiful album cards.

The Bulgarian sobranje on the 10th inst. elected Prince Waldemar to the throne.

Take Warning

And don't let the germs of that vile disease, Catarrh, take root and flourish in your system. Sulphur Bitters will prevent this and will make you strong and healty.

Fotheringham, the express messenger whose car was robbed of over $100,000 a short time ago, has been indicted at St. Louis for complicity in the crime. Three other persons are indicted.

The question of a proper food for infants interests all mothers; especially those unable to nurse their offspring. Mellin's Food possesses all the requisites as a substitute for mothers' milk, and is highly commended by the medical faculty of both Europe and America.

A slight earthquake was felt in New Jersey on the 9th inst.

Beware of so called electric appliances, plasters and pads. Hop Plasters are sure and prompt. 25c.

Abram J. Lamb, Sarah B. Wheaton and Mary B. Eliot have been indicted for murdering Abram J. Lamb, Jr., in October last, at Boston. Their victim was a babe born with a hare lip, and the father induced the two women, who were nursing the mother, to murder it. Lamb and one of the women skipped out as soon as the affair became noised abroad.

Self-Praise No Recommendation.

Self-praise is no recommendation, but there are times when one must permit a person to tell the truth about himself. When what he says is supported by the testimony of others no reasonable man will doubt his word. Now, to say that Allcock's Porous Plasters are the only genuine and reliable porous plasters made is not self-praise in the slightest degree. They have stood the test for twenty-five years, and in proof of their merits it is only necessary to call attention to the cures they have effected and to the voluntary testimonials of those who have used them.

IT IS WONDERFUL

how easily rheumatism begins, and how insidiously it grows in the system, until one is startled to find himself its victim in either the acute or chronic form. He then learns the fearful tenacity of its grip and the utter powerlessness of the ordinary remedies to give relief.

Probably to no disease have physicians given more study, and none has more completely baffled their efforts to provide a specific; and until Athlophoros was discovered there was no medicine which would surely cure rheumatism, neuralgia and nervous or sick headache. Thousands of testimonials like the following prove beyond question that Athlophoros is the only reliable remedy, and that it will do all that is claimed for it.

Manchester, N. H., March 15, 1886.

One year ago while suffering with a rheumatic difficulty I was induced by friends of mine to try a bottle of Athlophoros, although I had little belief in anything of the kind, but, contrary to my expectations, it gave me immediate relief, and it is with pleasure that I can now recommend it to my acquaintances, feeling sure that they will find it the remedy of the age for such difficulties, as I had tried everything else with little or no relief.

PARK H. KELLY.

Northampton, Mass., May 21, 1886.

For relief from rheumatic pains and trouble, I believe your Athlophoros is infallible. For many years I have been subject to rheumatism in its worst forms. During my last siege of sickness I was induced to try Athlophoros and found it to be all it claimed to be, a cure for rheumatism.

LEVI I. CLARK.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

For liver and kidney diseases, dyspepsia, indigestion, weakness, nervous debility, diseases of women, constipation, headache, impure blood, &c., Athlophoros Pills are unequaled. 2

FELLED BY A TIDE OF ICE.

Mighty Monarchs of the Forest Sawn Asunder by Nature's Forces.

One evening about 8:30 o'clock and the sun still high above the western mountain range, we found ourselves opposite the Davidson glacier. It passes out of a broad ravine and spreads fan-like upon the shore under the neighboring cliffs. It is three miles in breadth along the front, and is 1,200 feet in height when it begins to crumble and slope toward the shore. A terminal moraine a mile and a half in depth separates it from the sea. A forest, or a remnant of a forest, stands between it and the water it is slowly but surely approaching.

The fate of this solemn wood is sealed. Anon the mightiest among these mighty trees will fall like grain before the sickle of the reaper. We were very near this glacier. We saw all the wrinkles and fissures and the deep discolorations.

We saw how the montrous mass wound in and out between the mountains, and crowded them on every side, and rubbed the skin off in spots, and left grooved lines like high-water marks along the face of the cliffs; how it gathered as it went and ground to powder and to paste whatever came within its reach, becoming worse and worse, and greedier and more rapacious as it creeps down into the lowlands, so that when it reaches the sea, where it must end its course and dissolve away, it will have covered itself with slime and confusion; it will have left ruin and desolation in its track, but it will likewise have cleft out a valley with walls polished like brass and a floor as smooth as marble; one that will be used in after ages, when it has carpeted itself with green and hung its walls with the tapestry of its vine. Surely no other power on earth could have done the job so neatly.

One sees this work in progress and in fresh completion in Alaska. The bald islet yonder, with a surface as smooth as glass and with delicate tracery along its polished sides—tracery that looks like etching upon glass—was modelled by glaciers not so very many years ago; within the century, some of them, perhaps. A glacier, probably the very glacier we are seeking, followed this track and ground them all into shape; every angle of actio , of motion shall I say, is indelibly impressed upon each and every rock hereabout; so all these northlands, from sea to sea, the world over, have been laboriously licked into shape by the irresistible tide of ice. Verily, the mills of the gods grind slowly, but what a grist they grind!—Alaska Cor. San Francisco Chronicle.

Cold Coffee for Marching Soldiers.

A good mark for Gen. Boulanger! In the instructions sent to the officers commanding the regular army and the militia reserves engaged in the autumn manœuvers they were told to prevent, as much as possible, soldiers drinking at the first well they meet, and if the weather was hot, to make each man take with him before setting out on a long march a provision of filtered water. If he had said, "a provision of cold coffee," it would have been better. There is no such safe and sustaining drink as coffee for the marching soldier, tourist or sportsman. It prevents, in places where food is scarce and bad, typhus fever, by counteracting rapid waste of the tissues.

The internal waste caused by fatigue is the most dangerous of any, inasmuch as the vitality is too low to throw it off, and so all the dead stuff in the body poisons what is living. I have seen persons, after walks greater than their strength could bear, suffer as if from violent poison. In point of fact, they were poisoned, but merely through inability to get rid of the detritus of wasted tissue in themselves. Tourists should, no more than Gen. Boulanger's soldiers, when out on holiday excursions, drink water out of the first well they meet, and to prevent the rapid using up of their own bodies they ought to fill up their flasks, before starting on long walks, with coffee, which is, perhaps, nicer to drink cold than hot.—Paris Cor. London Truth.

A Merry Funeral in Jerusalem.

A merry funeral, with music and dances, took place recently at Jerusalem—a peculiar kind of funeral, which turns up every five or six years. At the Sephardic synagogue in Jerusalem is a chamber called Chedeu Hognisch. There are preserved all the scrolls of the Torah that have become useless, also Mesuoth, Tefilin, etc. In accordance with an old custom, these old documents are sewn into bags or put in earthen jugs and with music, dance and song are carried outside of the city. There is a large cave toward the end of the cemetery at the foot of Mount Olive, where they are preserved. On that day all the stores and workshops are closed and crowds fill the streets.

The men assemble in the synagogue, where prayers for the welfare of the sultan are recited. A procession is formed. In front Torah scrolls are carried under Chupahs and at their side men carry burning wax candles. Then follow about 100 men carrying bags and jugs. At the Zion gate the rabbi of the Sephardic synagogue ascends a large stone and recites a prayer for the sultan, the state officers, rabbis, and the congregations throughout the whole world. Then the procession wends its way through the Josaphat valley to the cave, where the bags and jugs are deposited. The celebration lasts till late in the evening. —Jewish Messenger.

"Under Which King?"

The democratic party leaders are not as much chagrined at the loss of so many members for the next Congress, as they are alarmed at the probable loss of their rank and file. As Mr. George proclaims himself an out-and-out free trader, he will on this issue, with the assertion that the democracy in the late municipal election in New York city endeavored to wipe out the great labor champion of the country at the dictation of Hewitt & Co., who represent democratic monopolists, go before the people of the country with the motto which was in the hall of the great meeting in Cooper Institute on Saturday night, "Abolish all taxes but ones on land values." The followers of George, as democrats, have had no respect for the free colored laborer of the south; nor care, if they had comprehension, of the effects of the silver coinage. Anything which would cheapen money they have been induced to believe would benefit them, and why should not these men all over the country be used and manipulated as successfully by shrewd men under the guise of "Labor reformers" as by bosses under the name of "Democratic leaders?"

People are always ready to go in crowds for the pet measures of demagogues. Parties sometimes form and flourish for awhile upon a single proposition for enactment, such as ten hours for labor, prohibition of the sale of liquors, naturalization laws, whatever may be the question for the time being agitated. That this labor element is a serious factor in the democratic vote may be seen in the fact that in the first congressional district in this state, and in the county of Strafford, where the candidates of the democracy were dictated by the Knights of Labor, they were elected; where the democracy made their severest losses was where they affected to ignore the labor element. Circumstances combined in this city to allow the democratic managers to crush out the labor vote at the late election, but no one doubts that if the great number of those employed or controlled by the wealthy brewers at the west end had been permitted to vote as they would have preferred, the result would have been overwhelmingly reversed.

The defeat of Mr. George in the late contest in New York city will doubtless prove a costly experiment for the democracy. Saved from annihilation only by votes of republicans, they will find the victory to be a source of annoyance in their future political programme. The party, with its mugwump allies, will be found abounding in generals but wanting in the essential make-up of a victorious party—the rank and file.

Says a leading democratic paper of New York: "If the election of a president in 1888 should be thrown into the house of representatives, the democrats could not elect their man. They have elected a majority in the delegations from only sixteen states. In the election of a president by the house, the constitution provides that each state shall cast a single vote for the candidate who shall be the choice of a majority of the representatives from that state. Twenty states, a majority of the thirty-eight, are required to elect a president. A third party movement in 1888 might defeat the democratic party."

Labor Matters.

The Chicago beef and pork packers have definitely announced that they will not take back any of the strikers unless they renounce all connection with the Knights of Labor. The striking Knights are determined to retain their connection with the order, and the contest will be fraught with serious results in any event. About 5000 non-union men were at work in the packing houses on the 10th.

Butchers at Albany and Troy, N. Y., refuse to slaughter cattle sent east by the Chicago beef butchers, on account of the strike at the latter place.

The executive committee of the Knights of Labor has declared a boycott on the meats of Armour of Chicago.

It is expected that the strike of the brass and silver workers in New York will become general in that and the surrounding cities.

A decision has been rendered by the United States supreme court in the case of the Wabash railroad against the people of the state of Illinois. The judgment of the supreme court of Illinois, which was adverse to the railroad, was reversed, and the case was remanded.

AFFAIRS IN KITTERY.

KITTERY, ME., Nov. 9th.

The Sabbath school of the 1st Methodist church, North Kittery, under direction of Miss Emma H. Gerry, the superintendent, gave a very enjoyable Harvest Concert in the church on Sunday evening last. The house was well filled, and everything passed off pleasantly.

The work of cutting down Blaney's hill is progressing finely, under the direction of experienced workmen. The ledge is for the most part shelly, yet some blasting has to be done to better facilitate the work. When finished there will be but a slight grade to the hill.

Next Sunday, the 14th inst., Rev. Francis Grosvenor will preach a sermon to the children in the 1st Methodist church; all are invited, regardless of nationality, color or sect.

The following officers of Morrill Lodge of Good Templars, No. 165, at North Kittery, were installed Friday evening, the 5th inst., by Lodge Deputy Clarence S. Chick, assisted by J. W. Brooks as grand secretary and Gowen W. Brooks as grand marshal:

Wm. E. Noyes, C. T.;
Lizzie A. Thomas, V. T.;
William L. Fernald, Sec.;
Charles A. Todd, Fin. Sec.;
James D. Plaisted, Treas.;
Oliver Hatch, Chap.;
Elmer Lewis, Mar.;
Lizzie Caban, I. G.;
William A. Fernald, O. G.;
Nellie F. Todd, R. S.;
Lizzie J. Plaisted, L. S.;
Lillian A. Fernald, Asst. Sec.;
Geo. W. Muchemore, P. C. T.

The following have been installed officers of Whipple Lodge, No. 93, I. O. G. T., of the village:

Geo Boulter, C. T.;
Annie M. Pettigrew, V. T.;
Zina Jackson, Rec. Sec.;
Fred Sterling, Fin. Sec.;
Lucinda Hayes, Treas.;
Rev. E. E. Colburn, Chap.;
S. A. Jackson, Mar.;
Bertha Norton, I. G.;
Forest More, O. G.;
Geo. Manent, P. C. T.

The lodge held a special meeting Thursday evening, the 4th inst., to make arrangements to attend the session of York District Lodge of York on the 10th inst.

By a recent vote of the Grand Lodge of Good Templars, the prefix "Worthy" has been dropped from the designation of officers of all subordinate lodges.

Wallace S. Chase, leader of the Kittery Point drum corps, was on Tuesday, the 2d inst., joined in marriage with Miss Annie V. Seaward of the Point. The next evening the boys thought they would serenade their leader, and did so. Mr. Chase not being prepared for such an influx of the fraternity on so short a notice, invited them to his house the next Tuesday evening, the 9th, where a bountiful collation was served, and many were the good wishes for the happy couple.

Double Murder in Maine.

Lyman O. Hill of East Machias and Charles Niles of Welsley, Me., were shot dead Nov. 8th near the Fletcher Brook house, Hemenway township, Machias river, Me., by parties unknown. Poachers had been dogging deer, and Deputies Hill and Niles were about to capture the dogs, when one of the two men with a two-barrel gun shot Niles and then Hill, the latter a one-armed soldier. The ruffians were in a wagon well loaded with camp outfits. The murderer appeared to be thirty-five years old, and his companion fifty. They are said to hail from Hancock, Me. Niles was unmarried. Hill leaves a widow and children. Officers went in pursuit with a man who thought he could identify the criminals.

The coal miners at Mt. Carmel, Pa., threaten to strike unless the reduction of ten per cent made last year is restored.

The strike of the Paterson, N. J., iron molders continues. An order from South America for $30,000 worth of machinery was recently refused because of the uncertainty as to what the men will do, and the order went to England.

Thirty-three Knights of Labor assemblies, with a total membership of 6,000, have been formed in Patterson, N. J.

Maplewood, N. J., has a scandal, a wealthy broker's daughter eloping with a colored coachman. The father says he will take no steps to find out where she has gone.

An exhibition at Liverpool, Eng., which closed Nov. 8th, was visited during its continuance by 3,000,000 paying persons.

INVESTMENTS.

I am prepared to furnish the most desirable investments in County Bonds and Guaranteed Farm Mortgages, paying 6 and 7 per cent semi-annually. On Farm Mortgages, only from 25 to 33 per cent of the actual cash value of the property is loaned, and the title, location, quality of land and future prospects of the property are personally looked up. Farm Loans are, when negotiated by experienced and responsible parties, the most profitable security offered, especially for those having small sums to invest from time to time. The Loans I offer are First-Class in every respect. Principal and interest when due, paid here without expense to the holder.

I have these Loans in sums from $300 to $5,000.

JOHN LAIGHTON,

NO. 1 MARKET SQUARE.

Kansas City Investment Co.

An Examiner from our Western Office makes a personal examination of every piece of Real Estate on which our Loans are based. His Report accompanies the Loan. We thus know that all statements made in the applications are correct. Loans taken in this way are perfectly secure. We offer these Loans ranging from $200 to $10,000 with every assurance that they are as safe as anything in the market.

For fuller information enquire at our Eastern Office, over 1st National Bank, Portsmouth.

EASTERN RAILROAD COMPANY.

To the Holders of Certificates of Indebtedness.

THE voting register of certificate holders is now making up at the office of the Eastern Railroad on Causeway Street, Boston, Mass. Holders already registered are not required to register anew. Any holder not duly registered can register on presenting at said office of said Eastern Railroad Company to Edward Lo ley a written statement signed by himself of his name, address, and the denomination and numbers of the certificates held by him. If the company shall require, the holder desiring to register shall also duly verify his title thereto by producing said certificate of indebtedness, or filing with the Company the written order of the person last registered as the holder, or in such other mode as may be prescribed by the laws of Massachusetts and the regulations of the Trustees.

The voting register will be closed at the close of business on the 5th day of November, A. D. 1886, between which time and the special meeting for the election of a trustee on the twenty-third day of November, A. D. 1886, no registration for the purpose of said special meeting will be made.

Per order of the Directors,

td FRANCIS I. AMORY, Clerk.

EASTERN RAILROAD COMPANY.

A SPECIAL meeting of the holders of Certificates of Indebtedness issued under the act entitled "An Act for the relief of the Eastern Railroad Company and the securing of its debts and liabilities," passed April 28, 1876, will be held at the Melonaon, in Boston, Massachusetts, U. S. A., on the 23d day of November, 1886, at eleven o'clock A. M., for the purpose of electing a new Trustee under said act in place of William B. Bacon, who has resigned said trust.

To the Holders of Certificates of Indebtedness.

The Voting Register of Certificate holders is now making up at the office of the Company in Boston, Mass.

Persons desiring to have their names placed upon said Register in order to vote at the coming election must comply with the following regulation of the Trustees.

"Every holder of Certificates of Indebtedness who desires to have them registered in his name shall present to the Trustees at their office, No. 19 Tremont street, Boston, a written statement signed by him, and giving his address and the denomination and number of every certificate of indebtedness claimed to be held by him, and shall, if required by said Trustees, verify this title by exhibition such certificates and the written order of the last registered holder of the same, or other evidence of his title to the reasonable satisfaction of the Trustees; and said Trustees, if satisfied with his title, shall endorse their approval upon said written statement, and said certificate holder may thereupon be registered in conformity thereto. The approval of one of said Trustees shall be sufficient authority for such registration, and no registration after the 13th day of August, 1886, shall be valid without such approval, and no approval shall be granted after the time for closing the register."

The voting register will close at the close of business on the 18th day of November, between which time and the special meeting on the 23d day of November, 1886, no registration will be allowed.

EASTERN RAILROAD COMPANY.

Holders of certificates of indebtedness are notified that the company will issue in exchange for certificates of indebtedness, par for par, $3,150,000 of preferred stock, entitling the holders to annually receive such net earnings of the corporation to an amount equal to but not exceeding six dollars per share, payable in semi-annual instalments on the first days of March and September in such sums as the directors may determine, in preference and priority to the common stock provided however that certificates to the amount named are tendered in exchange and are deposited for that purpose with LEE, HIGGINSON & CO. or KIDDER, PEABODY & CO. of Boston, Mass., or the Company's Agents in London, by twelve o'clock of the twenty-third day of November current. As soon as practicable thereafter the preferred stock will be delivered, or, if not taken to the full amount named, the certificates deposited will be returned. If bonds in excess of the amount named are tendered, exchange will be made pro rata.

Sterling bonds will be exchanged at par of exchange, fractional sums being adjusted by purchase and sale of fractions.

Each bond exchanged must have all unmature coupons attached.

THE WEATHER.

For New England to-day:—

Fair weather, slightly warmer, variable winds.

The Thermometer at the CHRONICLE Office, at 4:00 o'clock this morning, indicated 32 degrees above zero.

Cloudy

POLICE COURT--BATCHELDER J.

WEDNESDAY, Nov. 10th.

George Prescott, for drunkenness, was fined $5, costs $6.90, and was sent to jail in default of payment.

Another drunk, whose name we suppress out of regard for his reputable relatives, and not at all on his own account, was also assessed $11.90, fine and costs, but was sent to Brentwood instead of to Col. Kent's hotel.

Jeremiah Manning, an old soldier adrift from the Home at Togus, Me., was up for drunkenness. He offered documentary proof of his good service during the war, and urged that as he was on his way back to Togus, and Portsmouth was the last free-rum place on his route, he ought to be excused for getting drunk just this once, and be let off, in which case he promised to strike for Maine immediately, and would only take one more drink before crossing the bridge. The judge, charmed with his eloquence, allowed him to depart, after strongly advising him to omit the one more drink, and warning him not to come into that court again under the same circumstances.

PAULINE MARKHAM AT MUSIC HALL.

Miss Markham appeared on Wednesday evening, the 10th, as "Camille," in the well known play of that name, and acted the part with skill and judgment, presenting equally well the wayward, reckless "lady of the Camelias" and the dying consumptive. Mr. Randolph Murray made a good "Armand," Miss Lizzie Gale was a first-rate "Mme. Prudence," and the piece went very smoothly all through.

This (Thursday) evening the Ticket-of Leave Man, which was given on Tuesday evening, is to be repeated. Miss Markham is charming as May Edwards; the Robert Brierly of Mr. Randolph Murray is an especially meritorious piece of acting; Miss Lizzie Gale as Miss Willoughby, and Miss Henriette Scott as Sam Willoughby, make their parts very strong ones, and the rest of the support is satisfactory, some of it meriting special commendation.

A FREE TRANSLATION.

Frank Hackett, Esq., of Washington, at the celebration of the Harvard law school, is reported as having said that he had emigrated from Portsmouth because of its bad reputation while he lived here. It has been suggested that the inference to be drawn from his statement is that the reputation of our city is better since he left. As uncomplimentary to Portsmouth as his remark was, it was equally so to him as a son of the good old city. We say it is better since he left, and one good reason for its being so much improved is perhaps due to the fact that he is not a resident here.—Times.

Our neighbor should learn to read with the understanding; then perhaps he would not be led to make flings as uncalled-for as ungentlemanly, at one who, as a native of Portsmouth, is perhaps as tender of its good name, and has possibly done as much to maintain and extend it, as even the Times writer himself. In the Boston papers, whose reporters were at the law school dinner, Mr. Hackett is credited with having made a speech "sparkling with humor"—something of which our neighbor has apparently no conception whatever—in the course of which he said he "had found the atmosphere of Boston to pure for him, and had emigrated." The Times is the only paper we have seen that has "reported" his mentioning Portsmouth at all. Our neighbor's translation is a free one indeed.

MARITIME NOTES.

There were five three-masted schooners and a steam collier at the Concord railroad wharf on the afternoon of the 10th inst., and one three-master at Walker's wharf, next below it; a big three-master at the Eastern railroad wharf, and a good-sized one at the draw-pier of Portsmouth bridge, waiting to haul through and go up river. Just below the draw-pier was anchored a bricker, loaded for Boston and awaiting favorable weather.

The schooner Satellite came down the river on the 10th inst. with a load of bricks, and hauled in through the draw of Noble's island bridge to Call's wharf, to repair damages to her foremast, the head of which was carried away on the schooner's late trip to Boston.

A schooner was lying at Spring market wharf loading with pressed hay for Boston, Wednesday afternoon.

The schooner Allie Oakes, Merriman master, arrived at this port 10th inst. from Perth Amboy with a cargo of coal, which she will discharge at Newcastle.

The custom-house yacht Hawley has been taken to the navy yard, to be hauled up for the winter.

The steamer Appledore was on the 10th inst. towed to this city from Kittery, where her boiler has for some time been receiving a thorough overhauling and repairing.

The schooner Lizzie M. Center, the last of the Gloucester mackerel fleet, arrived at that port on Monday of this week with 350 barrels of large mackerel.

Notwithstanding the rain there was another large gathering at the fair in Franklin hall on Wednesday evening, which passed very pleasantly to the audience and satisfactorily to those in charge of the tables and the voting. The fair closes this evening; supper from seven to nine, at twenty-five cents a plate.

Mrs. Eliza A. Fitts of Christian Shore, widow of Andrew J. Fitts, left this city on the 10th inst. for Grand Rapids, Michigan, on an extended visit to her daughters, Mrs. A. Louise Benjamin and Mrs. Flora M. Smiley, both of whom have resided in Grand Rapids for years. It is quite likely Mrs. Fitts will make a permanent home near her daughters and their families.

The gentleman who gave us the item in yesterday morning's Chronicle to the effect that there would be no charge for admission to the Pearl street society fair at Franklin hall this evening, was in error; the charge will be the same as previously, fifteen cents.

Langdon M. Perkins, the well known ice dealer, has sold his business to A. Milton Gardner and George A. Perkins, who will hereafter jointly conduct the same. Mr. Gardner, who has long been a resident of Peverly Hill road, will immediately move into the easterly half of the house owned and occupied by Mr. Geo. A. Perkins on South street.

The Park Concert Co., assisted by Mrs. J D. P. Wingate of Exeter, formerly Miss Helen M. Locke of this city, will shortly give an entertainment at Music hall in this city. They have given concerts in a number of places, and have been well received everywhere they have appeared.

Francis R. Johnson of this city has been appointed to a clerkship in the railway mail service, and will go on the route between this city and Concord, taking the place of Ezra H. Winchester 2d, of this city.

Eastern railroad stock took another upward move at the Boston brokers' board on the 10th inst., to 129 1-4; Portsmouth, Great Falls & Conway reached 118, and Boston & Maine was stationary at 210. Concord & Portsmouth stock sold at 151 1-2, and Portland, Saco & Portsmouth at 135. Eastern railroad six per cent bonds sold at 135 1-2.

Benjamin M. Parker and Richard Leary of this city have been appointed as store helpers at the navy yard.

Otis G. Pike, the purchaser of the Quaker John Gove farm at Seabrook, on Monday of this week cleaned out a well on the farm, and made quite a "find" in so doing. The well is twenty-nine feet deep, and had not been cleaned out before for forty years. In the bottom was found a tightly corked jug, which, being carried into the house and opened, was found to be filled with old fashioned birch beer, in a perfect state of preservation.

Mr. Stephen Paul of Newington was eighty years old on the 1st inst.

The annual report of the flower committee of the Boston & Maine railroad have awarded a first prize, $50, to Arthur E. Hoyt of Atkinson, and a second prize of $30 to Jesse E. George of Newton Junction, for the floral display at their respective stations during the past summer.

The recently elected board of inspectors of checklists have organized by the choice of Daniel J. Ayers as chairman, and Benjamin M. Parker as clerk.

Benevolence.

Commodore Johnson of the navy yard a few days since very kindly allowed a subscription paper to be circulated in the several departments on the yard for the benefit of the family of Mr. Charles Pierce, who died a few days since from the effects of an accident while at work on the yard. The construction, equipment and yards and docks departments contributed $196, while the steam engineering shops are yet to be heard from. The wives of Capt. Bradford and Chief Engineer Brooks succeeded in raising $20 in money among the officers of the yard and a quantity of second hand clothing which they donated for the children's use, there being a large family. It is hoped that the subscription may reach $300 before being closed.—Times, 10th.

Stasistics gathered by the state industrial bureau show that in ninety eight industries of Pennsylvania the average pay in 1885 was less than $8 per week.

In the fur department, Lewis E Staples is selling a good Black Hare Muff for 68 cts. All the different kinds of furs are shown at very low prices.

EASTERN RAILROAD COMPANY.

ANNUAL MEETING.

To the Holders of Certificates of Indebtedness.

The voting register of certificate holders is now making up at the office of the Eastern Railroad on Causeway street, Boston, Mass. Holders already registered are not required to register anew. Any holder not already registered can register on presenting at said office of said Eastern Railroad Company to Edward Leslie a written statement signed by himself of his name, address and the denomination and numbers of the certificates held by him. If the company shall so require, the holder desiring to register shall also duly verify his title thereto by producing said certificates of indebtedness, or filing with the company the written order of the person last registered as the holder, or in such other mode as may be prescribed by the laws of Massachusetts and the regulations of the Trustees.

The voting register will close at the close of business on the 5th day of November, between which time and the annual meeting, on the 8th day of December, 1886, no registration will be allowed.

Lydia E. Pinkham

For Weak Women.

Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham: "About the first of September, 1881, my wife was taken with uterine hemorrhage. The best styptics the physician could prescribe did not check it and she got more and more enfeebled. She was troubled with Prolapsus Uteri, Leucorrhea, numbness of the limbs, sickness of the stomach and loss of appetite. I purchased a trial bottle of your Vegetable Compound. She said she could discover a salutary effect from the first dose. Now she is comparatively free from the Prolapsus, Stomach's sickness, &c. The hemorrhage is very much better and is less at the regular periods. Her appetite is restored, and her general health and strength are much improved. We feel that we have been wonderfully benefitted and our hearts overflow in gratitude for the same and in sympathy for other sufferers, for whose sake we allow our names to be used." C. W. Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 8th, 1883. Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham: "As is frequent by the case with mothers who have reared large families, I have tried the skill of a number of physicians, and the virtues of many medicines without relief, and as an experiment I concluded to try yours. I am not a seeker after notoriety but I want to tell you that I have been wonderfully benefitted by your medicine. I am now using my fourth bottle and it would take but little argument to persuade me that my health is fully restored. I should like to widely circulate the fact of its wonderful curative powers." The Inventor of Salt Herring.

Buckels was a Zealand fisherman, and his discovery was simply this: That salt fish will keep, and that fish that can be kept, can be packed and exported. Before his time herrings had to be consumed within a few days of their capture. Buckels salted them. It does not sound like a great discovery. One rather wonders that the system had not been applied from the beginning. However, in 1386 William Buckels salted the first 100 of herrings, and, having salted them, he packed them in barrels. This exercise of common sense resulted in a singular development of the resources of the country.

The English fisheries were not so prominent 500 years ago as they are now, and Holland had for a time almost a monopoly of a market which she was able to create and supply. Buckels had to wait 500 years to have his claim to public gratitude recognized. Charles V. had a statue erected to the herring salter, who became the benefactor of his country. Queen Mary of Hungary, however, paid him even greater honor. During her residence in Holland she discovered his tomb, and, seated upon it, ate a salted herring.—Pall Mall Gazette.

A Trio of Noted Men.

Gen. Winfield Scott, when a young man, was stationed at Fort Snelling—at that day perhaps the remotest military outpost in the country. When the Black Hawk war was begun some Illinois militia companies proffered their services. Two lieutenants were sent by Scott to Dixon, Ills., to muster the new soldiers. One of the lieutenants was a very fascinating young man, of easy manners, and affable disposition; the other was equally pleasant but extremely modest. On the morning when the muster was to take place, a tall, gawky, slab-sided, homely young man, dressed in a suit of blue jeans, presented himself to the lieutenants as the captain of the recruits, and was duly sworn in. The homely young man was Abraham Lincoln. The bashful lieutenant was he who afterward fired the first gun from Fort Sumter, Maj. Anderson. The other lieutenant, who administered the oath, was in after years the president of the Confederate States, Jefferson Davis.—The Argonaut.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse." CHAS. MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office." EDMUND BURKE, late Commissioner of Patents.

BOSTON, October 19, 1876.

R. H. EDDY, Esq.—DEAR SIR: You procured for me, in 1840, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured more patents, reissues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you. Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.

A neighbor of ours, Mrs. A. R. Fenton, who was so badly afflicted with rheumatism that she could not raise her arms to the top of her head or shut her hands, after using five bottles of Athlophoros is nearly free from the trouble. Hitchcock & Burbank, Pittsford, Vt.

General John B. Gordon was on the 9th inst. inaugurated as governor of Georgia. His inaugural address was a plea for the reassertion of state rights, as understood by the south. There was an imposing military display.

Look at Him!

A year ago he was not expected to live. Liver complaint almost killed him. He got great relief from three bottles of Sulphur Bitters, and six bottles cured him.

Sam Purple murdered his wife and two of his children, one an infant, shot his wife's sister, but not fatally, attempted to blow off the head of another of his children, and gave himself up to avoid a mob, at Marine, Kansas. The mob took the ruffian from jail and hung him.

Avoid the harsh, irritating, griping compounds so often sold as purgative medicine, and correct the irregularities of the bowels by the use of Ayer's Cathartic Pills. They are invaluable as a family medicine.

At Brick Creek, Montana territory, a man named Meson literally blew off the head of a man named Axe, with a shotgun. Meson was arrested, and a friend of Axe's crept close up behind him with a gun loaded with buckshot, and blew his head off. Both are dead.

"The Silver Bridge, and other poems," by Elizabeth Akers. Houghton, Mifflin & Co. For sale by Goodrich, price $1.25. This is a gathering of the lyrics, ballads, and poems written by Mrs. Akers during the last few years. Those who are acquainted with the sympathetic charm of her poetry will thoroughly appreciate this little volume.

Athletes, when in training, always use St. Jacobs Oil. It makes the muscles flexible.

"Ten Dollars Enough," by Catherine Owen. Houghton, Mifflin & Co. For sale by M. Goodrich. Price $1.00. This unique book was originally published serially in the pages of "Good Housekeeping," where it was a great success. An interesting story, the moral teaching how young housekeepers may live quite luxuriously on ten dollars a week, is a novelty in cook books. An admirably arranged index locates the pages which contain the recipes pretty Molly, the plucky little heroine, prepared with the best economy of time and money. It is an excellent book, and we advise its purchase by all young housekeepers. They can obtain many valuable hints, in addition to the recipes, from the success which attended the young wife's drilling of Marta, the raw German girl, until she became a "wonderful cook."

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. To Err is Human, but it is positively inexcusable to administer or take narcotics or potent sedatives to relieve intranquility of the nerves, the easily discoverable cause of which is simply indigestion. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the remedy indicated when the nervous system is weak, and consequently super-sensitive and untranquil. Braced and quieted by this superlative tonic, the system obtains needful repose at night, dyspeptic qualms cease to disturb the stomach, and mental inquietude disappears. The habit of body becomes regular, the liver and kidneys are healthfully stimulated, and bodily or mental exertion cease to be a wearisome and difficult task. Neuralgia, rheumatism and malarial disorders, and kidney troubles, are entirely eradicated by this matchless invigorant and regulator.

IT IS WONDERFUL

how easily rheumatism begins, and how insidiously it grows in the system, until one is startled to find himself its victim in either the acute or chronic form. He then learns the fearful tenacity of its grip and the utter powerlessness of the ordinary remedies to give relief.

Probably to no disease have physicians given more study, and none has more completely baffled their efforts to provide a specific; and until Athlophoros was discovered there was no medicine which would surely cure rheumatism, neuralgia and nervous or sick headache. Thousands of testimonials like the following prove beyond question that Athlophoros is the only reliable remedy, and that it will do all that is claimed for it.

Manchester, N. H., March 15, 1886.

One year ago while suffering with a rheumatic difficulty I was induced by friends of mine to try a bottle of Athlophoros, although I had little belief in anything of the kind, but, contrary to my expectations, it gave me immediate relief, and it is with pleasure that I can now recommend it to my acquaintances, feeling sure that they will find it the remedy of the age for such difficulties, as I had tried everything else with little or no relief.

PARK H. KELLY.

Northampton, Mass., May 21, 1886.

For relief from rheumatic pains and trouble, I believe your Athlophoros is infallible. For many years I have been subject to rheumatism in its worst forms. During my last siege of sickness I was induced to try Athlophoros and found it to be all it claimed to be, a cure for rheumatism.

LEVI I. CLARK.

THE ORANGE HARVEST.

Clipping the Fruit—The Sweating Process—Sorting and Packing.

When the latter days of September approach, the bizarre splendors of the rainy afternoon, which, for four months, has irrigated the grove, grow the less frequent, and with the soft, dry days of our autumn, we begin harvest; the Early Oblong or Thornton's Bell, the Egg, and the round Sang pur seeding begin to ripen, and are ready for gathering.

A grove is not in bearing until its trees average 500 apples, so the labor of merely picking a crop of oranges can be understood. Nor is the gatherer permitted to pluck the fruit. It swings its tempting yellow among the dark-green leaves and long, steely thorns high among the tops and low among the bending boughs. Tall step-ladders and light-weights are in demand, for care must be taken not to break the fruitful branches already symptomatic of another year.

The fruit must be "stem-cut." An adroit expert learns to clip the fruit, holding it between the third and fourth fingers and the shoulder of the thumb, transferring it lightly to the pouch suspended at his neck. The musk of the wind-shaken, crushed, thorn-pierced, and fallen fruit, the pungent, aromatic odors of the leaves and oil glands load the air with fragrance, as the exhilarating task proceeds.

A bright, dry day must be chosen, as moisture on the rind tends to decay; and there must be caution in handling, as one bruised orange may infect an entire box or crate.

A brisk hand stem-cutting in a full crop can average his 800 by the hour or 3,000 apples per day; but this is not frequent on account of the cautious handling. The picker transfers his sack or basket carefully to the drying-house, where the fruit is spread out to dry; this sweating process occupies three or more days. A good drying-house is arranged with slatted shelves, that the air may penetrate to the interstices of the strips. A light fire is of advantage, as it promotes the drying by which the rind becomes firmer, taking a crisp, horny texture, protecting the pulp from bruising.

The next step is selecting, removing all bruised, thorn-pricked, or injured fruit into separate lots. This, which should precede arranging on drying-floors or shelves, to avoid contact, is followed by separating the rusty fruit from the bright yellow. If this is carefully done, a selection may be made of rusty fruit in which the bronze contrasts prettily with the gold on the orange, like the bloom on a peach. As the rust in no way impairs flavor or juiciness, a well-selected box of rust fruit compares with the "brights."

Sorting is putting oranges of the same diameter in separate heaps. The next step is wrapping. A thin tissue paper is used, cut into squares of twelve or fourteen inches, the Florida sweet seedling averaging ten inches in circumference; oblong, egg, mandarin being smaller. Setting the fruit on the sheet spread on the open palm, closing the hand unites the corners for a twist of the right hand, and it is wrapped. The fruit is packed in thin elastic boxes, 12x12x27 outside measurement—the wrapped orange is packed stem down—and, of an average three-inch diameter, will hold four rows of nine to the row, or 156. The usual continent of the south Florida fruit, however, is 128, packed apple above apple, with paper division to each layer.

The packing-box is divided in the ends and partition being of firm half-inch wood, and the sides flexible. By arranging the fruit differently, as is required in sizes exceeding or less than average diameter, space is economized by altering the rows to fit the obverse and re-entering curves. A size running 176 can be set by alternate threes and fours and be so packed.

The process is delicate, the packing must be close, fitting with even pressure without bruising, to bear the jarring of careless stevedores and long-shoremen, who annually exasperate the cropper. In fitting the box a layer of paper is put at the bottom and one lapped above and below, so that the fold, after the successive layers are closely fitted, may lap over and cover the top. This upper row should rise not to exceed one quarter of an inch above the box edging, that, on nailing down the elastic top, the spring of wood fiber in it may have a firm, constant pressure, to resist jarring and displacement.—Will Wallace Harney in Southern Bivouac.

Strengthening the Memory.

Your memory depends to a great extent upon your physical health. Assuming that you possess average health, and have a weak memory, it is likely that you are careless and inattentive. A man who is sentenced to be hanged never forgets the date, although he may have a poor memory for figures. This is because he takes an absorbing interest in the date fixed for his execution. Interest and attention are the mainsprings of memory. Learn to take an interest in what you see, hear and read. Fix your attention upon it, concentrate your mind so as to focus it upon what you desire to remember. There are methods that will help you. Write abstracts of what you read, or converse about it with your friends. At the close of each day recall in their regular order all the events of the day, business transactions, the persons you have seen and the conversations you have had with them. Keep up this practice all your life, and your memory will develop phenomenally until impaired by disease or old age.—Atlanta Constitution.

President Cleveland delivered a very manly, straightforward, address before the alumni on the occasion of the 250th anniversary of Harvard College, and in the course of his remarks referred, with considerable feeling, to the manner in which many of the public journals violate the privacy of prominent men. The sympathy of the audience was evinced by the great applause which followed his allusions. The president's indignation is just. The reckless freedom with which the press invades the sanctity of private as well as public men, merits the condemnation of all right minded persons. But beyond doubt it will be continued, for it is a style of journalism which yields the largest profit, and is demanded by a majority of newspaper readers.

The Knights of Labor at Dover are not having it all plain sailing in their endeavors to run the politics of their city and county. By their actions as a body at the late state election they succeeded in effecting the choice of a number of the democratic candidates, who would have had no show without such aid. This it seems did not specially please certain republican Knights, who accordingly called a meeting of "republican Knights of Labor," and nominated a republican for mayor. This action was loudly denounced by the Knights in general, and another meeting was called, of all Knights of Labor; and this meeting passed resolutions reflecting severely on the "republican Knights of Labor" and their caucus, and nominated another republican for mayor. But this, though regular, seems not satisfactory to the democratic members of the order, who appear to think that while the Knights should make themselves felt in politics, it should be only in aid of the democratic party; and one of the Dover papers of the 10th announced the probable meeting of the democratic Knights on the evening of the 15th, to make a "democratic Knights of Labor nomination."

Soup Recipes for Housekeepers and Cooks.

Boston, Nov. 10.—Every cook and every housekeeper in New England will be much interested to know that the next issue of the Boston Sunday Globe will contain a large number of most valuable recipes for making soups, prepared for its columns by the chief cooks of the Parker House, Young's Hotel, Quincy House and the Vendome. The Globe is famous for its cooking recipes, and this collection will be the most famous of all.

MARITIME NOTES.

Another extension to the Concord railroad wharf is to be built next spring, equal in length to that built last spring, the immense and steadily-increasing coal business of the road rendering still further discharging accommodations an imperative necessity. There were on Thursday at the several piers composing what is called the wharf seven three-masted schooners, several of them of very large size, which brought in an aggregate of nearly 4,900 tons of coal; and at the same time there were at anchor in the lower harbor, waiting for berths at the wharf, two other schooners, one with 1,000 tons and the other with 1,800 tons on board.

The Canadian department of fisheries has been advised that all the American fishing vessels which have been lying about the three-mile limit during the past season have disappeared. The American fares in provincial waters for the season just closed have been the smallest since 1818, if the season of 1841 be excepted.

A despatch of the 10th inst. from Wellfleet, Mass., says: "The largest mackerel ever seen in Barnstable bay are being taken in quantities by boat fishermen, in nets off Truro. A few barrels are being salted, but the larger part are shipped fresh, and bring from $35 to $40 per barrel. Nearly all the fish traps were prostrated in the recent gale; only one remains in fishing order. Repairs will not be made, the season being so late."

The American Fish Bureau, of Gloucester, furnishes the following statement: "The close of the first week of November finishes the season with a large part of the fishing fleet. Many vessels have hauled up for the year, and others daily follow. From this out until spring the fishing fleet will be limited to George's, Brown's and New England shore cod and haddock catching, with a few sails engaged in the halibut fishing of the more distant banks. The work of the year may be briefly noted as unsatisfactory and in most cases unprofitable. The codfish catch also has met with very low prices, leaving very little, if any, margin over expenses."

The committee on street lights are busy setting the poles for the fourteen additional electric lights authorized by the board of aldermen.

Thomas Bailey Aldrich commemorated on Thursday, the 11th inst., his birthday, whether his forty-ninth or fiftieth we cannot say, as the biographies are conflicting in that respect. Judging by his appearance one would be inclined to set his age at least five years younger than the lowest age set by the biographer, but whatever it may be, hearty congratulations are extended to him.

George Lee and Edward Willey of Rochester are serving a thirty days' sentence at the Strafford county farm. AYER'S SUGAR CATHARTIC COATED PILLS

CURE

Headache, Nausea, Dizziness, and Drowsiness. They stimulate the Stomach, Liver, and Bowels, to healthy action, assist digestion, and increase the appetite. They combine cathartic, diuretic, and tonic properties of the greatest value, are a purely vegetable compound, and may be taken with perfect safety, either by children or adults. E. L. Thomas, Framingham, Mass., writes: "For a number of years I was subject to violent Headaches, arising from a disordered condition of the stomach and bowels. About a year ago I commenced the use of Ayer's Pills, and have not had a headache since." W. P. Hannah, Gormley P. O., York Co., Ont., writes: "I have used Ayer's Pills for the last thirty years, and can safely say that I have never found their equal as a cathartic medicine. I am never without them in my house." C. D. Moore, Elgin, Ill., writes: "Indigestion, Headache, and Loss of Appetite, had so weakened and debilitated my system, that I was obliged to give up work. After being under the doctor's care for two weeks, without getting any relief, I began taking Ayer's Pills. My appetite and strength returned, and I was soon enabled to resume my work, in perfect health."

INVESTMENTS.

I am prepared to furnish the most desirable investments in County Bonds and Guaranteed Farm Mortgages, paying 6 and 7 per cent semi-annually. On Farm Mortgages, only from 25 to 33 per cent of the actual cash value of the property is loaned, and the title, location, quality of land and future prospects of the property are personally looked up. Farm Loans are, when negotiated by experienced and responsible parties, the most profitable security offered, especially for those having small sums to invest from time to time. The Loans I offer are First-Class in every respect. Principal and interest when due, paid here without expense to the holder.

I have these Loans in sums from $300 to $5,000.

EASTERN RAILROAD COMPANY.

To the Holders of Certificates of Indebtedness.

THE voting register of certificate holders is now making up at the office of the Eastern Railroad on Causeway Street, Boston, Mass. Holders already registered are not required to register anew. Any holder not already registered can register on presenting at said office of said Eastern Railroad Company to Edward Leslie a written statement signed by himself of his name, address, and the denomination and numbers of the certificates held by him. If the company shall so require, the holder desiring to register also shall duly verify his title thereto by producing said certificate of indebtedness, or filing with the Company the written order of the person last registered as the holder, or in such other mode as may be prescribed by the laws of Massachusetts and the regulations of the Trustees.

The voting register will be closed at the close of business on the 15th day of November, A. D. 1886, between which time and the special meeting for the election of a trustee on the twenty-third day of November, A. D. 1886, no registration for the purpose of said special meeting will be made.

PAULINE MARKHAM AT MUSIC HALL.

Thursday evening the excellent rendering of the Ticket-of-Leave Man was repeated, and seemed even better than before.

This evening the Lady of Lyons will be presented, Miss Markham of course appearing as the haughty Pauline.

To-morrow (Saturday) afternoon a matinee will be given, when the new version of East Lynne will be played, and prices for ladies and children will be 10 and 20 cts. For Saturday evening the piece selected is The Lancashire Lass. The matinee will commence at two o'clock.

A SHOCKING STORY.

Daniel Crowley, who lives on Russell street, was arrested on Thursday after-the 10th inst., and locked up to await an enquiry into the manner in which his wife was badly burned, it being alleged that he saturated her clothing with kerosene, and then set it on fire. The woman has been taken to the Cottage Hospital, her injuries being very serious.

RAILROAD ITEMS.

An excursion train which passed through this city from North Conway for Boston on the 9th inst. had seventeen passenger coaches, and it is said carried over 1000 passengers.

We understand that there is now a strong probability that the York Harbor & Beach railroad will be a standard gauge road, instead of a narrow gauge, as was first proposed. This question will be definitely settled in a day or two.

The employes of the Boston & Maine railroad, Eastern division, on the evening of the 10th inst. tendered a reception at the Y. M. C. A. rooms in Salem, Mass., to Thomas Dodd, who that day completed his 50th year of continuous service as flagman at the Mill street crossing in Salem, during which time he has never had a vacation, nor been absent from his post excepting when sick. Mr. Dodd was presented with a check for $200, and there was a supper, followed by speaking by Mayor Raymond and several of the clergymen of the city who were present. There was also an entertainment given by the ladies' auxiliary.

THE CHURCH FAIR.

Mr. John Pickard, principal of the High school, added much to the interest of the exercises at the Pearl street society's fair in Franklin hall on Wednesday evening, by the pleasing manner in which he recited "The Building of the Ship." The fair closed Thursday evening with an auction of all the articles not sold the previous evenings, and that evening up to the time the auction commenced; the bidding was spirited, and quite good prices were obtained for many of the articles offered. The attendance at the closing session was very large, and a goodly number of persons partook of a nice supper which was served from seven o'clock to nine at twenty-five cents a plate. We hope the society have made enough money from their fair to be of very material aid in carrying out their plans and maintaining their worship.

MATTERS IN YORK.

YORK, ME., Nov. 11th.

The singing school at Beech Ridge has opened, taught by Mr. Talpey of Cape Neddick.

Bragdon & Bros., at York village, are doing a good business.

Mr. Andrew R. Webber, near Long sands, is building a new barn, thirty-six by forty feet on the ground. The carpenter work will be done by Charles H. Brewster. The cellar is seven and one-half feet deep—or high, just as you like—and was excavated to the depth of three feet by George O. Simpson, lately of the United States navy, assisted by his wife, who is as able as her consort, or more so.

Mr. William Philbrook, near Long sands, has a fine team purchased of the postmaster of York for his family use,—since which time he has constantly attended divine service at the village.

W. M. Walker has a fine line of goods in his well-established store at York village.

At the residence of Hon. E. C. Moody, on an easel in the parlor, may be seen a life-size likeness of the late Hon. Nathaniel G. Marshall; it is done in crayon, with the finer points in India ink. The artist employed by Mrs. Moody, the daughter of Mr. Marshall, was Mr. Dixon of Eliot, son of Samuel Dixon, the produce dealer. VIATOR.

A VOICE FROM ABROAD.

The following is an extract from a private letter from a wealthy citizen of New York, a native of Portsmouth, to a gentleman of this city:

"I have noticed with interest articles which have of late appeared in the local papers of Portsmouth, in reference to the south pond, and this morning am in receipt of the Chronicle of Oct. 20th; the party who kindly sent it to me has marked an article on "The South Pond;" I note it carefully, and endorse fully its general tone.

During the administration of Mayor Sise, I wrote him in reference to the great disadvantage the terrible condition of the pond was to Portsmouth, and he in reply intimated that some measures were being taken to improve its condition,—and I afterward learned that something had been done, and I noted also that the borders of what might be so pretty a sheet of water, were to be improved by a drive-way around a portion of it. But of late the papers imply that there are many of your citizens who are quite anxious lest the pond, by having a road-way put across it leaving only a comparatively small space for flowage, may prove more objectionable than ever. There are natives of Portsmouth, but non-residents—and I am one—who feel a deep interest in all that concerns the good old place; and I know that the nuisance of the ponds has at times been such that it has prevented some who might otherwise have made Portsmouth a residence, at least for portions of the year, from doing it, fearing the contaminating effect of their foul condition.

While so much is being done in a sanitary way in almost every city in the country, how can the city authorities of Portsmouth allow a road to be built as suggested across the south pond, thus, as I understand it, making at least that part of the pond above the proposed road, nothing more than a cesspool, from which sooner or later the good reputation of Portsmouth as a healthy place will be affected more than ever? Who not try and have the pond cleaned out, abandon the idea of a road across it as suggested, but having cleaned the pond, then carry out the original plan of a drive around the borders of what might be made a beautiful sheet of water, and if it was thought best to carry the drive along the borders to Langdon Park it could be done with credit to the city and to the pleasure of its citizens and visitors.

I do hope the city authorities of Portsmouth, for reasons given in this, will consider well before allowing the proposed road across the pond to be built. You may think this matter is none of my special business. I acknowledge it, but feel I should not do justice to myself did I not say what I have for the sanitary condition of my native place."

We approve the suggestion that the pond be cleansed; then a marginal sewer, and (after finishing the marginal road in accordance with the original plan) a stop put to the dumping of ashes on the border, would make the pond all that could be desired.

Mr. Ralph L. Reinwald, who has just severed his connection with the Salem brass band, has organized a band for the Eighth regiment, of some of the best musicians in this and surrounding cities. He has already several contracts for his band next season, one of which is with the Naumkeag street railway company to furnish the full military band at the Willows for the entire summer next season, playing two concerts each day. He has also the contract to furnish orchestra music for all the Mechanic hall entertainments, and also at the Peabody skating rink. Mr. Reinwald is well known as a gentleman and musician and a thorough business man.—Salem (Mass.) Telegram.

The regular monthly meeting of the Teachers' Association will be held at the city rooms next Monday evening, at 7:30 o'clock.

Rev. F. H. Boynton of Rye has accepted an invitation to serve as pastor of the Congregational church at West Newbury, Mass., the coming year. Mr. Boynton has supplied that pulpit for some time past.

The American Humane Association will hold its tenth annual convention in Cincinnati, Ohio, Nov. 17th, 18th and 19th. The New Hampshire Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals is entitled to send nine delegates to the convention.

Expose of That Pretended Public Investigation of the Qualities of the Baking Powders.

It is no new thing with the Royal Baking Powder company to publish in the newspapers reading notice advertisements which have the appearance of emanating from the editor's pen.

Its most recent effort is an article from the Albany Evening Journal giving a pretended investigation as if made by the Journal of the qualities of the baking powders. The following from a later issue of the same paper (August 27, 1886) so plainly stamps the whole thing as simply an advertising dodge of huge proportions that we think the public entitled to the benefit of the expose, and accordingly give it below:

"The Journal has printed analyses and reports of various baking powders as reading notices or advertisements. It has not undertaken to say of its own knowledge which is the best powder in the market. Consumers must decide for themselves."

This piece of ingenious advertising on the part of the Royal Baking Powder company may have had its origin in the evident disappointment of that company with its extravagant but fruitless advertising efforts to beguile the public into believing that the cream of tartar used in other baking powders contains a large percentage of tartrate of lime, when it is a fact and well known to the commercial world that all the refiners who supply this country with cream of tartar are, and have been for a long time, in a combination under an agreement between them to produce only strictly pure, or ninety-nine per cent. goods.

The cream of tartar used in Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder is refined by a new process which frees it entirely from tartrate of lime and every impurity, and is obtained in the pure crystals, and ground in our own factory; the bicarbonate of soda is prepared expressly for us; and to ensure uniform and absolute purity of our baking powders all the ingredients are subjected to searching chemical analysis, and none used unless proved to be absolutely pure.

Appreciating the fact that consumers have a right to know what they are using as food, we have for many years made known to the public all the ingredients of our powder. Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder is made only of strictly pure grape cream of tartar, bicarbonate of soda, and a small portion of flour used as a preservative, and does not contain ammonia, alum, lime, acid phosphates, or any adulteration whatever.

Has the Royal Baking Powder company, with its much advertising, ever informed the housekeepers of the country all that enters into the composition of its powder? Or has it ever published a word openly in defence of the use of ammonia in baking powder? Information on these points might enable the public to form an intelligent opinion in regard to the merits of this much mooted question of baking powder supremacy, and we would have no misgivings as to the results.

A Smoker's Queer Habit.

"Have a smoke?" asked a traveler of a fellow occupant of the smoking apartment on the Omaha "limited" train.

"No, believe not," replied the party addressed, "I never smoke at night."

"I always smoke after eating," remarked the first speaker, "no matter when I eat, day or night. That is the difference between you and me."

"It is strange what creatures of habit we are," mused the man who had refused the cigar, "and how forcibly those habits are illustrated by smokers. No two men ever smoke alike—that is, they all have different habits."

"I know an inveterate smoker, an insurance adjuster, who never smoked on Sundays. On week days he averaged from nine to twelve cigars, but on Sundays his appetite for smoking seemed to disappear, and he never desired to light a fragrant Havana. It was the same thing at night. He never smoked after he got home to dinner, and, what is stranger, never felt any desire to do so. He accounted for the change in his appetite to his wife's aversion to tobacco in any shape or form. She could not stand the smoke of the most expensive cigar. It made her deathly sick. The result was that he never smoked at home at all. He made up his mind to go without tobacco at home and soon lost any desire for it. Occasionally he went away from home adjusting losses and would stay away for a week or so. During the daylight he would smoke his quota of cigars, but as the shades of night came on he lost all desire for cigars and smoked not during the evening. It was the same on Sunday, while away from home. He never touched a cigar on that day, such was the force of habit."—St. Paul Globe.

An Electric Hat.

An ingenious application of the electric current to curative uses has been patented by Mr. George Litchenfeld, wig maker, of London. The apparatus consists of a very small battery—the largest size weighing only about three drachms of the kind known to electricians as the chloride of silver battery. This battery possesses two flat silver terminals. It can be placed inside the lining of an ordinary silk hat, with the flat terminals outside the lining, so that when the hat is put on a current of electricity passes between the terminals and diffuses itself all over the wearer's head. The battery, though small, has considerable electromotive force, the current being sufficient to ring a small bell or work a small induction coil. Mr. Litchenfeld claims for his apparatus that when applied to wigs or other headgear it proves a perfect cure for nervous headaches, neuralgia, etc. It is also claimed that the current of electricity will stimulate the growth of the hair and cure baldness. If the latter statement be true, the inventor must surely be a most disinterested wig maker: for if baldness can be prevented, is not "Othello's occupation gone?"—Pall Mall Gazette.

Burdock as a Vegetable.

Burdock comes third among vegetables in Japan. The root grows in some districts a foot in circumference and three feet in length. They are soft and delicious and a single root often brings 25 cents.—New York Market Journal.

For Weak Women.

Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham: "About the first of September, 1881, my wife was taken with uterine hemorrhage. The best styptics the physician could prescribe did not check it and she got more and more enfeebled. She was troubled with Prolapsus Uteri, Leucorrhea, numbness of the limbs, sickness of the stomach and loss of appetite. I purchased a trial bottle of your Vegetable Compound. She said she could discover a salutary effect from the first dose. Now she is comparatively free from the Prolapsus, Stomach's sickness, &c. The hemorrhage is very much better and is less at the regular periods. Her appetite is restored, and her general health and strength are much improved. We feel that we have been wonderfully benefited and our hearts are drawn out in gratitude for the same and to all who apply for other sufferers, for whose sake we allow our names to be used." C. W. EATON, Thurston, N. Y.

Marriage and Health.

Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 5th, 1883. Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham: "As is frequently the case with mothers who have reared large families, I have tried the skill of a number of physicians, and the virtues of many medicines without relief, and as an experiment I concluded to try yours. I am not a seeker after notoriety but I want to tell you that I have been wonderfully benefitted by your medicine. I am now using my fourth bottle and it would take but little argument to persuade me that my health is fully restored. I should like to widely circulate the fact of its wonderful curative powers." The Increase of Bald Heads.

To a person who has a moderately well supplied pocketbook and a thoughtful turn of mind, there can be no more fruitful theme for meditation than to go into our large halls, theatres, churches, and other places of public resort, and, securing a seat in the gallery or in the rear part of the room, look at the heads of the audience, for no other purpose than to ascertain by actual count how many show signs of baldness. Unless the experimenter has been in the habit of counting for this object, he will be surprised to learn that, in most of the eastern cities, fully 30 per cent. of the men over 30 years of age show unmistakable signs of baldness, while nearly 20 per cent. have spots on their heads that are not only bald, but actually polished with the gloss that is supposed to belong to extreme old age alone. I have been in the majority of the churches and theatres in all the large eastern cities, as well as in Chicago, St. Louis, and other places of the west, and have verified my assertion by actual count. From my observation I find that baldheaded men are most plentiful in New York and Boston. After these come Philadelphia, Washington and the western towns. I say "men" for two reasons: first, because women usually wear their hats or bonnets on such occasions, thus covering their crowns; second, in case their hats are removed, the hair is combed up so as to cover any possible bald spot, or else there is an artificial "switch" to hide the defects of nature. So, without indulging in any speculations regarding what may be, I will confine myself to what is to be seen.

Here are a few observations taken in Boston: Trinity church—243 men; 71 actually bald, 36 indications of baldness. King's chapel—86 men; 38 actually bald, 14 indications of baldness. Hollis Street theatre, orchestra, at performance of the "Mikado"—63 men; 27 actually bald, 10 indications. Boston theatre, Judic—126 men; 51 actually bald, 43 indications.—Popular Science Monthly.

The Rev. Dr. Deems thinks that one reason why so many ministers break down early in their work is because they are constant Sabbath breakers. The earnest clergymen never lets up from Monday morning until Sunday night, while the laws of nature demand a seventh-day rest.—New York Sun.

The Universalist State Convention was held in Nashua on Wednesday, the 10th inst., Rev. W. W. Morrison, Rev. J. Eastwood, Hon. Joseph Kidder, and Rev. H. B. Smith participating in the opening exercises. Addresses were made by Mrs. L. F. McKinney, and Rev. A. P. Rein, Rev. H. S. Fiske, and Rev. A. A. Miner, D. D. The convention continued Thursday, closing in the afternoon with an address on "Loyalty to our Church and Faith—What is it?" by Rev. W. W. Morrison of Manchester and Rev. Lee S. McCollester of Marlboro', and an address on "Church and Denominational Vigor" by Rev. G. H. Emerson, D. D., of Boston.

I cannot express my thanks for the benefits I have received from one bottle of your Athlophoros. I have tried many different remedies, but did not get any relief to speak of, but can say truly that your Athlophoros has helped me: Mrs. Chas. H. Gifford, Lincoln Center, Me.

A coal mine is on fire under the township of Mt. Pleasant, Pa., and fears of a vast blow-up of gas are entertained.

Look at Him!

A year ago he was not expected to live. Liver complaint almost killed him. He got great relief from three bottles of Sulphur Bitters, and six bottles cured him.

Frank Dawson, a saloon keeper of Milford, Conn., has been held on charges of hiring ruffians to burn the buildings of prominent temperence men.

Avoid the harsh, irritating, griping compounds so often sold as purgative medicine, and correct the irregularities of the bowels by the use of Ayer's Cathartic Pills. They are invaluable as a family medicine.

Jacob Sharp and three others were taken into court at New York on the 11th inst., to plead to charges of bribery in connection with the boodle aldermen. They pleaded not guilty.

If our young ladies would take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the coming generation would be far healthier.

Capt. Wm. Glen, of the British barque Ivy, at Halifax from Java, is charged with the murder of one of the crew on the passage by long-continued cruelty.

James Pyle's Pearline. This preparation, advertised elsewhere, is really an excellent article for saving labor in washing. It takes the place of soap, sal-soda and other chemical preparations.

Robert Schoenberger of Weisport, Pa., has been brutally murdered by firebugs, whom he detected setting fire to the property of Ex-Sheriff Kuntz.

After using the various humbug plasters with sure failure, get of your druggist a Hop Plaster.

A junk dealer of Lewiston, Me., found a ball of shoe thread in an old boot. Scott's Emulsion of Pure Cod Liver Oil, with Hypophosphites. For lung troubles and wasting diseases.

Dr. J. Simonaud, New Orleans, La., says: "Scott's Emulsion is the finest preparation of the kind ever brought to my notice. In affections of the lungs and other wasting diseases, we may consider it our most reliable agent. In a perfectly elegant and agreeable form."

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhœa, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. To Err is Human, but it is positively inexcusable to administer or take narcotics or potent sedatives to relieve intranquility of the nerves, the easily discoverable cause of which is simply indigestion. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the remedy indicated when the nervous system is weak, and consequently super-sensitive and untranquil. Braced and quieted by this superlative tonic, the system obtains needful repose at night, dyspeptic qualms cease to disturb the stomach, and mental inquietude disappears. The habit of body becomes regular, the liver and kidneys are healthfully stimulated, and bodily or mental exertion cease to be a wearisome and difficult task. Neuralgia, rheumatism and malarial disorders, and kidney troubles, are entirely eradicated by this matchless invigorant and regulator.

What Senator Nelson Thinks of Allcock's Porous Plasters.

Senate Chamber, Albany, N. Y., April 4th, 1885.——On the 27th of Feb. 1883, I was taken with a violent pain in the region of the kidneys. I suffered such agony that I could hardly stand up. As soon as possible I applied two Allcock's Porous Plasters, one over each kidney, and laid down. In an hour, to my surprise and delight, the pain had vanished and I was well. I wore the plasters for a day or two as a precaution, and then removed them. I have been using Allcock's Porous Plasters in my family for the last ten years, and have always found them the quickest and best external remedy for colds, strains and rheumatic affections. From my experience I believe they are the best plasters in the world.

IT IS WONDERFUL

how easily rheumatism begins, and how insidiously it grows in the system, until one is startled to find himself its victim in either the acute or chronic form. He then learns the fearful tenacity of its grip and the utter powerlessness of the ordinary remedies to give relief.

Probably to no disease have physicians given more study, and none has more completely baffled their efforts to provide a specific; and until Athlophoros was discovered there was no medicine which would surely cure rheumatism, neuralgia and nervous or sick headache. Thousands of testimonials like the following prove beyond question that Athlophoros is the only reliable remedy, and that it will do all that is claimed for it.

Manchester, N. H., March 15, 1886.

One year ago while suffering with a rheumatic difficulty I was induced by friends of mine to try a bottle of Athlophoros, although I had little belief in anything of the kind, but, contrary to my expectations, it gave me immediate relief, and it is with pleasure that I can now recommend it to my acquaintances, feeling sure that they will find it the remedy of the age for such difficulties, as I had tried everything else with little or no relief.

PARK H. KELLY.

Northampton, Mass., May 21, 1886.

For relief from rhemmatic pains and trouble, I believe your Athlophoros is infallible. For many years I have been subject to rheumatism in its worst forms. During my last siege of sickness I was induced to try Athlophoros and found it to be all it claimed to be, a cure for rheumatism.

AT A GYPSY WEDDING.

The Marriage Ceremony and the Attendant Festivities—Fun and Frolic.

Few things are more simple than a marriage ceremony among the gypsies, and a description of a wedding as recently witnessed by the writer will not, we believe, prove uninteresting. There were more than a score of tents at the encampment, where we were temporary guests, and at the opening of each a fire was burning, cracking and blazing away as early as 6 o'clock in the morning of the day which was to witness the marriage of one of the favorite young girls of the camp. An hour afterward and an old gypsy man with silvery hair, and bronzed, wrinkled face, with but one eye, stepped on a little mound and began playing the violin, which had but two strings on it. The player's opening piece was the well-known tune, "Haste to the Wedding," to which the young gypsies were soon dancing with great hilarity. While some of the older women were watching the dancers, others were engaged in culinary preparations.

At the opening of one of the tents stood the swarthy-looking masculine gypsy chief, with his hands in his pockets, steadfastly gazing upon the dancers. At a given signal from the chief, the music and dancing ceased. Two rows of gypsies, with about twelve or fifteen in each row, were formed, standing face to face, being between four and six feet apart. Half way down between these rows two gypsies held up a broomstick about eighteen inches above the ground. All being thus far in readiness, the chief called out the name of the bridegroom, who was a very handsome gypsy man about 22 years of age. His hair and eyes were very dark, and the conformation of his face strongly indicated the race to which he belonged. He wore an olive-colored velveteen coat, red waistcoat, and a glaring-colored handkerchief round his neck. In person, he was tall, muscular, and well made. In obedience to the chief's command he came from a tent at one side of the encampment, walked between the rows of gypsies, stepped over the broomstick, turned round, and then stood with his arms akimbo waiting the arrival of his intended wife.

The chief then called out the name of the bride, who came from a tent at the opposite side of the encampment. She was about 19 years of age, rather short of stature, apparently of a healthy and hardy constitution, while the pearly lustre of her eyes and long, dark, glossy hair seemed to identify her with the purest remnant of the gypsy race. She also walked between the two rows of gypsies, tripped very lightly over the broomstick, which she had no sooner done than the young gypsy man, in the most gentle and gallant manner imaginable, took her in his arms, and completed the ceremony by giving his newmade wife some of the loudest kisses we ever heard in our life.

Then the music and dancing were resumed, the whole of the members of the encampment had suspended business; preparations for a good feast were going on; every face looked bright, and every heart seemed joyous. The men smoked, the women talked volumes, the children shouted and frolicked, the old horses grazed by the side of the banks, the donkeys minded their coarse food with a self-satisfied air, and looked as if conscious they were to have that day's respite from their weary toils; even the two or three dogs that were wagging their tails as if in anticipation of an extra feed or of better and a larger quantity of rations than usual, even without the trouble of having to hunt before any dinner could be allowed them.—Brooklyn Magazine.

More Japanese Coming.

More and more Japanese are coming to this country every year, and they are usually of an excellent order. They are mostly between 15 and 25 years old, and of the middle class, such as farmers, storekeepers, etc. All of them are to an extent educated when they arrive, in consequence of the compulsory law of education in the empire. Their chief object in coming is to gain a complete education and to study the manners and customs of the republic, which they rightly regard as very practical. A large part of them, on their return, obtain renumerative employment; the fact that they have served an apprenticeship in the United States putting a premium on their services. Certainly the bulk of Japanese on our soil will compare most favorably with the native inhabitants of the same grade. They are, as a rule, far more gentle, considerate, polite, and wonderfully apt in acquiring new ideas. They have made more progress in the last half century than any other people under the sun.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

A Veil of Great Value.

The church of Meixoti, Mexico, is said to contain a veil of great value. For nearly three centuries Spaniards were in the habit of vowing a jewel to the veil of our Lady of Meixoti if they returned safely from a voyage to Spain, until in Maximilian's time the veil was bejeweled to the value of $200,000. Three German adventurers with Maximilian determined after his failure to carry away this veil. They made elaborate preparations, succeeded in taking the veil, but a pursuing party had nearly overtaken them when they made a stand in a narrow pass, where two of them were, however, killed with their horses, the third making off under cover of darkness, but without the veil, which was recaptured and restored to the altar, to be more vigilantly guarded than ever.—Chicago Herald.

Don't!—If a dealer offers you a bottle of Salvation Oil without labels, or wrappers, or in a mutilated or defaced package, don't touch it—don't buy it at any price, you can rest assured that there is something wrong—it may be a dangerous and worthless counterfeit. Insist upon getting a perfect, unbroken, genuine package.

Nathaniel Whitehouse, who died in Tuftonborough, Oct. 27th, aged 100 years, six months and sixteen days, was born in that town, and always lived in it with the exception of a short time when he worked away while young. He was a farmer, and accumulated a good property. He did not fail to cast his vote annually in town meeting until he was ninety-seven years old. He worked in his fields until he was past ninety. His death resulted after four weeks' illness from an injury received by a fall.

Catarrh

Is a very prevalent and exceedingly disagreeable disease, liable, if neglected, to develop into serious consumption. Being a constitutional disease, it requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, acting through the blood, reaches every part of the system, effecting a radical and permanent cure of catarrh in even its most severe forms. Made only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

New Hampshire's Vote.

Complete returns from 234 cities and towns of the state give Sawyer, rep., for governor, 37,795; Cogswell, dem., 37,295; Wentworth, pro., and scattering, 2210. Williams and Smith, reps., are elected in the third and fourth councillor districts, and Batchellor, dem., in the fifth, with no choice in the first and second districts. The republicans carried thirteen and the democrats eleven senatorial districts, and there is no choice in two districts. In all but four classed towns, 303 representatives elected are divided as follows: Republicans, 168; democrats, 134; independent, one. The classed towns probably return three democrats and one republican.

A Demoniac Outrage.

Upon the arrival at Dubois, Penn., of the mail train north on the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburg railroad, Nov. 11th, the car inspector, while passengers were getting on and off the cars at the depot, discovered three dynamite bombs and caps fastened under the springs of the rear coach. The bombs were carefully removed. The train starts from Punxutawney every morning, and the bombs were undoubtedly placed under the springs there, as only short stops are made between there and Dubois. How it was possible for a train to run miles over short curves with that amount of dynamite and caps under the springs of a coach is a mystery. Thirty-four persons were in the coach, and had the explosion occurred as intended the loss of life would have been very great. Suspicion points directly to no person, but the matter will be thoroughly investigated by the railroad authorities. A little western justice would be the thing to apply to the perpetrators of this crime, if they are discovered.

A Free Choice.

The fire engine company in the old volunteer department of New York voted "That the painting committee can paint der masheen any color they like, so long as it's bright red."

The czar has notified Bulgaria that he does not approve of Prince Waldemar's election to the throne; he does not wish to interfere with the sobranje, and that body can elect anybody it chooses, so long as choice is made of Prince Nicholas of Nungrelia.

Queer Business.

The famous Wilson-Moen case, which was tried a year or so ago, and has attained considerable celebrity on account of a certain mystery which surrounds it, has been on trial for the second time in the United States circuit court in Boston, before Judge Carpenter. This is a suit brought by Levi Wilson against Phillip L. Moen of Worcester, Mass., to recover $113,000 for an alleged breach of contract. When the case was first tried in December last, the verdict resulted in a disagreement. What the public would most like to know is, what was the inducement which caused the wealthy manufacturer to "present" a vulgar, illiterate hostler, "Dr." Wilson, who only learned to read within a few years, with $300,000 to $400,000; the doctor cannot remember just how much he received, within fifty thousand or so, but he does know that these immense sums were given him by Moen out of mere personal friendship, for which friendship he, the doctor, as a veterinary surgeon, cannot give any explanation. Moen says it was purely black mail, but does not tell what "Doc' Wilson threatened him with.

YORK COUNTY GOOD TEMPLARS.

York District Lodge, I. O. G. T., held its 4th quarterly session for 1886 with Old York Lodge, No. 143, of York, Me., on Wednesday, the 10th inst. The meeting was called to order by District Templar Frank H. Dexter, of Springvale, at 10:45 A. M., in Golden Cross hall. The morning session was taken up with the usual routine of business, such as filling vacancies on committees, hearing reports of officers, and appointing special committees. At 12:45 the lodge adjourned until two P. M., and during the recess there was served a bountiful repast, gotten up by the good sisters of Old York Lodge in a manner which would do credit to a student of Miss Parloa.

The afternoon session was one of much interest. Samuel C. Hamilton, of Biddeford, sheriff-elect of York county, made some interesting remarks, in which he called for the earnest support of every Good Templar in the district to sustain him and his deputies in enforcing the liquor law. He was followed in his remarks by Rev. Eugene E. Colburn of Kittery, Frank C. Eaton of Kennebunk, district deputy of York district, Joseph T. Mason of Biddeford, Charles H. Murphy of South Berwick, and others. The attendance at this session was the smallest of any for the past five years, but about 150 delegates being present; and only about one-half the lodges were represented. Charles E. Richardson of Kennebunk was elected secretary, to finish out the unexpired term of Mrs. E. L. Caine, who with her husband, U. A. Caine, Esq., has performed the duties of the office very acceptably the past five years. After the report of committee on resolutions, the meeting adjourned until the annual session in February next, and the company sat down to supper in the upper hall.

The delegates from Kittery were Rev. E. E. Colburn and wife, A. H. Jenkins and wife, Mrs. Joseph Jenkins, Miss Grace Jenkins, Mrs. M. C. Fernald, and Mrs. Young, from Whipple Lodge, of the village; Gowen W. Brooks, Miss Moulton, and Wm. E. Noyes, of Morrill Lodge, North Kittery. There was also a good delegation from Pepperell Lodge, Kittery Point.

The evening meeting was public, and was held in Good Templars' hall, District Templar Frank H. Dexter presiding. The exercises were opened with prayer by Rev. E. E. Colburn, followed by a solo by Miss Susie Thompson, of York; remarks by F. H. Dexter and Samuel C. Hamilton; duett by Misses Sophia Turner and Florence Varrell, of York; recitation by Mrs. Ella H. Mason, of Biddeford; remarks by Frank C. Eaton, of Kennebunk; reading by John E. Norwood, of York; recitation by Mrs. Chase Leavitt, of Kennebunk; remarks by Rev. E. E. Colburn; recitation by Miss Jennie Sewell, of York; and remarks by Capt. L. P. Call, of Boston, and Dr. John C. Stewart, of York. The meeting was very interesting, and considering the weather was well attended.

To the Ladies of New England.

BOSTON, Nov. 11th.—In addition to the splendid recipes for making soup which will oblige all ladies to get the Sunday Globe to-morrow, they will all want next Monday's Globe also, because it will have a new story by Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett, the eminent American author. Her stories—"A Fair Barbarian," "That Lass o' Lowrie's," and "Through One Administration"—have had an enormous sale. The story in next Monday's Globe is entitled "The Fortunes of Philippa Fairfax," and is in her most thrilling and entertaining vein.

AYER'S SUGAR CATHARTIC COATED PILLS

CURE

Headache, Nausea, Dizziness, and Drowsiness. They stimulate the Stomach, Liver, and Bowels, to healthy action, assist digestion, and increase the appetite. They combine cathartic, diuretic, and tonic properties of the greatest value, are a purely vegetable compound, and may be taken with perfect safety, either by children or adults. E. L. Thomas, Framingham, Mass., writes: "For a number of years I was subject to violent Headaches, arising from a disordered condition of the stomach and bowels. About a year ago I commenced the use of Ayer's Pills, and have not had a headache since." W. P. Francis, Crowley P. O., York Co., Ont., writes: "I have used Ayer's Pills for the last fifty years, and can safely say that I have never found their equal as a cathartic medicine. I am never without them in my house." C. D. Moore, Elgin, Ill., writes: "Indigestion, Headache, and Loss of Appetite, had so weakened and debilitated my system, that I was obliged to give up work. After taking under the doctor's care for two weeks, without getting any relief, I began taking Ayer's Pills. My appetite and strength returned, and I was soon enabled to resume my work, in perfect health."

EASTERN RAILROAD COMPANY.

Holders of certificates of indebtedness are notified that the company will issue in exchange for certificates of indebtedness, par for par, $3,150,000 of preferred stock, entitling the holders to annually receive annual net earnings of the corporation to an amount equal to but not exceeding six dollars per share, payable in semi-annual instalments on the first days of March and September, in such sums as the directors may determine, in preference and priority to the common stock, provided however that certificates to the amount named are tendered in exchange and are deposited for that purpose with LEE, HIGGINSON & CO. or KIDDER, PEABODY & CO. of Boston, Mass., or the Company's agents in London, by twelve o'clock of the twenty-third day of November current. As soon as practicable thereafter, the preferred stock will be delivered, or, if not taken to the full amount named, the certificates deposited will be returned. If bonds in excess of the amount named are tendered, exchange will be made pro rata.

Sterling bonds will be exchanged at par of exchange, fractional sums being adjusted by purchase and sale of fractions.

Each bond exchanged must have all unmatured coupons attached.

LONGFELLOW'S DREAM.

The ladies of the Universalist society have made a strong cast for the Longfellow Dream Masque at Music hall next Wednesday evening, and the rehearsals indicate a superior performance by the 100 ladies, gentlemen and children who will take part. The local characters can scarcely fail to excite interest; the sharp tongue of Dame Stavers, the snap of her husband's whip, will again be heard at the "Earl of Halifax" inn; we shall see the pert ten-year-old-maid of the Dame, in her garb of service; again, ten years later, as the bride of the royal governor, and behold the aristocratic Portsmouth matrons ready to brain with their fans the same king's representative when he commands Reverend Arthur Brown to unite him to the beautiful Martha, who is here made to have a prophetic glimpse of her coming grandeur, as she addresses Dame Stavers, an emphasis being given to her declaration by an accompaniment on her dust-pan:

"You think I am so shiftless and so slow.
My Dame, through Portsmouth streets I yet will go
In splendid style, in my chariot red,
In rich brocades, gay feathers on my head!
With footmen two behind; outriders four;
Of other servants there will be a score.
8 x horses in the stables harnessed stand
Ready to gallop forth at my command.
Poets, my Dame, will be inspired by me
To tell my history beyond the sea.
I'll be the talk of th s New England town;
When I'm a woman, Reverend Arthur Brown
And Portsmouth grandees in their pomp and state
Will stare to see me wed the magistrate!"

To this her irate mistress responds, shaking her big bunch of keys:

"That I can tame you, Miss, you yet will see,
For I will put you under lock and key."

The tickets are thirty-five and fifty cents; for sale at Mercer Goodrich's bookstore.

POLICE COURT--BATCHELDER J.

FRIDAY, Nov. 12th.

Daniel Crowley, charged with assault on his wife, Mary S. Crowley, with intent to kill, was held in $1,000 for further examination Monday afternoon, the 15th inst. George E. Hodgdon, Esq., appeared for the defence, but no hearing was had, the woman not being able to appear.

The story told by Mrs. Crowley to Marshal Norton is to the effect that on election night she was sitting in a chair when her husband came in, and pulling the chair from under her, let her fall on the floor; and before she could recover sufficiently to rise he poured kerosene on her dress from the can, and set it on fire. Her cries called in the neighbors, who put out the fire, but not before she was badly burned from the waist down, on the back and legs. She was taken to the Cottage hospital on Monday, the 8th, and is now there, in a critical condition.

Crowley's story is that his wife was drunk on the evening she was burned, and would not go to bed; that her clothing took fire while he was not in the room, and that he hastened to her aid on hearing her screams.

Both husband and wife have the reputation of being persistent drunkards.

PAULINE MARKHAM AT MUSIC HALL.

Miss Markham to-day closes her week's engagement at Music hall, with two performances—"East Lynne," in a new version, for the matinee at two o'clock, and "The Lancashire Lass" in the evening.

THE NEW COUNTY OFFICERS.

Several important reforms are promised us, when the new democratic county officials become installed in their offices. County Commissioner Magraw will probably transfer the little job of printing the reports to his own composing room, where it will be more convenient to read the proof than it would be in another office. Sheriff-elect Coffin is looking after competent men to act as deputies, who will not be offensive partisans, but rather be found in accord with the lately-declared views of the democratic party leaders upon the civil service reform. Other things being satisfactory a good raconteur would be preferred. The county solicitor elected by such a flattering majority, is, it is said, determined to enforce every law except such sumptuary enactments as in themselves are opposed to our democratic ideas of a free government. The present incumbents will soon be suffered to enter into rest. We shall see, after the terms of the new men, how much the affairs of the county may have improved under their direction, and whether the change will have proved beneficial or otherwise.

CURIOS.

Mr. Henry F. Wendell has at his auction store on Congress street quite a collection of relics and curiosities, among which is (or are) a pair of the real buckskin knee-breeches, which were worn at the ball given in this city on the evening of Nov. 3d, 1789, on the occasion of President Washington's visit, and which was graced with Washington's presence. The material is very much thicker than any so-called buckskin seen at the present day, but is as soft and pliable as chamois leather. The only ornaments on the garment are steel buttons, of which, besides those absolutely required, there are rows on each of the legs, just above the knee. From their appearance, the breeches never saw much wear.

Another object of interest is the staff which was owned by Sheriff Thomas Packer, who was high sheriff of the province of New Hampshire from a period as early as 1739 up to the time of his death, in 1771, and who so heartlessly hurried the execution of Ruth Blay in order that his dinner might not get cold, as related in the "Rambles About Portsmouth." This staff is a bamboo stick five feet long, about an inch and a half in diameter at the larger end and three-quarters of an inch at the other; the head is a knob, the handle of which goes into the upper section of the hollow cane, and when drawn out would serve to rap an assemblage to order or to rap an offender over the head. The staff afterward belonged to Sheriff John Parker, and was borne by him when in 1789, as the first United States marshal for the district of New Hampshire, he attended President Washington to divine service at Queen's chapel in this city one Sunday forenoon, and to the North church in the afternoon. Later it was in possession of Judge Richardson's family, and was used to stir the fire, now showing the effect of that usage; by a member of this family it was given to Rev. Andrew P. Peabody, D. D., and by him was given to Mr. Wendell.

Mr. Wendell also has a pair of horns taken from a deer in what is now the town of Deerfie'd, and presented to Gov. Wentworth, who gave the name to the place. These horns were hung up for years in the hall of the Sheafe place at Little Harbor, and were given to Mr. Wendell by a late proprietor of the estate. An antelope's horn three feet long, which was brought home in the ship Pocahontas, the first vessel that ever went whaling out of this port, is another article in Mr. Wendell's collection, of which this is by no means a complete list.

Of the poles for electric lights erected in our streets, is one for a public light in front of the residence of our esteemed contemporary, the senior editor of the Times. Let us hope that with this additional candle power, he may be able to see the point—but no no; we will not anticipate the improbable.

At a meeting of the York Harbor & Beach railroad company, held in this city on the 12th inst., it was decided to make the road a standard gauge line, and to build it on the stock.

Two dangerous counterfeits are said to be in circulation—one a Mexican dollar of 1833, and the other a United States dollar of 1833. The Portland papers say they are in circulation there. Both are well executed, the Mexican dollar being a trifle dimmed, but not more than would be expected of good coin of 1833.

Mr. Maurice Tobin has been appointed janitor for the Walker and Bartlett school houses.

Miss Myra Goodwin, who recently played "Sis" at Music hall to such marked acceptance, will play a return engagement there on Tuesday evening, the 23d inst.

Portsmouth was well represented at the recent session of the State Teachers Institute, at Concord. Twenty-nine of our teachers were in attendance. This speaks well for their interests in their profession.

Messrs. Fred Church, J. E. Emery, Albert J. Rowe and Joseph P. Connor will conduct a series of social assemblies this winter, the first one taking place next Monday evening in Congress hall.

Sea Grass as Food.

On the Devonshire coast in England a sea grass (Porphyra laciniata) is boiled, chopped, mixed with a small proportion of oat-meal, and made into bread, which keeps from four to eight days, and is much used by the poor Welsh people, most of it being sent to Swansea.—Boston Post.

Chronic Catarrh

Catarrh is inflammation of the mucous membrane, attended with increased secretion. Thus catarrh may affect the head, throat, stomach, bowels, or any part of the body where the mucous membrane is found. But catarrh of the head is by far the most common, coming on so gradually that often its presence is not suspected till it has obtained a firm hold on its victim. It is caused by a cold, or a succession of colds, combined with

Impure Blood.

When firmly established the disease is exceedingly disagreeable, causing flow from the nose, dryness of the throat, headache, loss of appetite, roaring and buzzing noises in the ears, etc. In Hood's Sarsaparilla may be found a prompt and permanent cure for catarrh. It purifies and enriches the blood, soothes and rebuilds the diseased membrane, and thus soon cures the disease. At the same time it refreshes and tones the whole system. The remarkable success of this peculiar medicine entitles it to your confidence. Give Hood's Sarsaparilla a trial.

"I am happy to state that I used Hood's Sarsaparilla for catarrh, with which I have been troubled many years, and received great relief and benefit from it. The catarrh was very disagreeable, especially in the winter, causing constant discharge from my nose, ringing noises in my ears, and pains in the back of my head. The effort to clear my head in the morning by hawking and spitting was painful. My grocer advised me to try and it gave me relief immediately, while in time I was entirely cured. I am never without the medicine in my house, as I think it is worth its weight in gold." MRS. G. B. GIBB, 1829 Eighth Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

Hood's Sarsaparilla,

"I have used Hood's Sarsaparilla for catarrh with very satisfactory results. I have received more permanent benefit from it than from any other remedy I have ever tried." M. E. READ, of A. Read & Son, Wauseon, Ohio.

Lydia E. Pinkham

For Weak Women.

Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham: "About the first of September, 1881, my wife was taken with uterine hemorrhage. The best physicians the physician could prescribe did not check it and she got more and more enfeebled. She was troubled with Prolapsus Uteri, Leucorrhœa, numbness of the limbs, sickness of the stomach and loss of appetite. I purchased a trial bottle of your Vegetable Compound. She tried it, and discovered a salutary effect from the first dose. Now she is comparatively free from the Prolapsus, Stomach's sickness, &c. The hemorrhage is very much better and is less at the regular periods. Her appetite is restored, and her general health and strength are much improved. We feel that we have been wonderfully benefitted and our hearts are drawn out in gratitude for the same and in sympathy for other sufferers, for whose sake we allow our names to be used." C. W. EATON, Thurston, N. Y.

Marriage and Health.

Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 8th, 1883. Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham: "As is frequent in the case with mothers who have reared large families, I have tried the skill of a number of physicians, and the virtue of many medicines without relief, and as an experiment I concluded to try yours. I am not a mother after nature's way but I want to tell you that I have been wonderfully benefitted by your medicine. I am now among my fourth bottle and it would take but little argument to persuade me that my health is fully restored. I should like to widely circulate the fact of its wonderful curative powers." The Great Colonizing Nations.

England and Holland are perhaps the greatest colonizing nations of Europe. England has seventy-two times as much territory outside of the island as she has in it, and Holland's colonial possessions are equal to fifty times her own territory. In both of these countries the colonial empire is different in climate, institutions, and language from the mother countries. France has been growing colonially very fast of late years and its possessions in Africa are now about twice its own size. It governs about 8,000,000 inhabitants there, and controls some of the most important trading points. In Asia it has her colonies about as large as France in their aggregate territory, with a population less than half as large, and it has also colonies in the Pacific islands. All told its colonies own territory amounting to 766,387 square miles or more than three times its own size, which is about 204,000 square miles. The Frenchman, however, is not the colonizer that the Englishman and the Dutchman are. He likes a belle France too well to leave her, and though the country has this great colonial empire, including the government of 26,000,000 people, it is a fact that in all this territory there are not probably over 500,000 bona fide Frenchmen.—Frank G. Carpenter in Cleveland Leader.

Occupational Poisoning.

Gilders, thermometer and barometer makers, those who make artificial flowers, looking-glass makers, bronzers, photographers and workers in the mines which yield mercury, as well as those engaged in the separation of gold from its impurities by means of the amalgam process, are all exposed to the action of this poison. It is inhaled into the lungs, and is frequently absorbed by the skin. Quicksilver gives off vapors of itself at all ordinary temperatures, so is readily taken into the system through the lungs. There are a few well-proven cases of poisoning of this sort from a poor amalgam filling of a decayed tooth. Injudicious medical treatment has often caused slow poisoning by one of the mercurial preparations. Mercurial trembling has been known to arise from the use of a solution of corrosive sublimate about the face to remove freckles or other blemish of the skin.—Globe-Democrat.

Gentlemen—I have been sick all the winter with catarrh of the stomach and dysentery, and I find your Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey the best remedy I ever used. Please send your Duffy's Formula to take with it. MRS. MEARA.

WINSTON, North Carolina.

Gentlemen—For two years I suffered with what the doctors called Chronic Diarrhœa, and was unable to get relief. I was greatly reduced when I commenced the use of your Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, since which I have experienced great relief, and have gained more than 30 pounds in weight. DOC. COATES.

1013 MOUNTS STREET, Philadelphia, Pa.

I have used the Duffy's Formula along with Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, giving it to my youngest child of seven years, quite a delicate little thing. She had been ailing a long time with marasmus. I am glad to say that there is a decided improvement. JOHN BURGAN.

"Roland Blake," by S. Weir Mitchell, M. D. Houghton, Mifflin & Co. For sale by Goodrich, price $1.25. This story opens with the appearance of Roland Blake as one of the great host which crossed the Rapidan in 1864. An orphan, he had been brought up on the shores of New Hampshire, near this city, by an uncle who superintended his education and prepared him for Harvard. Blake hesitated little when the war broke out, for his own belief and early training carried him early into the great contest. The fortunes of war led to an acquaintance with Richard Darnell, a handsome but somewhat dissolute and unprincipled rebel, and a distant connection of Miss Olivia Wayne, who was also a native of Portsmouth. Major Blake through his knowledge of Darnell meets Miss Wayne, forms an attachment for her, and after the usual vicissitudes attendant upon true lovers, marries her. Philip Francis, the comrade and best friend of Roland Blake, was a lieutenant in the "6th N. H. Cavalry." The "6th N. H. Cavalry" is good. Probably it was in the same division with the 128th R. I. infantry. The book is written in the characteristic style of Dr. Mitchell, and is very interesting.

but it is positively excusable to administer or take narcotics or potent sedatives to relieve intranquility of the nerves, the easily discoverable cause of which is simply indigestion. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the remedy indicated when the nervous system is weak, and consequently super-sensitive and untranquil. Braced and quieted by this superlative tonic, the system obtains needful repose at night, dyspeptic qualms cease to disturb the stomach, and mental inquietude disappears. The habit of body becomes regular, the liver and kidneys are healthfully stimulated, and bodily or mental exertion cease to be a wearisome and difficult task. Neuralgia, rheumatism and malarial disorders, and kidney troubles, are entirely eradicated by this matchless invigorant and regulator.

expresses the feeling of many victims of rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica and nervous or sick headache. Having tried numberless so-called remedies, and physicians of all schools, without relief, there seems to be no hope. Many such have as a last resort tried Athlophoros, and to their surprise and joy have found that it was a safe, sure and quick cure. Athlophoros is not an experiment; thousands have been cured by its use and they testify as to its value.

Nashua, N. H., March 17, 1886.

For rheumatism and rheumatic afflictions I believe Athlophoros a most excellent remedy, it penetrates all parts of the body, driving out rheumatism and makes a sure cure if taken according to directions. It is a splendid tonic for a run down system, a condition rheumatism is sure to make of one's health. I heartily recommend Athlophoros to all suffering with rheumatism, it is a fine medicine.

MRS. A. C. WRIGHT, 43 Granite St.

Amesbury, Mass., March 3, 1886.

If I had depended on the doctors I believe I would have died, for they did me no good whatever. Rheumatism was the trouble and what a trouble it was, but now, thanks to Athlophoros, not to the doctors nor to the many other remedies I took, the rheumatism is kept off where it belongs. For two weeks I could not sleep, so severe was my pains; after a few doses of Athlophoros I felt relief and soon I enjoyed my sleep and rested very well. Gradually but surely the rheumatism disappeared, and to-day I can without the slightest hesitation say to anybody suffering with rheumatism, if you would be cured, don't wait to experiment with this and that cure, but take Athlophoros, it will do all it claims to do and will cure you. MRS. MARY E. GOODWIN.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

For liver and kidney diseases, dyspepsia, indigestion, weakness, nervous debility, diseases of women, constipation, headache, impure blood, &c., Athlophoros Pills are unequaled.

PECULIAR TRAITS OF ANIMALS.

Birds' Love of Beauty—Cats and Mice—Dogs' Discrimination—Æsthetic Horse.

It is related that a defeated king once watched a spider weave its web, and that the persistence of the nimble little creature gave to the king renewed courage so that he, too, became persistent and conquered where he had before signally failed. This king must have noticed at the same time the mathematical regularity of the weaving.

While in a barn recently I examined the home of a spider and was led to believe that, to a certain extent, they are æsthetic. There can be found a great love of the beautiful among the lower forms of life. The idea is a pretty one and is well worth the carrying out. It is a fact that many brutes are quite human, and if the mass of people be taken as the standard many brutes are superhuman.

The birds appreciate the sweetness of sound. This is too well known to need mention, but perhaps it is not so generally known that birds have taste. The little humming-bird, beautifully colored itself, shows a love of rich coloring and picturesque surroundings. You will find his nest in the center of some splendid, leafy orchard tree, and if you will watch him when in search of food you will see taste shown in quite another direction, for he invariably goes to the flowers having the richest tints. Does he go to the geranium-bed, the brilliant red and crimson varieties are visited first. A preference is shown for the prettiest flowers by the bird the same as by the lady who chooses the richest-tinted flowers to deck her dress.

Going to the four-legged brutes, we can not pass by the melodious and mellifluous cat without some brief mention. The cat is a cleanly animal, and for tidiness excels nearly all other animals. In preference to a corner in the woodshed your cat will invariably choose a soft, warm place in your packed-away linen to give birth to a lot of feline promulgations. 'Tis true the cat can not compare with the mocking-bird for musical versatility; nor with the nightingale for sweetness of tone. The cat is perhaps unfortunate in its choice of time for emitting oft in the stilly night its weird and penetrating love-passages. Doubtless those sweet, melodious tones would be more enjoyable when the air is fraught with the noise and turmoil of a busy city. But, alas, the cat singeth at night.

The mind naturally turns from the cat to the rat or the lesser members of the rodent family, the mice. We have all heard some time or other of musical mice. They have been known to utter from their hiding place tones which much resemble the warbling of birds. When captured and examined, however, it was found that these mice were in a state of disease. But there have been well authenticated instances where mice have been seduced from their hiding by the playing of a violin, the soft notes of a flute, or even the singing of some particular song.

Then there are dogs—nice, pleasant, gentleman dogs—who would savagely detach a morsel from the seat of a tramp's trousers were he to enter their bailiwick; but let a well-dressed gentleman or lady enter and they will be permitted to pass by unmolested. Oftentimes it will be found that a savage dog will permit the fondling of a child or woman while it will roughly snap at a man. This gallantry to ladies is certainly in the line of the esthetic. It is evident that some dogs recognize gentility and make the great mistake made by many humans who think that dress makes the man.

The horse is one of the most intelligent of animals, and at times its sagacity and smartness extend beyond that of some classes of humans. The horse, too, is esthetic. Mr. Jones had an old sorrel mare which was just as proud as anybody, and she knew what was pretty and what was not. When driven to Mr. Jones' old-style and ugly buggy old "Jenny" hung her head low and seemed one of the most humiliated creatures that ever champed a bit. But Sunday when Jenny was hitched up to the new buggy she held her head high in the air and moved off as proudly as could be. There is no doubt that Jenny knew full well that the Sunday buggy was much better looking than the everyday rig. These few remarks barely touch this interesting subject.—Toledo Blade.

Novel Application of Electricity.

A novel application of electric power has just been made on the estate of the marquis of Salisbury, at Hatfield. A Gramme machine, driven by water power half a mile distant, has been attached to a thrashing machine, and the result is stated to be highly successful, a regular, rapid and noiseless power being obtained, together with a great saving of cost. To effect a temporary stoppage of the machine, if necessary, it has been arranged that the current from the leads can be turned from the Gramme machine into a cluster of Swan lamps, so that a short break in the operations does not necessitate any communication with the source of power or stoppage of regular working, while at the same time it gives warning to the men when the current is running.—Chicago Herald.

A Pre-Natal Memory.

The Popular Science Monthly relates that a little girl at Burlington Vt., had inherited so good a memory of an uncle, whose funeral had been attended by her mother not long before this little girl's birth, that she could give a full description of him, and know his picture at once the first time she saw it.—Exchange.

Catarrh

Is a very prevalent and exceedingly disagreeable disease, liable, if neglected, to develop into serious consumption. Being a constitutional disease, it requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, acting through the blood, reaches every part of the system, effecting a radical and permanent cure of catarrh in even its most severe forms. Made only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Niagara Suspension

Bridge is 821 feet span, the Covington and Cincinnati, 1,057 feet; the Brooklyn and New York, 1,595 feet, and the one now building over the Firth, in Scotland, has two spans of 1,650 feet each. The span of life can be extended indefinitely by the medicinal virtues of the G. O. Taylor Bourbon and Rye Whiskey, because an absolutely pure stimulant is a vital necessity. It is bottled by C. H. Bells! Cleveland!

The administration of President Cleveland has received a set-back in the decision of the United States circuit court in Ohio that it had no jurisdiction over the question of the validity of the patents owned by the Bell Telephone Co., a Massachusetts corporation, by reason of service of process made on local corporations in Ohio. We say the "administration," because the president has persistently backed up one of the departments of his administration which has spent large sums of money professedly to break up the Bell patent, but practically to aid the Pan-Electric company. Highly-paid counsel have been retained at the expense of the government to contest this suit between two private corporations, either of which, victorious over the other, is simply an almost unlimited monopoly.

The speculators will doubtless try some new mode of warfare, but the stigma of the way in which the administration took a hand in this game will always remain a blot, to be alike regretted by the democracy and utilized by their opponents in the campaign of '88.

A Dead-Lock.

The breach between the members of the National Knit Goods Association and the striking Knights of Labor formerly employed by them, seems wider than ever. The executive committee of the association met at Albany, N. Y., last week, two delegates from the national executive committee of the Knights of Labor, and the latter offered the following as the only basis on which he would settle on behalf of the Knights of Labor:

That all the former employees be reinstated in their former places, and that the people who have taken the places of the former employees be suspended until they have made a settlement with their organization for violation of its rules and laws.

The proposition was instantly rejected, and the following was submitted by the knit goods people as the only basis upon which the manufacturers would open their mills to the Knights of Labor:

Upon the right to employ, discharge or not discharge, whom we think best as our employees, and that we continue as we deem proper as employees those who remained in our employ at the time of the lockout or strike, and those whom we have since that time employed.

This proposition was as promptly rejected by Messrs. Bailey and McGuire, who withdrew from the conference with the statement that the negotiations were ended, after which the executive committee of the Knit Goods Association, after full consideration, adopted the following:

The mills will be opened to all persons, whether they have been previously in our employ or not, on the basis of an agreement by those whom they may employ that they will acknowledge and respect the right of the employer to hire and discharge as he deems best, and not interfere with other employees, including those who have been at work during the recent strike and lockout.

CURE

Headache, Nausea, Dizziness, and Drowsiness. They stimulate the Stomach, Liver, and Bowels, to healthy action, assist digestion, and increase the appetite. They combine cathartic, diuretic, and tonic properties of the greatest value, are a purely vegetable compound, and may be taken with perfect safety, either by children or adults. E. L. Thomas, Framingham, Mass., writes: "For a number of years I was subject to violent Headaches, arising from a disordered condition of the stomach and bowels. About a year ago I commenced the use of Ayer's Pills, and have not had a headache since." W. P. Hannah, Gormley P. O., York Co., Ont., writes: "I have used Ayer's Pills for the last thirty years, and can safely say that I have never found their equal as a cathartic medicine. I am never without them in my house." C. D. Moore, Elgin, Ill., writes: "Indigestion, Headache, and Loss of Appetite, had so weakened and debilitated my system, that I was obliged to give up work. After being under the doctor's care for two weeks, without getting any relief, I began taking Ayer's Pills. My appetite and strength returned, and I was then enabled to resume my work, in perfect health."

THE WEATHER.

For New England to-day:—

Fair weather, northwesterly winds, decidedly colder.

The Thermometer at the CHRONICLE Office, at 4:00 o'clock this morning, indicated 32 degrees above zero.

Clear.

THE STORM.

The snow-storm of Friday night, which was but a light affair in this city, was very heavy for the season in the interior of the state, six inches falling at Rochester, three inches at Manchester, and nearly a foot in Belknap county. Farther north the fall was much deeper, railroad travel being delayed on many of the northern roads. In Vermont and northern New York the snow was a foot or more deep in many places. The storm was very severe on the New England coast and on the great lakes, and many marine disasters are reported.

The schooner C. H. Spofford, of and from Deer Isle, Me., for Boston with a cargo of granite, was running from Portland for Cape Ann with a strong northerly wind, when about midnight she was met by the easterly gale, and tried to make Portsmouth harbor, but was headed off by the hauling of the wind, and was jammed in the bay on a lee shore. All possible sail was carried to keep off the land, but after some hours of battling with the adverse elements the captain was obliged to gibe the mainsail to clear breakers off Hampton, and the main-boom broke. The captain then tried to make Newburyport harbor, but the vessel struck on the bar and was completely disabled, and drifted on the outer end of the unfinished south jetty, where she filled with water. The crew, three in number, and one old man of nearly seventy, a passenger, took to the fore rigging, and were saved by a gallant crew of volunteers, who used the life-saving gear splendidly, the regular crew being six miles away aiding the schooner Franklin, a lime vessel from Thomaston, which was driven ashore on Plum island previous to the wreck of the C. H. Spofford. Both vessels were completely destroyed in a few hours. All hands were saved.

The schooner Cora Etta, Fales master, a frequent habitue of this port for years past, was driven ashore near Portland Head light, but was hauled off after daylight by a tug, at great risk.

ARRIVAL OF THE KEARSARGE.

The United States steamer Kearsarge arrived in the lower harbor at ten minutes past eleven o'clock on the night of Nov. 12th, from the European station, she having been detached from the squadron there and ordered home for repairs, if on inspection she proves worth repairing. Her roster is as follows:

Commander Charles D. Sigsbee, commanding;

Lieutenants, E. W. Sturdy, J. D. Adams, N. J. K. Patch, S. H. May;

Lieutenant (junior grade) C. M. R. Winslow;

Ensigns, J. A. Dougherty, J. G. Doyle;

Surgeon, W. G. Farwell;

Passed Asst. Surgeon, J. D. Gatewood;

Paymaster, Charles W. Slamm;

Chief Engineer, B. F. Wood;

Passed Asst. Engr., Ralph Aston;

Asst. Engineers, F. W. Bartlett, W. S. Smith;

Second Lieutenant of Marines, Harry K. White;

Pay Clerk, G. W. Van Brunt;

Joseph Kavanaugh, a second-class fireman, died on the passage from the Mediterranean, with heart disease.

The Kearsarge brought as passenger Carpenter F. S. Sheppard, detached from the Quinnebaug, European squadron, and sent home for treatment at some naval hospital in the United States.

UNITED STATES CIRCUIT COURT.

In case New Hampshire Land Co. vs. Tilton, in the United States circuit court, a hearing was had before Judge Colt on Saturday upon the question of allowing $2600 for expense of surveys, claimed as part of the defendant's costs of suit which resulted on its trial in a verdict for the defendant. Aldrich: Bingham for plff.; Chase & Streeter for deft.

The case New Hampshire Land Co. vs. Henry, which was in order for trial in January, has been assigned by Judge Colt as the first case in order for trial on the coming in of the jurors at the next May term of the court in this city.

THE G. A. R. CHARITY BALL.

Chandler's band of Portland will render the following excellent programme in Franklin theatre, on Wednesday evening, Nov. 24th, previous to the grand march in the G. A. R. Charity Ball:

1. Overture, "Jupiter," Hoffmann.
2. Trombone solo, "Original Air Varie," Lagnelles. MR. A. E. BROWN.
3. Selection, "The Army Chaplain," From Millecker's Opera, Moses.
4. Clarionet solo, "Fantasia Sonnambula," Cavallina.
5. "Concert Scene," Keisler.
6. Medley, "The Wild West," Becker.

Tickets, admitting a gentleman and two ladies to both concert and ball, one dollar each.

NAVY YARD ITEMS.

It is announced that the Kearsarge will go out of commission at once on her arrival at this navy yard, where she was built; she sailed from this port on her first and most famous cruise on the 5th of February, 1862, under command of Commander (now Commodore) Charles W. Pickering.

Massachusetts did so well for the administration in the recent election, and the mugwumps were so gracious to the president last week, that a suitable recognition will at once be made by ordering additional mechanical operations in the way of chain cable manufacture, at the Boston navy yard.

MATTERS IN YORK.

YORK, ME., Nov. 13th.

Mrs. Amanda Johnson, widow of Theodore Johnson, died in New Boston, N. H., on Saturday, Nov. 6th, at four o'clock P. M., aged sixty-eight years and seven months. Mrs. Johnson was a worthy member of the Christian Baptist church, and much beloved by her neighbors. She was the mother of seven children, of whom four survive: Mrs. Marsha Goodwin of South Berwick; Miss Olive Johnson of York; Mrs. Arvila Jenkins of Rollinsford, N. H., and Mrs. Maria Young of York. She was born near Rice's bridge, where her father was toll gatherer for a long time. She has a sister living in York, and one at Portsmouth. She had been an invalid for some years.

New sheds are being built at the south side of the town house, in place of those removed from the north side, to accommodate the teams of the worshippers at the Congregational church.

The skating rink belonging to Ellis & Sons, at Union Bluff, will be converted into a hotel by Varney & Bro. of Manchester, N. H. Piazzas around the house are now completed.

Mr. George F. Preble, son of Charles Preble of the Garrison house, is now engaged with Horace Patridge's variety store on Hanover street, Boston. It is currently reported that George will return home about Thanksgiving, to embark upon the sea of matrimony.

The schooner Emily A. Staples, Capt. Samuel Goodwin, sailed for Boston on Tuesday with 70,000 bricks from Norton's brickyard. The schooner Mystery, Capt. Albert Baker, arrived on Tuesday to load, but the captain being taken sick the trip was abandoned, and the vessel will be hauled up for the season. The schooner Golden Gate, Capt. James Amee, is loading with 50,000 bricks, and the Karen Happuck, Capt. Daniel Philbrook, with 45,000. The Nautilus, Capt. Palmer Perkins, and the John & Frank, Capt. Edward Perkins, are loading with baled hay at Marshall's wharf.

Miss Fannie Grant, who taught the last winter term of the school at Beech Ridge, will resume teaching there soon after Thanksgiving.

Mr. Willard Titcomb, who was badly strained while at work on Capt. Emerson's aqueduct about three weeks ago, has been quite unwell ever since, and confined to his bed, but is now slowly recovering.

Andrew R. Webber, Esq., who recently ruptured a blood vessel internally, thereby occasioning a considerable loss of the vital fluid, is rapidly convalescing. His physician says he will be able to visit Portsmouth next week, if he can only be induced to keep quiet until then—a matter difficult of accomplishment on account of the stirring habits of the patient.

It is reported about town that Hon. Frank Jones of Portsmouth has bought the farm of Octavius Weir, of Cape Neddick, for $12,000.

John K. Weir's mills at Cape Neddick are running partially, since the recent rains. They have about 10,000 logs lying around there awaiting sawing, hauled in during the drought. A new flume has just been put in and finished by Charles H. Brewster.

The waters of Chase's pond rose eight inches in consequence of the recent rains. The wells in the vicinity, however, have risen but very little as yet, although the swamps are overflowing. The pond is two miles long at the lowest stage of water, and three at the highest. The timber having been very much cut off recently has caused much diminution of the water. There are plenty of pickerel, eels, perch, ruff, etc., in the pond. Eels are taken weighing seven to eight lbs., and the dams are torn up by them every spring and fall. The pond was protected by the state some years ago for the purpose of raising black bass, but no use has ever been made of it for that purpose.

Gospel meetings of the Congregationalists, Baptists and Methodists of York, united, to continue two weeks, are being conducted by Rev. E. A. Whittier, evangelist, at the town hall. The meetings are very largely attended, and much interest is manifested. VIATOR.

Mr. Emil Pfeiffer, lay reader, officiated at St. John's and Christ Episcopal churches on Sunday, the rector, Rev. Mr. Hovey, being absent in New York.

The sermon in the Universalist church yesterday was "A Sign from Heaven." The sign which Christ gave to the quibbling Pharisees was that which follows disobedience, such as Jonah's. Does one doubt the efficiency of Christ, let him defy a moral principle and a sign will appear to him. Man is to learn and remember, that there is no human activity, or fraternity, or success, out of Jonah's danger, unless it puts away disembling and cowardly speech. In our communion remember Christ.

How to Stop Smoking.

By smoking some of the strongest tobaccos to excess, and so bringing on that deadly nausea so well known to the schoolboy with his first cigar, an antipathy may be created against tobacco in the most inveterate smoker. Repeated two or three times, tobacco becomes intolerable, and the weed is shuddered at instead of smoked. If the smoker is so used to the stronger kinds of tobaccos that he can not "upset" himself by their use, the addition of a few drops of rum to a weed will do wonders in the way of producing "giddiness." This may seem a ludicrous and unmeaning proceeding, but the cure will be effectual. I know several men who have been weaned from tobacco by its means, and among them the writer.

Another recipe: I beg to suggest the trial of calamus root, procurable at any chemist's. It has a pleasant, aromatic bitter flavor, and a small piece may be chewed when the craving for tobacco is very strong. It is quite harmless, and is, in addition, a capital tonic. It succeeded in my own case of completely curing the desire for the soothing weed. —English Journal.

Chronic Catarrh

Catarrh is inflammation of the mucous membrane, attended with increased secretion. Thus catarrh may affect the head, throat, stomach, bowels, or any part of the body where the mucous membrane is found. But catarrh of the head is by far the most common, coming on so gradually that often its presence is not suspected till it has obtained a firm hold on its victim. It is caused by a cold, or a succession of colds, combined with

Impure Blood.

When firmly established the disease is exceedingly disagreeable, causing flow from the nose, dryness of the throat, headache, loss of appetite, roaring and buzzing noises in the ears, etc. In Hood's Sarsaparilla may be found a prompt and permanent cure for catarrh. It purifies and enriches the blood, soothes and rebuilds the diseased membrane, and thus soon cures the disease. At the same time it refreshes and tones the whole system. The remarkable success of this peculiar medicine entitles it to your confidence. Give Hood's Sarsaparilla a trial.

"I am happy to state that I used Hood's Sarsaparilla for catarrh, with which I have been troubled many years, and received great relief and benefit from it. The catarrh was very disagreeable, especially in the winter, causing constant discharge from my nose, ringing noises in my ears, and pains in the back of my head. The effort to clear my head in the morning by hawking and spitting was painful. My grocer advised me to try and it gave me relief immediately, while in time I was entirely cured. I am never without the medicine in my house, as I think it is worth its weight in gold." MRS. G. B. GINN, 1029 Eighth Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

"I have used Hood's Sarsaparilla for catarrh with very satisfactory results. I have received more permanent benefit from it than from any other remedy I have ever tried." M. E. READ, of A. Read & Son, Wauseon, Ohio.

Tobacco Smoking in Persia.

The tobacco used in the ghalzan is called "tumbeke," to distinguish it from the "totum," or tobacco or the chibouk. It is raised in three grades. The best comes from Shiraz, the next best from Ispahan, and the cheapest and least good from Resht. The latter produces a disagreeable tickling sensation in the throat and is rather rank. But the Shiraz tobacco (costing in Persia about 20 cents a pound), is a most delicious variety of the weed, strong and mild at the same time, of a delicious fragrance and very peculiar but pleasant taste. In the lower grades of tumbekee some opium is admixed, and this with the inveterate smokers produces along in the afternoon a sort of narcosis, called by them "kef;" that is, the state of great attainable well being, of tranquillity (the Persian has the same word for bliss, joy, happiness and tranquillity.

Many Persians will make forty to fifty ghalzans a day; that is, they will generally only smoke up half the tobacco in the silver cup that holds it on top of the bottle-shaped ghalzans, throwing the other half away, as it is usually impregnated with nicotine. These pipes are kept exceeding clean, a remarkable fact, in a country where even the highest are quite filthy to our notion. In the households of the well-to-do one of the highest servants is the ghalzandar (pipe-bearer), whose exclusive duties is to clean the pipes and keep his master supplied with fresh ones. The ladies, too, smoke the ghalzan a great deal, both those of high and low rank. I have seen ladies from the shah's andaroun stop on the high road in their carriages by a wayside inn and have half a dozen ghalzans brought to them, the eunuchs and servants meanwhile blocking the way to all other passers-by.—Cor. San Francisco Chronicle.

A Mother's Prophetic Vision.

The mother of Paganini is said to have seen a wondrous vision respecting the future of her marvelous son. She related her dream to him in these terms: "My son, you will be a great musician! For an angel, radiant with beauty, appeared to me in the night and said that any request I might make should be granted. So I asked that you might become the greatest of all violinists, and the angel promised that my request should be fulfilled."—Chicago Times.

The Agonies of Lumbago.

East River National Bank,
New York, March 10th, 1886.

It gives me great pleasure to add my testimony in favor of your very valuable plasters. Last October I had a very severe attack of Lumbago and suffered untold agony; could not turn in bed or get in any position without assistance, and with pains almost unbearable; the folks suggested Allcock's Porous Plasters. As soon as possible I had one applied to the small of my back, and to my great surprise I experienced almost instant relief; I continued wearing it until entirely cured, and am happy to say that I have not had the slightest symptoms of Lumbago since. They are a wonderful and valuable Plaster for Lumbago, and I take much pleasure in recommending them.

To Err is Human,

but it is positively inexcusable to administer or take narcotics or potent sedatives to relieve intranquility of the nerves, the easily discoverable cause of which is simply indigestion. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the remedy indicated when the nervous system is weak, and consequently super-sensitive and untranquil. Braced and quieted by this superlative tonic, the system obtains needful repose at night, dyspeptic qualms cease to disturb the stomach, and mental inquietude disappears. The habit of body becomes regular, the liver and kidneys are healthfully stimulated, and bodily or mental exertion cease to be a wearisome and difficult task. Neuralgia, rheumatism and malarial disorders, and kidney troubles, are entirely eradicated by this matchless invigorant and regulator.

In the boycotting case at Plymouth, Mass., the jury disagreed. It is said they stood nine for conviction and three for acquittal. Another trial will be had.

Three persons were killed and thirteen injured in a railway accident at Sisteron, in the department of Basses Alpes, Spain, last week. The accident was caused by a train running into a land slide, which was caused by the recent heavy storm.

The Duffy Malt Whiskey company, of Baltimore, has been placed in the hands of a receiver. The failure is due to the branching out of the company into various unproductive schemes outside of their regular business.

UTTERLY DISCOURAGED

expresses the feeling of many victims of rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica and nervous or sick headache. Having tried numberless so-called remedies, and physicians of all schools, without relief, there seems to be no hope. Many such have as a last resort tried Athlophoros, and to their surprise and joy have found that it was a safe, sure and quick cure. Athlophoros is not an experiment; thousands have been cured by its use and they testify as to its value.

Nashua, N. H., March 17, 1886.

For rheumatism and rheumatic afflictions I believe Athlophoros a most excellent remedy, it penetrates all parts of the body, driving out rheumatism and makes a sure cure if taken according to directions. It is a splendid tonic for a run down system, a condition rheumatism is sure to make of one's health. I heartily recommend Athlophoros to all suffering with rheumatism, it is a fine medicine.

MRS. A. C. WRIGHT, 43 Granite St.

Amesbury, Mass., March 3, 1886.

If I had depended on the doctors I believe I would have died, for they did me no good whatever. Rheumatism was the trouble and what a trouble it was, but now, thanks to Athlophoros, not to the doctors nor to the many other remedies I took, the rheumatism is kept off where it belongs. For two weeks I could not sleep, so severe was my pains; after a few doses of Athlophoros I felt relief and soon I enjoyed my sleep and rested very well. Gradually but surely the rheumatism disappeared, and to-day I can without the slightest hesitation say to anybody suffering with rheumatism, if you would be cured, don't wait to experiment with this and that cure, but take Athlophoros, it will do all it claims to do and will cure you. MRS. MARY E. GOODWIN.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

For liver and kidney disease, dyspepsia, indigestion, weakness, nervous debility, diseases of women, constipation, headache, impure blood, &c., Athlophoros Pills are unequaled.

THE SOUL'S MEASURE.

Perhaps thou thinkest, "What a happy frame!
What high affections! What a holy aim!"
It may be hard to think thyself the same
Whose word and deed so lately were to blame;
And looking back, with scorn and wonderment,
Thou may'st look round thee, lifted with content.

Be doubly heedful of thine altered heart,
Still, still the same, till thou and life shall part.
Never so near Temptation's keenest dart,
Never does Darkness wield so strong an art,
As when the soul is loitering in the light
To gauge, since yesterday, its added height.
—Charlotte Fiske Bates in Congregationalist.

ANTS AND THEIR WAYS.

Their Love of Cleanliness and Their Modes of Burial.

In spite of the multifarious duties and tasks that are imposed on these tiny burghers, they still find time to clean and adorn their worthy little persons. No spot, no atom of dust or anything else uncleanly will they tolerate on their bodies. They get rid of the dirt with the brushy tufts on their feet or with their tongue. They act, for all the world, like domestic cats when they clean and lick themselves: and they assist one another at the toilet precisely like monkeys. Their sense of cleanliness goes so far that the naturalist often finds, to his unpleasant surprise, the colored marks he has applied with so much care on his "trial ants" removed by their dirt-hating friends. They keep their dwellings just as cleanly.

But the conveying away of their deceased brethren, whose dead bodies they appear to regard with the greatest antipathy, gives them more trouble than anything else. When some members of of an ant community, which Mr. Cook kept imprisoned, died and could not be removed, those remaining seemed affected with the greatest horror. For days the insects ran about seeking a way out, and ceased only when completely exhausted. The ants belonging to the campontus species seized the dead and threw them into a water pail, which they converted into a supulcher. Ordinarily, though, the ants are said to treat their dead with more reverence. They even possess their own graveyards, which lie in the vicinity of their nests. They convey their deceased companions thither, where they lay them down in orderly little heaps or in rows.

It is only the corpses of their fellows, however, that they treat in this manner. Dead strangers they throw out like something unclean, or tear the body in pieces. Even between the master and slaves of the same community Miss Treat says she has observed a dissimilar mode of burial. While the masters find their last repose in a special graveyard, side by side, the slaves lie like heaped-up refuse near the nest, despised equally in death as in life.

The ant cemeteries are often thickly populated, for their life is short. The male lives only through one summer; the female lives somewhat longer, and the workers die of old age in the 8th or 10th year.—The Cosmopolitan.

Conferring Honorary Degrees.

Graduates of one of the colleges of New York are circulating a petition among the alumni for submission to the trustees, asking that the practice of conferring honorary degrees be discontinued. Their arguments are that socialistic titles should represent work actually performed in the institution granting the degree, that the selection of a few alumni for gratuitous honors will breed dissatisfaction and disloyalty among the rest, that the cross-roads colleges are giving honorary degrees right and left as a reward for all sorts of services, that the older and better universities are becoming more and more conservative in granting academic honors without examination, and finally that the board of regents of that state is qualified to confer all the honorary degrees necessary.—Chicago Times.

An Old Circus Rider Talks.

Barnum and Forepaugh are the only successful and wealthy circus men of to-day. I should say they are equally wealthy, Forepaugh having the advantage of being alone and getting all the profits, while Barnum has to divide with his partners. Both are in the habit of investing all their surplus in real estate, Barnum owning a section of Bridgeport, while Forepaugh has numerous houses in Philadelphia. In the olden days more money was made in the circus business, because the expenses and risks were not so great as now, especially in the matter of ground rent and license. A dozen or so of horses, four or five cages of animals, one elephant, one camel, and twenty people all told constituted the outfit; there were no double mammoth tents, no droves of elephants, no herd of camels, or stud of horses.—Exton Stone in New York Times.

An Opinion of Thoreau.

I am always glad to have the views of a sensible person, outside of the literary circles, upon my favorite authors, especially when the views are spontaneous. "Speaking of Thoreau," says my correspondent, "I am willing to allow most that is said in his praise, but I do not like him, all the same. Do you know, I feel that he was not altogether human. There is something uncanny about him. I guess that, instead of having a human soul, his body was inhabited by some sylvan deity that flourished in Grecian times. He seemed out of place among human beings."—John Burroughs in The Century.

Naval Intelligence.

Rear Admiral Braine, commanding the South Atlantic squadron, reports to the navy department under date of Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, Oct. 14th, his intention to sail about Nov. 2d, in the flagship Lancaster, for Montevideo, Uruguay. The rear admiral says that he communicated with nearly all the United States consuls on that part of the station, and finds that the commercial interests of the United States are carefully looked after. The English merchants are, however, the most successful competitors for the trade of Brazil, offering longer credits to Brazilian merchants for the kinds of goods they desire, and getting their freights at rates that almost defy competition. The health of the officers and men of the Lancaster and Tallapoosa was excellent.

Lieut. A. G. Paul is ordered as assistant inspector of the fifth lighthouse district.

Ensign H. K. Wadenshaw is ordered to ordnance instruction at the Washington navy yard.

Lord Salisbury's speech is construed as pacific, but it was like the usual democratic platform, subject to either construction.

The French papers are better satisfied with the prospect of continued British occupation of Egypt than they thought they would be. It frequently happens that way.

President Cleveland has been made a Doctor of Laws by Harvard university. This however does not signify. He is hard at work, and denies himself to office-holders, indeed to nearly every one save the Massachusetts mugwumps, while he works at his coming message to Congress. In this state paper will be found the sensible and practical notions of his minister of finance. But the sound views there expressed will not meet the approval of his political friends in Congress, who contend that they know what laws need to be treated better than does Dr. Cleveland. In fact, the Doctor will, this winter, depend upon the business sagacity of the republican members of the house of representatives, aided by a few democrats who have some proper notion of what is needed by the country in this respect, to keep the legislation of the session in proper trim.

The president of Princeton college not bearing his name on the list of dignitaries made LL. D. at Harvard the other day, left the hall in a huff, and went home without his dinner, only to find he had been dubbed an LL. D. by Harvard twenty years before, a trifling fact he had forgotten. The LL. D. will stand in his case for "lost a lovely dinner." Fancy a hungry editor giving up the chances of a good dinner for the barren and unsatisfying honor of a college degree! The Princeton people insist that the cause of Dr. McCosh's withdrawal from the hall was the reference by the "Autocrat" to the theology and alleged narrow views of Princeton.

A recount of the votes in the third district of Passaic county, New Jersey, gives R. A. Carroll, democrat, one more vote than Eugene Emley, republican, for assemblyman. This gives the democrats the state legislature by one majority, and ensures the election of Leon Abbett, democrat, as United States senator, in place of Gen. Sewell, republican. The republicans of the district excepted the recounters would give their man a much larger majority than one vote, as so much depended on his election.

Mr. E. C. Jenness, the democratic representative-elect of Rye, received the unanimous vote of the town,—a compliment of which any man might justly feel proud.

Frank Colcord of South Berwick has returned from Hampton, Va., being obliged to resign his position as instructor in the government school at that place because of ill health.

Business is all in a rush at John P. Sweetser's store just now. His workmen are engaged in tinning one or two roofs in the city, and Mr. Sweetser has the contract to cover the top of a large hotel building at York beach for Ellis Bro's. who are now making extensive changes in their skating rink property on the beach. Outside of this department of the work, gangs of plumbers and gas fitters are kept busy, and the orders received are promptly attended to by efficient and capable men. Mr. Sweetser is also doing a driving business in stoves of all kinds, lamps in great variety, and every known article of the kitchen ware sort. For further particulars see advertisement in another column.

A very cleverly-arranged contrivance has been discovered in the woods near St. George, N. B., by means of which an eccentric resident named Tucker intended ending his existence. It had been noticed that the old man spent the greater part of his time in the woods, and a party followed him. He soon stopped beside an open grave, which was found to have been constructed for some special purpose. A box had been placed in it, and springs arranged so that a man could lie down in the box and pull down a board, when the grave would fill with earth, and brushwood, arranged for the purpose, would cover the mound. The discovery was only made just in time to save the man's life, for every detail had been completed.

CAPTAIN S. GREENWOOD,

Master of the Steamship Kazaiba.

About a year ago he observed a strange change in his feelings. He felt dead instead of vigorous; nervous instead of strong. His appetite became poor and his sleep broken. He tried to overcome these feelings, but they would not go. He then noticed pains and irritation in the water channels, and that the fluids passed were often thick and with a sediment on top or a brick-dust sediment at the bottom. All these were the sure symptoms of that fearful disease, Catarrh of the Bladder, which has always been considered incurable, and they continued until the Captain was in a terrible condition. But he [illegible] health and vigor to-day, and he owes it entirely to that wonderful medicine, Hunt's Remedy. Capt. Greenwood says: "I am so certain of the great value of Hunt's Remedy that I always carry a supply on shipboard for the use of my men, and I prescribe it wherever they are ailing. After curing me as it did, and restoring my wife, (whom the best physicians of New York said was dying of tumor,) to perfect health, I swear by it."

Last Saturday morning the Portland police were notified from Biddeford that Stephen Rounds of that city was in Portland under the name of Charles H. Hanson. Rounds has a wife in Biddeford, but he had registered his intention of marriage with a Portland lady, and the wedding ceremony had been arranged to be performed by Mr. Southworth in Portland, Saturday evening. When Rounds went to the city clerk's office he was arrested, and taken before Recorder Dyer. Rounds stated that it was true that he had a wife in Biddeford to whom he had been married a year, but she was going to get a divorce from him, and he thought he had a right to marry again. When told how narrowly he had escaped the state prison, Rounds broke down and cried like a baby. The lady whom he was going to marry, a widow with three children, was also much affected, but appeared pleased to get out of her unpleasant situation so easily. She stated that she had known Rounds but two months. As Rounds had actually committed no crime Recorder Dyer dismissed him with a reprimand.

CURE

Headache, Nausea, Dizziness, and Drowsiness. They stimulate the Stomach, Liver, and Bowels, to healthy action, assist digestion, and increase the appetite. They combine cathartic, diuretic, and tonic properties of the greatest value, are a purely vegetable compound, and may be taken with perfect safety, either by children or adults. E. L. Thomas, Framingham, Mass., writes: "For a number of years I was subject to violent Headaches, arising from a disordered condition of the stomach and bowels. About a year ago I commenced the use of Ayer's Pills, and have not had a headache since." W. P. Hannah, Gormley P. O., York Co., Ont., writes: "I have used Ayer's Pills for the last thirty years, and can safely say that I have never found their equal as a cathartic medicine. I am never without them in my house." C. D. Moore, Elgin, Ill., writes: "Indigestion, Headache, and Loss of Appetite, had so weakened and debilitated my system, that I was obliged to give up work. After being under the doctor's care for two weeks, without getting any relief, I began taking Ayer's Pills. My appetite and strength returned, and I was soon enabled to resume my work, in perfect health."

INVESTMENTS.

I am prepared to furnish the most desirable investments in County Bonds and Guaranteed Farm Mortgages, paying 6 and 7 per cent semi-annually. On Farm Mortgages, only from 25 to 33 per cent of the actual cash value of the property is loaned, and the title, location, quality of land and future prospects of the property are personally looked up. Farm Loans are, when negotiated by experienced and responsible parties, the most profitable security offered, especially for those having small sums to invest from time to time. The Loans I offer are First-Class in every respect. Principal and interest when due, paid here without expense to the holder.

I have these Loans in sums from $300 to $5,000.

EASTERN RAILROAD COMPANY.

ANNUAL MEETING.

To the Holders of Certificates of Indebtedness.

The Voting Register of Certificate holders is now making up at the office of the Company in Boston, Mass.

Persons desiring to have their names placed upon said Register in order to vote at the coming election must comply with the following regulation of the Trustees:—

"Every holder of Certificates of Indebtedness who desires to have them registered in his name shall present to the Trustees at their office, No. 10 Tremont street, Boston, a written statement signed by him, and giving his address and the denomination and number of every certificate of indebtedness claimed to be held by him, and shall, if required by said Trustees, verify his title by exhibiting such certificates and the written order of the last registered holder of the same, or other evidence of his title to the reasonable satisfaction of the Trustees; and said Trustees, if satisfied with his title, shall indorse their approval upon said written statement, and said certificate holder may thereupon be registered in conformity thereto. The approval of one of said Trustees shall be sufficient authority for such registration, and no registration after the 15th day of November, 1886, shall be valid without such approval, and no approval shall be granted after the time for closing the register."

The voting register will close at the close of business on the 30th day of November, between which time and the annual meeting on the 8th day of December, 1886, no registration will be allowed.

EASTERN RAILROAD COMPANY.

Holders of certificates of indebtedness are notified that the company will issue in exchange for certificates of indebtedness, par for par, $3,150,000 of preferred stock, entitling the holders to annually receive annual net earnings of the corporation to an amount equal to but not exceeding six dollars per share, payable in semi-annual instalments on the first days of March and Sep ember, in such sums as the directors may determine, in preference and priority to the common stock, provided however that certificates to the amount named are tendered in exchange and are deposited for that purpose with LEE, HIGGINSON & CO. or KIDDER, PEABODY & CO. of Boston, Mass., or the Company's Agents in London, by twelve o'clock of the twenty-third day of November current. As soon as practicable thereafter, the preferred stock will be delivered, or, if not taken to the full amount named, the certificates deposited will be returned. If bonds in excess of the amount named are tendered, exchange will be made pro rata.

Sterling bonds will be exchanged at par of exchange, fractional sums being adjusted by purchase and sale of fractions.

Each bond exchanged must have all unmatured coupons attached.

By order of the Board,

EASTERN RAILROAD COMPANY.

ANNUAL MEETING.

To the Holders of Certificates of Indebtedness.

The voting register of certificate holders is now making up at the office of the Eastern Railroad on Causeway street, Boston, Mass. Holders already registered are not required to register now. Any holder not already registered can register on presenting at said office of said Eastern Railroad Company to Edward Leslie a written statement signed by himself of his name, address and the denomination and numbers of the certificates held by him. If the company shall so require, the holder desiring to register shall also duly verify his title thereto by producing said certificates of indebtedness, or giving with the company the written order of the person last registered as the holder, or in such other mode as may be prescribed by the laws of Massachusetts and the regulations of the Trustees.

The voting register will close at the close of business on the 30 day of November, between which time and the annual meeting, on the 8th day of December, 1886, no registration will be allowed.

Per order of the Directors.

THOROUGHLY SATISFIED.

A special despatch of the 14th inst. from Washington to the Boston Post, reads as follows:

Hon. Frank Jones of Portsmouth, N. H, is stopping at the Riggs house. He is on the way to Florida on business, and will leave political affairs until his return trip. He says that the people in New Hampshire are thoroughly satisfied with the president, and have no fault to find with the distribution of the offices. If Blaine is nominated in 1888, as Mr. Jones thinks he will be, the only thing for the democrats to do, he thinks, is to renominate Cleveland. Mr. Jones thinks that Cleveland could carry New Hampshire against Blaine. The republicans had their strongest man in the field for governor in the person of Colonel Sawyer, and an anti-Blaine man, too, and the fact that he could get only 500 plurality is a significant indication of the growing strength of President Cleveland and the democratic party.

This may be considered as an early service of notice on the democracy of this state that they are to choose as members of the state convention which will elect delegates to the next democratic national convention, men who will appoint a delegation that will be solid for Cleveland and reform.

POLICE COURT--BATCHELDER J.

MONDAY, Nov. 15th.

John Patterson, charged with drunkenness, was allowed to go on his promise to leave town at once.

Daniel Day and John Berry were sent to jail to board out an assessment of $9.90 each, for drunkenness.

John Day, for drunkenness, was ordered to the county farm $9.90 worth.

Joseph Brown, charged with having been drunk, said he could prove he was sober, and was allowed till next day to do so.

Daniel Crowley, charged with assault with intent to kill, he having, as alleged, attempted to make a bonfire of his wife, was before the court on continuance of his case. The deposition of the woman was taken at the Cottage Hospital, she being unable to appear personally in court; and Crowley testified in his own behalf. The accused was held in $1,500 for his appearance at the April term of the supreme court at Exeter, and was committed to jail in default of sureties.

LONGFELLOW'S DREAM.

Mr. D. L. Maulsby, a graduate of Tufts school of oratory, and a fine elocutionist, will read the text for the Longfellow Dream Masque at Music hall on Wednesday evening.

MARITIME NOTES.

The schooner J. Chester Wood has taken a berth for the winter at Randall & Caswell's wharf. She is the first of the brick fleet to haul up.

The schooner Loella, Amee master, arrived on Saturday, 13th inst., from Bangor, with a load of shingles and long lumber for Dover.

The vessels reported as in the lower harbor Saturday remained over Sunday, through stress of weather. There were a number of slight accidents. The U. S S. Kearsarge dragged her anchors, and was forced to take a new berth. The schooner Wigwam fouled another vessel, carried away her jibboom and lost an anchor. A three-master, name not given, is reported as also having dragged foul of another schooner, and lost an anchor and chain.

Three coasters, unable to make this harbor on Saturday, rode out the gale at anchor off Odiorne's point; one of them had her mainsail blown away before coming to anchor, and another, lumber laden, was perilously near the rocks; all were in a dangerous position, but no aid could be rendered until the blow abated, when they ceased to need aid.

The schooner Satellite, Capt. Littlefield, had got her foremast new headed on Monday, and expected to be ready to start for Boston with her load of bricks to-day.

The four-masted schooner Eva B. Douglass was brought up from the lower harbor Monday forenoon, by the steamer Clara Bateman, assisted by the Mystic and the James Sampson, and berthed at the Concord railroad wharf. She is a very handsome vessel, and a big one, having 1,800 tons of coal on board. A number of our old square-rigged skippers were down to look at her, Monday afternoon.

The fare of mackerel of the schooner Lizzie M. Center, which arrived at Gloucester on the 8th inst. with 350 barrels of large fish, was sold at $16.12 1-2 per bbl., sea-packed, the highest price paid for mackerel out of pickle this season, and probably the highest ever paid in Gloucester. The schooner stocked over $5,600 for her trip; she was the last to arrive of the mackerel fleet.

Electric Lights.

It was, it will be remembered, voted at a recent meeting of the board of aldermen, to establish fourteen more electric lights. The committee on street lights have decided upon the locations for all but one of them, as follows: Corner of Dover and McDonough streets, Creek and Islington, Islington street in front of the shoe shop, West and Middle street, Miller Avenue and Rockland, Union and Austin, Summer and Austin, Dennett and North, Elm and Vaughan, Fleet and Hanover, High and School, Pleasant street just below the Universalist church, and Water street at the South ward room.

The first of a series of social assemblies under the management of a syndicate of young gentlemen was given in Congress hall on Monday evening, and was in every way a success, the attendance being both large and select.

As Mr. George W. Damon of Kittery, night gate-keeper on Noble's island bridge, was driving in to his work Sunday evening, when between the toll-gate and the Concord railroad crossing on Noble's island he was thrown from the wagon. The horse kept on, striking the wagon against the pump and clearing himself from the vehicle, and then ran behind a building at Call's lumber yard, where he was found after several hours' search, standing quietly. Mr. Damon was insensible when picked up, but was able to be out next day.

Seats for Longfellow's Dream, at Music Hall Wednesday evening, are selling rapidly. It will be a fine entertainment.

Tuesday evening, Nov. 16th, the Franklin Skating Rink will be open, with music. It will also be open Wednesday afternoon, the 17th.

Ex-Councilman Will C. Randall is very proud since the 11th inst., over the arrival at his house of a young lady, who has taken up her permanent residence there.

The flower committee of the Boston & Maine railroad have awarded to Mr. Edward A. Ferguson, foreman of the Eastern railroad machine shop in this city, $20 for ornamental grounds near the round-house, and to Mr. Winslow T. Perkins, station agent, $10 for neatly arranged grounds near the station.

The fair of the Free Baptist society in Franklin hall last week netted nearly $400, which will extinguish the indebtedness under which the church has labored.

The Penny Post says that Dr. George Haven, of this city, has finally determined to begin his professional career in Boston, and is about to open an office on Beacon street.

Mr. Charles F. Coffin, printer, son of Mr. Charles E. Coffin of Manchester, formerly of this city, died in Denver, Col., on the 12th inst., in the 31st year of his age.

Miss Rosa L. Marston, of Brockton, Mass., is visiting friends in town for a few days.

Mr. Julius C. Johnson and wife, of Lowell, Mass., were at the Rockingham over Sunday, on a visit to Miss Alice M. Esty, the soprano of the Baptist church choir. Miss Esty is a leading member of the Maritana Opera Co., which includes Gertrude Edmands, J. C. Bartlett, H. L. Cornell and others well known in the musical world. The company appeared with great success in Concord last week, and are this week singing in Connecticut cities; next week they are booked to perform in St. John, N. B., and will be in Lynn on the 26th. Those who have heard Miss Esty sing in the choir will readily credit the statement that her efforts on the operatic stage are received with marked favor everywhere she appears.

Rev. S. S. Hebbard, formerly pastor of the Universalist church in this city, but recently settled over a church in La Crosse, Wis., has left the denomination, and accepted a pastorate over a church of the Orthodox denomination.

Concerning a combination which is announced to shortly give a concert in this city, the Newmarket Advertiser of Nov. 13th says: "The concert by the Park Concert company last Friday evening was one of the best musical entertainments ever given here. The attendance was very flattering, and every selection was loudly encored, the performers responding every time. We thought the audience were rather too well pleased when they loudly encored the final selection, but the company were equal to the occasion, and cheerfully gave another piece. Where all was so good, it is hard to single out any one particular part for mention, so we will say that every selection was first-class and worthy of the most liberal encomiums. Mrs. Helen Locke-Wingate of Exeter made her first appearance as a soprano soloist before a Newmarket audience, and her reception must have been very gratifying to herself and the company. Her singing was effective and pleasing, and she received a double encore after her last selection."

J. B. Griffiths & Sons, of Newmarket, are doing an extensive business in the line of making cider, employing from five to seven men right along. They recently shipped quite a large lot of cider to San Francisco, Cal.

The Methodist Episcopal society of South Newmarket gave a chicken-pie supper last Thursday evening.

Revenue from Patent Medicine.

The board of inland revenue chuckled a good deal in their just published annual report about the growth of the revenue from patent medicines. They observe that "the increase under the head of patent medicine stamps is considerable, as usual, and shows how these medicines continue to gain in public favor." This may be a subject for congratulation by the inland revenue, but it may well be doubted how far the growing habits of the population to resort to these quack remedies is beneficial to the nation at large.

Twenty years ago there were only 11,520 patent medicine venders in the kingdom, and only 7,500,000 of labels issued, yielding 60,000 pounds sterling to the revenue. In ten years more, viz., 1876, the venders had increased to 15,023, and nearly 16,000,000 labels were issued, yielding 133,000 pounds sterling. Now there are 20,279 venders, and 21,500,000 of labels were issued, yielding an income to the government of 179,000 pounds sterling. Obviously, the efforts made to induce the government to place the preparation and sale of patent medicine under better regulations are terribly handicapped by the supposed danger of losing a very profitable and growing source of revenue.—British Medical Journal.

How Paper Doors Are Made.

Paper doors cost about the same as wood, and are said to be much better, because there is no shrinking, swelling, cracking or warping. The paper door is composed of two thick paper boards stamped and moulded into panels, and glazed together with glue and potash, and then rolled through heavy rollers. It is first covered with a waterproof coating, and then with a fireproof coating, and is painted and varnished and hung in the ordinary way.—Boston Budget.

French Industrial Medals.

A new French decoration has been created, "Industrial Medals of Honor" are to be conferred on those deserving work-people who have served over thirty years in the same manufactory or commercial establishment on French soil. The medals are made in gold, silver and bronze, and bear on one side the effigy of the republic and on the other the inscription, "Honor and Labor," with the recipient's name.—Boston Transcript.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey and Duffy's Formula

For Malaria.

163 CATHERINE ST., ELIZABETH, N. J.

Sirs—My trouble has been chronic malaria. I was completely run down; no appetite, skin yellow, constant headache and weakness. I took your Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey and Duffy's Formula, and could not ask to be better than I do. I gained 20 pounds the first week. D. R. HOWLAND.

119 JACKSON ST., PATERSON, N. J.

Dear Sirs—As a result of using your Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey and Duffy's Formula I find that all my physical feelings I had have been expelled; my appetite has returned and a gradual increase in weight and strength has taken place. JOHN DUFFY.

46 FIRE ST., ELIZABETH, N. J.

Gentlemen—I have found the greatest relief in the use of your Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey and Duffy's Formula in breaking up the chills and fever, with which I had been troubled for 12 years. I have been troubled also with my liver and blood spitting, which has also been relieved. A. J. GILBERON.

222 YORK ST., W. PHILA., PA.

Gentlemen—I had malarial fever, which was followed by typhoid and pneumonia. Physicians prescribed Cod-liver Oil but did not improve. I got disgusted and procured your Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey and Duffy's Formula. They did me good at once. I was almost a skeleton. I would not have believed it possible to make the progress I did in a short time. I cannot say too much in their favor. WM. LINDEMEYER.

HAGERSTOWN, MD.

Gentlemen—I had been for years suffering with chills, and received no permanent relief in the hands of the physicians. The malady brought on hemorrhages, but am pleased to say that as a result of using your Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey and Duffy's Formula, I am feeling better than I have in my life before. I regard its power in curing malaria as something wonderful. J. H. BOOKE.

ANACOSTIA, D. C.

Dear Sirs—I have been greatly benefited by the use of your Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. I have no symptoms now of malaria with which I was troubled a great deal. My stomach and liver are in splendid condition. F. E. ALLEN.

THE DUFFY MALT WHISKEY CO.
BALTIMORE, MD.

☞ The Duffy's Formula is a special household application of the medicinal virtues and purity of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, and is intended more specifically for the treatment of Consumption, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Malaria, General Debility and all Wasting Diseases. In addition to the tonic effect of our whiskey, it furnishes unequalled blood-forming material, whereby the Weight and Strength are increased. It is made in accordance with a specially prepared Formula (and contains principally of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey and Sour Mash Bourbon combined in Sound Vintage, the nutritious elements of the best malted barley without cooking or chemical changes by a new process, making it the most palatable and effective beef preparation ever made. It can be had of all dealers at ONE DOLLAR PER BOTTLE.

To Err is Human, but it is positively inexcusable to administer or take narcotics or potent sedatives to relieve intranquility of the nerves, the easily discoverable cause of which is simply indigestion. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the remedy indicated when the nervous system is weak, and consequently super-sensitive and untranquil. Braced and quieted by this superlative tonic, the system obtains needful repose at night, dyspeptic qualms cease to disturb the stomach, and mental inquietude disappears. The habit of body becomes regular, the liver and kidneys are healthfully stimulated, and bodily or mental exertion cease to be a wearisome and difficult task. Neuralgia, rheumatism and malarial disorders, and kidney troubles, are entirely eradicated by this matchless invigorant and regulator.

The New York School of Acting opened last week with a very full number of students from all parts of the country. A few more gentlemen are needed to complete the companies now organizing for performances. The rooms of the school are located in the Lyceum Theatre building, New York city, which enables students to obtain suitable surroundings, actual stage-practice, and other evident advantages.

Look at Him! A year ago he was not expected to live. Liver complaint almost killed him. He got great relief from three bottles of Sulphur Bitters, and six bottles cured him.

Fine specimens of ore known as native silver have been taken from a mine recently discovered at Alexandria. There is said to be an abundant supply of the mineral.

By the accidental discharge of a gun Charles Burrell had his right hand blown off at Newton, Oct. 25th.

Simeon Brown of Hampton died Oct. 23d from the effects of a fall.

Dr. Raymond of Colebrook had one hand badly mangled by the explosion of a cartridge a few days ago.

In St. James Parish, La., on Friday night, Nov. 12th, two men were killed and another fatally injured by a boiler explosion. The night was cold, and they went to sleep on top of the boiler in a sugarhouse.

UTTERLY DISCOURAGED expresses the feeling of many victims of rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica and nervous or sick headache. Having tried numberless so-called remedies, and physicians of all schools, without relief, there seems to be no hope. Many such have as a last resort tried Athlophoros, and to their surprise and joy have found that it was a safe, sure and quick cure. Athlophoros is not an experiment; thousands have been cured by its use and they testify as to its value.

Nashua, N. H., March 17, 1886.

For rheumatism and rheumatic afflictions I believe Athlophoros a most excellent remedy, it penetrates all parts of the body, driving out rheumatism and makes a sure cure if taken according to directions. It is a splendid tonic for a run down system, a condition rheumatism is sure to make of one's health. I heartily recommend Athlophoros to all suffering with rheumatism, it is a fine medicine.

MRS. A. C. WAGERT, 43 Granite St.

Amesbury, Mass., March 3, 1886.

If I had depended on the doctors I believe I would have died, for they did me no good whatever. Rheumatism was the trouble and what a trouble it was, but now, thanks to Athlophoros, not to the doctors nor to the many other remedies I took, the rheumatism is kept off where it belongs. For two weeks I could not sleep, so severe was my pains; after a few doses of Athlophoros I felt relief and soon I enjoyed my sleep and rested very well. Gradually but surely the rheumatism disappeared, and to-day I can without the slightest hesitation say to anybody suffering with rheumatism, if you would be cured, don't wait to experiment with this and that cure, but take Athlophoros, it will do all it claims to do and will cure you. MRS. MARY E. GOODWIN.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

For liver and kidney diseases, dyspepsia, indigestion, weakness, nervous debility, diseases of women, constipation, headache, impure blood, &c., Athlophoros Pills are unequaled. 2

IN A ROW BOAT.

We're off for a row on the briny Atlantic,
In a boat that's not "bonny," nor given to "dipping;"
It won't even "curtsey," it isn't romantic,
And the water's a harbor, filled up with shipping!

Yet what do we care for the "blue Danube river,"
For Venice, the Rhine, or Geneva's fair shore!
The splash of a blade, with its ripple and quiver,
Sings just the same music the universe o'er.

And beneath this tall ship-house—peaked and roomy,
And yonder old hulk, without bowsprit or mast,
We glide into shadows as graceful and gloomy
As the Doge's palace itself can cast.

A ferryboat comes—she's a thing of beauty!
See her colored lights on the waves shine down;
They are only her signals doing their duty,
But they gleam like jewels in a monarch's crown.

There is no "weird legend" in any quarter,
No "madrigal" floats to the listening ear,
No "mandolin" tinkles, but over the water
Come fresh, laughing voices, jolly and clear.

And so on we go, in the deepening twilight,
Without any sentiment, romance or stuff!
The same moon gilds all, with its touches of high light;
We're perfectly happy, and that is enough!
—Bessie Chandler in Brooklyn Magazine.

AMONG THE ARCADIANS.

Happy Homes Which They Found in Louisiana—How They Farm.

"I've been down in Louisiana for a week with the Arcadians—people Longfellow talks about in his 'Evangeline,' you know; 'Cajins' the darkies down there call them," said a Northwestern railway conductor recently.

"It's like going back to our great-grandfather's days to go among them. They are the simplest and happiest people I ever saw, and their country is the most beautiful in the world. It was pretty hard when they were driven from their first settlement, but they have cause to rejoice at it. Why, they don't have to work. They just tickle that magnificent soil with the hoofs of their cattle and it laughs a harvest. Old Basil, the blacksmith, had a level head, I tell you. They do not even have to plow for their rice crop. When it stops raining in the spring they ride out on horseback to their rice fields, which are then ponds, and sow the seed-rice broadcast over the water, after which they have nothing more to do till harvest. If the season is dry the seed is scattered over the ground and tramped into the soil by the cattle, which are driven over the field for the purpose.

"July is the month of harvest, and in it the happy 'Cajin' cuts his rice with the primitive sickle and hauls the sheaves home in a clumsy cart, made entirely of wood and drawn by oxen, which are fastened to the tongue by loops passed over their horns. When the harvest is over the grain is trodden out by oxen, as in the days of the patriarchs. It is then ground in a little wooden mill and winnowed in a sieve, when it is ready to be made into bread. See this shirt? It's real homespun—made by a 'Cajin' housewife out of cotton grown in her garden.

"The 'Cajins' are great orange-growers. They have a funny way, too, of selling their crop. A buyer comes out when the trees are in bloom, and, after half a dozen or more whittling matches, a bargain is struck for the prospective crop, the 'Cajin' always demanding and getting half the agreed price in advance. When this business is settled there is nothing more to do but to wait for nature to prepare another harvest."—Chicago News Interview.

The Music of the Cable.

I walked down Tenth avenue from High bridge late the other night. It was a warm, moist evening, with a great quiet brooding over the sparsly-settled streets. The cable road cars came and went by almost without a sound, and were quite startling in the suddenness and silence of their progress. But as I walked I was accompanied by a constant chiming and monotonous, but by no means unpleasant, melody. It was the singing of the cable in the groove under the road-bed. The friction of the steel wire over the clotted wheels kept up a perpetual murmur in which notes of music could be clearly distinguished, and now and then would come a sharp chime, as a light blow struck on a ringing glass. At places where there were no houses, and the natural silence was profound, the effect of this rivulet of melody running in its hidden current under my feet was indescribably weird and charming. One of the claims the cable companies make in favor of their cars is their noiselessness. It seems to me that the noise they make, or are the cause of, is the prettiest if not the most useful thing about them.—Alfred Trumble in New York News.

Hearty Breakfasts a Sign of Health.

A man who is no breakfast eater must either be a hearty supper eater or in a bad state of health. A person who requires the stimulus of a cup of tea or any other stimulus whatever before taking of mild food, is not in health. I like too see a man have his breakfast first, and then feel around for his cup of coffee, tea or chocolate.—Cassell's Magazine.

Gas vs. Electric Light.

There were many who prophesied some years ago, when electric lights first came into use, that the days of illuminating gas were over. Whether for street lighting or for house lighting, it was said, gas could never hold its own against its dazzling rival. Yet more gas is burned to-day in New York than ever before. Except in hotels, theatres, cafes and public buildings generally, the incandescent electric light is rarely seen in use. And even on the streets, where the brilliant arc lights show best and have been used most widely, there are over 1,000 more public gas lamps in New York than there were before electric lighting was perfected.

One reason for this is seen in the utter impossibility of the electric system to afford light with any profit, save in very large quantities. The apparatus is delicate, and it is costly operating it. The electric companies, notwithstanding the improvements made in the way of operating their works, are not able to bring their charges down to any sum near the highest price charged for gas. Gas, too, has been in New York city and in many other places, reduced in price, so that the electric light becomes a luxury while gas remains a necessity. The only instances where the electric light has begun to pay expenses are in large cities where there is great call for it. Besides, there is an invention now in operation, which will light houses and stores without the dangerous wires, but with chemical substances made in the basement! This threatens a revolution in the electric light business. A company under the patents for the last named process has its headquarters in Boston, and is selling rights to territories all over the country. This will probably be the rage till in its turn it is supplanted by some new invention, which will make light cheaper and better than the last-named process can afford it.

A Canadian Horror.

At White River, Ont., on the night of Nov. 14th, Charles Williams detected Richard E. O'Brien, a handsome young fellow about thirty years old, in illicit relations with Mrs. Williams, and assaulted him. O'Brien shot Williams dead, and then shot Williams' father, who was aroused by the noise. Williams' mother, who next appeared, was beaten to death with a piece of stove wood by O'Brien, who then with the same weapon murdered two small children of Mrs. Williams, and finally stabbed his paramour apparently to death with a pocket knife; a babe of eighteen months was unnoticed by the demon, who after completing his fearful work set the house on fire and ran away. The neighbors arrived in time to save the infant, and Mrs. Williams lived long enough to tell the awful story. The murderer was captured in a few hours.

At a meeting of the governor and council at Concord last Thursday, considerable time was spent in hearing the petitioners and remonstrants in two applications for appointments as justices of the peace, one from Allenstown, the other from Strafford. The former withdrew his application, and the other was given leave to withdraw. In the matter of the appointment of an attorney general in place of Mason W. Tappan, deceased, there was a long discussion. It is understood that the governor asked for an expression of choice from the members of the council, he leaving the matter of this appointment virtually in their hands. It would seem, however, that they would prefer to await his action in filling the United States senatorial vacancy before they did anything about the attorney-generalship, as they came to no decision.

A member of the geological survey says that Salt lake will be of great value in the near future, not only on account of the common salt it will produce, but also for the sodium sulphate it contains. The latter is separated in a flocculent precipitate by the cold weather of midwinter, and annually thrown up on the shore in enormous quantities. There are many other lakes in the far west whence an inexhaustible supply of commercial alkalies may be obtained at small cost, Mono lake, Cal., alone being estimated to hold over 78,000,000 tons of sodium carbonate.

CURE

Headache, Nausea, Dizziness, and Drowsiness. They stimulate the Stomach, Liver, and Bowels, to healthy action, assist digestion, and increase the appetite. They combine cathartic, diuretic, and tonic properties of the greatest value, are a purely vegetable compound, and may be taken with perfect safety, either by children or adults. E. L. Thomas, Framingham, Mass., writes: "For a number of years I was subject to Violent Headaches, arising from a disordered condition of the stomach and bowels. About a year ago I commenced the use of Ayer's Pills, and have not had a headache since." W. P. Hannah, Gormley P. O., York Co., Ont., writes: "I have used Ayer's Pills for the last thirty years, and can safely say that I have never found their equal as a cathartic medicine. I am never without them in my house." C. D. Moore, Elgin, Ill., writes: "Indigestion, Headache, and Loss of Appetite, had so weakened and debilitated my system, that I was obliged to give up work. After being under the doctor's care for two weeks, without getting any relief, I began taking Ayer's Pills. My appetite and strength returned, and I was soon enabled to resume my work, in perfect health."

EASTERN RAILROAD COMPANY.

ANNUAL MEETING.

To the Holders of Certificates of Indebtedness.

The Voting Register of Certificate holders is now making up at the office of the Company in Boston, Mass.

Persons desiring to have their names placed upon said Register in order to vote at the coming election must comply with the following regulation of the Trustees:—

"Every holder of Certificates of Indebtedness who desires to have them registered in his name shall present to the Trustees, at their office, No. 10 Tremont street, Boston, a written statement signed by him, and giving his address and the denomination and number of every certificate of indebtedness claimed to be held by him, and shall, if required by said Trustees, verify his title by exhibiting such certificates and the writ on order of the last registered holder of the same, or other evidence of his title to the reasonable satisfaction of the Trustees, and said Trustees, if satisfied with his title, shall indorse their approval upon said written statement, and said certificate holder may thereupon be registered in conformity thereto. The approval of one of said Trustees shall be sufficient authority for such registration, and no registration after the 11th day of August, 1886, shall be valid without such approval, and no approval shall be granted after the time for closing the register."

The voting register will close at the close of business on the 30th day of November, between which time and the annual meeting on the 8th day of December, 1886, no registration will be allowed.

EASTERN RAILROAD COMPANY.

Holders of certificates of indebtedness are notified that the company will issue in exchange for certificates of indebtedness, par for par, $8,150,000 of preferred stock, entitling the holders to annually receive annual net earnings of the corporation to an amount equal to but not exceeding six dollars per share, payable in semi-annual instalments on the first days of March and September, in such sums as the directors may determine, in preference and priority to the common stock, provided however that certificates to the amount named are tendered in exchange and are deposited for that purpose with LEE, HIGGINSON & CO. or RIDDER, PEABODY & CO. of Boston, Mass., or the Company's Agents in London, by twelve o'clock of the twenty-third day of November current. As soon as practicable thereafter, the preferred stock will be delivered, or, if not taken to the full amount named, the certificates deposited will be returned. If bonds in excess of the amount named are tendered, exchange will be made pro rata.

Sterling bonds will be exchanged at par of exchange, fractional sums being adjusted by purchase and sale of fractions.

Each bond exchanged must have all unmatured coupons attached.

By order of the Board,

EASTERN RAILROAD COMPANY.

ANNUAL MEETING.

To the Holders of Certificates of Indebtedness.

The voting register of certificate holders is now making up at the office of the Eastern Railroad on Causeway street, Boston, Mass. Holders already registered are not required to register anew. Any holder not already registered who presents or represents at said office of said Eastern Railroad Company to Edward Leslie a written statement signed by himself of his name, address and the denomination and numbers of the certificate held by him, if the company shall so require, the holder desiring to register shall also verify his title thereto by producing said certificates of indebtedness, or filing with the company the written order of the person last registered as the holder, or in such other mode as may be prescribed by the laws of Massachusetts and the regulations of the Trustees.

The voting register will close at the close of business on the 30th day of November, between which time and the annual meeting, the 8th day of December, 1886, no registration will be allowed.

Per order of the Directors.

LONGFELLOW'S DREAM.

This evening Longfellow's Dream Masque at Music hall, by one hundred ladies, gentlemen and children, under the auspices of the First Universalist church, will be very enjoyable. The ladies of the committee have given great attention to all the details which go to make the perfect whole, and the entertainment will move smoothly and briskly. A competent elocutionist will read the text, and the artistic grouping and harmonious shading of color, will make the scene beautiful to look upon. The sixtieth birthday reception of Governor Wentworth, the commemoration of the marriage of His Excellency to Martha Hilton, and many other characters and tableaux will be presented. Tickets at Goodrich's for 35 and 50 cents.

ANOTHER VETERAN MUSTERED OUT.

Mr. Reuben E. Gilpatrick, a veteran of Co. D, 5th N. H. Vols., died at his residence in this city Tuesday morning, Nov. 16th.

Comrade Gilpatrick was twice wounded during his term of service, at Antietam in 1862, and at Gettysburg, in 1863. He was discharged because of the effects of the latter wound, from which he never fully recovered, and which ultimately caused his death. He was a member of Storer Post, G. A. R., and has received from his comrades the tender sympathy which his life of constant pain and suffering has evoked from them and from all who knew him. His wife died a few months since, leaving four young children, who have been provided for.

His funeral will take place at the Advent chapel this afternoon at half-past one o'clock; a delegation of the Grand Army will attend.

FAITH HOME.

The trustees of the Faith Home, at their meeting Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 16th, found this admirable charity out of debt, and in excellent condition. It is contemplated removing the barn in the rear, on Russell street, and extending the capacity of the Home in that direction.

POLICE COURT--BATCHELDER J.

TUESDAY, Nov. 16th.

Joseph Brown, drunk, (case continued from previous day,) was dismissed.

Patrick Ryan, drunk, was allowed to depart on his promise to leave town, he being employed on the Exeter water works.

Timothy Falvey, drunk, fine $3, costs $7.67; jail in default of payment.

Charles E. Stover, assault on Harriet O'Brien, fine $1, costs $6.53; paid.

MARITIME NOTES.

The schooner Mary Willey, Capt. Zach. Williams, arrived on the 16th inst. from Bangor, with lumber to John H. Broughton, the round trip from this city having been an unusually long one owing to the unfavorable weather. Capt. Williams will make one more trip before hauling up for the winter.

There was a mutiny Tuesday morning on board the schooner Nellie W. Craig, at anchor in the lower harbor, outward bound, light, after discharging a cargo of coal here. A Greek sailor demanded to be paid off, which the captain refused, and at length the dispute resulted in the sailor drawing a knife, and the captain producing a pistol. A signal being set called a file of marines from the U. S. S. Kearsarge, at anchor near by, and the belligerent seaman was taken on board the man-of-war to be turned over to the civil authorities.

The British schooner Daisy Queen, lumber laden, and bound from St. John, N. B., to Boston, put into the harbor of Cape Porpoise, Me., on Friday night last, for shelter, and on Saturday broke from her anchorage and went on the rocks off Folly island, where she became a total wreck. A portion of the cargo was saved on the beach, and will be sold at auction.

The brick schooner Satellite, Capt. Littlefield, sailed for Boston on Tuesday afternoon, the 16th inst., after a detention of nearly a week to repair her foremast, the head of which was carried away in Ipswich bay on her previous trip to Boston.

LAUNCH.

Quite a large number of persons assembled on and near the Kittery end of Portsmouth bridge, and on Freeman's point in the vicinity of Fernald's shipyard, Tuesday afternoon about three o'clock, to witness the launching of the new three-masted schooner Lizzie J. Call. The afternoon was raw and chilly, but the spectators bravely stuck to their ground until ten minutes to four o'clock, when the vessel slid prettily off the ways, and brought up to one anchor in mid-river, to await a tug at the turn of the tide. A considerable number of persons were launched on the vessel. She will load apples at Appledore wharf, for Baltimore.

THE AUXILIARY NAVY.

Among the steamers which the naval board of inspectors are to inspect as to having suitable water-tight compartments, and capacity for maintaining a speed of twelve knots, with a coal capacity sufficient to steam 6000 knots at ten knots an hour, or twenty-five days, are the following, owned by the Reading railroad, and which have frequented this port more or less, viz.:

MATTERS IN YORK.

YORK, ME., Nov. 16th.

The island in York harbor owned for some years past by Mr. Franklin R. Bragdon, has recently been purchased by Edward S. Marshall, J. P. Simpson, Wilson M. Walker and Samuel W. Junkins.

Mr. William Henry Manson has further improved his premises near the town farm by an addition to his stable. He has of late been engaged in carrying fish to Elvin Newton's stores at Portsmouth. A considerable pond has been excavated there by Hon. E. C. Moody, which Mr. Manson intends utilizing next spring for a flock of 500 ducks.

Signs of the country post-offices in the United States are most generally very indistinct, and a stranger has to look sharp to find one. In British dominions the "Lion and the Unicorn" makes them observable and easily found. But George F. Plaisted, Esq., postmaster at York Corner, has a well finished sign at his office, so that a traveller may know his whereabouts. Mr. John A. Plaisted, who is a natural mechanic, made the sign, cut out the letters, which are of good shape and well proportioned, attached them to the sign, and painted all, the whole work being done by him. Many specimens of Mr. Plaisted's mechanical ability are to be seen about the county, and he is ready for further operations.

Mr. J. O. Barrett successfully conducts his harness shop at the Golden Cross block. He has just completed nice new harnesses for Mr. Francis Raynes of Cutt's island, Kittery, for Miss Lydia Pierce, a summer resident, now of Boston, for Charles Junkins, at "The Corner," and others. Mr. James Hurd has a shoemaker's bench at his establishment.

There was a heavy sea running on Saturday and Sunday along the coast of York, and the beaches were white with foam. The surf ran up to the Seashore road, and would have furnished a fine prospect to summer tourists, who could not be there to see.

It is reported that Capt. Edward Baker has been appointed postmaster at York, vice Fremont Varrell, removed (or resigned) on account of the inconvenience of the location of the present office during the winter to the residents of York village.

Mount Agamenticus was covered with snow on Saturday.

Mr. William Philbrook, who lives on the Cape Neddick road near Long sands, one night of last week lost a portion of his poultry by hen-roost thieves.

VIATOR.

The Woman's Temperance League will meet at Mrs. Jos. Pettigrew's this (Wednesday) afternoon at three o'clock. All members are requested to be punctual.

A new choir has been organized for the Freewill Baptist church, as follows: Miss Lizzie Brown, soprano; Miss Effie Waldron, alto; Mr. Thomas Kelly, tenor; Mr. John Parkin of Noble's island, late of the Advent choir, bass.

The National Mechanics & Traders' bank paid a dividend of three and a half per cent on the 15th inst.

The mixed train which left this city for Dover at five o'clock Tuesday morning was the longest and heaviest one that ever went over the road, consisting of twenty loaded coal cars, and a passenger and baggage car, hauled by the engine Newington.

The owner of a valuable "bird dog" which followed Mr. Harrison Seavey from Newcastle to his home in Rye, on the 15th inst., can have the dog on applying to Mr. Seavey and paying charges.

Mr. John Garvey died in South Newmarket on Tuesday of last week, with quick consumption. His wife, who was ill with consumption, went back to Ireland a short time ago, in hope that the climate there might check the disease, but about three weeks ago her husband received intelligence of her death.

Boardman Warren and Aaron Hubbard have opened at "the Landing," South Berwick, a house called the Bee Hive hotel. Oysters and clam stews are served there.

Daniel Junkins, whose place is near the Eliot station of the Boston & Maine railroad, last summer built a fine new barn, thirty-six by forty feet on the ground. A well twenty feet deep on the premises dried up during the drought, but being further sunk to the depth of thirty-two feet, now affords a plentiful supply of water.

Mr. Dummer Adams, who carries on a smithery near the farm of Mr. John Wentworth at Kittery, has discovered a process of hardening steel which has proved very successful in preparing the drills used in blasting operations in that section.

Catarrh in the Head

Catarrh is inflammation of the mucous membrane, attended with increased secretion. Thus catarrh may affect the head, throat, stomach, bowels, or any part of the body where the mucous membrane is found. But catarrh of the head is by far the most common, coming on so gradually that often its presence is not suspected till it has obtained a firm hold on its victim. It is caused by a cold, or a succession of colds, combined with

Impure Blood.

When firmly established the disease is exceedingly disagreeable, causing flow from the nose, dryness of the throat, headache, loss of appetite, roaring and buzzing noises in the ears, etc. In Hood's Sarsaparilla may be found a prompt and permanent cure for catarrh. It purifies and enriches the blood, soothes and rebuilds the diseased membrane, and thus soon cures the disease. At the same time it refreshes and tones the whole system. The remarkable success of this peculiar medicine entitles it to your confidence. Give Hood's Sarsaparilla a trial.

"I am happy to state that I used Hood's Sarsaparilla for catarrh, with which I have been troubled many years, and received great relief and benefit from it. The catarrh was very disagreeable, especially in the winter, causing constant discharge from my nose, ringing noises in my ears, and pains in the back of my head. The effort to clear my head in the morning by hawking and spitting was painful. My grocer advised me to try and it gave me relief immediately, while in time I was entirely cured. I am never without the medicine in my house, as I think it is worth its weight in gold." MRS. G. B. GIBB, 1029 Eighth Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

"I have used Hood's Sarsaparilla for catarrh with very satisfactory results. I have received more permanent benefit from it than from any other remedy I have ever tried." M. E. READ, of A. Read & Son, Wauseon, Ohio.

Another Consumption Cure.

An apparatus is advertised in Europe by which a person is enabled to breathe the air from without while sitting indoors in a warm room. It consists of a simple tube, communicating through the window with the external air, to one end of which an attachment to fit over the mouth and nose is placed. The inventor claims that, as tubercle bacilli are destoyed by a low temperature, so pulmonary phthisis may be cured by breathing frosty air through this apparatus.—Boston Transcript.

In the tables prepared by Professor O. W. Atwater for Carroll D. Wright, the chief of the national bureau of labor statistics, it is shown that for a given value in money there is only 29 per cent. of nutriment obtained from porterhouse steak, while the same sum expended in beef neck will yield 92 per cent. of nutriment. Salt pork affords the greatest amount of nutroise, the yield being 93 per cent. Among the fish tested fresh salmon gives the smallest amount of nutrition, the percentage of nutriment being .06. Mackerel, salt cod, and smoked herring give the largest amount of nutrition, the herring giving more than any other, 1.21 per cent. The most expensive dairy food is butter, which only returns 73 per cent. of nutriment. It is from vegetables that the best expenditure of money is obtained. Flour at 3 cents per pound yields a return of 7.29 per cent in nutriment, while in the ordinary baker's bread the amount of nutrition was only 2.08 per cent.

The difference is explained by the fact that a great saving is made in the cost of bread, or the amount which one can get for 25 cents when it is made at home. Then, again, the flour used in the average household is one cheaper in price, but one which contains more nutritive values than the extremely white, high-priced flour which is used by the baker. This is proved by the analysis made of bread which costs 8 cents per pound and that which only costs 4 cents. In the former instance the amount of nutrition obtained was, as said before, 2.08 per cent., and in the latter instance 4.15 per cent., or twice as much for an expenditure of half the money. Oat meal returns 4.48 per cent. of nutriment, and potatoes 6.90 per cent. —The Argonaut
